MOSCOW, June 12 (CP)—Russians received yesterday from radios and newspapers of the Soviet Union the full story of the material aid furnished the Red Army by Britain, the United States and Canada. The detailed statement of Anastas I. Mikoyan, Commissar of Foreign Trade, on supplies provided Russia, together with his recognition of the significant part they have played in the Red Army victories, was carried on the front page of every newspaper, together with editorials expressing Russia's appreciation.

GRANDSON OF MAJOR HAYES—

One of the recruits training for active service at the Peterborough military centre is a grandson of the late Major L. M. Hayes who was for years an officer of the old 57th Regiment of this city. He is Private Richard Pennefather of Ottawa, son of the late E. T. B. Pennefather and his wife, [illegible] Hayes. His father was manager of the Capital Trust Company of Ottawa. His maternal grandfather was a partner in the law firm of Hall, Hayes and Hall, who was appointed Judge of the county of Wellington of which Guelph is the county centre. The paternal uncle of the young recruit was manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Peterborough for some years, and both branches of his family were well known in this city.

Chief Chaplain Speaker At Christ Church

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12. — (ENS). — The 90th anniversary celebrations at Christ church were continued with a military service at which the special preacher was Hon. Brigadier, the Rev. Canon C. G. Hepburn, B.A., B.D., M.C., principal Protestant chaplain of the Canadian forces. It was attended by B company of the 2nd Batt. Midland Regiment (R) under command of Major N. A. MacColl who also read the lesson. The Legion attended in a body commanded by Major Bygott. At the begining of the service the colours of the Legion were placed on the altar.

The speaker dwelt on "Traditions" and noted that when the 2nd Canadian Division landed in Aldershot, England and attended the Garrison church there, their attention was focused on the tablet on the walls commemorating the past wars. There was also the flags carried in the Crimean war. It was moth eaten and the pole was eaten with worms. Outside stood statue of the Iron Duke. In these surroundings the Canadian soldiers breathed in the atmosphere of bygone days. Now on the beaches of France and the hills and valleys of Italy, our men are adding to these traditions, he said.

"The R.C.A.F. is only 25 years old but is already full of tradition. The early church, a handful of heroic men and women, fearless and faithful, who carried on in difficulty and danger have left to Christians a tradition of which we should be proud. Our church to-day should be a church militant, not blood and iron, but not milk and water either, for the church stands for all that is best in human life. The motto of our armies is: 'Hats off to the past, coats off to the future.'

Bible as Past.

At the evening prayer and sermon the Ven. W. Simpson, Archdeacon of Peterborough, spoke of anniversaries being as old as the Bible. He noted that the Christmas, Easter and Sunday ordinances and sacraments and gave the reasons for their observance. (1) Remembrances for anniversaries are ports of call on the journey of life where [illegible] journey, (2) Discipline, for the use [illegible] of our church opportunities is the test, and (3) the church of God's grace, open to all, where salvation is proclaimed. For ninety years the doors of this church have been open to the flow of grace, the channel has never been closed, and will continue down through the ages if people do their duty as those who have gone before.

The special services will continue next Sunday when the morning prayer and sermon will be conducted by Rev. F. H. Cosgrave, M.A., LL.D., Provost Trinity College, Toronto and the evening prayer and sermon by the Rev. W. A. Filer, rector of All Saints', Peterborough.

Centenary W.A. Has Patriotic Program

ROSENEATH, June 12—(ENS)—At the June meeting of Centenary United Church W.A., a patriotic program was a special feature, with Miss Hilda Arthur in charge. It included a petition for the King and crusading forces, President Roosevelt's recent speech and prayer, and an article, "The Invasion." In addition there was a vocal solo by Blanche Arthur and a Biblical contest.

The meeting was held in Mr. Frank Dowler's home and the president, Mrs. D. Timlin, presided.

It was decided to donate $5 to the Batawa Church fund. The roll call response at the July meeting will be an apron donation, it was decided on motion. Mrs. P. Williamson and Mrs. A. Elder were appointed a quilt committee.

Airman John Drope Missing Overseas

ROSENEATH, June 12 (ENS)—J. T. Drope has received word that his nephew, John Drope, R.C.A.F., has been listed as missing over Europe. The missing man's father, Harry Drope of Regina, was born in this community. He enlisted with the P.P.C.L.I. in the last war, was taken prisoner, and escaped from a German prison camp.

Earl Of Athlone Presents T.C.S. Prizes

PORT HOPE, June 12.— Canada has become in a short time one of the leading countries of the world, due mainly to her magnificent war effort, the Earl of Athlone told the boys of Trinity College School at the annual Speech Day ceremonies last week-end. His Excellency presented the annual awards.

Canada must maintain this position, the Governor-General said, and she can do so only if the direction of Canadian affairs is in the hands of the flower of her manhood.

His Excellency urged students to consider particularly the career of politics to help their country.

G. B. Strathy, K.C., who presided, announced that the school is now free from debt for the first time in its history.

The headmaster, P. A. C. Ketchum, stated that 750 former pupils are on active service, 28 of whom had been killed and 48 had won awards for valor or distinguished service.

In the upper school examinations 49 boys won 205 honors, the best record in the school's history.

The school, Mr. Ketchum said, was concluding one of its best years with a record attendance of 267 and a large waiting list.

Wins Marksmanship Shield.

This year, he said, the school had been awarded the coveted shield for marksmanship, attaining first place in competition with 1,000 schools throughout the Empire. Upper school students, in the June examinations last year, set a record for the school and the Province.

Prize for the best all-around boy in the senior school was awarded to E. M. Parker of Trenton. For this award in the junior school J. P. Williams of Toronto and D. V. Deverall of Port Hope were tied.

G. B. Strathy, the chairman, reviewed the school's history which was marked by two disastrous fires, in 1895 and 1928.

The Governor-General inspected the guard of honour and Princess Alice laid a wreath on the cenotaph. With Princess Alice he distributed prizes after attending chapel service.

Ex-Reeve Of Hope Dies At Age 94

PORT HOPE, June 12 — Grand old man of Hope township, where he served for many years as reeve, James Henry Parsons, 94, died Sunday at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Barrie. For several years he had made his home with his son, Charles G. Parsons, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Barrie.

Born at Zion, Mr. Parsons taught school in his younger days. Later he engaged in farming, specialising in bee culture and apples which he exported to England. As a chicken fancier he was a frequent exhibitor at fairs. Mr. Parsons was a singer and for 35 years leader of the Zion Methodist (now United) Church choir. At the age of 92 he sang regularly in the choir of the Baptist Church, Barrie. He was a keen bridge player and had continued active until a few weeks ago when he was taken ill.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. John Martin, Millbrook, Mrs. James Irvine and Mrs. Ernest Hanna, both of Toronto, two sons, Charles C., Barrie, and Bayward G. Parsons, Oshawa.

Silver Cups Given As Contest Prizes

ROSENEATH, June 12.—(ENS).—During the service in the United church Sunday morning, Miss Clarice Atkinson was presented with a silver cup donated by the Ontario Temperance Federation for the winner in an oratorical contest held at the county convention of the Federation.

The trophy was presented by Rev. Anderson, Brighton, chairman of the Federation, Cobourg Presbytery. The cup is in the custody of the church for the year, when it passes on to next year's winner.

Douglas Coyle, second prize winner, will receive a miniature cup as his award, as will Miss Atkinson. Both speakers delivered the address in lieu of a sermon Sunday morning. Miss Atkinson's subject was, "The Greatest Enemy of Civilization" and Mr. Coyle's subject was, "Intemperance and Its Cure."

Hold Decoration Day

COBOURG, June 12 — (ENS) — Members of Cobourg Legion held their annual decoration day Sunday. The Legion paraded from their hall to Trinity church where they proceeded in cars to the cemetery; laying wreaths on the graves of departed comrades in St. Peter's cemetery, the Union cemetery and St. Michael's cemetery.

Signaller Gets Medal

ROSENEATH, June 12 —(ENS)— Sgt. Maj. George Turner, Roseneath, of the Royal Canadian Signals Corps, has been awarded the Canadian Efficiency Medal, according to an announcement from the Department of National Defence released through Military District No. 3, Kingston.

Forester Dies

TORONTO, June 12 (CP)—George A. Mitchell, 69, for 40 years with the Independent Order of Foresters, died in hospital here today, after a lengthy illness. He was one-time assistant supreme chief ranger.

MAIN ATLANTIC WALL RUNS ACROSS COUNTRY ON WAY TO PARIS—With Caen, capital of Normandy, on the Orne River, expected to fall into Allied hands hourly, the next major objective of the Allies may be Paris, 114 miles away. But between Caen and Paris is the Atlantic Wall of German fortifications, running from Nantes up through Le Mans to the Belgian border. The wall, which is really a wide belt of fortifications, miles in depth, begins about 100 miles from the invasion coast. Even after the Atlantic wall is overcome there is still the Maginot Line, now facing the other way, and the Siegfried Line in Germany proper to be dealt with before the road to Berlin is open to the Allies.

238 More Boxes Cheese Graded

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12 (ENS) —From District Dairy Instructor Murray's district the following items of interest have been reported:

During the past two weeks 3,186 boxes of cheese have been graded at Campbellford grading station compared with 2,948 boxes during the same period last year.

In what is known as the Campbellford group of factories, from December to May of this year, 3,926 boxes of cheese were graded. In 1943 from the same dating 2,057 boxes were graded.

T. J. Hicks, chief of the Federal grading staff, assisted Mr. Irwin with the grading at the local station and expressed satisfaction with the quality in general. Of the 22 lots, three received a score of 94 and 13 other lots had in them 94 score cheese.

Fibre board cheese boxes, that came into general use about two years ago, to replace the wooden boxes formerly used, are scarce and hard to procure. Another type of box is offered which is not being as favorably received by the makers.

Two young cheese makers in Seymour township, Keith Brown of Brae factory and Gerald Thompson of Stanwood, are having splendid success. Mr. Brown is still 100 per cent first grade and Mr. Thompson who had three boxes undergrade two weeks ago, received a 94 score on his cheese last week.

Far Away Hills

Those who have sought to popularize Socialism as a political doctrine in Canada have often made flattering reference to the Dominions of Australia and New Zealand which were, they assured us, far advanced in Socialism, and all the better for it. This style of argument by comparison has been used extensively in appealing to audiences of farmers, for farmers are usually conservative in their business methods and their political thinking and are not easy converts to socialist belief. In its current issue The Farmers' Advocate devotes its principle article to an investigation of the situation in Australia and New Zealand, under the heading "The Truth About Socialism In Australia And New Zealand".

The truth, according to this article, seems to be that these Dominions are no more Socialist in their form of government than Canada, and have no immediate intention of going farther to the Left. Both Dominions have extensive programs of social security, but Australia is no more advanced in that direction than Canada. Indeed the Farmer's Advocate finds upon close inspection that the tales of extensive successful socialist government in the Antipodes are based in nothing more than the old truth that "far-away hills look green".

We quote from the article: "The Labour Party is in power, federally as well as in four States, and as far as its platform is concerned the Labour Party believes in socialization of finance and industry, but when it comes to governing the Labour Party is not socialistic, and the governments in some States are almost conservative in their outlook". The following passage explains, at least in part, why this is so: "Labour had one sad experience with a radical Premier, the Hon. John Lang, who as head of a New South Wales Labour Government attempted to repudiate the payment of all bond issues. The Lang Government was finally repudiated by Labour itself. Moderate Labour in Australia wants no more Langs".

As for social security, the Farmer's Advocate stresses the fact that this is not a policy of any one government or party, and has been advocated by governments of all shades of belief. A social security program is not socialism. Australia is no more advanced in the matter of public ownership of utilities than Canada, and her industrialists are not afraid of any sudden alteration of opinion in that respect.

New Zealand is definitely more advanced in its social security program than Canada and Australia, because in one way or another, New Zealand looks after her people from birth to death. But the Labour Government of New Zealand has no intention of attempting to socialize industry; there is strong criticism of the program of social security which exists, because it means very high taxes, including a 20 per cent. sales tax. Opposition elements in the country insist that this elaborate social security program is a millstone about the neck of New Zealand, which is slowly drowning it; New Zealand's problem is keeping solvent and benevolent at the same time. But New Zealand is not socialist in any full sense of the word; industry, finance, agriculture and many public utilities are still controlled by free enterprise. In short, socialism in the Antipodes is not far advanced, and although the governments there are committed to a socialist program they make no practical moves to implement it. The Advocate is to be congratulated on its clear presentation of this matter to its large farm audience.

Emancipating The Indians

Some time ago Mr. T. R. L. MacInnis, who is Secretary of the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of National Resources, suggested that the Indians in Eastern Canada might be set free of their reservations, in order that they might also be free of the handicaps which reservation life and a certain amount of segregation impose upon them. Mr. MacInnis particularly mentioned the Indians of Caughnawaga in Quebec, who have done very well in the local structural steel works; apparently he thinks that Indians might do equally well elsewhere if they did not feel themselves to be a race apart.

Although his suggestion was clearly inspired by the best motives, Mr. MacInnis has stirred up a strong hostile feeling among the Indians themselves, who have made it very clear that they do not want to be divorced from their reserves and the special rights which go with reserve life. We see their point. This was their country in the first place, and Europeans took it from them; the Indians, having found it impossible to drive the Europeans away, took sides in French, British and American wars, and the Indians in Canada showed particular loyalty to the British cause at the time of the American Revolution. In return, they were given certain rights in perpetuity and they do not like to see those rights threatened. At present they enjoy a life which is not luxurious, but which appeals strongly to them, and if any Indian wants to seek his fortune in a field wider than the reserve, we do not know of any law which prevents him from doing so; although they are not numerous, a few Indians have done well in business and professional pursuits.

It would be possible for a cynic to say that Mr. MacInnis is moving in the wrong direction. At present the Indians have social security and freedom from responsibility, although they lack complete democratic liberty; he wants to plunge them into a condition where their future would depend on their individual enterprise. That is not the trend of the times. The modern idea is to turn the whole country into a big reserve and give us all the approximate status of Indians.

The President's Prayer

How many people, we wonder, who heard President Roosevelt's broadcast on Tuesday night, suffered sensations of embarrassment when he broke into prayer? Earlier in the day His Majesty the King had urged us to join in a vigil of prayer, and numberless services of intercession were held everywhere on this continent in which the North American peoples joined; but the President prayed at some length for the benefit of an audience which was eating, reading, motoring, dressing and undressing and doing what it normally does when the radio is turned on in the evening. This is what the Ottawa Journal has to say about the matter:

"It may seem ungracious at this time to criticize the literary form of the prayer written by President Roosevelt and read by him over the radio on Tuesday night. Yet listening to Mr. Roosevelt, one could not help comparing the words and general texture of his invocation with some famous similar supplications of the past and feeling that they suffered in comparison. One thought, for example, of the shorter, simpler and on the whole more moving prayer of Nelson on the eve of Trafalgar, and of the beauty and strength of Drake's invocation before setting out to meet the Spaniards at Cadiz.

"There is always danger in trying to improve upon the noble English of the Bible, or even upon that of the Book of Common Prayer. Lincoln, of all modern statesmen, came nearest to matching the Bible's glory; his Gettysburg speech, his letter to a Massachussetts mother and his famous inaugural address being models of reverential beauty. In the main, however, attempts at improvised prayers for topical occasions fall into the category of poetry for special occasions by poet laureates. Though we dislike saying it, we fear greatly that, in literary form, Mr. Roosevelt's effort fell into that category".

Drake and Nelson addressed their prayers to God, and those who heard them were also engaged in great enterprises. The President addressed his prayer primarily to an international radio network, and although he spoke ostensibly to God he seemed bent on using his prayer as a means of addressing his hearers; the effect of this form of oratio obliqua was not entirely happy.

We shall never lose our conviction that God should be spoken to by each man from his own heart, or else by a spokesman in the presence of an entirely reverent and sympathetic audience. We do not feel that these conditions can be met by radio. We may be wrong, but many people share our opinion.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

I DROVE to Guelph, through Brampton, on June 2nd, on to Kitchener, Stratford, St. Mary's and London. On the return journey we came via Woodstock, Brantford and Hamilton, and our observations were that we saw no crops injured by the weather and all in a flourishing condition. An odd miniature pond lay on the land near Toronto from the downpour of rain on the last of May, added to by the ½ inch shower in the evening prior to our return, but these were of small account as we found farming flourishing all the way. The trees in full leaf of the darkest green—fall wheat in the shot blade and hay fields almost beckoning to be cut. Haying will be quite early. An odd field of corn was showing blades, gardens were well ahead of the first of June and altogether the countryside blossomed like the rose. I had wished that the Ottawa district had half the rain that fell in Toronto on the closing day of May. The farmers in Ontario are well forward with a very promising crop.

I CALLED at the O.A.C. to have a look at the newly imported Shorthorn bull bought by Professor Knox at the Perth sale. He is a very attractive beast and looks like the aristocrat he is. It has already been shown to the students at the Guelph College that great improvement can be worked in cattle by breeding along the best lines.

WITH farm livestock on the grass it is important that they should have access to mineral feed at all times. When the country was newer, some sixty years ago, salt was about the only necessary mineral for cattle. Then it was a common custom to "salt the cattle" every week or two, and I've seen the mad race of young cattle when some one took salt to the back pasture, and the beasts showed their craving for it by racing to where it was dumped in small piles. I've seen young cattle grow quite wild running in the woods during summer, but salt would overcome their timidity toward humans and they would come to you if salt was the bait. This practice meant too little salt for a time and then too much as they greedily devoured what was given them. Cattle that had access to salt at all times never ate too much but took a necessary average supply, which would be a little less than one pound per month. We find now, however, with some exhaustion of minerals in our soil, that farm animals require other minerals as well. Calcium, or the lime that builds up bones in growing beasts, must be fed to them and bone meal with its supply of phosphorus will stimulate and nourish animals as phosphorus is one of the essential elements of plant and animal growth. It is a necessary constituent of some proteins, and it aids in cell divisions by which process cells are divided and thus multiplied and so growth is promoted.

We can, therefore, by keeping before our cattle, a mixture of salt, finely ground limestone and edible bone meal, furnish the beasts necessary mineral for growth, if they are young, and for maintenance if full grown. The mixture might vary, taking into consideration the nature of your soil and pastures, but a fair average would be 60 per cent salt and 20 per cent each of finely ground lime stone and edible bone meal. The salt gives a palatable flavour to the mixture and the cattle will take more of it on that account. This mixture placed in a strong trough made of planks, with a cover to keep out most of the rain placed about two feet above the trough, ensures cattle getting a sufficient supply. The trough should be anchored with its back to a building or fence so as not to be upset, and the length of the troughs should be sufficient to prevent any fighting for a place at the mineral lick.

In the meantime, do not forget that horses, sheep and pigs all require mineral feed and should not be neglected. In the case of pigs large amounts of salt are poisonous, consequently the mineral mixture for pigs should be compounded about as follows: two pounds of finely ground limestone, one pound of edible bone meal and one half pound of salt. This mixture should be fed at about the rate of 2½ pounds in 100 of chop. This is rather a long story about salt but it is so vital to the growing of farm livestock, and livestock is becoming so increasingly vital to successful tilling of the soil, that we cannot give too much attention to the supplying of the necessary minerals for animal growth.

THERE are some very poor quality potatoes being offered to the retail trade in Toronto just now. They are soft sprouted trash and they will not help the sale of Ontario potatoes in the future. No new potatoes are being allowed in from the south as Ontario growers held their's back in the hope of a higher price. They got no higher price and have caused most city dwellers to regret that they cannot get Island or B.C. potatoes or early potatoes from the southern states. I was offered wet sprouted potatoes not worth taking home, but after looking about a little I got some B.C. potatoes which, for last year's in June, were not too bad. If we have an increased demand in Ontario cities for potatoes not grown in this province the growers can have no complaint. The present potato situation reminds me of an incident at a luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition some twelve years ago, when the orator of the day was urging those present to buy only Ontario products, and remarked that he disliked to see Prince Edward Island potatoes sold so freely in Toronto when we could grow good potatoes in this province. I took occasion to follow up his perigrinations and found he had driven to the meeting in a Packard car, no Canadian "waggon" being quite up to his demands for comfort. We will have less of this parochial business when the war is won.

UNCHANGING FEMALE

Some 15 years ago, one of our Canadian poetesses, annoyed by an injury inflicted on her by one of her friends, wrote a barbed and witty little verse, which she entitled To a Malicious Woman. Having written it, she felt avenged and put the verse away in her desk.

This Spring, while tidying up some old papers during her housecleaning, she came across the verse again, and found it still readable. The incident that had inspired it was now faint in her own recollection and she was sure that it had been forgotten by her friends. So she sent it to a magazine, which published it.

A few weeks later, when she was attending a meeting of a club to which she belongs, six different women, at various times during the evening, took the opportunity of offering her their apologies and explanations for recent incidents that had been burdening their consciences ever since the publication of the verse.—The Printed Word.

POST-WAR WORLD No. 7 —By Rube Goldberg

Montgomery's Day

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

GENERAL MONTGOMERY has come a long way since Mr. Churchill put him in command of a beaten Army which was all that held back from Cairo, Alexandria and the Valley of the Nile the triumphant Germans under Rommel. Montgomery held fast at El Alamein, presently drove the Germans headlong out of Africa, achieved one of the notable victories of the war.

Now this great soldier is leading the invasion troops, is attacking the fortress of Europe itself, and once more Rommel is his opponent. Both men made their reputations in Africa, but Rommel had to bolt from Tunisia when he saw the inevitable end. Montgomery stayed to receive the laurels of victory. In Egypt it was the German general who was on the offensive—today their roles are reversed.

General Montgomery is a striking and unusual character. He neither smokes nor drinks, does not tolerate fools gladly, lives ascetically, but at the same time he dramatizes himself and certainly is not averse to personal publicity. He is self-confident, aggressive, brusque, and abrupt. He gives an impression of impulsiveness. Actually however Montgomery is a cautious leader. He will take a chance as readily as anyone if the circumstances demand it—he did in the attack on Tunisia and scored a brilliant win—but his preference is for a campaign carefully planned to the last rifle cartridge, an offensive mounted with deliberate detail and leaving as little as possible to the vagaries of battle.

And it is a great asset of Montgomery that his record is an unbroken string of victories—a reputation as a successful commander is an enormous asset to a general. Montgomery's men trust him implicitly, have perfect confidence that he knows well what he is doing. He drives his soldiers to the last limit of human endurance and they respond, and they will stand up and fight a battle at the end of it because he has imbued them with his own idea that a Montgomery army is unbeatable and can perform miracles.

Rommel has no such aura of victory—Rommel lost disastrously in Egypt and Tunisia. Rommel leads a forlorn hope — Montgomery commands the greatest sea-borne military expedition history ever has seen, carries the hopes of the free world and the nations enslaved, and wields the sword of victory.

Dangers of Nostalgia

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

WHEN the fighting is over, will people want to advance to a reconstructed world, or will they not, rather, want to go home to the world they knew—to the things they long for just because they have not changed?

No doubt the close of the fighting will give rise to a great wave of nostalgia, a craving for rest and return. Perhaps the separation of time and circumstance may have enhanced the memory of what was left behind. Perhaps, too, those who are eager for reconstruction overlook the fact that the pre-war world, however great its deficiencies, offered good experiences, and it is these that are now remembered and desired. But whatever the motivation, this longing to go back will coincide with the world's utmost need to go forward.

On his recent visit to Montreal, Rev. Dr. Lloyd C. Douglas had something to say about how the average man in the armed forces feels about coming home. "He'll want a glimpse of his mother's kitchen," he said, "and a good big piece of her pie; he'll want a look at his girl and a chance to do a little trout fishing; and he'll want a good job. But he's not in the least concerned with big political issues."

The same thought has been expressed by Virginia Graham in one of the striking poems which have come out of the war:

When there is peace again, soldier, what will you do?
I shall go back to the job I had before
Behind the counter at the hardware store—
That's what I'll do.

And you, sailor, when you have left the sea?
I shall go back to my job as a plumber's mate,
And lean of an evening on my garden gate—
That'll suit me.

Back, back, is where all of us want to go,
Each to his little well-worn spot;
So who in the wide world is going forward is what
I'd like to know.

In considering and estimating the obstacles to social reconstruction let no one overlook this profound human factor, this urge to seek security in the familiar. It is all so natural and so inevitable. Yet it presents a difficulty and a danger for all plans to create a better world to justify the blood and death and cost of so many years of war.

Travelling Oak

At a rectory near Taunton grows a fine upstanding oak known locally as the Travelling Oak. The following is its odd Odyssey. It sprang from an acorn in a North Essex garden. At three years of age it was removed to Denford in Northants, and two years later to Wharton, in the same shire. Two years later it was taken to Bucknell in Oxfordshire, and three years later to Broadwidger in Devon. Seven years later, again it accompanied its fond owner to Whaplode in Lincolnshire, and again seven years later it found its final niche at Brompton Ralph in Somerset. It has often been alleged—and with truth—that the oak is a difficult tree to transplant even as a youngster, for its tap root grows straight downwards to a great depth. The truth, well known to nurserymen, is that a tree or bush once or twice transplanted can be safely transplanted many times. This oak gives a rare example. I have a Louise Bonne pear that has known three gardens and bore last year a very heavy crop, but the oak stands unrivalled.—London Spectator.

Mr. Massey Reports

The annual meeting luncheon of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain last Friday afforded its members and their guests a welcome opportunity of hearing from the High Commissioner for Canada some of the impressions made upon him by his first war-time visit to the Dominion.

It was a particularly interesting and informative speech, revealing as it did not only something of the contribution which the men and women at home are making towards the winning of the war but something, too, of the spirit they are bringing to their task. Mr. Massey gave his hearers a vivid idea of the changes which the war has brought about in the national life, in the life of individuals, in industrial production and in other directions. Altogether it must have been a stimulating experience. Mr. Massey has returned, he says, with an added realization of Canada's strength and creative power, which she is ready to use in helping not only to win the war but also to solve the problems of the peace.

As he indicated, Canada — which he aptly termed a "middle" power—has a special part of play, shaped by her history, her place on the map and her economic structure. She has demonstrated her readiness to shoulder the responsibilities belonging to her position. — Canada's Weekly (London).

On Phantom Ridge

Phantom Ridge rises northwest of Cassino across the valley of death from Monastery Hill. When evening comes wraiths of mist trail over it and the country people whisper that it is haunted. It is haunted now. Thousands of inveterate enemies, Poles and Germans, lie at peace on its slopes. They wi. have a long rest there, after a fierce struggle.

From Phantom Ridge one can see both the Via Casilina, and Monastery Hill, which blocked the way so long. When the Poles at terrible cost took the shattered abbey their red-and-white flag went fluttering up the tower while a single bugler sounded the Hejnal, an old call ending on a strange and mournful note. In the thirteenth century the Hejnal summoned the townfolk of Cracow to the walls to save Europe by repelling a Tartar horde. The call ended when an arrow pierced the trumpeter's throat. So it ends today, on the same broken note. But the Tartars were driven back, never to return. Ever since, the Hejnal has reminded the Poles of their ancient victory.

If anything could stir the dead on Phantom Ridge it would be that flag fluttering across the valley and the grieving of the lonely bugle. It may be that they hear more and see farther than the living. Perhaps they hear already the confused rumbling of enemy armies fleeing, not along the Via Casilina, but down the last roads to Berlin. Perhaps they see the Allied flags fluttering above the German capital while the echoes of a final Hejnal tell the people everywhere the peace is won and the world saved. We must wait while the Book of Fate is written. For them it may lie open.—New York Times.

WHAT! NO CIVIL WAR?

There are very few points in Mr. Winch's speech at Estevan, his first in the campaign, that call for appraisal or comment. And in that, Mr. Winch, on this occasion, differed from his usual self. Ordinarily his speeches are full of "blood and thunder." But at Estevan Mr. Winch made a speech which was just about the same as the other campaign speeches of the Socialist party: vague generalities combined with arbitrary statements of what results will be without any explanation of how.—Regina Leader-Post.

A Bible Message

Praise ye the Lord. O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.... Blessed are they that keep judgment, and he that doeth righteousness at all times....

Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt; they remembered not the multitude of thy mercies; but provoked him at the sea, even at the Red Sea. Nevertheless he saved them for his name's sake, that he might make his mighty power to be known. (Ps. 106: 1, 3, 7, 8.)

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth....

The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand....

The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul.

The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore. (Ps. 121: 1, 2, 5, 7, 8.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The baby car was speeding along the road, but every fifty yards or so it would hop a few feet into the air and then push on again. At last a puzzled policeman halted the car.

"Am I crazy or is there something wrong with your car?" he asked.

"The car's all right," said the driver. "It's me. I've got the hiccoughs."

"What would you like?" inquired the waiter.

"Egg," barked back Pepper "boiled but not too soft and not too hard."

"Very good sir" said the waiter. "Anything else?"

"Toast," went on the diner, "thin, not too hard but well browned."

"Any special design on the egg cup?" said the waiter desperately.

13 Children Take Communion

MARMORA, June 12—(ENS)—Corpus Christi was celebrated at Sacred Heart Church Sunday with high mass celebrated by Rev. H. J. Farrell. Rev. Father D. Gillen of Ottawa was present in the sanctuary.

First communion was received by thirteen children of the parish. Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament was held until the closing service at 7:30 p.m. when an outdoor procession with the Blessed Sacrament was held. The procession was made up of the first communion class, altar boys, choir, Sodality, Catholic Women's League and Holy Name Society proceeding to an altar erected on the lawn.

Rev. Father Farrell gave the benediction and Rev. Father Gillen gave an inspiring address on the Blessed Sacrament. Prayers were also offered for the men in the services and for peace with victory. The procession again formed and returned to the church where benediction was given by Rev. Father Gillen.

Manver's Assessment Totals $1,131,765

BETHANY, June 12—(ENS)—The municipal council of Manvers met on Tuesday as a court of revision. All members present.

The following appeals were dealt with: Mrs. Jennie Logan, assessment reduced on buildings, $100; Mrs. Newton Taylor, assessment confirmed; R. S. Newling, assessment reduced for reforestation, $100.

On motion of Councillors Argue and Miller, the assessment roll was amended and closed, and becomes the revised roll for the year 1944, showing a total assessment of $1,131,765.

A Perfect Cross

VERNON, B.C., June 12—(CP).—A perfect cross on the moon was visible here the morning of the invasion. Mrs. Annie Reade said she awoke early and noticed the moon, unusually bright, was encircled with a luminous ring. A cross appeared at its base.

READY FOR LANDING — Landing craft from the two Canadian parent ships, H.M.C.S. 'Prince David' and 'Henry' smashed their way through minefields and submerged booby traps to land units of the Canadian Army in the first assault on the French coast. Many types of troop and vehicle-carrying craft are shown here as they race to shore. In the foreground are invasion craft borne in H.M.C.S. 'Prince David,' one of the R.C.N.'s "mother" ships.

Hastings Presbyterian Church To Observe 92nd Anniversary

The 92nd Anniversary of the Congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings will be observed, Sunday, June 18. It was 1852 that this congregation was started, the original members being a little band of earnest, devout, sturdy pioneers from Scotland and the north of Ireland.

Those pioneers resolved to have an occasional service at least, and a beginning was made, by the coming from Scotland of the Rev. Mr. Colquhoun. His parish was an extensive one from Warsaw to Keene and he resided in Cottesloe. He was able to give Hastings a service about once a month. Hastings, was then known as "Crook's Rapids". The services were held in the dining room of James Fowld's home.

More frequent services followed, and the congregation became too large for the dining-room. They next fitted up and cleaned, the sawmill for this purpose. Rev. Dr. MacAluse used such zeal in ministering to the spiritual needs of his people that the cause of Presbyterianism flourished.

From the sawmill, the congregation moved to a hall, furnished for the purpose, over the Post Office, which was situated, at the northwest corner, of Front and Bridge streets.

It was next decided to build a suitable place of worship, and such an edifice was erected on the site of the present church. The new church was dedicated in 1858, under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Bowie, a man of devoted and earnest spirit. This church which was a roughcast building was renovated and bricked over in 1867. Rev. W. C. Young's first service was the re-opening of the Church, which was largely attended. He ministered to the people of Norwood and Hastings for six years.

In 1875 the Union of Presbyterian Churches of Canada took place. Norwood and Hastings decided to join the Union and from then on were under the care of the Presbytery of Peterborough, Rev. T. F. Fothering, D.D. Minister.

In 1882 Hastings decided to separate from Norwood, which was granted by Presbytery on April 5, 1882.

In 1883 Rev. D. A. Thompson took charge and on July 19th was ordained and inducted as the first pastor of Hastings. His death July, 1932, nearly 50 yrs. of devoted ministry to this people.

On July 5, 1897 a disastrous fire burned the Church but it was quickly rebuilt and opened free of debt on February 20th of the next year.

After Dr. Thomson's death there have been as pastors, Rev. S. H. Hill, Rev. (Dr.) H. R. Campbell, Rev. D. K. Perrie for six years and the present minister is Rev. John Davey, B.D.

Tax Revenues Climb Steadily

OTTAWA, June 12 — (CP) — Increase of $71,782,929 was reported yesterday in May collections of $267,278,621 from customs, excise, and income tax, compared with $195,495,692 in May, 1943.

Income tax alone accounted for $178,078,158, an increase of $52,-[illegible], while customs-excise revenue amounted to $89,200,454, a gain of $18,788,306.

Collections for the first two months of this fiscal year totalled $432,870,140, increase of $60,069,805.

Ontario districts, with increase in brackets, included: Hamilton $25,478,985 ($1,179,263); London, Ont., $20,843,183 ($1,745,071); Belleville, Ont., $2,003,141 ($712,633); Kingston, Ont., $1,533,206 ($661,942).

Damage In Rome Reported Slight

NAPLES, June 12 — (AP) — Lt. Frederick Hart of New York, Allied military government historical art expert, said to-day there is "no basis for German accusations of extensive damage to Rome's cultural and religious monuments.

Despite the fact the Mediterranean Allied Air Force dropped 2,000 tons of bombs on rail targets in Rome during the 16 attacks and hit nearby airdromes, Hart said only the San Lorenzo Basilica and the wall of the Anglo-Saxon Protestant Cemetery were damaged. The damage to the cemetery was slight, he said, and the tombs of Keats and Shelley were unharmed.

Pope Gives Thanks

ROME, June 12 (AP)—Pope Pius XII emerged from the Vatican yesterday to give thanks of the Madonna of Divine love that Rome had been spared. Virtually a prisoner during the German occupation, the Holy Father left the Vatican in a small automobile followed by two other cars containing guards and attendants. The party drove through Rome to the Jesuit church of Saint Ignatius, where the Pope prayed before the painting of the Madonna.

Stokoe Pitches Plazas To 17-10 Win

A slippery field and greasy ball made conditions tough for Trenton R.C.A.F. and Plazas in their benefit game at Riverside Park Saturday evening in aid of the Auxiliary to the Navy but the teams ran off the show nevertheless and netted $47.65 for the worthwhile cause. Plazas won the loosely-played fixture, 17 to 10, largely because they had more success in bunching their hits than did the Fliers.

Frank Stokoe on the rubber for the winners and Sammy Kerr, big R.C.A.F. pitcher worked under difficulties. Not only were there numerous errors behind them but in addition many drives went for hits instead of outs because the fielders could not get up speed quickly on the slipper footing. The Fliers suffered more in this respect than the homesters because they were all wearing running shoes.

There were some sparkling fielding plays mixed up with a lot of sloppy ball and First Baseman Hastings of the Fliers carried off chief honors. He went up for a terrific drive from the bat of Joe Blewett in the eighth, twisted in mid-air and dived into Burton trying to scramble back. A moment after Pitcher Kerr nailed a similar drive smacked at him by Jack Tucker.

Joe Blewett, in centre field for the Plazas, figured in an unusual catch. He went back for a long fly hit by Mike O'Leary and the ball struck squarely into his hands and then bounced high in the air. Blewett ran back another ten feet and completed the catch by nailing the ball before it struck the ground.

Fliers got away to a good start scoring twice in the first on McKay's single with two out and the bases loaded but Plazas evened it up with a pair in their half on Tucker's double and Eddie Starr's single after Pryde and Hawks had opened the inning by walking.

Plazas bunched four hits with two passes and an error in the second to go in front 6 to 2 but Fliers evened the count with four in the third. However the Peterborough representatives took the lead again with a run in their end of the frame and were never headed after that.

They went out in front by registering three time in the fifth and chasing in six runs in the sixth and that about ended the argument.

Whitaker's Win Over Rangers

On Saturday at Nicholls Oval the Peterborough Whitaker Club met a team from the Rangers Reserve Battalion and a low scoring game on a slow wicket resulted in a win for the club by 46 to 27. The Rangers team included B. Roberts, T. Williams, J. Parry and W. Dyer of the club's regular side, and such success as they had was due to two of them. William 6 wickets for 16 runs and Roberts scored 12 not out.

The club batted first and Smith was out on Williams' firstover. Colbran and Pagett added 22 but their wickets fell fast and seven were down for 30. Then Blake and Stansfield, two visiting air-men made a short stand which took the total to 46. Colbran continued his good form and was top scorer with 14. Williams has not had much opportunity of bowling for the club, but he was very much on the spot on Saturday.

The Soldiers made a bad start against the bowling of Dyer and Colbran, having four wickets down for 8. Later B. Roberts batted well and if any one had stayed in at the other end might well have won the match for Rangers. Williams followed up his good bowling by being second high scorer with 8. The bowling honors were equally divided. Dyer getting five wickets for 15 runs and Colbran four for 11.

By FRED D. CRAIG

Soldiers will tangle with Switchgear in a City Softball League game at Riverside Park tonight at 7 o'clock and with the Training Centre Club strengthened and having the pitching prowess of Sailor Bill Lewis available this tussle should line up as among the best battles of the year. Switchgear, like Old Man River, are rolling right along. They have reeled off six straight wins and are hopeful of making it seven in a row this evening. Manager Murph Chambers will probably delegate Bert Harrison to the hilltop for this important fixture while Lewis is billed to do the tossing for the Soldiers. Tomorrow night the Union team who will have to break into the win column soon if they want to have a chance to grab off a playoff berth will clash with the second-place Plazas. The U.E.W. outfit has been seeking some new talent and should have about the strongest lineup of the year to stack up against the second placers tomorrow night. Here is the league standing to date:

| | Won | Lost | P.C. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Switchgear | 6 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Plazas | 4 | 2 | .667 |
| St. Peter's | 2 | 3 | .400 |
| Soldiers | 1 | 4 | .200 |
| U.E.W. | 0 | 4 | .000 |

It was unfortunate that conditions were bad for the Trenton R.C.A.F.-Plazas benefit game here Saturday for it was evident that on a dry field the fixture might have provided a lot of good softball. Fliers are used to a skinned diamond and the running shoes they wore gave them poor traction. However the visitors did the best they could under the circumstances and the crowd enjoyed, especially, the fielding of first baseman Hastings whose circus grab of Joe Blewett's hot shot down the first base line and quick dive to double Burton off the bag was a defensive gem. Hastings also came up with a backhand stop of a hard hit roller. The hitting of Pitcher Sammy Kerr who had four blows and every one of them hit on the nose, was a feature. Les Burton had four out of five for the Plazas. The game netted $47.65 for the Navy Auxiliary and this column has been asked to express the thanks to the Auxiliary to the Trenton team for coming at their own expense, the Plazas for arranging the game, Umpires Bob Batley and Harold Dormer, Leo Crowley, scoreboard boy and Bill Dormer, gate collector for giving their services without charge, Dave Leether and Fred C. Scates for looking after the arrangements and the City League for furnishing the balls so that there were no expenses and every cent of the gate receipts went to help the boys in the Navy.

One For The Book

That delayed catch made by Joe Blewett in centre field for the Plazas in the sixth inning of Saturday evening's game with the Trenton Fliers was one for the book. Blewett went back after a long fly by Mike O'Leary, the Peterborough boy playing third base for the visitors. He got under the drive all right but the ball spurted out of his hands and went high into the air. The Plaza centre fielder however sprinted ten feet further out, caught the spheroid before it hit the ground and completed the catch, a most unusual play. Incidentally it had the Flier base-runners and coachers all crossed up. The player on third when the ball was hit started for the plate when the ball landed in Blewett's hands. Then when it was seen that it had bounced out again and the fielder would have a second chance to catch it the runner ran back to third base. Then he was too late to go home. He should, of course, continued on to the plate in the first place. He was legally entitled to leave third as soon as the ball hit the fielder's hands whether it was eventually caught or dropped. That rule was made to stop an old-time practice of outfielders who with a runner on third used to jog in toward the infield juggling the ball and refusing to catch it until they were so close that it would be impossible to score from third. The rule makers got around that by allowing runners to advance as soon as the ball hit the fielder's hands.

According to the Girls' Softball League schedule the Lock Works girls are going to be a busy team in the next two nights for they are billed to play a postponed game with Quakers tonight and the regular schedule calls for them to meet the Brintons on Tuesday evening. The Lock Works outfit, new team in the loop this season has a bunch of young players with Beryl Lee, formerly of Brintons as the only experienced member of the squad. The team is improving all the time, however, and some good material is in sight. The battle with Quakers tonight, if it follows the pattern of the game played between the two teams last Thursday, startling reverses of form of the season. Quakers started out should be full of thrills for that contest saw one of the most like sure winners and opened up a wide margin. Suddenly the Lock Works girls started to get their attack rolling and they finally overhauled the Porridge girls and chasing three runs across in the ninth took the engagement 15 runs to 12. Tomorrow night they will have tough opposition again for the Brintons who won the intermediate honors for the last two seasons have bobbed up with another strong club.

What Is This, Mike?

If we are not very much on the alert, or even if we are, there will be Halls of Fame sprouting and blooming all over the country, writes Mike Rodden in the Kingston Whig-Standard. They'll have them for hockey, lacrosse, football, tennis, (ah there was a sport that was a sport) and marbles with pictures of all champions past or present cluttering up the walls. In case readers of this newspaper have never heard of "hookstag" let me assure them that it was a noble pastime and in so far as I know was originated, prospered and expired in the town of Mattawa. It was a sport unto itself and as it never was played with any degree of perfection in any place except Mattawa how or where on earth can any other city, town or village deprive Mattawa of the Hookstag Hall of Fame? Hookstag sticks, be it said, were made out of hickory or any other wood that is as hard as cement. There were no rules governing the length of one of these weapons but each had a very sharp hook (hence the sport's name) which enabled the player to catch the strange contraption used for purposes of pursuit. This latter generally consisted of two rubber balls with a strap connecting them. It required great skill to catch it in flight and even greater skill to relieve an attacking player of it if the said player objected, which they occasionally did. Defence men, however, playfully solved this problem more often than not by banging their hickory sticks on the noggins of their oppnents. This was considered real sport and referees were instructed that they must not, under any circumstances, inflict any penalties unless the players, accidentally or in fun, tested their hickories on the heads of the officials.

Complete sinking of the Yanks by the Boston Red Sox and a triple defeat for the Cincinnati Reds at the hands of the St. Louis Cards featured the week-end baseball program. The New York club lost all four games of the series to the Red Sox. Tex Hughson who beat the Yanks in the opening game of the series coming back in the first game of yesterday's double-header to allow them only three hits. The Red Sox took that game 2 to 1 and on six-hit pitching by Hausman in the second fixture garnered that one also by 3 to 1. St. Louis Cards needed only three pitchers to take the Reds three in a row. Mort Cooper shut them out on Saturday and yesterday Munger and Gumbert came through with six-hitters to subdue Cincinnati without a great deal of trouble, the Cardinals winning 2 to 1 and 4 to 1 which means of course that the Reds were able to pick up only two runs in the three fixtures. New York Giants also won a twin bill Sunday over the Philadelphia Bluejays, although they had to go twelve innings to pick off the second end of the card.

Thirty Golfers Entered Kickers' Play

The Kickers' handicap sweepstake at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club on Saturday afternoon proved to be very popular and over 30 players teed off in search of the hidden par which, by the way, was set at a very conventional 76. No player knew of this par until the round was finished, but before starting out each competitor was asked to set his own handicap. Some took advantage and raised or lowered their regular handicap to what they think it should be, but a surprising number made no change whatever.

C. B. Brown guessed his right on the nose by picking a handicap of 24, shooting an even hundred, and thereby netting the hidden par of 76. Joe Jebson, who a few years ago could shoot with the best in the country, thereby earning a 10 handicap, later raised to 14, has been saying for weeks that his should be raised again. He was right about this when he turned in a gross 99, handicap 22, net 77, for the second prize of the day. Stan. Payne carried on with his regular figure of 8 and with an ordinary 87, netted 79. George Kelly, taking a 22, turned in 102 for a net 80 and fourth prize.

Thirteen players, using either their own or new handicaps, netted less than par and therefore under the rules of the match were disqualified.

Russ Kitchen and Joe Watson turned in the best gross scores of the day with 84's each, followed by O. Degraw with an 85 and Hugh Waddell 86. The Sunday morning prizes went to Gordon Whatman, gross 83, handicap 15, net 68, followed by Stan. Payne, 79, 8, net 71; J. G. Wharry, 89, 17, 72; O. Degraw, 82, 10, 72.

Many players have covered the first round draws of the Stratton, Presidents and Westclox tournaments, and those who have not made arrangements to play or scratched off their names will be eliminated early this week.

The match and handicap committee have requested that all players with handicaps of 20 or less signify their desire to play in the club championship by listing their names on the board at the club-house. All with handicaps of 20 or higher may sign for the MacDonald trophy if they wish. Draws for these tournaments will then be made.

Competitors in match play tournaments who must give their opponents strokes should use the following table to determine three-quarters of the difference between handicaps:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | 1 | 16 | 12 |
| 2 | 2 | 17 | 13 |
| 3 | 2 | 18 | 14 |
| 4 | 3 | 19 | 14 |
| 5 | 4 | 20 | 15 |
| 6 | 5 | 21 | 16 |
| 7 | 5 | 22 | 17 |
| 8 | 6 | 23 | 17 |
| 9 | 7 | 24 | 18 |
| 10 | 8 | 25 | 19 |
| 11 | 8 | 26 | 20 |
| 12 | 9 | 27 | 20 |

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

With a seven-under par 274 for 72 holes, Sam Byrd, Detroit pro and former outfielder of the New York Yankees, had little difficulty yesterday in leading a field of 129 to victory in the $17,500 invitation golf tournament at Philadelphia, with a one-above par for the final 18 holes. Byrd took down $6,700 in war bonds as first prize while Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N.Y., carded a 281 total for second place and a reward of $3,325. Sgt. E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., finished third with 283 for $1,350 and Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., was fourth with 287. Harold (Jug) McSpaden and Byron Nelson, pre-tourney favorites, were fifth and sixth.

For the first time in New York's turf history, a triple dead heat was called in a race Saturday when favored Bossuet, Brownie and Wait A Bit finished abreast in the $10,000 seven-furlong Carter Handicap at Aqueduct in the presence of a crowd of 26,386. A field of nine started and the co-winners each earned $3,650. The last three-cornered win was registered at Detroit Oct. 6, 1942.

Pitcher Paul Dean, brother of "Dizzy", returned to the active list of the St. Louis Browns and the club asked for waivers on him with a view to sending him to Little Rock of the Southern Association for a test.

Philadelphia Nationals yesterday announced the purchases for $7,500 of Catcher Johnny Peacock from the Boston Red Sox while Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics revealed the purchase of Outfielder Harold Epps from the St. Louis Browns.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 12—(AP). — Henry Armstrong and Al Davis, who likely will draw a lot of customers into Madison Square Garden on Thursday night, hold a notable collection of boxing records.... And if they perform at all like they did on their last Garden appearances, they'll establish another — one that the Garden's air-conditioning system won't eliminate.... When Henry lost to Ray Robinson (and retired for the second time) this corner was convinced that Henry could lick any welterweight who would step up within hitting range, and he couldn't lick anyone who could duck expertly....Of his recent loss to Willie Joyce, that still goes.....Davis set a Garden record by knocking out Bob Montgomery virtually with one punch. Then against Beau Jack he couldn't even land one punch.

Slight understatement:

Lieut. Jom "Shanty" Hearn, former Georgia Tech third baseman, overcame an overheated radiator, a flat tire, bad weather, and one of the South's better service ball clubs to pitch a no-hit game against Fort Bragg recently....This led Buster Maynard, formerly of the Giants, to moan: "There goes one of the best prospects I've seen in a long time," when he learned Hearn belonged to the Cards....A few days later "Shanty" hurled five hitless innings against Maxton Air Base.. ..That evening, while the GI's were hoarse from cheering him, Hearn remarked: "You know, those were the least impressive innings I have ever pitched."

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

On Wednesday next at 1:30 p.m. we commence the annual men's doubles tournament for the Empress Hotel Shield. This is one of the outstanding events of our lawn bowling season.

A few days ago we were rather doubtful about the success of this tournament, but the entries that reached us over the weekend makes us feel certain that we will reach our objective of 36 pairs.

While we have many bowlers from outside clubs we are still expecting entries from Port Hope, Oshawa and Cannington.

This shield the boys will compete for on Wednesday, was donated to our club by Chris G. Graham, proprietor of the Empress Hotel, away back in 1937. Since then it was won by nearly every club in the district. Port Hope, Oshawa, Cobourg, and Cannington all held the shield and last year it was won by J. Harrison and C. Renaud of our local club. Who will win it this year? We haven't the slightest idea. There are some mighty good bowlers teamed up for this event.

The co-operation that the Greens Committee has received from the bowlers regarding the removal of jacks and bowling mats from the greens is greatly appreciated. Thanks a lot.

Notwithstanding the heavy rainfall that came early on Saturday a goodly crowd of bowlers were out on Saturday night for the week-end special. And what helped to augment the crowd was the fact it turned much warmer as the day wore on. We expect before the summer is over, that these tournaments will outdraw other local tournaments.

Winning Rinks.

Yankees Drop Two Tilts To Boston Reds

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

They may be slipping, but don't count the world champion New York Yankees out of the running in the American League baseball race yet.

The Yanks lost a double-header to Boston Red Sox yesterday, 2-1 and 4-1, extending their string of defeats to 11 of their last 13 starts. However, last year, when things looked blackest, they won eight in a row and followed through by winning the flag and the world series.

Tex Hughson and Clam Hausmann pitched the Red Sox to their double triumph. Hughson's effort was a three-hit masterpiece. In addition, he drove in the winning run in the opener by getting an infield hit with the bases loaded.

Meantime St. Louis Cardinals, National League champs, gained two games over their nearest competitors by whipping Cincinnati twice, 3-1 and 4-1; while Chicago Cubs shut out Pittsburgh twice, 5-0 and 1-0.

The Cards set a league record for double-plays in a double-header by making nine twin killings—four in the opener and five in the nightcap—in backing up six-hit twirling by both George Munger and Harry Gumbert.

Paul Erickson turned in a two-hitter and Bob Chipman a five-hitter for the Cubs as they blanked the Pirates.

Chicago White Sox beat Dizzy Trout, 4-2, for their eighth straight triumph in the first game of a twin bill with Detroit, but had their streak snapped in the afterpiece when Stubby Overmire won, 1-0, on Rudy York's ninth-inning single.

Browns Split

A grand slam seventh-inning home run by Pinch-hitter Gene Moore gave the first place St. Louis Browns a split with Cleveland. The Indians easily took the opener, 13-1 behind Mel Harder, but Moore's round-tripper in the nightcap gave Bob Muncrief and the Browns a 4-2 triumph.

New York Giants swept a double-header from the Phillies, both by scores of 6-5 with the second game going 12 innings, before Phil Weintraub singled Mel Ott home with the winning tally. Nap Reyes' ninth-inning single won the opener.

Bobo Newsom and Luman Harris, aided by Joe Berry's relief pitching, twirled Philadelphia Athletics to a double victory over Washington, 6-1 and 6-5.

Brooklyn and Boston Braves divided their twin bill. The Dodgers won the opener 5-4 in 10 innings on Howie Schultz' triple and an outfield fly. The Braves broke a six-game losing streak by taking the nightcap, 8-5.

Only two games were played in the majors Saturday, both in the senior circuit. St. Louis powdered Cincinnati 18-0 behind Mort Cooper's elbowing and Pittsburgh downed Chicago 9-4.

Baltimore Orioles Sweep Twin Bill From Buffalo Bisons Yesterday

(By The Associated Press).

Blas Monaco and Howie Moss, the "M" twins of the Baltimore Orioles, each played prominent role in a double International League victory over the Buffalo Bisons, 4-1 and 7-2, yesterday.

The triumphs elevated the Birds into second place, a half game behind the league-leading Jersey City Giants and dropped the Bisons into third place, a half game behind Baltimore.

Monaco made only two hits, one in each game, but his homer in the first inning of the first contest started the Orioles off on the right foot. He also drew three walks to raise his total to 53 bases on balls this year in 43 games, a better average than his league leading mark of 127 in 145 games last year.

Moss made four hits, including a triple and a double and batted in two runs. His 41 RBI's are tops for the league and including yesterday's games, he is batting .320.

The Little Giants and Montreal Royals divided their double bill, the Jerseys winning the first 1-0 and the Royals taking the nightcap 10-9 in 12 innings. Andy Hansen, 19-year-old freshman star, pitched a two-hitter in the opener to notch his seventh decision of the season. Seven Jersey errors enabled the Royals to take the second.

Syracuse and Rochester broke even in two close games. The Chiefs took the first 3-1 and the Red Wings came back to take the second, 5-4, scoring the winning run in the last inning.

Toronto and Newark split their two games, Toronto taking the first 7-2, for Al Jarlett's eighth victory, and the Bears grabbing the second, 4-1, behind the five hit pitching of Ken Holcombe. Jarlett made two hits in the opener, including a home run.

Baltimore defeated Buffalo 9-2 on Saturday, other games being rained out.

TORONTO, June 12.—(CP).—The horse Careless Knight led a blameless life for five years after reforming from his earlier meanness, but an unhappy association with the old days threw him off in Toronto Duffering Park last night.

The Knight, owned by W. T. Northgrave, was a killer in his youth, and in fact the meanest of mean actors. The beatings he got when his trainers were trying to gentle him made him worse—until his present owner took over and tamed him with kindness. For five years he was a model of propriety and proved a stout-hearted racer.

But when they tried to start a race at the seven-furlong post at Dufferin, Careless Knight snorted and reared, and then set off right lustily through a gate that was carelessly left open. He was eventually pulled up and brought back but was disqualified.

Reason for his fall from grace was not hard to find. The stable where he was quartered in his early days and took so many drubbings was just behind the seven-furlong post. And that one fact put fear into the Knight's head again, and momentarily brought back the cussedness after all these years.

Say Uncle?

Uncle and nephew don't often meet in an athletic event, and it's not often they are evenly matched. But that's what happened at Chatham, Ont., during a track meet. Gerald Gillett wound up in a deadlock with his nephew Gilbert Gillett after a stirring contest in the sprints and jumps. Both uncle and nephew incidentally are 12 years old, and they met in a school track meet.

Monday Wanderings.

Day and Wentworth were familiar names along the N.H.L. trails a few years back, and they may be again in the future. Kerry Day, nine-year old son of Toronto Maple Leafs' coach Hap Day, won his first crest as a member of the Braves who won the Islington school league in Toronto last winter. Marvin Wentworth, 10, played defence for Etobicoke Pee Wees in the style his pop, Cy Wentworth of Montreal Maroons, taught him.... They ran off three dead heats in one day at Mount Royal race track in Montreal. This is believed a record of some sort or other.... Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning says that chances of a jockey becoming a bigtimer are much better if he tries to look like one. Gail Smith mightn't have been the best rider in the world, Herb continues, but he certainly travelled in the highest of high styles and associated only with top-ranking horsemen. End of the success story came when Smith rode Bounding Home to a victory over the favorite Pensive in the Belmont stakes.

Brockville Takes Marksman Honors

TORONTO, June 12 — (CP) — Brockville Collegiate Cadet rifle team scored a smashing victory Saturday in the Ontario Rifle Association matches at nearby Long Branch Rifle Range Saturday, winning the individual prize for Class A marksmen, the prize for Class B, the Warren Challenge Trophy for team match in Class A. The prize for Class B and the Canadian National Exhibition Trophy.

Lawrence McGurrin of the Brockville team was an outstanding individual performer. He won the first and third Class A matches, won the individual aggregate for Class A with 284 out of a possible 300 and finished second in the match 2 shoot.

There were more than 350 competitors—five of them girls—for one of the biggest entry lists in the Association's history. The matches are held annually for Cadet Corps members 18 and under and are fired at 25 and 50 yards with .22 calibre rifles.

Yesterday's Stars ....

By The Associated Press

Howie Schultz, Dodgers and Phil Masi, Braves—Schultz tripled in 10th and scored winning run on fly; Masi hit two doubles and drove in three Boston runs in nightcap to give Boston even split.

Nap Reyes and Phil Weintraub, Giants—Reyes singled in Ray Berres with winning run in ninth of opener; Weintraub scored Mel Ott in 12th inning of nightcap with single to give Giants double victory over Phillies.

Paul Erickson and Bob Chipman, Cubs—Both pitched shutouts over Pirates, Erickson winning first, 5-0, allowing two hits, and Chipman giving up five in second game for 1-0 win.

Emil Verban and Marty Marion, Cardinals—Verban figured in eight of nine record breaking double plays and Marion figured in five, as Cards swept twin bill from Reds, 3-1 and 4-1.

FIRST AIRMAN TO LAND IN FRANCE—First Allied airman to "touch down" on the French invasion coast is believed to have been Flight-Lieutenant Harry Dowding, D.F.C., 162 John Street, Sarnia. An R.C.A.F. Spitfire pilot, FL. Dowding came in with both wheels down to land on an emergency strip established on the beachhead, when German flak punctured his gas tank and the gas began spraying into the cockpit. FL. Dowding's companion, FL. I. G. S. Keltie, D.F.C., of Edmonton, Alta., "beat up" the landing strip a few times to warn people on it that an aircraft was about to land. Everyone scuttled off but a French farmer, busy pitching hay. Dowding smacked into the hayrack, but escaped unhurt to return to England by boat and take off with a fresh Spitfire. (RCAF Photo)

Better Quality Stock Featured At Millbrook Breeders' Show

MILLBROOK, June 12 (ENS) — The annual Millbrook Breeders' Show, held at the fair grounds Friday, scored another success with a record crowd in attendance, entries in all classes exceeding those of any previous year, and with quality, an outstanding feature.

Fine weather favored the show, the rain keeping off until practically the last judging had been completed, and the loud speaker service on the grounds added to the interest and success of the fair. S. S. Staples did the announcing, Sgt. O'Toole of Peterborough relieving him when necessary, and the latter also presented the silver cup given by O'Toole Real Estate Brokers, Peterborough, for the grand champion Clydsdale mare, won by Allan Davis, of Peterborough.

J. A. Carroll, superintendent of Fairs and Exhibitions, Toronto, made the opening address of the afternoon, stating that it was thirty-two years since he had first visited Millbrook, starting work with the department of Agriculture in organizing the initial rural school fair in the district. In 1912 he also originated the poultry breeders' club, which organization has now grown until it supplies breeding stock across Canada. The value of agricultural products as a feature in winning the war was stressed, and the speaker congratulated the farmers on what they have accomplished, with lessened help, and urged a continuance of effort in the current season. Congratulations to the fair directors on the success achieved, in spite of many obstacles and best wishes for future growth and continued effort, concluded Mr. Carroll's address, as he referred to the fact that it is now one hundred years since the first Agricultural Society was formed in Canada.

Praises Stock

The Hon. Dr. Vivian, Provincial Minister of Health, also spoke, stating that "coming to Millbrook was more like coming home", and referring especially to the high quality of the stock exhibited, "with not only Peterborough district well represented, but Cavan as well."

Others who expressed personal pleasure in being present, and extended congratulations on the success of the fair, were Wilfrid Shortt, representing the Lindsay and Cannington districts, who urged attendance at the Cannington fair on June 21; Frank Rickard, M.P. for Durham, who with his son is a yearly exhibitor; Harold Scott, M.P.P. for Peterborough; and the president, Robert McCamus, who voiced the thanks of the directors for the help they had received from livestock owners, 'swelling the list of exhibitors of the finest animals to be found throughout Central Ontario," and from various business firms who gave substantial assistance with the prize list.

A new feature this year was the seating accommodation provided about the ring where judging took place, the judges who served throughout the afternoon including: Clydesdale and Carriage horses, F. M. Campbell, Uxbridge; Percherons, Road, Saddle, and Carriage horses, M. W. Staples, O.A.C., Guelph; Jersey cattle, E. A. Summers, Bowmanville; Shorthhorns, Edgar Leask, Seagrave; Herefords, R. C. Graham, Toronto; and swine, M. W. Turnbull, C.P.C., Peterborough. Dr Charles Cook, of Toronto, provincial head of the Jersey Breeders' Association, was also on the grounds and gave assistance during the afternoon.

The Daughters of Cavan L.O.B.A. No. 1066 had the booth on the grounds and the Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian church served meals.

Imports Shown.

Included in the exhibits in the ring during the afternoon were a pure-bred, imported Belgian foal, and fine specimens of Hereford cattle brought from Wyoming, and belonging to the Old Orchard Farms, of Peterborough, the owner, J. Stewart, by special request, adding this item of interest to the fair program.

The grand parade of livestock, which culminated the day's events, with S. S. Staples giving descriptive information as each animal passed the stand, revealed a quantity and quality of horses and cattle one might travel far to equal. Many of those exhibited go on to the larger fairs where they have a place in the big money.

A Free Enterprise FROM BIBLICAL TIMES

FROM Biblical times men have gone down to the sea in ships, and fished to make a living. The tang of the salt air is in their blood ... riding out the gale and bringing in the catch is their way of life.

Canadian fishermen are sturdy, self-reliant men, who, through their own efforts have built a great Canadian industry. Some become masters of their own ships ... thus does initiative find its reward. All are masters of their own destiny. This is Free Enterprise.

A hundred years and more this Bank has afforded the fishing industry essential banking facilities ... as to all Canadians ... contributing to the growth of a self-reliant people and a prosperous Canada.

A Pimple Covered Face Kills Many a Romance

The lives of many young people are made miserable by the breaking out of pimples, and you probably know of cases where a promising romance has been spoiled by those red, white, festering and pus filled sores on the face.

The trouble is not so much physical pain, but the mental suffering caused by the embarrassing disfigurement which very often makes the sufferer ashamed to go out in company.

The quickest way to get rid of pimples is to improve the general health by a thorough cleansing of the blood.

Burdock Blood Bitters helps to cleanse the blood and with the blood cleansed the complexion should clear up.

Main Street Topics

TRUCK RECOVERED

The truck stolen from the farm of Roy Sanderson, Smith township a week ago was recovered Sunday abandoned at Greenbanks, north of Whitby.

AIR FORCE GRADUATES.

Sgt. A. R. Brooks, 301 Reid Street, Peterborough, and Sgt. C. D. Erskine, 16 Henry Street, Cobourg, have graduated at air schools in Manitoba, the first as an air gunner and the latter as an air bomber.

CAR STOLEN

An automobile belonging to William Germain, 218 Barnardo avenue was stolen during Saturday night. The family heard a noise outside early Sunday morning and it is thought that the car was taken at that time.

LIONS NAME OFFICERS

Lions club members will elect a new slate of officers at a regular meeting to be held at the Kawartha clubhouse tonight. The final meeting of the summer will be held later this month and will consist of a stag at South Beach Hotel.

ANNUAL MEETING

J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce reports that the annual meeting for the election of officers will be held this evening in the board room at 7.45. Other new business is also scheduled for this important meeting.

INVESTIGATE CRIMES

Major Herb Mason of Peterborough, with AMG in Italy, is one of a group of officers with a nasty job to do. Part of his work includes checking with families about their relatives who have been shot and tortured as hostages by the retreating German armies. The Italian Government is contemplating a memorial on the spot where 15 hostages were shot and this will also come under his jurisdiction. Major Mason was formerly a Company Commander in the S.D. and G. Highlanders.

"GOD THE PRESERVER OF MAN"

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church of Christ Scientist in Peterborough on Sunday. The Golden Text was: "I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee." (Jeremiah 30:11). Selections from the Bible included the following from Psalms 121:8: "The Lord shall preserve they going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, included the following: "The power of God brings deliverance to the captive. No power can withstand divine Love."

MONEY GONE!

An advertiser lost a valuable purse containing documents and other precious paper and considerable money last week. The purse has been found minus the large sum of money in a garden where it had been thrown over a fence.

DOING WELL.

Mrs. John Armstrong, R.R. 1, Indian River, collected on the fruits of her winter's labor on Saturday. During the cold months she has carefully tended some tomato plants in the house, which have grown four feet high, and she was able to use some of the ripe ones over the week-end.

TEACHERS APPOINTED

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held on Saturday afternoon Miss Marion Templeton of Almonte and Miss Zetta Wilson of Cookstown were appointed to the teaching staff of the Peterborough Public Schools. Miss Wilson's home is near Keene although she has been teaching for a number of years in Simcoe county.

WOUNDED IN ITALY—Gnr. Bill Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rose, 593 Homewood avenue, was wounded in Italy June 3, while serving with the R.C.A. When he enlisted, he was with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, but later transferred to the Artillery.

Masonic Lodges Attend Church

The Peterborough district lodges of the Masonic Order held their annual church parade on Sunday evening to All Saints' Anglican Church where the rector the Rev. W. A. Filer took as his subject "A Builder Builded a Temple." The second lesson was read by R.W. Bro. D. D. Brown of Keene district deputy grand master.

Taking his text from 1 Corinthians chapter 3 and part of the 10th verse "as a wise master builder I have laid the foundation and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon." The instinct for construction is deeply laid in every man Mr. Filer said but he warned as did St. Paul against jerry-building which although the foundation may be well laid the building itself may be of wood, hay or stubble things which perish instead of being built of gold, silver and precious stone things which last forever. Building of the temple of God was described as everyone building their own life and character. Hence it was up to every man to take heed how he builded.

To build well a man must be sound, must be sincere and that Master Mason is ever ready to help with the building. "If God is not in your life your life is being "jerry builded." He must be in our lives and it is only through God and man working together that we can build a great nation. We must build individuals and to build individuals we must build character and to build character we need God."

In closing Mr. Filer urged men and women to pray, for it is only through prayer that they can do successfully their daily tasks and also build Canada into a great nation.

City Requires More Firemen

The fire and light committee of the city council has been advertising for men for the purpose of strengthening the department largely under the compulsion of an amendment passed at the recent sessions of the Ontario Legislature.

"With the demand for men for war and industrial needs throughout the country," Alderman John Sullivan, chairman, said today, "I don't know where we are going to get the kind of men the department requires, but at any rate we are going to see what we can do."

It is understood that the purpose of the amendment is to provide sufficient men on the duty shift to leave those off duty free from responding to fire calls.

Alderman Sullivan said he expected that an additional ten men would be required for the Peterborough department if this change in regulations pertaining fire departments came into effect now.

The chairman pointed out that the local firemen are now working an average of seventy-two hours a week, and that they are a long way from the eight hour day.

Red Cross
Blood Donor Clinic

Since the Connaught Laboratory, where the blood is dried has found it necessary to close for the month of July for renovation and reorganization, all clinics have been asked to cooperate by closing for that month also.

But the Need for Blood is Vital

Therefore all clinics have pledged themselves to make up for the loss, by asking all donors due in the first part of July and also donors overdue to endeavor to come to the clinic during the remaining weeks of June. Our men are fighting on the beaches of France and in Italy these days. We cannot be beside them to share their danger, but let us not forget that their lives depend on our blood.

So little is this pint of blood to give,
That, far away, a dying man might live;
Take this, my blood, and know a part of me
Has gone ... to keep my homeland free.

Typhoon Club Gives Aid To War Victims

Banded together in the somewhat unusual name of the "Typhoon Club" by which to be identified under, a group of young people have made it an occasion to be of service to others, as well as an assist to the country's cause in the trying times through which the Empire is now passing.

Ordinarily speaking, the word "Typhoon" is mostly associated with something that can be quite destructive at times, but this group composed of Trevor Davies, Delbert Davies, Norman Hayward, Jack Christmas, Kenneth Gallagher, Wilfred Doughty and George Bedford had every intention of proving the opposite, for they took up a contribution at each meeting, in order that they might not only do something that was really constructive, but also be of practical service to humanity, in helping to give assistance to other people less fortunately situated than themselves.

This same purpose also led them on to hold a bazaar for the same purpose, and this combined with their own givings, enables the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund to give them a nice credit of $10.00 in to-day's receipts, which should shortly be on its way to do the good work it was intended for on their behalf.

A Juryman's Dilemma.

Recently one of a small group casually remarked that he had been summoned for jury duty at the sessions held last week, whereon one of the number made the remark that if he were selected to serve, he should give the fees that he would thus receive, to the fund, and with a fulness of heart he spontaneously promised to do so.

Nearly a week later the two again met in a somewhat similar group, when the former began displaying the fruits of his jury service and was promptly reminded of his promise. Far be it to say that there was ever any intention of hedging, but it was worth a lot to see the corners of his mouth quiver in endeavoring to hold back a smile, when he naively enquired did he really do that.

On receiving every assurance that such was the case, he said he had already spent $2.00 of it in justifiable expenses, and the retort glorious that he still had $10.00 with which to do a heap of good, had the desired effect, and that amount comfortably reposes also in today's list for the fund.

Gullability Par Excellence.

Recently a citizen returning from the far west, brought back a tale of how a horse by the name of Maginot Line would be a sure winner at the recent Woodbine races, and no one really took him seriously, knowing well his own inexperience in such matters. When however the horse mentioned turned up a first place winner, they sat up and took notice and soliloquized on their bad luck in not taking a flutter.

The next time that the horse was in a race, one chap bet two, others each a dollar that the horse would repeat, but alas such was not the case, and both winners money appears in to-day's receipts under the heading of "Ill gotten gains," which might cause some to reflect, just how gullible some people, even sound-headed business men can be at times.

Youth Charged Stealing Auto

Judgment was reserved Saturday afternoon by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in a charge against Maurice Pelland, 19, of stealing a motor car owned by Robert Crowley of Otonabee from the parking lot of the Preston Garage, Charlotte Street, on Sunday, May 14.

Hearing of the evidence in the case took most of the day and Magistrate Langley finally reserved judgment after W. J. Arthur Fair, defence counsel, had argued that the charge against Pelland should have been joy-riding instead of automobile theft. Mr. Fair submitted that there had been no intention of permanently depriving Crowley of his property.

Witnesses called by the Crown included Sandford Robbins, 19, already convicted of stealing the same automobile and under sentence of a year in the Reformatory.

Robbins said, in answer to a question from Mr. Fair in cross-examination that the intention in taking the car had been to return it to its owner after a joy-ride.

Pte. Wm Doughty, Canadian Provost Corps, Toronto, and Carol Rose, North Monaghan, identified Pelland as one of two youths who had been seen running away from a car that had shot off Highway 28, ploughed through a ditch and crashed through a wire fence, coming to rest on the Dale property. Doughty and Rose said they had chased the fleeing boys and finally caught them and held them until police arrived.

Pelland in the witness box said that the suggestion to take the car had come from Robbins, who wanted to use it to visit a girl he knew living on Highway 28. Pelland said that he himself could not drive an automobile and that Robbins had been at the wheel when the car left the highway and crashed through the fence.

BROTHERS IN ARMY OVERSEAS—Pte. Fred Brand (Left) and Pte. Ronald Brand (Right), sons of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brand, 250 Carlisle avenue, are serving overseas. Pte. Fred Brand, whose wife lives on London street, received word recently that he was wounded for the second time in Italy, while serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. Pte. Ronald Brand has been overseas a year with the R.C.A.S.C., and was formerly working with the Robertson Construction Company building Genelco.

Grove Graduating Class Passes Mackenzie Sword To 1945 Boys

LAKEFIELD, June 12 (ENS) — The prize giving at Lakefield Preparatory School closing on Friday afternoon was preceeded by the traditional sword ceremony, in which a sword given by Lt. Cmdr. Mackenzie was passed on from the graduating class of '44 to next year's graduating class.

With the Cadet Corps lined up in the school courtyard, the blue ensign flying in the breeze the sword was passed on by the retiring C.O. Terry Martin to next year's C.O. Larry Smart and was carried by Jimmy Wilkes through the lines of cadets into the school.

The Chapel service was conducted by the Rev. S. A. R. Wood, who introduced His Grace Archbishop D. Owen whose address to those leaving the school was that Failure and Success are merely a realm of the spirit. He opened his address and closed it with the text "Who knows but what you have been called to the Kingdom for a day like this." He exhorted the boys at all times to stand by principles learned at the school. Then during an atmosphere of hushed solemnity he dedicated two beautiful stained glass windows to the memory of Douglas Drake and Stewart Gunn, two Old Boys, whose lives were given for their country during raids over Germany.

Award Prizes

Prize giving took place on the lawn overlooking Lake Katchewanooka with the school forming an attractive background. Headmaster J. Winder Smith welcomed parents and friends and spoke of Old Boys who are scattered over the whole world in different branches of the Service. He spoke in the regret of the loss of T. Crawford, who had been a master at the School for four years and had recently left to join the U. S. Navy, and of Edgar Moore, who first as a pupil and now as a junior master was leaving to join the navy. "N.A.'s" place will be difficult to fill as his personality made him a great favorite with boys and masters alike. Mr. Smith expressed deep sorrow in the loss of Britton Osler, for many years on the Board of Directors, whose death occurred in February.

F. Pullen, chairman of the Board spoke briefly complimenting Mr. Smith for his efficiency during a very trying year, and expressed gratification for the healthy appearance of the boys.

Corpus Christi Feast Held At Sacred Heart

"In the Blessed Eucharist we have God's pledge of His love for us on earth," said Rev. John T. Finn, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral in his sermon at the celebration of Corpus Christi a the church of the Sacred Heart Sunday afternoon.

That pledge Father Finn said was found in the words of Jesus: "He that eateth My flesh and drinketh My blood hath everlasting life, and I will raise him up in the last day," and "Except you eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink His blood, you shall not have life in you."

The Catholic world united in the celebration everywhere of the feast of Corpus Christi, the body of Christ which He had multiplied in the greatest of all sacraments as a gift to men, signified in His words: "I am the living bread which cometh down from heaven."

Very Rev. Dean McAuley of Lindsay, who was a curate at the church of the Sacred Heart when its first Corpus Christi procession was held to an altar of evergreens on the lawn was the monstrance bearer in the same congregational act of religion Sunday afternoon.

Rev. H.L. Roberts 30 Years In The Ministry

"I look upon my own experience as a lovely adventure and during my 30 years in the ministry I can't recall ever having had any words with any person in the Church. Everywhere I have been I have received a royal welcome; and in each place I have made a host of invaluable friends," says Rev. H. L. Roberts, minister of George Street United Church, who recently celebrated the 30th anniversary of his ordination as a preacher of God's word.

"I would like to carry on a few more years health permitting, for I believe that if the Church and its message were ever needed, they will be in a postwar world," Mr. Roberts states. Now completing his fourth year of service in Peterborough, he acknowledges that he is extremely happy "in this beautiful city and splendidly equipped church. The people are kindness itself and good proof of this lies in the fact that they have asked me to take two full months holidays this summer." Mr. Roberts was ill during the winter.

Following seven years at the University of Toronto, where he received his Master of Arts and Bachelor of Divinity degrees, the minister of George Street Church was ordained on June 7, 1914 in St. Paul's Methodist Church at St. Catharines. He was called immediately to be minister of Memorial Methodist Church in that city and during his four years there a $25,000 addition was built. Only two years ago this church was burned ot the ground; and this past January Rev. Roberts returned to the scene of his first charge to dedicated a new church.

In 1918 he went to historic Lundy's Lane Methodist Church at Niagara Falls, where he stayed for seven years and during which time a new $65,000 Sunday School was added to the church property. In 1925, the year of the church union, he was called to Cobourn Street United Church, Brantford; and six years later he went to Galt and the Wesley United Church there. A ministry of nine years in Galt came to an end in 1940, when he was asked to come to Peterborough.

Need Ministers

Rev. Roberts believes that the Church is facing one of its greatest crises for want of new ministers, and says that young men are not going into the Church in nearly the numbers that are needed. This is a trend, he indicates, which traces its roots back to years before even the upsetting influences of the present war had set in. "I don't know why they don't enter," he says. "My own experience of the ministry is that it is a lovely adventure."

Mr. Roberts remarked on the delicate work which is a minister's lot at the present day and he said that "some tasks of today require the touch of the finger of the Bride of Christ." Recently, he mentioned, he conducted a service with the realization that after its conclusion he would have to visit three families and impart to them news of the deaths overseas of their sons. But he quoted the remark of the Rev. George Pigeon, of Bloor Street Church, Toronto, who recently celebrated his 50th anniversary in the ministry and said of his work: "When I have done all I possibly can, then I leave the rest with God."

Must Live Gospel

Chosen a member of the lawmaking court of the United Church, whose legislating sessions beginning early in September he will attend this year, Rev. Roberts is firm in the conviction that "not just the proclamation of the Gospel, but the living of it is the greatest need of the age."

So many and so basic are the emotions with which a minister is brought in daily contact, that "if a man is not sincere, absolutely truthful and greatly in earnest, he had better get out of the ministry," he says. "For once people have put their trust in you, you cannot fail in the discharge of your duties."

Orlando Enlists In Canadian Army

DETROIT, June 12—(AP)—Action in the case of James Orlando, former Detroit Red Wings player in the National Hockey League, convicted on a charge of violating the Selective Service Act, was put over for another week in Federal court today when Ordando did not appear.

A sentence of two years imprisonment recently was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, but while the appeal was pending Orlando at liberty under bond, enlisted in the Canadian Army.

His attorney told Federal Judge Edward J. Moinet today that he still hoped to have Orlando sent back here by Canadian Army authorities.

STATIONED OVERSEAS—Pte. Russell J. Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Williamson, 253 Park Street, is stationed overseas with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. He enlisted in September, 1942, and had worked for a short time in Port Hope.

Patrick Hynes Passes Away

For many years an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company and a members of the C.G.E. Quarter Century Club, Patrick Hynes, 501 Elm street, died in St. Joseph's Hospital on Sunday morning, June 11, after a short illness in his 68th year.

Mr. Hynes was born in Douro township and came to Peterborough thirty-three years ago to accept a position as maintenance man in the C.G.E. In September, 1941, he was transferred to Genelco Limited in charge of maintenance in the gun carriage department.

He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral and of the Altar Society and the League of the Sacred Heart.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Emma Phelan, four sons, Maurice with the Royal Canadian Artillery, Frank at home and Bert and Edward with the R.C.N.V.R. and five daughters, Mrs. T. Wynn (Gertrude), Mrs. J. O'Rourke (Elizabeth), Mrs. J. Tobin (Mary), Mrs. J. Collins (Lucille) and Theresa at home. Three brother, John, Michael and Maurice Hynes, and two sisters, Mrs. Towns and Miss Margaret Hynes, all of Peterborough, are also left to mourn his passing.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 501 Elm street, on Tuesday morning at 8:45 o'clock with requiem high mass in St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 o'clock and interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

68 Killed In Raids

LONDON, June 12—(CP Reuters) — Sixty-eight civilians were killed in air-raids on the United Kingdom during May, the Ministry of Home Security announced today. A total of 75 persons was injured.

276 Drivers Get Parking Tickets In Two Months

During April and May 276 car parking tickets which had been issued by the police were turned in to the city clerk's office each with the norminal one dollar penalty.

The parking violators contributed $98 in April and $178 in May, as reported to the council by City Clerk Outram. City licenses in April amounted to $445 and $583 in May. And in the two months seven babies were born to unmarried mothers.

Mr. Outram's report continues:—

In April the total fines and fees collected in Police Court amounted to $886.35, of which the City received $373.41, the Provincial treasurer $328.94, Justice of the Peace $66.00, Receiver-General of Canada $45, the Liquor Control Board $50, and Witness Fees $3. In all there were 146 cases disposed of; convictions being registered in 67, and 28 were dismissed or withdrawn. There weer 38 convictions under the Liquor Control Act, 11 under the Highway Traffic Act; 1 under the Code and 3 under the Traffic By-law.

In May the total fines and fees collected in Police Court amounted to $1,363.75, of which the City received $293.55, the Provincial Treasurer $900.70, Justice of the Peace $76, and Receiver-General of Canada $55. In all 236 cases were disposed of; convictions being registered in 113 and 78 were dismissed or withdrawn. There were 29 convictions under the Liquor Control Act; 41 under the Highway Traffic Act, two under Code and eight under the Traffic By-law.

New Voters' List.

In order to assure the electors of the annexed portion of North Monaghan their votes in the 1945 Civic Elections, the work of providing an accurate Voters' List for that area has been commenced. Several conferences have been held with Bruce Johnston, township clerk, who has been most helpful in the work of setting out the boundaries of the new Polling Subdivisions for the annexed area. It is planned to have the boundaries ready for presentation to Council in mid-June. When the Voters' List is revised and completed special attention will be drawn to it in order that citizens may have every opportunity to scrutinize it.

Miss Margaret Wright commenced employment in the Clerk's Office on June 1 as clerk-stenographer bringing the staff to its required complement.

Wants More Men

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 12 (CP) —Speaking to troops at Camp Utopia and later at Camp Sussex on Saturday, Col. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, declared that "never in my life have I been prouder of the Canadian Army than I am today." He urged everyone to exert every ounce of power, strength and resolution "to see that our men are reinforced overseas."

Victorian Order of Nurses In Need of Old Cotton

One requisite of the V.O.N. is old soft white cotton and linen pieces, of which quantities are used by the nurses in their work for patients who require dressings. The present supply is becoming exhausted. Those having old white cotton to donate are asked to send it to the V.O.N. office, or call 9155 and the nurse will be glad to call for it.

Teacher Given Gift

Teachers of the Cradle Roll Department of George Street Sunday School met recently at the home of Mrs. A. Ingram, to bid farewell to Mrs. H. Youngs, a teacher, who is moving to Welland in the near future. During the social evening, Mrs. Youngs was presented with a gift on behalf of the group and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Larmer Hostess to WMS

CENTREVILLE, June 12 (ENS)—Miss Evelyn Donaldson and Mrs. H. Caldwell were appointed as a program committee for the July meeting, and the regular meeting of the Centreville Women's Missionary Society, at the home of Margaret Larmer. Mrs. Harold Tate spoke briefly to the group, urging them to attend the 50th anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society of Grace Church, Millbrook, which will be marked in the church on June 20, beginning at 10 a.m.

Miss Mabel Darling gave a talk on Missions in India, and Miss Iva Campbell read a chapter from the Study Book. "Faith" was the theme of the meeting, with Mrs. Norman Willan reading the scripture. Mrs. C. Hall presided.

Tone Color Noted In Music Recital

An interesting recital of piano solos and duets was presented in the recreation room of the Y.W.C.A. by pupils of Miss Mary J. Harstone. Each pupil played with the clarity of tone and close attention to phrasing and tone-color which is an indication of careful training.

Airman Marries Gwen M. Fee At Mt. Pleasant

Mount Pleasant United Church, decorated with peonies, spirea and iris, was the setting for a pretty wedding Saturday, when Gwendolyn Mary Fee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman I. Fee, became the bride of Sgt. Edwin Westin, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Westin, Kenora, Rev. Honey officiated. Mrs. R. Hallam played the wedding music, and Miss June Shields sang "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a charming gown of white sheer, trimmed with gold sequins, with a basque bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves coming to a point over each wrist, and a full skirt. Her finger-tip veil of white net fell from a matching halo set with seed pearls, and she carried red roses and baby's breath.

She was attended by Miss Patsy Piper, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Donald McGee as bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in a street-length blue crepe, with shoulder-length veils of blue net, caught with matching flowers, blue gloves and white shoes. Each carried a nosegay of Talisman roses, with matching streamers.

F.O. D. Stone, R.C.A.F., of Centralia, was best man, and ushers were Murray Fee, brother of the bride, and Jack Williamson.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the bride's mother received in a beige ensemble, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother in a blue ensemble, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. A buffet luncheon was served to the guests, the table centred with the bride's cake. Serving were friends of the bride, Misses Wilma Bradley, Marie Chester, Margaret Best, Elaine Piper and Jean Rome. The rooms were decorated in pink and white.

For a wedding trip to Kenora and other points, the bride donned a brown pencil-stripe two-piece suit, matching coat, with beige accessories. On their return they will live in Fort William.

Teachers Spend Interesting Day At Mt. St. Joseph

The members of the Peterborough group of the Catholic Teachers' Association met at Mount St. Joseph recently with Sister Lucretia, president in the chair, when an interesting program was presented.

The girls of St. Mary's Convent, under the able direction of Sister Beatrice Marie, sang three part-songs. The fine harmony of their well-modulated voices gave evidence of careful training. This was followed by an inspiring address by the president. Sister Lucretia outlined a practical program of Catholic Action which might be introduced into the schools—a work in which she herself is zealously engaged. Several teachers were called upon to describe the methods which they have used with success during the past year to promote among junior students an interest in this great activity.

Reverend J. Houlihan, chaplain of the Peterborough unit, outlined the aims of the Association, discussing the problems facing teachers, the need of striving for religious, moral, intellectual and professional perfection, and the necessity of arousing public appreciation of the noble profession of teaching.

Sister Patricia, principal of St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, spoke to the meeting on, "Our Most Important Activity". She impressed upon all the significance of the great moral and intellectual battle which must be fought on the home front, and the great task of moulding young souls to fight that battle—a battle which ends only with life.

A model music lesson was then demonstrated by Sister St. Gilbert. Sixteen boys from Grades 6 and 7 of St. Peter's school, after a series of vocal exercises sang in clear, sweet, true tones a group of songs which revealed their fine training.

Miss Hazel Guerin gave a detailed report on the Easter meeting of the O.E.A. in Toronto.

The teachers were entertained by a film "Glimpses of our Kawartha Lakes" procured through the courtesy of G. Downer, Peterborough.

FARMERETTES DO GOOD JOB—Two Collegiate girls, working on the farm of Charles Kitney & Sons, are doing great work, according to their employer. Mary Dodds (Left) is shown running the planting unit and Muriel Earle (Right) is at the controls. Since last fall they have been helping on holidays and Saturdays and are now on full time work all summer. The girls learned to run this unusual planting machine in one day, and Mr. Kitney is proud of their progress. Miss Dodds is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dodds, 225 Engleburn Avenue, and Miss Earle is the daughter of Mrs. O. B. Earle, River Road.

Dorothy L. Gibbs Becomes Bride of Kenneth I. Hamley

In the setting of snap-dragons, iris and lilies, in St. John's Anglican church, Saturday afternoon, Dorothy Luella Gibbs daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gibbs, Hunter street, became the bride of Kenneth Irwin Hamley, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Irwin Hamley, 302 Maitland avenue. Canon W. P. Robertson officated. F. G. Mann, L.Mus., was at the organ, and during the signing of the register Victor Coleman sang "Where'er You Walk."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sheer over taffeta, with a fitted bodice, long sleeves, and full skirt. Her long flowing veil of white net was caught to her head with white Canterbury bells and she carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses and gypsphelia.

She was attended by Miss Eileen Jeffries and Mrs. Kenneth Hopcroft. Miss Jeffries was frocked in dusky pink chiffon over taffeta, and Mrs. Hopcroft was gowned in pale blue silk lace over taffeta.

Each wore sweetheart halos of matching net, and carried bouquets of Briarcliffe roses, forget-me-nots, and gypsophelia.

Lieut. H. Hamley was best man, and F.O. W. R. Gibbs, R.C.A.F, and Kenneth Hopcroft were ushers.

At the reception, in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., the bride's mother received, in a suit of Westeria crepe, matching hat, and a corsage of white Killarney roses. Also receiving, was the groom's mother, in rose crepe, white accessories, and a corsage of white roses and sweet peas.

For her wedding trip, the bride donned a two-piece pearl gray suit, with matching hat, and white accessories. On their return, the young couple will live at 424 Sheridan street.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were a string of pearls and a gold identifcation bracelet. The groom's gift to the bride was a sterling silver compact. The best man and ushers received shirts, and the soloist was also remembered with a gift.

Junior Pupils Present Recital

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12 (ENS) In the High School auditorium recently the junior pupils of Mrs. A. G. Watson gave a delightful musical recital before a large gathering.

The hall was tastefully decorated and the following contributed the program: Bobbie Glenn, Cora Reid, Blanche Reid, Bobbie Bleeker, Della West, G. B. Labrash, Galle Meyers Bobbie Nicholls, June Ames, Loraine Barnum, Bob Bibby, Jeanette Stuart, Billy Scott, Thomas Fox, Dianne O'Brien, Murray Locke, Bobbie Bennett, Arthur Labrash, Anne Nicholls, Cozette Archer, James Bell, Audrey Hay, Jill O'Brien, Dorothy Billin, Doreen Rowe, Ann Hay, June Ames, Marilyn Ford, Wilma Brown, Isabel Hay, Goldie Glenn, Jean Campbell, Shirley Burgis, and Esma Cole.

The proceeds were donated to the local chapter of the I. O. D. E.

Baby Bands Go To Dixon House

Members of the Trinity and George Street Baby Bands were guests at the regular meeting of the Parkhill Baby Band, at Dixon House, to hear Mrs. Irene Gibson, Reg. N., speak on "Infant Care in Warm Weather." Many useful points were brought up in her talk, which were carefully noted by members.

A varied program was also presented for the guests. Miss Betty Craig gave the readings "Bud Discusses Cleanliness," and "The Grumbling Soldier"; and Mrs. R. Kidd read two poems, "Husbands" and "Wives." Vocal selections included a solo "Beside Still Waters," by Mrs. M. Corners, and a duet, "Mother's Prayer," by Mrs. C. Hubbs and Mrs. B. Donaldson.

Refreshments were served by members of Park Hill Band, with Mrs. F. McFadden, former president, and Mrs. R. Kidd, pouring tea. Mrs. R. Fulton led in prayer to open the meeting, and Mrs. M. Frost presided. Votes of thanks were moved by Mrs. O. Maltby, president of the Trinity Band, and Mrs. E. W. Sutton, president of the George Street Band.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

In these buys days we are going to give you a few hints on how to be cool and yet look well dressed. After a very busy day at the Red Cross, canteen or office, it is so refreshing to go home and put on a cool rayon jersey housecoat in either plain or color or floral design, and have dinner with the family. You look so attractive yet feel cool and refreshed. Another pretty dress for the street is made of flimsy navy blue marquisette, with cuffs and collar of pleated white organdy edged with lace. This dress is made with pleated skirt and jacket-effect waist, buttoned up the front with pearl buttons. Another smart street dress is in Auario crepe in raspberry shade with white embroidery to look like pockets. Then take a two-piece competent chambray, in large check, with patch pockets. This is very smart in black and white, beige and brown or in two shades of green.

This is certainly a cotton season. There are coquettish cottons to wear every day of a sizzling summer season. They are made in suit styles, or in one piece with short sleeves and low necks. With these are worn large cocoanut straw sailor hats, with bands of the same materials as the dresses. Young girls will wear these hats well on the back of the head and look oh so smartly dressed for almost any occasion. The new summer dresses come in either solid colors, checks or stripes, in butcher linens, seersuckers, shantungs, spun rayons, ginghams and many others. Be sure and have a good supply of the new cottons they will be your coolest bet on the hot days which are ahead. Be sure they're softly tailored with brief jackets and slim skirts. They are tops for flattery, tops for smoothness and all-round-the-clock wear. The new low square neckline frock is ideal for the junior miss and you will look well dressed in them either at business or at play. With these dresses wear smart white oxford shoes with either high or flat heels and white net gloves and you will be properly dressed for anytime of day or evening. The skirts made or large floral design with a plain waist or short coat will also be very much in the fashion picture this summer. These skirts if to be worn during the daytime will be short, or long if for evening wear. They are very inexpensive but so smart. Look at them in any of the smart shop windows and you will agree they are tops for warm weather.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money cheerfully refunded.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

MEN ILLOGICAL ON GROOMING
Demand Wives Be Dainty and Proud of Them Though They Look Like Tramps at Home.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—A poor husband writes you how the pretty girl can turn into an old slop and her husband lose his taste for her because she smells of babies and diapers and the kitchen, instead of putting perfume behind her ears. But men don't stop to think that the shoe fits the male as well as the female foot, and that women are just as disillusioned with untidy husbands and husbands are with messy-looking wives.

Now I am married to a good-looking man and I like to see him shaven and barbered and dressed up, but he feels that at home he has a right to stroll around shirtless and with a three days' beard on his face. He certainly doesn't look like the Lothario I married. Many a divorce is caused by men's fear of soap and water, for women just naturally drift towards more sweetly groomed men and men who are easier to look at than the imperfect ablutioners, as they used to say in the old Gilbert and Sullivan opera, to whom we are married.

A DISILLUSIONED WIFE.

Men Don't Take Out Unkempt Girls

ANSWER — Even so. Even so. Nothing else in the world is more incongruous than that men esteem cleanliness and daintiest above all other virtues in women, yet they never seem to think that it makes any difference to women how dirty and unkempt they are. No man would step out with a girl whose hair needed combing, whose hands cried aloud for a manicure, whose clothes were soiled and rumpled and who looked as if she needed to be run through the laundry.

Husbands feel that they are justified in leaving wives who slop around the house looking like the wrath of God; yet these same men will expect a girl to be proud to be seen out with them when they are dressed like tramps, have hair straggling over their rumpled collars and skin that is so [illegible] to all and sundry that they are not on speaking terms with the bath tub.

And the very husbands who pass up their wives, who look like something the cat brought in, for women who are prinked and powdered and perfumed and made up to the last hair on their heads expect their wives to stay in love with them when they sit around the house in their stocking feet and their undershirts.

Lunny, isn't it? Especially when men know that women put more stress on appearances than they do.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Corps. One night when out on a very bad spree with two girls I got drunk and married one of them. I didn't know that I had done so until the next morning when they came in my room at the hotel and showed me the marriage license. I left the hotel at once and have never seen the woman again. This happened before I enlisted three years ago. We never lived together as man and wife. I have asked this woman for a divorce but she says not until her dying day will she give it to me.

How can I get out of this awful situation? I have a college education, a good reputation and lots of money, but what is that worth without happiness?

A WORRIED LIEUTENANT.

Woman Intends to Make Deal

ANSWER—I should think that any good lawyer could get you a divorce from such a woman. Anyway, she is probably just waiting for you to buy her off.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — Is it proper for a daughter-in-law to call her husband's mother "Mrs."? When my son married I was so happy because I had always wanted a daughter and thought that at last I was getting one, but I cannot feel that I did when his wife addresses me as she would any strange woman.

A DISAPPOINTED MOTHER.

ANHWER—Of course, it is perfectly correct, so far as the etiquette of the occasion goes, for your daughter-in-law to call you "Mrs." instead of "Mother," but she is making a great mistake in doing so, because she is keeping you at arms' length instead of drawing you close to her. And a mother-in-law can be a mighty good friend to a bride if she will only let her.

Maybe when the first baby comes your daughter-in-law will solve the problem by calling you "Grandma." Many young wives take that way out of the difficulty.

WHILE THERE are indications here of progress, preferment, pleasure and attaining of cherished hopes and wishes, judging by the lunar transits there must be much tact, moderation, good nature and clear judgment used in the effort to capture such objectives and accruing gratifications. Any show of expediency, forced issues, or inaccuracy may offend those able to assist to desired goals. Be reticent when possible, cheerful and complacent, while endeavoring to realize such unforeseen benefits. Be courteous with superiors in domestic and social contacts.

Those whose birthday it is have the prospect of some sort of unpredictable benefits, with pleasures unlooked for, tokens of good will and preferment, but this only by the use of restraints of actions and speech, with finesse, graciousness and tact toward those whose favor or support, are essential. This show of consideration, modesty, conformity and understanding may prove gainful in some unexpected way as well as, in social, domestic and romantic affiliations —being agreeable rather than forceful or impetuous.

A child born on this day may have excellent opportunities and good fortune, with pleasure and success, if it will exert its finer social and agreeable qualities rather than impulse and immoderation.

MOVING THE POT OF GOLD

TO THIS END OF THE RAINBOW

● One reason for Canada's unexcelled living standard—achieved for you by individual enterprise—is her huge export trade. At this Bank's inception 89 years ago, the country stood practically at the bottom of the export ladder.

Today Canada stands third in exports.

● This has been accomplished by a people of vision, initiative and courage, seizing the opportunities afforded by free enterprise. The distant pot of gold has been brought to these thinly populated shores by stout-hearted folk who ventured their all for success. Their enterprise has built many industries that have made a magnificent contribution to the welfare of the whole nation.

Since before Confederation it has been the privilege of this Bank to serve Canada's exporters. We have looked after their foreign exchange transactions, made them loans, discounted their trade paper and in many other ways have helped them with their financial problems. In this way, helping Canadian men and women to realize on their opportunities, The Bank of Toronto has assisted in the preservation of the freedom we all cherish, the freedom to do things better and to benefit thereby.

OBITUARIES

ALEC LOCKINGTON

BRANTFORD, June 12— Alex Lockington, well-known citizen of Brantford, who was born in Peterborough and lived here many years ago, died suddenly last week at his Brantford home, 126 Chatham street. A resident of Brantford for 38 years, he was prominent in religious work and a highly esteemed lay leader. He started his business career with P. H. Secord and Company as a cost accountant, and lated joined the staff of John McHutchion Ltd., serving as secretary-treasurer for 26 years.

His religious life centred around Zion church and the Y.M.C.A. As a teacher of the Young Men's Bible Class, as Elder and Treasurer, he rendered, over a long period of years, invaluable service. His contribution to Zion and to the United Church in general was great. He was also a member of the executive of the Brantford Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society.

Surviving besides his widow, Janet Helen Carpenter Lockington, are three sons, Lieut. William Lockington, Italy, and Lieut. Phillips Lockington, Ipperwash, one daughter, Mrs. Robert Keane Brantford, three brothers, George, Frank and Bert Lockington, all of Peterborough, and one sister, Mrs. William Bradfield, Woodrow, Sask.

MRS. MARY FAIRLEY PATERSON

The death of Mrs. Mary Fairley Paterson, for 24 years a resident of Peterborough, occurred Sunday at her home, 280 Edinburgh street, after a month's illness. She was 73.

Widow of the late John Paterson, who died 34 years ago, she was born in Lanarkshire, Scotland, the daughter of the late John Veitch and Marian Chalmers and came to Canada from Innerlerthen, Scotland. She was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are six daughters, five of whom, Mrs. E. Julian, Mrs. F. Story, Margaret, Catherine and Marian, live in Peterborough, while Mrs. A. Morris is of Detroit. A brother, Robert, lives in the city; and there are three sisters and two brothers living in Scotland.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 3 p.m. from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, with services conducted by Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart. Interment will be made in Little Lake cemetery.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER WALKER

Veteran of the First Great War in which he enlisted as a member of the 93rd Peterborough County Battalion and served overseas until the armistice, William Alexander Walker, 516 Park street, died on Sunday, aged 74 years.

Mr. Walker was born in Ireland, the son of the late John Walker and Alice McGuigan and came to Canada 50 years ago, residing for two years in Ottawa before moving to this city in 1896.

He was employed by the Toronto Savings and Loan Company until about seven years ago.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Sarah Greer, three daughters, Mrs. V. Boorman, Gladys and Alice, Peterborough and one son, Raymond Walker, Belleville.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday from the Nesbitt Funeral Home, Charlotte street at 2:30 o'clock with interment in Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church will officiate.

Two Young Men Are Fined For Fighting

Because they engaged in a fight at Hunter and George streets at 11.30 o'clock Sunday night Francis Hickey, 25 of 248 Charlotte street, and Vernon Monaghan, 483 Monaghan Road, both faced charges of creating a disturbance in police court this morning and pleaded guilty. Officers Percy Sexsmith and W. A. Clarke had arrested the pair.

"They had some kind of a grievance," Inspector Reid told the court. "They had not been drinking but they got into a fight and quite a crowd collected."

"You should have gone into the woods," remarked Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in fining the youths $5 and $1.75 each or ten days in jail.

James Voicey, 363 Aylmer street, who pleaded guilty to being drunk on Charlotte street, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

A charge against a 16 year old girl of vagrancy was withdrawn by Acting Chief Constable John Thompson who informed the magistrate that arrangements had been made for taking care of the girl, who was arrested early Saturday morning in a doorway on George street.

Dense Smoke Causes Severe Fire Damage

Intense smoke that filled the house of Mrs. Theresa Girard, 385 Reid street Saturday evening when sparks from a grate started a fierce fire in the basement may have caused damage running anywhere from $500 to $1,000. Fire Chief Gimblett said this morning. The fire in the basement was put out without much trouble by firemen around 7.30 p.m., but smoke damage occurred in every part of the house and even penetrated into the apartment residence next door. Mrs. Girard, alone in the house at the time, discovered the fire.

3 Boys Given Second Chance By Judge German

COBOURG, June 12 — (ENS) — Established with a view of coping more effectively with juvenile delinquency, and at the same time giving the youthful offender the benefit of a more informal treatment of his case, juvenile court opened here on Saturday with Judge J. C. M. German dealing with three cases in chambers.

Instead of the charges being laid under the Criminal Code, they are laid under the Juvenile Delinquents Act. The jurisdiction of the court will apply also to cases where the offense would not normally come with the Code and also applies to instances where the offender only comes with the limits of the term incorrigible. The establishment of the Juvenile Court here is the result of considerable study of the problem of juvenile delinquency. Magistrate F. B. Baxter of Port Hope is the deputy juvenile judge and Arthur Finnie, superintendent of the Children's Aid in Northumberland and Durham Counties is chief probation officer. Harry Deyman occupies his customary post in juvenile court as crown attorney.

Stole Bicycle

The first case dealt with was that of a 14-year-old ward of St. John's Industrial School who was charged with theft of a bicycle here owned by Miss A. Holmes last month. He was arrested recently in Trenton. The youth told the court that he stole the bicycle in Cobourg and sold it to a dealer in Trenton for $15. Chief W. J. Carey informed the court that the dealer in Trenton denied all knowledge of the transaction, but the boy insisted in court that he had sold him the bicycle. The boy's story will be looked into further by Brother John of the Industrial School, into whose charge the boy was placed on his promise to behave himself. The boy stated that he wanted to get a job on a farm in order to pay back the $15 which he obtained for the wheel. After some kindly but firm advice from the judge, he was returned to the custody of St. John's Industrial School.

The other two cases were charges against a couple of Boys' Training School wards, who had been placed out on farms. They were picked up by Provincial Constable Alex MacLeod on charges of breaking into Blodgett's store at Welcome and the residence of W. Couchman of Hope township. They also broke into a cottage near Cobourg. Blankets, chocolate bars, flashlight batteries, and other articles were recovered with their arrest. It was revealed that the boys tore a tent to shreds in the robbery of the summer cottage.

Both lads said that it was a desire to get some money that prompted them to break the law. Both were located out on farms as wards of the training school. One came from a good home in Toronto and had been given plenty of spending money and good clothing at home. The other boy was less fortunately situated, but both started out early on a life of crime.

"There is no excuse for either of you to get into trouble, but I can't understand why one of you who had so much at home, should get into trouble. Perhaps his parents were too good to him," commented Judge German.

A Second Chance

"I want you to consider the rights of others. Boys like tents and just consider how you would feel if you had a fine tent and somebody came along and tore it all to pieces. You wouldn't like it very well. Then consider how the owner of the tent you tore up, feels about it. The same applies in any case where someone comes along and steals that which does not belong to him. I am going to give you boys another chance and return you to the training school. I don't know whether you will go straight now or not. I hope you have learned your lesson, but if you ever come up before me again, it will be jail. Don't forget that."

Use Huge Glider

LONDON, June 12 (CP)—Britain disclosed last night that a "secret weapon" used in the Normandy landing was a huge new glider called the Hamilcar, with a wingspread greater than that of a Lancaster four-engine bomber, the Hamilcar must be towed by a heavy bomber, but can land in a small field. It can and did carry a small tank.

Library Fails To Get Winter Books Order

LAKEFIELD, June 12—(ENS)—There were four new members and eleven renewals at the Lakefield Public Library during the month of May.

Present at the Board meeting were Chairman Mrs. W. Gillman, Mrs. J. Ridpath, Mrs. A. Davis and Mrs. Reg. Doubt. The meeting was brief, but the librarian was asked to write Ryerson Press and inquire when the books ordered in February and not yet in, would be shipped.

Arrangements were made for a substitute librarian, while Miss Grace Young is away during July and August on a trip to the coast.

The librarian collected $1.35 in fees and fines during the month. The total circulation for the month was 769, books made up as follows: Adult fiction, 266; adult non fiction, 65; juvenile fiction, 359; juvenile non fiction, 79.

19—Leads at No Trump

WHEN THE bidding is over and the contract determined, the play begins with the most important single act by the defenders—the opening lead. It is most important because it more or less sets the tempo for the entire defense of the hand, and also has a mighty influence on what the declarer must do.

Fine defensive players think of their role more as attack than defense, as if they are attacking a position chosen by the declarer. That is why they generally lead their longest suit against a No Trump contract. By so doing, and by repeating the suit, they hope to get some of its low cards established as trick-takers, in addition to whatever high cards they can take.

The particular card of the suit to lead depends on what high cards are at the top of the suit. If it is topped by what is called an "honor combination," they lead an honor. For such purposes, an honor combination is "any three of the top six cards of the suit if any two of them are touching honors." Thus, Q-J-9-4-2 would be a suit headed by an honor combination because the Q and J are touching honors, whereas A-Q-10-4-2 or K-J-9-6-3 would contain the necessary three high cards, but with none of them touching, and therefore not what is called an "honor combination."

When the suit has an "honor combination," the lead is from the touching honors, the top card of the touchers except when the touchers are the A-K, when the lead is the K. So from the A-10-9, the lead would be the 10 as the top of the touchers, from the Q-J-9, it would be the Q, from the A-K-J it would be the K, from the K-Q-10 it would be the K, from the K-J-10 it would be the J. Likewise with all other such combinations of three of the cards ranged from the 9 up, with two or more touching. The lead is the top of the touchers except when they include the A-K, when it is the K.

The purpose of that is to help establish the suit in the most rapid way, making it impossible for the declarer to take the first trick with some small card.

But when the long suit does not contain such an honor combination, the accepted lead is the fourth-best card of it. Thus, the lead from K-10-8-6-3 would be the 6, from A-9-6-3-2 it would be the 3, from 10-7-5-3 it would be the 3, and so on. A great majority of all leads made by good players against No Trump are such fourth-best leads, as holdings which justify such a lead are far more frequent than those calling for other leads.

If your partner had bid a suit during the auction, it is usually best to disregard your own long suit and lead his. Then the best lead is generally your highest card of it, unless you hold four of it or three headed by an honor. With any number headed by an honor as high as the J, it is usually best to underlead the honor so you can hold it to later possibly kill some lesser honor in the declarer's hand. If you have four, the best lead is usually fourth-best unless you have touching honors, when you lead the top of the touchers, unless they be the A-K, when the K is the lead.

Sometimes your hand will be so weak, with no high cards for entries, that it seems hopeless, in which case it may be better to forget your own long suit and lead a short one which seems likely to be your partner's, even if he had not bid, in the hope that you may help him set up his suit. Then you should usually lead the top card of the suit.

There will be times also when the various bids made by your opponents during the auction will guide you in selection of a lead. But that is a subject to be reserved for later lessons.

Tomorrow: Leads at a Suit.

Manufacturers' Association Seek To Ensure Top Production

TORONTO, June 12 — (CP) — The industrial relations question uppermost in the minds of employers in wartime is how to ensure employer-employee relations that will keep production at a maximum, F. P. L. Lane of Montreal, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, said today in a luncheon address at the association's 73rd annual meeting.

"To this end it is all-important that strikes, stoppages, slow-downs and disturbances of all kinds should be eliminated," he said. Manufacturers were hopeful that the new wartime labor relations regulations would work, but they felt that firmness and consistency in their administration were vital.

Mr. Lane said manufacturers are as convinced as ever of the wisdom of the Government's policy of preventing disastrous inflation by maintaining ceilings on prices and wages and salaries.

"These two ceilings stand or fall together and can only be maintained by co-operation of Government, employers and employees, producers and consumers," he said. "The question assumes increasing importance as we get nearer the end of the war since inflationary prices would tend greatly to restrict employment at a time when it is essential that employment should be kept at a maximum."

In discussing the war in its present stage, Mr. Lane said that this year is the "supreme year" of the fighting men and the future depends on them. Others could help in supplementary capacities only. Upon the fighting services depended the supreme issue of defeat or victory.

Others could help in supplementary capacities only but there must be no relaxation of effort.

Need Sustained Effort.

"Our leaders warn us against relaxation of effort," he said. "These warnings should be heeded. They urge the maximum of thought, effort and sacrifice. Their appeals should have the willing and sustained effort of all patriotic citizens."

Members of the C.M.A. are holding their fifth annual meeting under wartime conditions for the purpose of considering and acting in regard to future contributions which Canadian industry can make to the objectives of the United Nations, Mr. Lane stated. These objectives include an early and complete victory and an arrangement to keep the peace that will begin to work at once and which can be improved and extended gradually. The men in the fighting services should be re-established, trained, helped and compensated in every possible way and the normal activities of peace should be resumed as rapidly and as completely as possible.

Reviewing some of the activities of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association since 1936 when members advocated experimental manufacture of war materials, Mr. Lane noted that in 1937 an investigation was made into the possibility of developing an airplane industry in Canada. In 1938, the necessity of expanding the country's armed forces and providing for the manufacture of war materials was urged. A survey of Canada's industrial capacity was made and a special mission was sent to England in 1939.

In 1940 the C.M.A. urged the greatest possible participation by Canadian industry in war production and since that year each annual meeting had been devoted to conferences on war production, manpower, and other subjects of vital importance to winning the war on the industrial front. From a pre-awr employment of 650,000, the number of employees in Canadian factories had increased to more than 1,250,000, and the value of production had more than doubled.

Equal to Any.

"The manufacturing system of Canada has demonstrated that, given volume and permanency of production, it can make practically anything, in any quantity, and of quality comparable with products produced in any other country," Mr. Lane said.

Giving credit to labor and Government, Mr. Lane also stated that "industrial production could not have been undertaken and carried out with such brilliant success without the co-operation and direction of a relatively small group of Canadians." These were industrial managements and engineers, specially qualified to handle people in large numbers, materials in vast quantities and all the attendant problems, "who have so successfully directed and operated" Canada's war manufacturing.

"Without this devoted group there would have been no ships, no guns, no ammunition, no armored vehicles, no airplanes, nor any of the numerous articles needed directly or indirectly for the war," he said.

"The question is frequently asked why Canada cannot continue to spend in peace as she is now spending for war," Mr. Lane stated. "At present, Canada is taxing her citizens at rates never before approached or imagined, but less than half her annual expenditures are being paid out of taxes. The balance is being borrowed. A farmer can increase the mortgage on his farm to obtain money, but how long can he continue this policy? After the war emergency is past will it not be necessary for Canada to plan national expenditures in relation to national income, that is, the earnings of all the people?"

Russian Boy 13 Serving With Nazis

By L. S. B. SHAPIRO
Districted By The Canadian Press

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN FRANCE, June 8—(Delayed)—A 13-year-old Russian boy, in a German uniform several sizes too big for him, was among prisoners from the German 21st Panzer Division captured last night.

The boy told intelligence officers he had been forced into the German Army a year ago and sent to France after training.

The boy looked no more than 13 years of age and his age was established by papers found on him.

He seemed apathetic about being taken prisoner and looked around in wonder at British officer but he brightened considerably when put aboard a ship for England.

AT HITLER'S THROAT

LONDON — (CP) — The Daily Sketch printed a photograph of a Vichy 20-franc bill on which French patriots superimposed a picture of Adolf Hitler. The catch was the picture had been placed so that Hitler's throat was being grasped by the hand of a fisherman.

48,000 Volunteers Are Needed For The Canadian Army

OTTAWA, June 12 (CP) — Brig. James Mess, deputy adjutant-general in charge of recruiting, said in an address carried over a national network Sunday night that at least 48,000 volunteers are needed this year to reinforce the Canadian Army in the field to care for "normal wastage and casualties in the battle now on."

"The long-awaited invasion has started," he said. "The European coast is aflame. Of the price to be paid we do not speak—but this we know, that unless we reinforce our field army its hitting power must rapidly decline and its valor be unavailing."

Brig. Mess said that if Canadian men and women can be brought to regard themselves as human resources for the "greatest cause ever served," problems of manpower and production will slip into the past and "we shall get our volunteers."

Can Redeem Selves

Men and women who through no fault of their own cannot "join up" deserve sympathy, not censure. Those individuals who "flagrantly repudiate the call to go from fear, laziness or sheer selfishness deserve our contempt, but still have the opportunity to redeem themselves."

Between these groups are the thousands who are "ready to serve and have got what it takes, bpt have not yet seen where their duty lies."

It must be left to the conscience, manhood and love of country of this group to give the answer, Brig. Mess said. "I refuse to believe that there are many Canadians who will finally refuse or fail their country's need."

Plea to Employers

"I plead with every employer of labor to resurvey his manpower requirements and deferments. I plead with every business and industrial group to call for a joint effort in taking whatever measures are necessary to make available the needed reinforcements for our field army.

"Canada expects and calls her sons and daughters to service. It is a call directed to all civilian men and women of military age and medically fit—a call to soldiers already in the ranks for home defense to volunteer for general service—a call that must be heard by all parents and relatives."

Bombers Rip German Supply Lines

Beachhead Forces Get Support; Airfields Blasted

BY GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, June 13 — (AP) — Several hundred heavy bombers again pounded German airdromes behind the battle lines in France today as medium bombers struck at targets from the beachhead to far inland.

The German radio indicated Allied daylight raiders were striking into the Reich from bases in Britain and Italy following a night attack by more than 1,000 R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers against German transport facilities and the synthetic oil manufacturing centre of Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr.

The giant bombers, escorted by fighters, rained explosives on airdromes at Evreaux-Fauville and Reux-Illieres-L'eveque. Clear weather made possible visual bombing. The assaults followed up yesterday's attack by up to 1,400 American heavy bombers against 16 airfields.

Berlin said Italy-based bombers struck at Munich.

The medium's attacked railroads, fuel dumps and other targets in close-up support of the beachhead forces.

Reaches New Peak.

The campaign against German transport, which reached a new peak yesterday, went on through the night virtually unabated at the hands of heavies and Mosquitoes, and expanded eastward into the lowlands.

Mediums augmented the assault with a blow at the great Panzer marshalling area in the Forest de Grimbosq, southwest of Caen, dropping 150 tons on German armored concentrations in a few minutes with great devastation.

They also hit the railroad centre

Reds Drive Deep Into Finland Major Battle Likely Soon

BY EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, June 13 — (AP) — Backed by terrific gun fire provided by Col.-Gen. Leonid A. Govorov, an artillery specialist, Red Army mobile units moved steadily over roads and forest defiles deeper into the Karelina Isthmus today, reaching points beyond captured Raivola, about 36 miles from Viipuri.

A front dispatch to Izvestia reported the surrendering of many Finns who appeared dazed by the offensive. Raivola, like Terijoki, was not burned. The Finns did not have time to apply the torch.

So rapid was the advance that Raivola fell in 40 minutes. But the Finns were reported hurrying many reserves to the Isthmus and hard fighting appeared in store for Soviet Units beginning to reach the hard core of resistance.

Move On Viipuri

(A Finnish communique broadcast by Berlin said the Finns had repelled all attacks against their Karelian Defences, and 63 Soviet tanks were destroyed in three days.

(Helsinki dispatches reaching Stockholm declared rainy, misty weather had set in on the Karelian Isthmus, benefitting Finnish troops who now are in process of "stabilizing the front.")

The Russians already were moving along both roads toward Viipuri.

To the British people the Soviet Karelian Isthmus offensive came as somewhat of a surprise, for many had believed that Marshal Stalin's strategy would be to strike first in Romania in the hope of shattering the last vestige of Balkan allegiance to Hitler.

Protect Flank

It was generally conceded, however, that Moscow probably was guided by more than expediency in lashing out at a subordinate enemy. If they can neutralize Finland quickly, thus eliminating the threat to their northern flank, the Russians naturally will be in better position for a drive against the enemy elsewhere.

Furthermore, if able to base their planes in Finland, the Russians would strengthen their hand against German positions in the Baltic states. Soviet warships and submarines would be free to operate from the Gulf of Finland, which the Germans have laced with elaborate anti-submarine nets.

Another obvious purpose of the drive is to cut Germany's supply lines to far northern Finland, forcing the Nazis to use the more dangerous route around Norway, and making more hazardous German iron ore shipments through the Gulf of Bothnia.

Reports from Stockholm and even from Berlin say the Finns admit frankly they stand little chance against the Red Army offensive, launched two months after the Helsinki government rejected Moscow's armistice terms.

Finnish resistance is pictured as fierce but futile, with their light artillery designed for mobile fighting little match for the heavy artillery employed by the Russians.

Germans Execute Captured Paratroopers Proof Of Claim Found As Allies Advance

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—Stanley Richardson, NBC reporter in London said in a broadcast last night that there is "indisputable evidence that the Germans tortured and murdered" American paratroopers during the early hours of the Normandy landings.

Richardson, who had just returned from headquarters of an American airborne division near Carentan, said in one instance the bodies of three American enlisted paratroopers, stripped to the waist with their hands bound, were found in a heap beside the wall of a former German command post.

"There is every indication," said Richardson, "that these Americans were executed after they had been captured, in violation of the rules of war.

In the second case the body of a Lieutenant was found with his throat cut and a German army knife beside him. Richardson said according to the men of the command post who discovered the body, the officer "landed in a tree and was murdered as he hung helpless there."

A third case concerned a Major found in a village "dead of multiple stab wounds," Richardson declared.

Glen Harrison Of Peterboro Takes Part In Sub Battle

A NEWFOUNDLAND PORT, June 13—(CP).—Ontario sailors were in the thick of the action when the frigate Prince Rupert helped to sink a U-boat in the Atlantic. Three officers and 48 ratings from Ontario were aboard. Lieut. Lorne P. Millar, Toronto, paid tribute to the crews of gunners, including many from Ontario, whose shells and tracer bullets dealt the submarine its death-blow after it had been blasted to the surface by depth charges from the Canadian frigate and two United States warships. Lieut. Ernest E. Johnson, Pembroke, was in charge of one of the Prince Rupert's four-inch guns.

No Casualties.

The ship's medical officer, Surg.-Lieut. John C. Kennedy, London, was ready with an emergency surgical station which wasn't needed because the Prince Rupert's barrage was so terrific the U-boat's crewmen had no chance to man their guns.

Two of the ship's quick-firing Oerlikons were supervised by Ontario gunners, AB. Joseph Rolland, Ottawa, and AB. Roy Smiley, Perth.

Other Ontario AB's among the gun-crews were Cody Ostrander, Picton; Clarence Milliard, Kenora; John Norton, Trenton; Jack Pearson, London; John Patterson, Welland; Glen Harrison, Peterborough; and Andrew Vandamme, Leamington.

AB. George Dann, London, said he saw a U-boat last winter at a distance while sailing in a Canadian corvette in the Atlantic toward Gibraltar.

"But this was the first time I'd seen one up close, and it was a colossal thrill." he said. "Later I helped to pull some of the German prisoners aboard after the sub went down. They surprised me, they were so young."

The ship's writer or accounting rating, Bev. Quincey, Belleville, had a ringside seat in his action station as "plotter's mate" on the bridge.

Nursed Guns.

Trained "nurse" to the frigate's guns was Ordnance Artificer Mert R. Alcorn, North Bay, who has been two years in the navy and served for eight months in the destroyer Kootenay in the Atlantic.

"When we knew we were going into action, we inspected all the guns carefully, inch by inch," he said, "and they were all in lovely

Married Women, Students Needed

TORONTO, June 13 — (CP) — More strenuous measures regarding the employment of school students and married women are the only avenues remaining to increase Canada's working population, Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service said today.

Mr. MacNamara, in an address prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, warned that Canada is headed into the most acute labor shortage the country has ever faced—a shortage that will probably reach a peak in October.

Looking to the future, he said grappling with wartime labor problems was giving National Selective Service a background of experience which would probably prove valuable in meeting some postwar problems.

At December 1, 1943, some 57 per cent. of the Canadian population 14 years and over, were in the Armed Forces or employed and now the figure had probably reached 62 per cent.

"We will increase that 57.3 per cent in 1944, but to a limited extent, for we are nearing the peak of our capacity, unless we resort to more strenuous measures regarding young people at school and married women," he said.

There could be no a ssurance that labor requirements would be met. Mr. MacNamara appealed to employers to meet their labor problems, as far as possible in their own plants.

Invasion Cost To Be Heavy

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press War Correspondent

WITH THE AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE, June 10 (Delayed) — (AP).—While the invasion assault along the entire Allied front was made with fewer casualties and smaller loss of equipment and material than anticipated, the cost still was high.

The greatest losses were sustained on a beach where an American formation made a landing and ran head-on into a reinforced enemy division which had been practising manoeuvres on the beach.

This strip of the beach is a graveyard of small boats, tanks, half-tracks, trucks and jeeps. The sands are littered with a vast amount of equipment. Much can be salvaged, but millions of dollars in ruined war material lies in the sands.

And the rough Channel waters were a graveyard for many of the attackers.

Many heavily-laden ducks, carrying ammunition and supplies, were never able to negotiate the heavy waters. Some of them dropped into the water from L.C.T.S. (landing craft, tanks) more than 10 miles from shore. When the L.C.T.S. and other craft carrying vehicles approached shore, some of them ran onto sandbanks, and when the vehicles started they sank out of sight.

Most of the drivers and troops aboard them were able to swim to shore, because they were only a few yards from shallow water. Many of these vehicles are being salvaged at low tide.

Says Churchill Not A Prisoner

NEW YORK, June 13 — (CP) — Marshal Tito's free Yugoslav radio said today that Maj. Randolph Churchill, son of the Prime Minister had gone to Rome. He has been a British Liaison Officer with the Yugoslav Partisans.

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications commission, quoted him as saying:

"What Marshal Tito and the Partisans have done should serve as a model, an example to all the enslaved countries of Europe.

"The way in which starting from scratch, they built up such a magnificent army has causel the greatest admiration on the part of the people of America and England.

"I have seen a land completely despoiled. I came from Bosnia and shuddered at seeing devastated places all along the journey. These villages were burned down and destroyed by the enemy without provocation."

Flood Waters Trap Germans

BY JOHN WILHELM
Reuters War Correspondent

BEFORE CARENTAN, Normandy June 13 — (CP Reuters) — I saw American Rangers fighting at times up to their waists in swampland water, push forward into Carentan yesterday.

Some Germans up to their necks in water were firing on the American spearheads.

It was like grotesque water polo match. The Germans created floods and had to fight in them. Many died in them, too.

The Germans have been grimly resisting the Allied push in the whole of this sector. Many have stayed behind in heavily wooded areas to snipe at the advancing troops.

Frequently they climb into a tree, stay there until Allied Signal Corps men come forward to string communications, and then pick off the linemen as they climb the telephone poles.

Many of the captured Germans being brought back along this road were tired looking. One could not have been over 13 years old yet he was in the uniform of the Nazi army that is opposing the Allies so strongly.

Oppose Reserve Camps

Employers Claim Men Needed On Jobs

OTTAWA, June 13.—(CP).—Some of 111 employers attending a meeting called last night by the Ottawa Employment committee criticized the continuance of reserve army camps during a preiod in which the manpower situation would reach its critical peak, and opposed the "draining" of essential workers into the home defence army.

The employers, in an open forum discussion, criticized also "young scallywags with no interests in their work who received good wages, gave a minimum of work in return and thought of nothing but having a good time," and said industrial plants were "full" of these young men and women, mostly between the ages of 18 and 23.

Redverse Pratt, manager of the Ottawa employment and selective service office, predicted the labor market would tighten still more between now and September and said that no relief was in sight.

Hun Company Wiped Out By Canadians

Every Third Canadian Now Packs A Luger Men In Fine Spirits

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, June 11 (Delayed)—(CP Cable).—Several small attacks were made on one position held by infantrymen of the Canadian 3rd Division today (Sunday) and these troops stopped the Germans dead, practically wiping out an enemy company in one scrap.

Capt. Keith Wilson of Regina, liaison officer from this formation, said the Germans formed and marched rght up to the Canadian position. The Canadians held their fire until the enemy was 35 yards away and then let go with every weapon they had. The Germans suffered about 150 casualties and beat a hasty retreat.

This Canadian formation has been in a position difficult to reach except in an armored car because of sniping and harassing shell and mortar fire, but Wilson, who had just come from there when I met him, said the troops were in the best spirits. Every third man now packs a German luger, a much-prized enemy revolver, he added.

Cars Wrecked In Ditch.

I spent all afternoon today moving about as close to the front as you can get in a jeep in this area in which you never know where a shot is coming from.

Along one road was battle debris while six German armored cars lay wrecked in ditches. German uniforms, letters, photographs and personal kit were littered about with ammunition belts and mortar bombs. This had been an enemy armored convoy, ambushed by French-speaking Canadian troops. These infantrymen, whose exploits you hear about all over the front, went for the armored cars with grenades and guns and blasted them off the road.

This frontline country is all farmland and battles are being fought through knee-high grain crops and in small groves of trees. Here and there are stone farmhouses with farmyards enclosed by high stone walls. Many farmers and their families still live there impassively, going about their work as war passes by. The countryside is almost flat at the front and every few miles is a tiny village, each marked by the slim spire of an ancient Norman church.

Practically every village has a rambling chateau and most of these were occupied for four years by German headquarters and units. The grounds frequently were strongly defended and Maj. C. E. Brown of Windsor, N.S., commanding a field company of the Royal Canadian Engineers, showed me an enemy dug-out his men had occupied.

Horses Taken Over

It was cut deep into the earth and one walked down 15 steps to reach it. The inside was revetted with logs while tunnelled snipers' positions branched off from the main dugout. In the others, the Germans prepared underground shelters for riding horses but the horses now have been taken over by the Canadians or French farmers.

At a forward Brigade headquarters the youthful Brigadier and the Brigade Major, Maj. Nick Kingsmell of Toronto, described the heavy fighting eastern Canada in-

Report Rommel Recalled Von Runstedt In Charge

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 13 — (AP). — Unconfirmed reports reaching this Headquarters to-day said Marshal Rommel has been removed from command of the German 7th and 15th Mobile Armies, formed for strategic counter-attacks against the invasion.

Rommel and his superior, Marshal von Rundstedt, the over-all German commander in the West, are known to have been at odds over defence plans.

The younger and more impulsive Rommel has been reported anxious to throw everything into an attempt to break up the Allied beachhead. Von Rundstedt, 69-year-old Prussion long steeped in German military lore, has favored a policy of holding back in order to wait and see if further Allied landings are made elsewhere in France or the Low Countries.

Rommel has been depicted in the German broadcasts as a brilliant tactician, despite the decisive defeats he suffered in North Africa, Tunisia, Sicily and Italy at the hands of his present counter-part, Gen. Montgomery. Von Rundstedt on the other hand, is a strategist.

Units of both the 7th and 15th Armies, predominantly armored striking forces, have been reported opposing the Allies in Normandy. Just before the invasion started a week ago, Rommel's main force was reported bivouacked around Aachen, Western German rail centre near the Belgian and French borders.

Some front line dispatches have placed Rommel himself at the front in the Cherbourg Peninsula.

Fire Damages Total Millions

MONTREAL, June 13 (CP)—Firemen this afternoon were still trying to put undef control a blaze which gutted two war plants at neighboring Ville St. Laurent. An early estimate set damage at "more than $1,000,000."

Fire officials earlier reported the fire under control but later it was said that firemen were still fighting the blaze of unknown origin which after breaking out in the plant of Industrial Glass Works spread to the nearby plant of the British Rubber Company.

Only one casualty was reported: A Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission patrolman, W. Menard, who suffered injuries when he fell from a pole while he was trying to cut off transmission lines.

Montreal firemen were called to help Ville St. Laurent firefighters when the blaze started threatening other plants nearby.

Forces Expand Bridgehead Take Troarn, Balleroy Claim Spectacular Gains

British Outflank Caen From The West American Troops Slash Halfway Across Cherbourg Peninsula

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 13—(CP).—The Allies in Normandy registered spectacular gains in each end of the expanding bridgehead today, with American troops sending advance patrols within 10 miles of the great port of Cherbourg and British forces capturing Troarn, nine miles east of Caen.

On the Cherbourg peninsula the Americans advanced to crack the defences of Cherbourg itself, capturing three towns.

The thrust into Troarn, east of the Orne River, outflanked the city of Caen, for which stubborn, bitter fighting has raged since D-Day.

The British 6th Air-Borne Division, which includes Canadian paratroopers, has been fighting in the sector northeast of Caen, across the Orne River, since the initial landings a week ago. It was not immediately disclosed whether this division took Troarn.

In the centre of the flaming front, British forces plunged south of Bayeux in a "big advance" flanking Caen from the west. American troops captured Balleroy, east of the Forest of Cerisy and 12½ miles inland.

The U.S. fourth infantry division toppled Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg, and advance patrols pushed on four miles closer to the strategic port.

Two other American columns slashed halfway across the Cherbourg Peninsula in deepening threats to lop off the port.

One of these driving inland 11 miles near Ste. Mere Eglise captured Pont L'Abbe, only five miles from the west coast railway still in German hands, and 14 miles from the western shore. The other fought west of Carentan and was roughly halfway across the Peninsula at its narrowest, 20-mile neck. Le Ham, three miles sauthwest of Montebourg, also was taken.

Supreme headquarters described the day's sweeping advances as "very, very satisfactory."

Fall of Troarn in a seven-mile advance by the British was the first big gain registered in this desperately defended area since the British 6th air-borne division landed there on D-Day a week ago.

British troops in another 3½ mile advance won a village on the outskirts of Caen itself.

New air-borne troops were dropped in France. The Germans reported air-borne landings on the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula, presumably as part of a pincers to snip off the cape.

The crumbling of Nazi defences on more than an 80-mile front coincided with unconfirmed reports that Field Marshal Rommel, the "desert fox," had been removed from his command

Five landing strips have been constructed and are in use in France, the Allied air forces announced.

Nearing St. Lo.

The road junction of Balleroy is nine miles southwest of Bayeux. The Germans reported a developing drive on the communications hub of St. Lo, and said American forces were only six miles away.

Berlin accounts asserted air-borne Allied forces were landed on the western shores of Cherbourg peninsula.

The German DNB agency asserted a narrow wedge has been driven into the German line east of the River Orne, where British and Canadian soldiers of the British 6th Air-Borne Division have been engaged in heavy fighting since landing on D-Day.

The German high command communique said there was "particular-

Allied Advance Continues North In Italy

By SID FEDER
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, June 13—(AP)—The Germans north of Rome fought bitterly today along a new line of defences from Lake Bolsena to the sea but 5th Army troops smashed through and occupied nearly all the western shores of the late and all but wiped out a strong point east of Orbetello, 71 miles northwest of Rome.

Moving up both sides of Lake Bolsena, Allied forces on the western shore captured Valentano, junction of three highways some 55 miles north of Rome and pushed on, nearing Latera, four miles further north.

Northwest of the lake, South African forces moving toward Orveito ran into a stiff battle in Bagno Regio.

On the Tyrrhenian coast American troops encountered a new series of dug-in defences east of Orbetello and attacked through high ground directly toward lateral highway 74, which is about 90 road miles from Rome at that point. In a sharp and bloody engagement they captured 142 prisoners from the German 162nd Turcoman Division and killed 100 more of the enemy.

8th Moves Fast

The advance was considerably more rapid on the Adriatic sector, where 8th Army troops crossed the Saline river, some five miles north of captured Pescara, at several places.

These Allied forces took Popoli,

F.B.I. Captured Nazi Prisoner

DETROIT, June 13 — (AP) — Robert A. Guerin, agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said today that a telephoned tip from a German-born United States citizen resulted in the capture here of Fritz Fuchs, 35-year-old German prisoner of war who escaped Monday from a farm where he was working in the Wallaceburg area.

Guerin said the German-born Detroit resident became suspicious of Fuchs' actions on the street and notified authorities. He added he was not inclined to believe a story told by Fuchs of swimming across the Detroit River from Windsor.

Fuchs was a merchant seaman, one of 325 working on farms in Kent county.

He was the second prisoner to escape in Ontario yesterday, the other being 27-year-old Henry Abt who escaped from a work camp at Peninsula in nothwestern Ontario.

German Threat Boomerangs

French Recruits Flock To Underground

LONDON, June 13 — (CP) — Gen. De Gaulle was expected today to pay an early visit to France, where the Allied invasion has spurred resistance of underground forces, in the hope of winning public support for his committee of national liberation.

French quarters said yesterday the General, dissatisfied with official British and American reaction, was willing to gamble on a popular demonstration from his countrymen to strengthen his hand before leaving for Washington to fight for recognition of his committee as the provisional French government.

Reports from Spain, meanwhile, said a German order that Frenchmen caught with arms would be shot had boomeranged and thousands of new recruits are joining the underground. Many Frenchmen who took their arms home after the 1940 armistice have joined the Guerillas, since they believed a search of their homes would mean death in any case, the dispatches said.

Forts around Garonne in the Bordeaux area were packed with thousands of prisoners, word from Irun on the Spanish border said.

Ralston States Casualties Are Moderate

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 13 —(CP)— The provision of relief to the peoples of liberated countries, the supplying of mutual aid to the United Nations, and the sale of surplus or obsolete war materials set off a variety of debate in the Commons yesterday.

Finance Minister Ilsley announced that Canada proposes to contribute $77,000,000 this year to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, set up to provide relief for countries liberated from the enemy.

The amount, representing a little more than one per cent of Canada's national income, would be paid out of the $800,000,000 Canada proposed to spend this year in mutual aid.

Mr. Ilsley spoke during passage of a resolution to a bill authorizing the expenditure of the $800,000,000. The bill itself was given first reading, and is scheduled to receive second reading today.

Britain Gets Most

Earlier, Munitions Minister Howe announced that Canada's mutual aid expenditures during the 10 months ended March 31, totalled $912,603,220.

Major beneficiary was the United Kingdom which received aid to the extent of $723,753,786. Next in line were Russia, with $23,282,292, Australia, with $20,959,845, China, with $4,101,587, West Indies with $874,478 and India, with $482,192.

Expenditures for war supplies to be transferred to recipient countries in the future amount to $139,123,563, and the balance of the total expenditure, $25,472, went to administration costs.

Before the House settled down to the study of government legislation, Defence Minister Ralston revealed that Canadian casualties in France have so far been "moderate."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said it was hoped the budget will be brought down "shortly."

Mr. Ilsley said there had been some delay in completing arrangements for mutual aid to all the recipient countries, and the figures for shipments up to March 31 were not representative of the proportions in which supplies now were moving to the various countries. Mutual aid shipments to the French Committee of National Liberation did not begin until last March 31.

Car Dealer Is Fined $500

LINDSAY, June 13 — (ENS) — Harry Goodman, car dealer of Lindsay was fined $500 and costs by Magistrate F. S. Ebbs, in police court here, yesterday, on a charge of selling two trucks over the ceiling price set by the War Time Prices and Trade Board.

C. G. Frost, counsel for the accused drew the attention of the court to what he termed interference by the W.T.P.B. He stated that following the purchase of the trucks by Norman Moberly of Toronto, who was accompanied by a R.C.M.P. in plain clothes, the W.T.P.B. had given Moberly permission to take the trucks to Toronto.

Japanese Withdraw On Assam Front

KANDY, Ceylon, June 13—(AP)—The Japanese have withdrawn from positions commanding Naga village, north of Kohima on the Assam front, and Allied troops have occupied Aradura, south of Kohima, it was announced today.

The two-month battle for control of the Kohima ridges thus was said to have ended in favor of the Allies after fighting officially described as "of vital importance to operations throughout the whole of the eastern theatre."

Jap Finish Near

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP). —President Roosevelt said last night Japan can be forced "to unconditional surrender or to national suicide much more rapidly than has been thought possible." The President, speaking on a national radio program opening the United States $16,000,000,000 Fifth War Loan drive, said the original strategy of eliminating Germany first and then turning full war strength into the Pacific can hasten the day of victory on all fronts.

Russian Applause

MOSCOW, June 13—(AP). — The Russians obviously were deeply stirred today by news of Prime Minister Churchill's visit to the Normandy beachhead.

"A good fellow! What a person! A real leader!" were some of the exclamations heard from a long line of those buying newspapers.

Churchill Goes To Beachhead

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 13.—(CP). — The Normandy beachheads of the Allies' European invasion front appeared secure today and this was amply demonstrated by the extended visits to the battlefront of Prime Minister Churchill, General Eisenhower and a galaxy of stars from the High Command.

The Prime Minister yesterday spent seven hours along the British sector of the front, touring the front lines and visiting ships of the Royal Navy pounding hard at the enemy's rear formations. At about the same time Eisenhower, Allied invasion commander-in-chief, was touring the American area, on the western flank of the invasion arc.

With Mr. Churchill were Field Marshal Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa, and Field Marshal Sir Alan Brook, Chief of the Imperial General Staff. The top men of the United States' High Command were in Eisenhower's party, Chief of Staff General Marshall; Air Chief General Arnold; Admiral Ernest King, Commander-in-Chief of the Fleet, Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Commander of American Ground Forces in France, and other high officers.

Two Parties.

The parties did not meet. Each stuck to the fighting men of its particular nationality. Neither visit was made public at headquarters here until last night, long after both had returned safely to England. The visits demonstrated the full control the Allies maintain over the 60-mile invasion front.

Mr. Churchill spent an exciting day and it was obvious he enjoyed every minute of it. He saw a German plane shot down while attempting to sneak raid on shipping in the Bay of Seine. He saw battleships pounding the enemy with 16-inch rifles. His destroyer, H.M.S. Kelvin, joined in the bombardment of shore targets.

Typical of the soldiers' comment each time Mr. Churchill came into view was that of one private: "Blimey! It's Winston himself!"

Following a three-hour tour of the land fronts, the Prime Minister's party embarked in a barge and toured some 30 miles of coastline, sailing close inshore so he could pay tribute to the men of the small ships. At one point the battleships Nelson and Ramillies and several cruisers were pounding the German lines with salvoes and the Prime Minister decided to visit these ships, passing closely so the men could see him clearly. He appeared greatly interested in the monitor Roberts, hammering the enemy with its 15-inch shells.

The American party also travelled to France by destroyer. They drove quickly to within five miles of the fighting being waged in the Carentan sector and visited Isigny, captured two days before. In the ditches as the party passed were dead Germans—some of the bodies booby-trapped. Once the caravan was stopped by a traffic jam. Eisenhower jumped from his car, gave a few quiet orders and things were straightened out quickly.

At one point of the tour the party made a 45-minutes tour of the shore area aboard a submarine chaser, inspecting installations.

Other Ontario sailors on board included AB. Gordon Leslie, Guelph, and AB. Kenneth Eagle, Ottawa.

ly heavy" fighting west of Caen and south of Bayeux, in the Tilly area.

Canadian 3rd Division troops and British formations are engaged in bitter fighting in this sector of the Allied bridgehead, where heavy tank engagements with the enemy have been fought.

Beyond Carentan

Six American divisions now are fighting on the plains of Normandy, it was disclosed.

The Nazi-controlled Paris radio declared Montebourg — already reported by-passed by troops hammering toward Cherbourg—had fallen, but a later Transocean broadcast said the Germans still held it.

American forces pushed on across the neck of the Cherbourg peninsula for some miles beyond newly-captured Carentan, possession of which, the communique said, "materially strengthens the link established between our two major beachheads."

Rommel was reported concentrating fresh troops around St. Lo, target of American forces pushing southward from the Cerisy Forest, fully occupied yesterday. The forest is 18 miles south of the landing beaches.

Berlin reports said American troops were less than seven miles from St. Lo.

Tilly Sur Seulles was taken three days ago by British units but has since changed hands several times. At midnight last night the situation in the communications hub was reported "obscure."

Meanwhile, American troops fighting less than 14 miles from the Port of Cherbourg, were reported advancing both north and west today to chop off that prime invasion objective.

American tanks and infantry blasted out an inland thrust of some 18 miles by driving the enemy from the whole of the forest of Cerisy, back from the centre of the Normandy beach battle ground, and striking onward toward St. Lo, the German communications centre.

The Paris radio—controlled by the Nazis—said to-day in a broadcast recorded by Reuters News Agency that Montebourg, 14 miles from Cherbourg, now is in Allied hands. To-day's Allied communique did not mention Montebourg.

Delays Reserves.

Other German broadcasts acknowledged that Allied air power—which yesterday sent a record force of 1,400 heavy bombers against 16 airfields behind the fighting lines—had delayed the arrival of reinforcements for the Atlantic wall defenders.

An Allied announcement said that this was true—that "the enemy has been unable to build up his attacking forces as rapidly as anticipated." Headquarters, however, estimated that 14 or 15 German divisions, totalling 250,000 men now are in action.

Capture of Carentan, a third of the distance across the neck of the Cherbourg Peninsula, placed American troops in that sector in a fair way to seal off an 800-square-mile area to the north. A number of important roads have been won by the invaders.

The Germans declared they withdrew from Carentan to get away from Allied naval guns. In similar vein, seemingly trying to explain the German reverses to those at home, a Berlin radio commentator declared the German commanders "apparently are trying to lure the Allies away from the covering screen of heavy naval guns."

"Allied warships have been giving deep supporting fire in the centre, and close support on the flanks of our armies," Supreme Headquarters announced in its communique last night.

Naval Support.

The communique said Canadian units had received support from the guns of the British light cruiser Belfast. It added the Royal Navy battleships Rodney and Ramillies did notable work in aiding the advance of the British 50th Division, and also mentioned the success of the battleship Nelson in silencing shore batteries which were hindering the advance of forward Allied elements.

An official announcement last night said the Allies have taken more than 10,000 prisoners. General Montgomery, Allied ground commander, said some Japanese were among the men captured, but did not enlarge on this statement.

Disease Curbing Task for Women

Mrs. H. T. Rehill was guest speaker at the June meeting of the Women's Association of Knox United Church, and in her talk on "Health" stressed its importance, and the part the numerous women's organizations, working together, could play in improving conditions. She said that women's organizations had the ability and sufficient strength, to help in the curbing of disease, so that less working hours would be lost through illness, and young people would not be exposed to diseases that undermine their health, both mentally and physically.

"Building on a Firm Foundation" was the theme of the worship service, led by Mrs. R. Hanscom. Mrs. G. Bennett and Mrs. R. Bowen read the Scripture, and Mrs. Hanscom led in prayer. Mrs. H. A. Mitchell was guest soloist, and the vote of thanks to the speaker and the soloist was moved by Mrs. G. Morrison. Mrs. H. Mesley introduced the speaker. Mrs. R. Laing presided for the short business session.

A special hymn for soldiers, sailor and airmen, was sung at the conclusion of the meeting, and light refreshments were served.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

With the coming of the warm weather we must look up some recipes for food that can be served cold and still be good for to give health and strength. I am going to give as my first recipe today a very delicious meat loaf that I know you will like when you have once tried it.

Jellied Loaf

Two and one-half cups tomato juice, two tablespoons gelatine, half cup cold water, one tablespoon lemon juice, two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar and one and a half cups finely shredded green cabbage, half cup finely shredded green cabbage, half cup chopped celery, two chopped onions, mayonnaise, one cup diced cheese. Combine tomato juice, sauce, salt and heat to the boiling point, add lemon juice and sugar. Meanwhile soak gelatine in cold water and add to hot tomato juice, stir until dissolved. Pour one half this mixture into a wet, narrow loaf cake tin and allow to set firmly. Combine cabbage, celery, onions, seasonings and just enough mayonnaise to moisten. Arrange this on top of the firm jelly, cover with diced cheese, add remaining partially set tomato aspic on top of this and chill until firmly set. Unmould on a platter and garnish with lettuce or watercress. Serve with mayonnaise.

Jellied Chicken Loaf

Wash and cut up a three pound chicken. Put in water to just cover and cook until meat separates easily from the bone. Strain liquid from meat and reduce to three cups. Salt to taste. Soak two and one-half tablespoonsful gelatine in one-fourth cup of cold water for 20 minutes, then disolve in hot stock and cool. Remove meat from the bones separating white and dark meat in alternate layers in bread pan. Sprinkle each layer with one-quarter cup of chopped celery, add stock and let stand until firm. Unmould on cold platter. Garnish with lettuce, parsley and radish roses. Serve with dressing made by mixing equal parts of boiled dressing and whipped cream.

Devilled Steak

Two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon onion, one and a half pounds flank steak, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, two cups water, half teaspoon pepper, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon mustard, one tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon flour. Melt butter, slice in onion, cook till brown. Cut steak three by two inches, brown in pan roll in flour, add salt, pepper, flour, mustard and vinegar to fat in pan. Add water replace meat, cover and cook two hours.

1,600-Tonner Sinks

LISBON, June 13 — (AP) — The 1,600-ton wooden Portuguese freighter Marinela, en route to Philadelphia, sank in the Atlantic, according to reports received here yesterday but the entire crew was saved by the steamship Caritas. The Marinela was reported on fire near Bermuda last Saturday.

Warkworth Man Dies Suddenly

WARKWORTH, June 13—(ENS) —The whole community was shocked to hear of the sudden death of John Franklin Webb Boyce, which occurred at Belleville Blood Donors Clinic on Sunday morning, where he had gone taking a number of blood donors. For several months his health had not been the best, but his condition was not considered serious.

Mr. Boyce was a son of the late Joseph Boyce and Sarah De Furlong, and was born in Warkworth October 12, 1867. He received his education at Warkworth and Dartford Public Schools, Campbellford High and Cobourg Model Schools He taught at S.S. No. 10, Percy, and Fleming School near Hastings, following six years of teaching he attended Victoria College, Cobourg, later of Toronto, where he graduated with his Bachelor of Arts degree. He also studied medicine for two years.

For a number of years he taught High School in Calgary, Alta., and it was while there that he assisted in organizing schools to accommodate the large number of pupils which had moved into that city when the railroad terminal was moved from Banff to Calgary.

Made Inspector.

Finding indoor work too strenuous he applied to the Department of Education for a position in which more of his time could be spent out of doors. This resulted in his appointment as Inspector of Public Schools. During the First World War he assisted with the rehabilitation of returned soldiers. Following the war he took up his work again as inspector. Besides living in Calgary, he lived at Red Deer and Bassano. In 1930 he married Mrs. Charlotte Gaets.

Active in Red Cross.

He was superannuated about 10 years ago, after which they took up residence in Toronto, coming to Warkworth about four years ago. Since that time he has been keenly interested and an active worker in the Canadian Red Cross Society being president of the Warkworth Percy Branch for two years. His last work was preparing an honor roll for the blood donors of this community.

He is survived by two brothers and two sisters, Dr. George Iron Mountains, Mich., Charles J., Mrs. O. B. Hopkins, and Miss Emma Boyce, Warkworth. His wife predeceased him about five years ago

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence to St. Paul's United Church, where service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. J. R. R. Cooper. Rev. F. A. Ball will assist. Interment will be in Warkworth Cemetery

Chinese Occupy Burma Village

NEW DEHLI, June 13—(AP)—Press dispatches from Allied Headquarters said today Chinese troops have occupied the rifle range in Myitkyina, main Japanese base in North Burma, and other Allied units have taken an enemy strong point in the southern part of the area.

To the northwest Kamaing is under attack by Chinese units which have pressed down the Mogaung Valley, and other elments are strengthening a circle around the town, these dispatches said.

fantry units saw during Thursday night and Friday.

On Thursday night German infantry crept up to the Canadian positions but sharp-eyed lookouts spotted them before they got too close and every gun the Canadians had on the slope opened up. Some enemy tanks fired in support of the infantry attack but the Canadians held their ground.

From dawn until 11 a.m. things were fairly quiet Friday and then the Canadians saw truckloads of German Infantry moving up the road from the Caen perimeter. They also attacked with tank support, but, as Kingsmill said, "it was the same story as the night before."

The Canadians knocked them back again and Canadian field artillery did a specially good job, shooting up targets which had been reported by forward observation officers.

The Germans shelled and mortared the Canadian positions all day Friday and Lieut. Lorne Smith of Ottawa said he never had seen anything like it, with mortar bombs and 80-mm. shells screaming and crumping in every field. Then the enemy pulled back to about 2,000 yards from the Canadian area. Snipers were left along the Front, however, and some were hiding in trees.

Crerar Praises Great Work Of Canadians

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

FIRST CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Somewhere in Britain, June 13 (CP Cable)—Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the 1st Canadian Army, told correspondents today "it will be difficult if not impossible to exaggerate" the importance of the Canadian contribution to the "vast and decisive" assault on France.

The genial commander made the statement at the conclusion of a comprehensive off-the-record conference with Allied war correspondents and gave permission for this portion of his remarks to be reported.

"I do not need to emphasize the eagerness with which I and all ranks of the Canadian Army, wherever located, have been following the fortunes of all the forces engaged in the assault landing and the pride which we share in the magnificent part played by Canadians.

"We knew beforehand how well these especially-trained Canadian troops would carry out a difficult and vitally-important task.

"The enemy certainly shares that knowledge now.

"I believe that when the time comes that the complete story of the preparations and plan for this vast and decisive Allied assault landing can be revealed the importance of the Canadian contribution to its success will be fully realized.

"It will be difficult if not impossible to exaggerate it.

"During the last year in Sicily and Italy and now in France, Canadian troops have shown their great and inherited qualities. You can count on it they will continue to do so until the end and will spare themselves nothing to ensure that final victory suffers no delay."

at Mezidon, and ferry installations over the Seine at Caudebec, in continuation of the campaigns against ferries, apparently calculated to prevent the Nazis from staging a successful "Dunkerque" if Allied forces succeed in trapping them.

Typical of chaos Allied support operations are visiting upon the Germans was the coup of rocket-carrying Typhoons. They swooped down, shot up an ammunition truck which crashed into a military building and blew it sky-high. A second truck, burning fiercely, plunged into a quarry.

Planes Raid England

The Gelsenkirchen raid marked the first return of heavy bombers to strategic targets since the invasion. The bombing was reported highly concentrated with several "tremendous" explosions and great fires started and smoke towering more than three miles as the fliers left.

The Luftwaffe, evidently trying to save face after its weak showing in Normandy, sent a few planes over southern and eastern England and got one lone plane through to London for the first time since April 27.

A few casualties were caused as some persons were trapped in a building hit by a high-explosive bomb.

Raiders swept over parts of East Anglia and Southern England. At least one was brought down.

The Channel coast had one of the noisiest nights of the war. The German guns lobbed over shells from Cap Gris Nez which resulted in three shelling warnings in the Dover area between midnight and 6:30 a.m. Meantime the R.A.F. pounded the French coast and R.A.F. fighter-bombers swept over, apparently to attack German ships trying to sneak up the coast of the Continent.

QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-roid and are not entirely pleased with the results your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Music Classes Present Concert

BEWDLEY, June 13 (ENS) — A sample of the work done in the rural schools in the teaching of music was displayed when T. W. Stanley of Port Hope, director of music in six of the Hamilton township schools, presented his classes in recital.

The large United Church at Coldsprings where the recital was held was well filled. The children of Bewdley, Coldsprings, Glororum, Bethel, Precious Corners and No. 17 near Harwood, filled the platform when singing in unison.

Several patriotic and other numbers were sung in unison by the six choruses, and although unrehearsed, under Mr. Stanley's direction, did remarkably well. Each of the schools had a two-part chorus and a special number. From Bewdley, Shirley Halligan sang in solo. "The Second Minuet" and Warren Buttar at the piano with Mr. Stanley at the organ were heard in a duet. Precious Corners School had a boys chorus "When Pa Was a Boy." Margaret and Marion McKinley from No. 17 sang Brahm's Lullaby". Jean Ritchie and G. Cole from Glororum sang a duet. All the juniors sang two action songs in unison and the seniors presented several two-part songs.

As an added attraction, a mixed quartette from Port Hope made up of Mrs. Gordon Garnet Mrs. Wakelin and Gillard Darling also was Roberts, sang two numbers. Mr. Darling also was heard in solos, "The Floral Dance" and "Oh Ma, I miss your Apple Pie." Miss Evelyn McBride, also of Port Hope a contralto, sang two numbers accompanied by Mr. Stanley and with John Wickett of Port Hope playing an obligate with violin. Mr. Wickett also played a violin solo.

St. Anne's Church Has 18th Anniversary

BEWDLEY, June 13 (ENS) — St. Anne's Church, Bewdley, Sunday afternoon had as its guest speaker, Archbishop D. T. Owen of Toronto. As the occasion also marked the eighteenth anniversary of the opening of the Church of England here, the founder of the Church, Rev. Crissall of Port Hope, also Rural Dean, was present, taking part in the service as well as the rector, Rev. T. Crosthwaite.

Mrs. Goss and Miss Dillon had beautifully arranged flowers and the church was well filled with members and friends. Work commenced Monday on the excavation of a basement under St. Anne's Church.

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. # Counties Council Forecasts Slight Increase In Mill Rate

COBOURG, June 13.—(ENS). — Slight increase in the mill rate to raise the necessary amount for 1944 expenditures was forecast in the budget presented at the opening of the June session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council Monday. The rate will be seven mills as compared with 6.74 last year and this will raise an estimated amount of $248,392.00.

Items in the budget are administration of justice, $19,000; charity and welfare, $51,000; debenures, $74,700; primary education, $10,000; general administration, $23,200; registry offices $2,000; grants, $18,400; roads, $53,227.05; contingencies, $3,810.31; reforestation, $1,500; total $256,837.36 less 1943 surplus of $8,440.40. Amount to be raised, $248,392.00.

Warden L. E. Kelly welcomed the members of the counties council to the June session. He pointed out that two ex-wardens had passed away, W. H. Fowlds and C. H. Davidson. Council stood one minute in silence in memory of the two ex-wardens The Warden also drew council's attention to the fact that Deputy-Reeve W. G. Bickle of Hope township would be absent for the session, due to illness. Reeve G. Ross of Brighton township, who broke his leg, would aso be an absentee. The Warden mentioned the recent death of J. N. McGill, clerk of Cavan township.

A letter from the bank informed the council that the interest rate from February 1 would be 4 per cent. on borrowings instead of 4½ per cent. The question of payment of two months' salaries for additional appointees at the counties jail was referred to a joint meeting of the finance and special counties property committees

Resolution from Lanark County Council re request for government increased grants to Children's Aid Societies was referred to Finance. Communications from Mrs. J. R. Cooper, secretary-treasurer of Durham County Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association, the Alnwick Township School Area and the Front Road East Farm Forum in regard to establishment of a public health nursing service, was referred to the Schools committee. Resolution of Perth County Council in connection with post war employment was referred to By-laws committee. A resolution of Elgin County Council with reference to changing rural mail deliveries and also in regard to juvenile delinquency, was referred to by-laws. Resolution from Kent County Council advocating return to standard time was received and filed. The resolution from Norfolk County Council suggesting two signatures on municipal cheques was referred to by-laws. Resolution of Stratford County Council re increase in old age pensions, was received and filed.

Appointment of a successor to J. N. McGill as corn-borer inspector was left over until next year as it was felt that there would be no work for such an inspector from now until spring. A resolution of Lincoln County Council in regard to obtaining a suitable gasoline category for county councillors was referred to Legislative and By-laws committee. Simcoe county sent a resolution of approval which urged that the government increase its grants to Children's Aid Societies because of the greater cost now of operating. The question of repairs to county offices was left over for a period in order that both the town of Cobourg and the counties council would know where they stood in the matter. Warden Kelly said that nobody knew just how far either was responsible for repairs. Counties Solicitor Alan Field said that the wording of the lease was very vague. Reeve Robert Love told the council that Cobourg was not trying to shirk its responsibility but until the matter of responsibility was clarified it was not much use attempting anything. Warden Kelley according named Reeves T. MacMillan, W. Smith and Bert Reid as a committee to take the matter up with the Cobourg town council property commitee.

Other county council resolutions dealt with were as follows;

Gray County, re increase in ceiling prices for cheese, butter and hogs, referred to Agriculture Committee; Prince Edward County re hog subsidy, received and filed; A letter from the Dept. of Public Welfare re convention of superintendents of county homes was referred to the Board of Management; A letter from the Dept. of Highways outlined the procedure to be followed under the Highways Improvement Act for construction of municipal bridges; referred to Roads and Bridge Committee. The Dept. of Education acknowledged receipts of three resolutions from counties council covering teaching of agriculture, post-war planning and religious instruction in schools. Letters from Percy Stinson and Mrs. C. H. Davidson, thanked council for floral tributes. Council received a copy of the order-in-council establishing a Juvenile Court in the counties. A motion was passed to authorize passing a by-law appointing Arthur Finnie, Children's Aid superintendent, as Chief Probation Officer of the juvenile court.

Pay Part Cost

Reeve C. H. Carveth, Newcastle, reporting on the Special Schools Committee with reference to the letter of Percy Stinson of Millbrook which asked that the counties pay full costs of education of counties pupils in high and continuation schools, made the following motion, which was seconded and accepted:

"In reply to the letter of Percy Stinson regarding the proposal that the counties pay the full cost of education of county pupils, we recommend that the council consider paying continuation schools on the same basis as high schools as we know their costs have gone up and attendance gone down. We don't think, however, that the counties should agree to pay the full cost of education of county pupils in all schools as they would thereby lose all control over their school costs."

Reeve Bert Reid, speaking in connection with the proposal that a T. B. hospital be built bordering the eastern end of the counties, said that it had been suggested at the meeting in Toronto that the hospital be located either in Trenton or Belleville instead of Kingston, however the counties share would be about $85,000 and it was not felt that this cost should be undertaken.

Warden Kelly observed that the counties might some time be in the position of having a hospital built to serve the five counties from Northumberland and Durham westward.

Council then adjourned until ten o'clock this morning.

Auditor's Report

Report of the audit revealed an improved financial condition in 1943 over 1942, and in fact over years previous. Comparative figures for 1943 and 1942 were general surplus in 1943 of $8,444.46 and in 1942, $3,943.30 high and continuation school surplus for the same years, $626.40 and $462.80; roads and bridges surplus, $21,234.56 and $11,836.08, making a total surplus for the two years' survey of $30,305.44 and $16242.18.

The current bank loan is the smallest balance outstanding as at December 13, 1943, in a considerable time. The fact that the road accounts are to be settled semi-annually in the future will tend to improve this picture still further, the auditor's report pointed out.

In connection with county roads the current balance sheet shows an estimated balance of $41,101.26 as due from the provincial government on account of the highway grant. This balance is subject to audit by the provincial highways department. The report of the road committee at the January session of 1944 contained a recommendation, which was duly approved, to the effect that the 1943 surplus be placed in reserve for the purchase of machinery. The attached statements have treated the accumulated surplus on roads and bridges as ordinary operating surplus, transferable to the succeeding year.

No detailed accounts of the counties home were available for inspection, but a certificate from the superintendent stated that all monies received had been turned over to the counties treasurer. Farm receipts decreased from $1,457.51 to $992.94. Only 12 out of 24 treasurer's returns from the minor municipalities were available for audit purposes.

Good Reports

The current balance sheet showed assets of $44,137.14, made up of cash in the bank of $1,375.65; and accounts receivable of $42,761.49. Liabilities amounted to $35,692.68, made up of bank loan, $10,000; accounts payable, $3,122.45; interest on bank loan, $709.25; high and continuation school surplus, $626.40; roads and bridges surplus, $21,234.58 and general surplus of $8,444.46.

In the capital balance sheet the assets were made up of general assets of $151,402.61; highways, $275,424.15; liabilities of $202,255.47 in debentures and ratepayers investment of $151,402.61. Total assets are $426,-$207,532.34.

General revenue statement — Income county rate, $185,584.98; administration of justice, $7,044.40; licenses, $364; miscellaneous, $49.75; social services, $10,545.93; surplus as of January 1, 1943, $3,943.30; total, $2077,432.34.

Expenditures — Administration of justice, $24,609.83; grants, $18,340; charity and welfare, $47,642.76; debenture debt charges, $74,678.62; education, $8,647.81; general administration, $22,159.71; miscellaneous, $214.46; reforestation, $1,638.94; registry offices, $1,638.94; surplus for year ended, Dec. 31, 1943, $8,444.46 Total expenditures, $199,067.88.

The budget comparison figures show estimated revenue of $242,755, and actual, $254,955.41. Estimated expenditures of uncontrollable accounts amounted to $69,800 while the actual amount was $63,310.07. Fixed charges were unchanged at $74,678. Controllable accounts totalled $98,427 in the budget while the actual amount was $87,287.68. Total budgetted expenditures amounted to $242,905 and actual amount was $225,276.37.

British Soldiers Praise Canadians

GORE'S LANDING, June 13 — (ENS). — A letter has been received from Spr. Les Blakley, formerly of this village, from Italy. In part it reads: "I was up in the front lines a few days ago and the lads are certainly doing a good job. I was talking to one chap in the British Army, and he said, 'You know, those Canadians, once they get started, there is just no stopping them.' They are certainly praising the Canadian forces and the Canadian Army in Italy is doing a marvellous job.

"This goes for the ones back home who are supplying us with food. It takes us all to win this war, so pitch in and do your job, and the day is ours. In the past fifteen months, I have been from the West Coast of Canada to the East, and from the Clyde in Scotland to the far shores of England. I am now some place in Italy. I have come to the conclusion that good old Northumberland County is a pretty hard place to beat.

"I read Mr. Cole's address in starting the new Victory Loan. It is things like that which make the boys feel like pushing on. If a person knows he has something to fight for..he'll fight. The weather has been lovely here, but is cool at nights. They try to treat the lads well over here. We get anywhere from 50 to 100 cigarettes a week. I have seen several of the German prisoners and I think they are pleased to be in our hands."

Calf Club Formed

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13. — (ENS). — The Campbelford group of Northumberland boys met recently at the home of Ernest McCook to complete the organization of their Calf Club, and appointed their officers. They are: President, Earl Nelson; vice-president, Jack Gummer; secretary-treasurer, Will Curle. Each boy will care for his calf and exhibit it at the local fall fair. R. C. Banbury, agricultural representative, is assisting the boys in knowing, growing and showing cattle.

EMOTIONS BREAK UP MARRIAGES

Middle-aged Couples Want Revival of Youth's Experiences, Pity Themselves Too Much.

THE reason that so many marriages turn into endurance tests, instead of being the state of bliss they should be, is because middle-aged husbands and wives think too much about their emotions. Up to the time they get in the perilous forties their lives have followed the usual pattern. Boy meets girl. They fall in love. They get married. Build a home. Have children. And are so busy with their business and babies that they have no time to think about their feelings.

They take love for granted and congeniality in their stride, and if the husband no longer sees his wife as his dream girl, he reflects she is a darn good cook and easy to live with; and if the wife no longer mistakes her husband for a Fairy Prince, she realizes that better is a husband who is a good provider than one who quotes poetry. So they jog along comfortably and happily together without ever bothering about their blood pressure.

Then a curious thing happen to innumerable married couples. They moved up from Struggling Row to Easy Street. The children have grown up and are on their own. And for the first time in twenty years the husband and wife begin to analyze their feelings towards each other, and to wonder if they have been as happy as they thought they w[illegible] or whether they missed some[illegible] and to speculate about whe[illegible] really got their soul mat[illegible]

Middle-age Folk Pity Themselves

They literally sit with their fingers on their pulses counting their heartbeats, and, if they stay normal, they have heard millions of times, to love each other. At middle age they expect to experience all the hectic chills and thrills of adolescence, and when they no longer palpitate at the sound of a foot step they have heard millons of times, they begin to pity themselves as the victims of a dead passion.

And what adds to the tragedy of the situation is that these lovelorn oldsters, who have suddenly discovered that they have ceased to care for their lawful mates, so often turn philanderers. They have gone into a blind panic over hearing the final call to the dining car and are determined to have a last bite at romance at any cost. So women who have been models of virtue and pillars of the church all their lives have under-the-rose affairs and end in scandals, and men divorce their faithful wives and marry gold-diggers young enough to be their granddaughters.

Nothing is more pathetic than this craving of middle age to revive the emotions of its youth, because it cannot be done. The heart grows old even as our faces do, but it can still beat with just as true and steady rhythm. And if married people would just accept this as one of the comforting facts of life and trust their affection, instead of trying to pep it up with new thrills, they would save themselves a lot of grief.

Selfish Views Threaten Peace

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13. — (ENS).—Dr. H. W. Tuffry, Ph.D., of Hilton, Ont., who was introduced to the Rotary Club by Rev. G. N. Maxwell, spoke on war complacency and deplored the fact that Canadians are slipping and slipping badly. The war will end and Canada will not have the full employment she has to-day, he declared.

"Our cities and towns teem with people who never before possessed what they have now and never will again. There are countless men and women in office who are building walls aronnd thier jobs so they will not be compelled to give them up when the war is over and the country cannot afford to keep them. Our liberty has been bought with blood due to our complacency in former years. Independent thinking and planning must be done now if we are not going to have a repetition of the same conditions." He declared that there were two groups of politicians. One is trying to hold what they have and spend all this time doing this, and the other group spending all their time trying to take it away from them.

"The present war is the result of tension and our sons and daughters are dying because we, their parents, did not dissolve these tensions. If we but endure the pain of thinking, these problems can be solved."

Charles A. Palliser moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Among the visiting guests at the meeting of the local Rotary Club were James Heally of Peterborough and William Garry of Belleville; W. A. Kingston, editor of the Campbellford Herald was welcomed as a new member.

UNFURLED TOGETHER FOR FREEDOM!

FOR a long time now, John Bull, Uncle Sam and Johnnie Canuck have been doing business together. Today, more than ever, we are united in a common purpose.

Side by side, Canadians, Americans and Englishmen march along the road that leads to final victory. On the hot sands of North Africa, on the slopes of Sicily and Italy, our men have fought well together . . . given strength one to the other. Now, we look forward to the peace . . . and the ways in which we can preserve it.

Future world security rests to a large extent upon continued co-operation between the British Commonwealth and the United States. Of all nations, Canada is best situated to assure such co-operation. For we, of Canada . . . a major member of the British Commonwealth, have long been a close friend and neighbour of the United States. We know and like them both so well, we are the common meeting-ground for mutual understanding. Thus will Canada help the world to Win the Peace!

Seventy-Five Years Of Service

We have already made reference in these columns to the fact that the Young Men's Christian Association celebrates its centenary this year. For seventy-five years of that century there has been a Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough, giving its special type of service to this community. As we write we have by us the first Minute Book of the Peterborough Association, which opens thus: "Pursuant to a notice in all the churches in this town on Sabbath, 13th December, 1868, a public meeting was held in the Good Templars' Hall, on the following Monday evening, 14th December, to make arrangements for the organizing of a Young Men's Christian Association in Peterboro. The attendance was very numerous and influential and throughout the meeting the proceedings were conducted in the best spirit, and with great unanimity". There follows a detailed report of the remarks of the Chairman, Mr. A. H. Campbell.

Mr. Campbell's strictures upon the vices of his time are well worth transcribing. "It is in the springtime of youth", he is reported as saying, "the heyday of strength that the imagination is most vivid, the mind most impressionable, and it is then that the greatest safeguards are required to prevent the young and ardent being carried away by the specious reasoning of false philosophy and drifting on the fatal shoals of latitudinarianism or the still more fatal quicksands of infidelity". Later in his address Mr. Campbell warned against the common vice of reading trashy, sensational novels, "a species of reading which like a drugged stimulant depraves the taste and creates an appetite which pure, high-toned writing cannot satisfy". They had their problems of juvenile delinquency in 1868, too.

It was in an earnest spirit of community endeavour that the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. was founded, and set going on its long life of usefulness. The institution has grown physically, and expanded spiritually, since those days, but the underlying spirit is the same. We wish the local Y.M.C.A. every good fortune during its next seventy-five years.

'Irresponsible And Light-Headed'

Mr. E. B. Jolliffe, the Ontario leader of the C.C.F., is reported to have said in Regina that the newspapers of Canada no longer had any influence in Canadian life because they were "increasingly irresponsible and light-headed in their editorial pages". Mr. Jolliffe's opinions on the press ought to be interesting, for he used to be solicitor for Canadian Press, the news-gathering agency, and after the last Ontario election he sent a very pleasant letter to several newspapers—the Examiner was one—expressing his appreciation of the fair treatment he had been given during his campaign.

What has soured Mr. Jolliffe against the newspapers? His party does not seem to know what it thinks about the press. One day it is complaining that the press is conservative, hide-bound, chained to the big-money interests, afraid to call its soul its own for fear of losing advertising revenue, and in every respect the vile thrall of the capitalist system: the next day we are accused of being irresponsible and light-headed in our editorial opinions. It doesn't make sense.

The editorial pages of newspapers are not infallible. Some of them never express any controversial opinions at all; some of them express extraordinary and eccentric opinions; some express what the man in the street is thinking; some try to keep a few jumps ahead of the man in the street. But we have reason to believe—and we think that we are in a better position to form an opinion on this matter than Mr. Jolliffe—that editorial pages which have something to say carry weight in their communities and in the country, and exercise a very real influence on public life both by direct and indirect means.

Criticism of the press is a good thing, but all criticism must be judged, to some extent, by the source from which it comes. Like many other people, Mr. Jolliffe admires the press when it agrees with him and despises it when it does not. Has press criticism of some of his own irresponsible and light-headed shenanigans in the Legislature rankled in his bosom, causing his outburst at Regina?

Praise For The Press

Mr. Churchill is always generous in his praise for the press; he has himself been a journalist of the highest order and he knows the job of the war correspondent at first-hand. Speaking to the House of Commons last Thursday the Prime Minister said that he would not take time to give them a report on the fighting in Normandy, because they could learn all that they wanted to know "in the excellent reports furnished by our able and upright press".

This is very high praise, and the newspapers of Britain and the U.S. are grateful for such recognition. The great news-gathering agencies have pooled their resources for the fighting in France, in order that all newspaper readers may have the fullest reports on the fighting as soon as they are available. It is not too much to say that the newspaper readers of this continent have all the news about the fighting—with the exception of a few details which are the prerogative of high Government officials—as soon as the most highly-placed officials in London, Ottawa and Washington have it.

The radio also supplies war news, and although we have no desire to reflect in any way upon the news services of the CBC or the independent stations we must point out that they get their news from the great news agencies, just as we do, and have no news which we have not. For obvious reasons, the radio cannot carry such full and detailed accounts of the fighting as the newspapers, and their news tends to concentrate on highlights. There are special radio correspondents at the front, but they are not reporters; they bring specialized news and commentary; the bulk of the war news is gathered by the press agencies and passed on to the radio by them.

Speaking in the Canadian House of Commons the Hon J. L. Ralston linked the press and the radio together as gatherers and spreaders of the news. It is for this reason that we have made this explanation: the news that you hear over the radio is an extract from the news which you are given in full by your newspaper.

Communique

Allied forces are doing brilliantly in Italy and France, so we thought that our readers might have a moment to spare for a report on the progress of the Word War. Frankly, the situation is worsening, to use a word which is a favourite with the enemy. The CBC dealt the English language a telling blow recently when it allowed one of its announcers to tell us on the ten o'clock newscast that "situational reports" were being received by Allied Headquarters. 'Situational'; what a word!

What can situational possibly mean? Does it mean a report telling where our troops are—what situation they occupy, in fact? Or does it mean a report which tells how the fighting is going—what the situation is? Not merely has the CBC used a nasty word which is not countenanced by either English or American dictionaries, but it has used a word which has no clear meaning and has turned a portion of its newscast—which should be as clear and unambiguous as possible—into a muddy mess.

There are enough words in use now which have no clear meaning, without dragging in this nonesuch 'situational'. Away with it!

NOTE AND COMMENT

An Army sergeant in New York was badly bitten by a rabbit. But when a sergeant is bitten by a private, that will be news.

"Survey of Women In Industry Reveals Amazing Figures", says a headline. Yes, and some of them pass our window on bicycles every day at lunchtime.

A newspaper in Elizabeth, New Jersey, reported that President Roosevelt had been visited by "his two-headed grandson, young Johnny Boettiger". Actually the boy is "tow-headed", but we are sure that Goebbels will seize on this item as another proof of the President's biological inferiority.

There has been a good deal of alarming talk about the increased sale of liquor permits in this Province, but so far we have seen no mention of one obvious reason for the increase: wives, who have formerly relied upon their husbands to buy the liquor for the household, have had to get permits of their own, and in such households drinking does not increase, although two permits are used.

Canada's Air Heroes

By GRANT DEXTER

LONDON: An astonishing fact about Canada's war effort is that the people at home have yet to appreciate the size and force of the R.C.A.F. overseas.

The activities of the army and the navy are publicized in the official communiques as well as in the despatches of war correspondents. But the R.C.A.F. being part of the R.A.F. is rarely singled out, except by the special coverage provided by the Public Relations officers attached to it. Official communiques seldom speak of the exploits of Canadian airmen.

This fact is not recorded in a critical way. Under the circumstances it is inevitable. The result, however, has been a failure to impress upon the people the importance of the contribution our air force is making. Right now about one-third of the R.A.F. (including the Canadian Bomber Group) are Canadian airmen. For the most part, they are scattered throughout the various units of the R.A.F. But a substantial number of them have been brought together, under the command of Air Vice-Marshal McEwen, M.C., D.C.F. and bar, in the Canadian Bomber Group. A group is a unit and a very large one, approximately equal in numbers to an army.

Although the Canadian Bomber Group—which flies heavy bombers—is not yet completely filled out, it has been sending scores of planes on nightly raids. When fully established, it will send many more. What this means is that this group, alone, has frequently dropped 1,000 tons of bombs on an enemy target. Not so very long ago the first 1,000-ton raid by the R.A.F. was regarded as big news. Today this is being done by the Canadian Group which comprises only one-tenth of the total R.C.A.F. strength overseas.

THE record being made by the Canadian Bomber Group is enviable. Although lacking its full strength it now stands second highest among the R.A.F. Bomber Groups. The rating is made on the basis of performance.

But another reason why the Canadian Bomber Group has not registered at home is that long-range heavy bombing is a development of the present war. There is no tradition back of it, as with the army and the navy. When people think of the air force, the names that leap to mind are those of fighter pilots—the Bishops, Barkers, Beurlings. The drama of fighter combat captures the public's imagination. Who ever heard of an ace bomber pilot? How can one dramatize the long flight in an all but defenceless plane, the dropping of many tons of explosive, and the weary homeward journey? Yet, without detracting a pin-point from the glory that attends upon the fgihter pilot, which job of the two strikes the enemy hardest—the crew which obliterates a key industry, or the man who shoots down an enemy fighter? And which form of battle takes the heaviest toll—the man who wins in combat, or the lads who have no real hope of being able to strike back and who know that they are virtually defenceless under the guns of their adversaries?

Heavy bombers are built to carry maximum loads, not to fight. They fly at night because in a combat sense they are clay pigeons. They mount guns, but they always do their utmost to avoid combat. The most efficient crew, as a rule, is the crew which has never fired a shot. Their job is to get there and get home.

The heavy bomber takes off in darkness. From the moment the plane's door is shut, the crew is severed from physical contact first with the ground and later with friendly territory. They are in constant peril until they have landed and dispersed. They sit in cramped quarters. Their only real hope is that they will see danger in time to evade it.

THESE reasons, perhaps, account for the fact that the bomber crews have received less attention from the people at home than other branches of the service. Actually, they deserve and require more. War correspondents seldom visit them. For some reason war correspondents prefer the army. The task of publicizing Bomber Group falls almost entirely on Public Relations officers. The head of the air force Public Relations overseas is WC. Rod McInnes, formerly of the parliamentary press gallery, and the news editor is Flight-Lieutenant Vic Baker, formerly of the Canadian Press at Montreal. Fl. Baker, incidentally, knows the bomber business from the inside. He completed his tour last September and saw service in the European and Mediterranean war theatres.

The senior P.R.O. in the Canadian Bomber Group is Squadron-Leader T. C. McCall, formerly of the Simcoe Reformer. P.R.O.'s are attached to most of the squadrons. At the station described in these pieces, the officer was Flight-Lieutenant H. W. "Mac" Eggleston, formerly of the Star-Phoenix, Saskatoon. At a nearby station was Flight-Lieutenant Jack Coldwell, formerly of the Toronto Star, and the son of the C.C.F. leader.

These newspapermen are in uniform. They live with the air force and do their utmost to write the story. They are always present when the aircraft come home. And they are highly popular with the fliers.

Even so brief a visit with the Canadian Bomber Group reveals services which the people at home could do for these men but which have been grievously neglected. The greatest lack is reading material. Owing to the paper shortage in the United Kingdom it is very hard to buy magazines or books. These men would like newspapers from their home town. They want magazines and popular fiction. They require reading material as a means of relaxation. Many spoke of the difficulty of getting to sleep after the nervous tension of a night's operation. If they had a magazine or book handy, it would help. The life they live makes acute and continuous nervous strain unavoidable. Reading would be a ready way of escape from it. It is not necessary to know somebody in the group. If reading matter is mailed to the headquarters of the Canadian Bombef Group, it will be distributed promptly.

LABOUR LEADERS

Canadians will probably not wish to emulate all of the economic experiments of Messrs. Curtin and Fraser, but they might well learn much from both statesmen as to the methods by which a stronger and more responsible labour leadership can be developed, for we must have labour men in our political life, and they must be able to command the confidence—as they do in the antipodean dominions—of all classes and not of labour alone.—Toronto Saturday Night.

Rousing From Lethargy

By B. T. RICHARDSON

OTTAWA: A feeling that the day of invasion should put an end to a period of marking time and set events in motion at a quickening pace has been apparent immediately in the House of Commons. A caution from Mr. King, that at the rate at which business was being handled the House would not be finished this year, brought no challenge. Members in all section of the House were ready to agree—it was something many of them had begun to believe.

Monday, June 12, would be the 75th day of the session. The order paper is heavily laden. Most if not all the Government's legislation for the session has already been brought down, and is waiting for consideration There are 16 items of this kind. There is legislation to establish three new departments of government — social welfare, reconstruction, and veterans' affairs. In this shuffle, the present department of pensions and national health will disappear. Each of the new departments will hardly receive Parliament's approval without an extensive examination of the Government's examination of the Government's policy to be administered by each, and this will inevitably lead to extensive debate on post-war proposals.

Another measure waiting debate is the proposal to establish an aeronautics board to administer aviation policy. From past experience, this might easily produce a full-length debate. There are, in addition, amendments to the Bank Act and several related pieces of legislation. Though much of the debate on banking policy occurs in committee, this will likely occupy the House for several days. And the banking committee has not completed its hearings yet. One of the related measures, the provision of intermediate farm credits, opens up a field of lively debate. Another measure still to come will deal with the control of farm income by means of floor prices after the war on farm products.

Another debate, hardly likely to be completed in short order, will deal with provision for soldiers to vote in the next federal election. This problem has been explored by a committee of the House, but the full membership will undoubtedly show keen interest in it. Still another measure will create a crown assets corporation to dispose of surplus stocks of military supplies and other government war assets. This can hardly fail to evoke a debate on what should be done with war factories and facilities owned by the Government, and that is a thorny subject both for the school of thought that hopes to keep the Government in business and the school of thought that hopes to get it out as quick as possible after the war.

All these items could, on the basis of experience, occupy six or eight weeks more of Parliament's time, which would take the session well into August. But this calculation would have to be extended to take account of the budget debate, which will start sometime later in June.

Toward Labour Peace

By CHESTER A. BLOOM

WASHINGTON, D.C.: Two very pointed observations on future labour relations in the United States were made here recently to the American Management Association by two leading officers of the United States government War Labour Board. The chairman, William H. Davis, warned that labour and management ought to begin now making plans for co-operation after the war well in advance of its end.

"When the government moves out of its war-time place as a direct participant in industrial affairs, a vacuum will be created if management and labour have found nothing to fill its place," he said.

Naturally, that was fair notice that when the war ends, the War Labour Board is prepared to recommend abolition as quickly as possible of present rigid regulation by government of labour-management relations.

The philosophy of this business, perhaps, was better expressed by the vice-chairman of W.L.B., Dr. George W. Taylor, at the same time. Dr. Taylor declared:

"Of all the drives being made by the common man, the collective bargaining drive is the only one that accepts the capitalist system. If anyone thinks the workers will return to having no voice in matters which affect them, he is very much mistaken."

There will be, no doubt, those who will object to the philosophy inherent in the terms "drives" and the "common man." Your correspondent's own lengthy observation has led him to distrust the theory of a "common man." Actually, he has only seen millions of common men who seldom agree among themselves, even two by two. Instead of indulging in "drives," observation would lead one to think that these millions are being shoved somewhere by political, economic and social pressures of other than their making.

However that may be, Dr. Taylor undoubtedly was on sound ground when he warned that collective bargaining between labour and management is an inescapable element of the free enterprise system. The first rule of any dictator is to squash labour unions, crack down on private management and substitute rule by government ukase.

Mr. Davis, in short, dealt with the practical aspects and Dr. Taylor with the principles which govern free labour in a free economy. As Mr Davis said:

"It is sounder and safer that management and labour should be bound by bargaining limitations of their own choosing rather than by curbs imposed upon them. Since some freedom must be surrendered, let it be defined by the parties, rather than by a governmental unit which may be less interested and less informed on the circumstances of each situation."

It might reasonably be argued that it was management rather than labour which balked at collective bargaining before the war. But such managerial resistance in the United States, at least, was markedly decreasing. The war necessarily interrupted the process but it must be resumed immediately with the return of peace. Else, as Mr. Davis points out, there will be a vacuum created which merely is another word for chaos.

Letter To The Editor

FOOD SPECULATORS

Sir,—I thought the following quotation at the masthead of your editorial columns (issue of June 7) particularly apt and timely, against the unfolding events of the longed-for "D-Day" in Normandy: "Waitings which ripen hopes are not delays."—Edward Benlowes.

This reader is not surprised, therefore, to read a political item from Regina in that same Examiner, intimating that all parties agreed that election campaign now would be "the second fiddle" in public interest, perhaps even on election day, June 15. As a prairie friend puts this same idea: "The great Day has started—and apparently with success. All of this makes our own individual problems rather insignificant?"

While I've my pen in hand, I would like to add my brief comment on that potato item re-printed from your Fergus contemporary, and titled "Holding The Bag". The reference I have in mind runs as follows. "On the bottom corner of this page last week, there was a letter from a rural correspondent, who mentioned, among other things, that farmers not far from Fergus have had to take 75 cents for potatoes this month, when they were $2.25 a bag a few weeks ago.... The situation in Dufferin, Simcoe and Peel counties, and we suppose in a great part of Wellington, shows poor management somewhere and many farmers did lose a great deal of money because they failed to sell at the high ceiling prices...."

When one stops to consider the hunger facts around the world at the present minute, the above market price "jitters" are neither pleasant nor easy to understand, Mr. Editor? Here, in my opinion, is the case for the proposed "floor price" legislation. I know nothing about potatoes—except that they are good to eat!—but I feel that all concerned (from the man who grows them to the man who eats them) should be protected from such a manifestly anti-social price movement as indicated in the above item.

I confess that I didn't think a great deal of food speculators even in peacetime; but in wartime I consider them nothing less than saboteurs of the nation's war effort!

WAY OF THE DINOSAUR

The reference of the magazine Science to the dinosaur family recalls that anthropologists have always looked down on this animal. He didn't have brains enough they argued, to adapt himself to change in his environment, and so vanished from the earth.

But is it not entirely possible that the dinosaur did think about his environment and decided that he just didn't care to live any longer? The morals of the younger dinosaurs may have gotten him down. Or maybe he hated the administration, the things it did and the actions it threatened in the post-pliocene world. Who knows but that he threw up his forepaws in disgust and said: "If this is the way the world is going to be, you can have it."—Chicago Daily News.

THIS IS PROGRESS

A "school of industrial and labour relations" is being established by Cornell University. Legislation making this a permaent department of the university has just been unanimously adopted by the Legislature of New York State. The act sets forth the following objects of the school: "To teach the history and principles of sound industrial and labour relations; the rights and obligations of workers and employers; the history of labour legislation; and all other phases of industrial and labour relations tending to promote unity and the welfare of the state." This is the first school of its kind in the United States, and is an educational enterprise worthy of note—and emulation—by our Canadian universities. — Halifax Herald.

SCATTERING PLEASURE

One hears from time to time of people with unusual hobbies. But one of the most interesting, most unusual, and from the standpoint of the public, most delightful of all hobbies is that of people who scatter flower-seeds along highways, in alleys and by railroad tracks. Returning later in the season, they see the fruits of their efforts in bloom here and there banishing drabness from what once were dingy and depressing surroundings. And if they don't retrace their steps to see the results of their efforts, they know that others will enjoy the results of their thoughtfulness.

It is only small, but, like many a small effort, such a hobby gives a gratifying and worth-while return.—Halifax Herald.

A Bible Message

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day. (Gen. 1: 1-5.)

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God.... For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night....

Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us, (Ps. 90: 1, 2, 4, 16, 17.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The postman arrived back at the post office scarlet and indignant.

"Well, if some people don't just take the biscuit!" he exclaimed indignantly.

"What's the matter?" asked the postmistress.

"Why, that woman that's just arrived up the road says if she don't get her letters earlier in the morning she'll get them from another postman!"

Co-Workers Hold Shower

Prior to her recent marriage, Mrs. Michael O'Connor, nee Christina Jones, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower at Hooper's Palm Rooms, by her associates of the Inductional Motor Winding Department of the C.G.E. The evening was spent in music and games, and refreshments were served. Mrs. O'Connor also received a beautiful bedroom chair from the employees of the Armature and Inductional Motors Winding departments of the C.G.E.

Range Pals Hold Tea

The weekly meeting of the Range Pals took the form of a trousseau tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Larmer in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Raymond Clements, nee Dorothy Larmer.

During the month, meetings were held at the homes of Misses Blanche and Helen Quinn, Misses Andrey and Norma Timlin, Misses Jessie and Daisy Bell. At these meetings, letters received from Tpr. Fred Price, Spr. Arthur Sayer, Spr. Elwood Hendren and LAC. Earl Lowes were read. Members were asked to collect salvage for the drive which is getting under way.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Price. James Sayer's group will be in charge.

St. John's W.A. Supper

The Evening Branch, Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church, held its annual picnic supper in the Parish Hall, Monday evening. The tables were decorated with peonies and roses, donated by Mrs. J. Bell and Mrs. P. A. Martyn, and members had an enjoyable get-together.

Following the supper, the final business meeting for the season was conducted, and the president, Mrs. M. Montgomery, gave a report of the annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary in Toronto. On display was the season's sewing, including some gifts which are to be packed in the bale to be sent to a Western Mission school. Mrs. B. Ottewell, Dorcas secretary, was in charge. The first business meeting for the Fall season will be held the second Monday in September.

Norland Man Weds Irene Barnes

The Pentecostal Church, decorated with peonies and spirea, was the setting for the recent wedding of Irene Hilda Barnes, daughter of Mrs. Clara Barnes, Third Avenue, and the late John Barnes, and Frederick Lawrence Peel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Peel, of Norland, Ontario. Rev H. A. McAlister officiated. Mrs. H. A. McAlister played the weddin gmusic, and during the signing of the register Mrs. R. Cannon sang "Sunrise."

Given in marriage by her brother, Fred Barnes, the bride wore a gown of white embossed satin, made on princess lines, with a Peter Pan collar, long fitted sleeves, and buttoned down the back from neck to waist. Her veil of bridal net was caught to her head with orange blossoms, and fell to the floor in an embroidered train. She carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Hilda Suddards was her attendant, in a pink gown, with matching halo, trimmed with pink and blue flowers. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

For a wedding trip to Toronto, the bride donned a two-piece blue suit with white accessories, and a corsage of roses. On their return the young couple will make their home in Norland, Ontario.

C.W.L. Chooses Contest Winners

Almost forty-five splendid essays, on the topic, "Post War Reconstruction," were considered by a special committee of the Catholic Women's League recently, to decide winners in a contest, sponsored by the C.W.L. The committee consisted of Mrs. G. Torpey, Indian River, diocesan convener of education, Miss E. Deannard and Mrs. F. Lynch, Peterborough, and Mrs. J. Callaghan of Lindsay, and met at the home of Mrs. Lynch.

Prizes were awarded as follows: First prize in Grade 9, Miss Julia Richardson of St. Michael's School, Cobourg; second prize, in this grade, Ralph O'Reilly, of St. Peter's School, Peterborough; first prize in Grade 8, John McCarney of St. Peter's School, Peterborough; second prize, in that grade, was divided between Jean Dwyer, of S.S. No. 7, Douro, and Tersa Callaghan, of Reaboro.

Winning pupils will be invited to attend the C.W.L. convention in September, when they will read their essays and receive their prizes.

Mrs. A. F. Lane Given Pictures

Mrs. E. Breckenbridge, Edinburgh street, was hostess for the June meeting of the Group F of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church, Monday evening. Mrs. A. F. Lane was guest speaker, and chose "The Beautiful Life of Christ" as her topic. On behalf of the group, Mrs. C. Elliott and Mrs. J. W. Hales presented Mrs. A. F. Lane, who is leaving Peterborough to take up residence in Toronto, with a pair of pictures, as a remembrance.

Four ladies, Mesdames W. Purdy, J. Spencer, H. Powers and H. Girven, sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," accompanied by Mrs. G. D. Marshall. Mrs. F. Barrett read a Peace." "Faith Brings the Gift of Peace." The devotionl period was taken by Mrs. C. Elliott and Mrs. J. Fanning, and members answered the roll call with gems on "Beauty." Refreshments were served by the hostess, and a social hour enjoyed.

Stillman-Lobb Vows Pledged

NORWOOD, June 13 —(ENS) — Maple Valley Farm, Norwood, home of the bride's parents, was the setting for a pretty wedding recently, when Fleda May Lobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Lobb, became the bride of Herbert K. Stillman, son of Mrs. Stillman and the late David Stillman, Campbellford. The bridal party stood under a lattice-work arch, decorated in pink and white roses and evergreens, as Rev. G. N. Maxwell, Campbellford, performed the ceremony. Miss Ruby Preston played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white sheer over satin. Her finger-tip veil was caught to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. She was attended by Miss Josephine Hoffman, Toronto, who was frocked in aquamarine sheer. A matching shoulder-length veil fell from a hat of the same material, and she carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. Warren Gamble, Peterborough was best man.

Guests from Havelock, Campbellford, Stirling, Toronto, and Allandale were presetn for the ceremony and the reception. Receiving the guests were the bride's mother, in mauve crepe, and the groom's mother, in a two-piece black crepe ensemble. After a short wedding trip, the young couple will make their home on the groom's farm, Campbellford.

Christina Jones Wed In Triple Sheer

Rev. J. J. O'Brien officiated at the ceremony recently, when Christina Bella Jones, daughter of Mrs. Ann Jones, Peterborough, and the late David Jones, became the bride of Michael David O'Connor, Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Connor. Sacred Heart Church was decorated with yellow and purple iris for the ceremony. John Armstrong was at the organ, and during the signing of the register Mrs. W. Prindible sang "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her brother, Joseph Jones, the bride was gowned in floor-length white triple sheer over taffeta. Her finger-tip veil of white net fell from a Sweetheart halo, and she carried a shower bouquet of Bettertime roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Clayton Buckley, as matron of honor. Her frock of aqua blue net was set with lace panels, and she wore a heart-shaped halo, with a matching shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet was Briarcliffe roses.

At a reception held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, the bride's mother received in a gown of black and white printed crepe, with a black and white hat, and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses. Also receiving was Mrs. D. Duffy, sister of the groom, in rose printed crepe, with a black and white straw hat, and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

For a wedding trip to northern points, the bride chose a dress of brown and gold printed silk jersey, and white accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor will live at 33 Park street, north.

Barbara Sisco Given Shower

MILLBROOK, June 13—(ENS)—Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, with her daughter, Mrs. George Sedgewick, of Peterborough, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Reginald R. Edmunds, were joint hostesses for a social gathering recently, when a miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Miss Barbara Sisco, whose marriage to Cpl. H. Vernon Ryerse, R.C.A.F. of Port Dover, takes place on Saturday, June 17, in St. Andrew's United Church.

More than fifty guests attended the shower, the gifts for which were arranged on a table daintily trimmed in red, white and blue. Over the table a model airplane was suspended from the central light fixture, and from this depended three parachutes, in the prevailing patriotic color scheme, and to these some of the gifts were attached.

When the bride-to-be arrived, Mrs. H. A. Kerr played a few bars from Lohengrin's wedding march, and Miss Sisco was seated in the specially-prepared chair by the table, where she was invited to open the parcels, her sister, Mrs. Henry Gray, who is her from the west for the wedding, assisting. The gifts included fine linens, silver, china, crystal, pyrex ware, silk lingerie, towels of various kinds, vases and pictures.

A contest in which all took part, was followed by the service of lunch for which Mrs. A. L. Sisco, mother of the bride-to-be, poured tea at a lace-covered table, centred with a silver basket of spirea and iris. Among the friends of the guest of honor who came from Peterborough for the shower were Mrs. J. L. Larmer, Mrs. E. L. Burnham, Mrs. R. Duncan, Miss Betty O'Brian, Miss Audrey Kean, and Mrs. George Hillier.

Agile fingering, good expression and clear, definite tonal interpretation featured the piano recital given by pupils of Agnes Logan Green at the Y.W.C.A. Thursday night. Even the youngest of the performers showed definite training in the important fundamentals for accomplished pianists.

The senior students were particularly adept in their contrasting expressions, slipping into new rhythms and interpretations without slurring or fumbling. Many of the pianists had a light deft touch with reserve power behind it, which was well controlled and showed no tendency to get out of hand.

The program was as follows: "Southern Nights," "Gay Is The Rose," "Boirree" and "Lullaby," by Betty Lapp; "Pretty Polly Oliver" and "Romance in F" by Walter Corner; 'Soldiers' March" and "Waltz" by Catherine Clifton; "Minuet In G Minor," and "The Merry Peasant," by Sheila Young; "Waltz In a Minor," and "Allegro In G Major,' by Norma Gant; "Song of the Lark" and "Blue Danube Waltzes," by Jane Abbott; "Waltz" and "Venetian Boat Song," by Agnes Howson; "The Swing," "Norwegian Air" and "Idyl" by Marilyn Davidson; "Minuetto in C," "On Wings of Song," by Barbara Craig; "Gavotte from the Fifth French Suite, Rule Britannia," by Douglas Dobson; "Polonaise" and "Sailor Dance" by Jean Millard; "Solfegietto" and "A Trip to Virginia," by Marianne Cocks; "Early One Morning," "The Vicar of Bray," "Volga Boat Song," and "British Grenadiers," by Bill Filer; "Jig" and "Gavotte," by Laura Neals; "Tango" and "Romance," by Mildred McIntyre; "Jig," "Chanson Triste" and "Waltz in B Minor," by Eleanor Taylor; "Etude in C Sharp Minor" and "Waltz in A Flat Op. 42," by Donald Cole.

Assisting artist was Mary Mitchell, pupil of Thurza Williamson, A.T.C.M., who sang three numbers during the evening. She chose "The Blackbird's Song," "The Sea Hath Pearls," and "Lullaby."

At the conclusion of the recital, Sheila Young, one of the performers, presented Mrs. Green with a nosegay of flowers.

Switch Builders Squeeze Out Win From Soldiers

Manager Murph Chambers' Switchgear team hung up their seventh win in a row in the City Softball League last night when they eked out a 6 to 5 victory over the Military Training Centre but only after the Soldiers had thrown a bad scare into the leaders' camp by chasing three runs in the last of the ninth and having the tieing and winning markers on the bases when the side was retired.

It was 6 to 2 for Switchgear when Soldiers went to bat for the last time and they came near pulling the game out of the fire by bunching four hits with a walk and an error and driving three markers across with only one out. They still had two runners on the paths but Bert Harrison on the hilltop for Switchgear got out of the jam by getting Doug. Mortimer on an easy fly to Nicholls and forcing Tony McIlveen to ground weakly to Padgett for the third out.

The late rally made the finish one of the most exciting of the season.

Switchgear broke in front with two runs in the first and Soldiers might have tied it up had it not been for some bad base-runnning in their half. As it was they got one run. Switchgear came back with one in the fourth and the Military Training Centre got that one back in their half. Holly Mowry's homer to left with a runner on and two out in the fifth increased the Switchgear lead to 5 to 2 and they added another in the sixth to make it 6-2. The figures remained unchanged until the last of the ninth.

Bert Harrison went the route for the winners, although he weakend badly in the final frame. Soldiers elected to pitch Pete Procyk, and the Winnipeg hurler worked gamely under fire and got out of some tight holes, his own good fielding helping.

Jack Playford in centre field for Switchear was in the limelight with a couple of nice running catches while the hitting of Mowry and Honey Tompkins, each of whom had three blows, featured the winners' attack.

Switchgear wasted no time in breaking into the lead. Padgett walked and Carpenter beat out a bunt. Ashmore rolled to Anderson but Playford laced a double to left, scoring Padgett and Carpenter. Mowry also hit safely but was cut down at second when he tried to steal on the third strike to McCormick.

Soldiers came back with one. Anderson was safe on Nicholls' fumble. Jenner single to right and Anderson was an easy out trying to go to third. Jenner went to second on the play. Mortimer singled to centre, to score Jenner, but was out at second trying to stretch the hit into a double.

The winners opened the fourth with three hits in a row but got only one run. Mowry, McCormick and Tompkins all singled in succession, Mowry scoring. Nicholls however rolled to Procyk, Harrison flied to Anderson and Padgett grounded to the same player.

Soldiers evened that in their half. With two out Junkin singled, Procyk drew a pass and Morgan hit a clothes' line single to left to send the run in.

Procyk opened the Switchgear fifth by walking Carpenter. Then he fanned Ashmore and Playford and looked to be out of the hole but Mowry laced a homer past Nicholls in left field and Carpenter ran home in front of him.

In the sixth singles by Tompkins, Nicholls and Padgett set up the last Switchgear tally.

There was no further scoring until the last of the ninth when Procyk opened the Soldier half with a single to left. Tomlinson batted for Morgan and rolled to Ashmore, Procyk went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Nicholls bounced a single over Tompkins' head, after Herrick had walked. Herrick went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Mowry's throw to stop Nicholls stealing went to centre field. Anderson singled to centre to score Nicholls and the Soldiers were only a run down. Jenner also singled to right but Mortimer lifted a fly to Nicholls and McIlveen rolled to Padgett and the game was over.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

JOINT MEETING

The members of the Scouters' Club and also members of the Peterborough District Boy Scouts Association executive plan to hold a joint meeting at the Scout grounds on Wednesday of this week. Scouter McNabb says arrangments are being made to leave the Scout headquarters at 6 p.m. where cars will be on hand to transport all members to the grounds. Those who cannot be there by 6 o'clock are asked to notify Mr. McNabb and arrangements will be made to pick them up later.

Congratulations

Congratulations are being extended to the Dominion Headquarters for the splendid edition of the Scout Leader received this week. The new changes proposed in Tenderfoot, Second and First Class work is a step forward.

St. Luke's Cubs

The Pack meeting was of short duration last Wednesday, Harold Burns led in the opening Grand Howl, following which Akela gave the details about the coming Cub Camp. The Pack then proceeded to the East City Bowl to take part in the Community Prayer service, being dismissed immediately following the close of the service. Camp Notice—Every Cub is asked to be present on Tuesday for final instructions regarding the camp. Each Cub will be issued with a list of articles he must have for Camp as follows: Supper for Saturday, 1 cup, 1 saucer, 1 plate, 1 each, knife, fork, spoon, 2 blankets, 1 quilt, pyjamas, tooth brush, swimming suit, soap, tooth paste, swimming suit, towel, butter for two meals, sugar for cereal, etc. Balance of food will be provided. The Pack will meet at 2.30 sharp on Saturday, June 17 at the Church.

Sacred Heart Pack

The Pack went travelling east to the banks of the Canal where a lively game of ball took place, then to cap the evening's fun, hot dogs and soft drinks were the order of the night. Inspections were then carried out with Baloo marking attendance and collecting the bones. Practice work on knots, skipping and first aid were taken. Gerald McMurray passing bank savings tests, Tommy McLean and Gerald McMurray were presented with their First Year Service Star. After a short ball game, the meeting came to a close with David Theobald leading the closing grand howl.

At All Saints

As the Pack were called to the Council Rock it was the duty of Bryon Young to lead the opening Grand Howl. In the Six Lairs, the Cubs received instruction from their sixers with the exception of the Senior Sixer Bob Webb and Bryon Young of the Black Six, who took in First Aid from Akela and were afterwards given credit for passing the test.

At St. John's

The Pack: The group welcomed back Raksha Mrs. Baxter who was in town visiting from Ottawa also a new Chum Trevor Hawkins. The meeting was one of games with no instruction. Rain again postponed the arrangments for an open air meeting. A ball throwing relay was played, then, as the rain had lifted the Pack played a game on the lawn. During their absence from the hall, Baloo and Raksha hid candies and the Pack later went on a treasure hunt. At the close of the meeting Clarence James, Bobby Burgess and George Franks passed Ball Throwing.

The Troop—Shortly after the opening the troop was sent out in patrols to secure a variety of leaves and return to the hall and label them all correctly. Plans were also drawn up for the Troop to attend Holy Eucharist on Sunday morning at 8:30.

The Group Committee: The members of the St. John's Group committee met on Friday night with the group Scouters and several items of interest were discussed.

A matter of Cub camp was brought forward and it was decided to hold it the week-end of Saturday July 8. Letters will be mailed to all Cub parents with details. It was decided to approach the Mothers' Auxiliary with the idea of holding a parent banquet at the beginning of the fall meetings.

Chins Up Tea

The last Chins-up Tea for this season will be held by the St. John's Mothers' Auxiliary in the home of Mrs. Cridland, 864 George street on Wednesday, June 14. All Cub and Scout parents are invited to attend.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

If the U.E.W. team wants to get into the playoffs it will have to break into the win column soon and from the Union camp comes the announcement that the outfit hopes to do that very thing tonight when they clash with Plazas for the second time this season at Riverside Park at 7 o'clock. The Union club has been strengthened for this occasion and they declare that they will battle the second-placers all along the line. Plazas, of course, cannot afford to lose, if they desire to hold on to the second slot and they will have a strong lineup in action with Terry Woods probably doing the tossing for them and Eddie Starr handling the receiving. Tomorrow night there should be a battle royal with third place at stake between Soldiers and St. Peter's, both of whom are playing good ball now and may make it interesting for the other clubs come playoff time. The two outfits are battling it out for third slot and both will have their strongest lineups out for the Wednesday night engagement. With the playoffs due to start earlier than usual this season every game from now on will be important and this Soldiers-Saints' clash looks like one of the most closely-fought tilts of the campaign.

* * * * * *

The attraction in the Girls' Softball League at the Ashburnham Bowl tonight is Lock Works vs. Brintons and the two teams should stage an interesting battle. Beryl Lee of Lock Works who pitched for the Brintons last season will probably be stacked up against her old teammates tonight as she is now a member of the Lock Works squad. Tomorrow night will see one of the feature attractions of the season when the two old rivals Westclox and Aircraft will come together for the second time. The Big Bens won the opening game between the two clubs 8 to 5 and have not been beaten since while the only game the Aircraft have lost this season was the opener with Westclox. They can climb up on even terms with the champs by a win tomorrow night while on the other hand Westclox can take a firm grip on first place by grabbing off another victory.. The batteries look like Isobel Bullock and Jean Castle for Westclox and Norma Strickland and Annette DeCarlo for the Aircraft.

A Hole-In-One

If Ed Riley seems to be going around these days with significant signs that his chest is inflated a bit more than usual and his head carried a little higher there is ample ground for these phenomena. Ed is an ardent golfer and if there is one dream that every follower of that game cherishes it is of some day making a hole-in-one. An ace in golf is like a homer with the bases full in baseball or a perfect score in bowling and so there is an explanation of why the well known Kawartha executive and player should be showing signs of chestiness these days. It seems he was having a game at the Kawartha course a few days ago and when he reached the 17th hole drove off from the tee as usual and to his own amazement and that of everybody around the ball never stopped rolling until it had dropped in the hole for a perfect hole-in-one, the first in the Riley career and the first of the current season. The 17th is a 145-yard hole with a par of three.

With baseball's Hall of Fame already well established, and hockey's Shrine ready for candidates, it's only natural that lacrosse men would be turning their attentions to such a structure, writes Bill Gaygnon in the Niagara Falls Review. Therefore, the reports that Pacific Coast men are seriously considering the idea, is not going to create any surprise in Canadian sporting circles. As suggested by Syd Thomas, Canadian Press writer, in discussing the coast report, it will be a repetition of the hockey squabble over what centre is entitled to the dream building. If present activity means a great deal, Vancouver may have an excellent talking point because lacrosse has been more active in the far western province in recent years than in any other Dominion territory. However, as the majority of those making the plaques on such a monument will be of former playing days, possibly places like Montreal, Ottawa, Cornwall, Toronto, Brantford and St. Catharines, would have stronger claims than the B.C. centre. At all events, the agitation has started and it will be interesting watching the reaction in the places that have done much for the gutted stick amusement, and the main objective is to make certain that the project does not fall by the wayside.

Ott Still Swinging

When more home runs are made Mel Ott will make them. The hard-slamming manager of the New York Giants is making a runaway race of the circuit clout race this season and yesterday he went still further in front when he hammered out his 15th and 16th homers of the season to help his club defeat the Dodgers 15 to 9 in a picnic brand score. It was a day of four-masters with six in all driven out of the park during the pastime. Phil Weintraub followed his manager's example and got himself a pair of homers, his 9th and 10th of the year while Frenchie Bordorgay and Mickey Owen hit round-trippers for the Bums. Rookie Bill Voiselle got the credit for winning the game while Brooklyn used a parade of pitchers in trying to curb the hitting proclivities of their neighbors, the Giants.

* * * * * *

In the American League last night the slump of the New York Yanks continued when the Washington Senators bumped them off 4 to 3 in eleven innings, the sixth loss in a row for the New Yorkers. John Niggeling went the route for the winners while Atley Donald relieved Joe Page at the end of the ninth for the Yanks and the loss was chalked up against him. Cleveland nosed out the Detroit Tigers in the other American League game of last night beating the Bengals 6 to 5 in a game in which both clubs dipped freely into its stock of pitchers. The Indians staged a five-run splurge in the fourth and that one big inning was enough to win for them.

The Church League juvenile race, with the regular schedule now completed was about the closest on record. St. Paul's and George Street finished in a tie for first place with four wins and two losses while four other clubs, Trinity, Mark Street, All Saints and Murray Street finished on even terms just a game behind the two leaders. As a result a semi-final series, matching Trinity with Mark Street and All Saints with Murray Street has been arranged. The bantam division saw the first four teams evenly spaced out with a game between each position. St. John's finished first with 7 and 0, George Street second with 6 and 1, St. Andrew's third with 5 and 2 and Knox fourth with 4 and 3. In the semi-finals St. John's will play St. Andrew's and George Street will meet Knox.

Sporting Chili Con Carne:— Mel Ott, Giant manager is rapidly approaching a new record. His home runs yesterday ran his total of extra base blows since he has been in the big show up to 1,001....The league record is 1,011, held by Rogers Hornsby....Toronto Leafs outhit the Syracuse Chiefs last night but it didn't do them much good for Syracuse took the ball game 3 to 2....Soldiers are a much improved team and while they have lost their last games to the leading Switchgear and second-place Plazas the scores were only 6 to 5 and 4 to 2 and the Military Training Centre might quite easily have won one or both of those battles....By playoff time the boys in khaki are likely to be tough opposition especially if the drafts into camp happen to contain a couple of ball players.

Officers Win Four-Mile Cross Country Race

KINGSTON, June 13. — (CP).— The team of cross country runners from the Officers' Training Centre, Brockville, won the finals in a four-mile competition between army units in Military District No. 3.

The event was run on Monday evening in the hilly and wooded Barriefield area, near Kingston, and the starting and finishing points were among the first 17 to finish. Corps Training Centre. Second place was won by the Vimy Signals Training Centre team, and the third, fourth and fifth places by the teams from Barriefield camp, the Peterborough Basic Training Centre, and the Cornwall Basic Training Centre respectively.

While 15 men were entered by each training centre, the placing of the first 12 of each aggregation constituted the score for each team. Ten men from Brockville O.T.C. were among the first 17 to finish.

Cadet Ed Somers, of St. Quentin, N.B., training at the O.T.C. Brockville, was the first to complete the cross country run. Pte. A. J. Leonard of Toronto and Vimy Signals, was placed second, and Cadet Frank Loewen, of Calgary and the O.T.C., third. These three individual winners were presented with inscribed miniature cups.

Elgins Defeats Powerful Hastings Tannery Team

HASTINGS, June 13 (ENS)—In an exciting contest which saw both teams employ the hickory in a lusty fashion, Elgin defeated the Tannery here 22 to 15.

Eldon Preston, hurling for the winhers, was also their star performer. He fanned eleven opposing batters and allowed ten hits. The first, fifth and seventh frames saw the famed Tannery powerhouse set back in order. Preston received excellent support fro mhis mates, especially Jack Preston, who pulled down several long flies in left field.

The game was scoreless until the third frame when the Tannery scored four runs on as many hits. Consecutive singles by Brinklow, Thompson and Calberry accounted for these. Elgin came back with three markers in their half of the third on singles by Eldon Preston, Thistlewaite, Max Scott, and J. Preston. The boys from the northern suburbs of the village tied it up in the next inning on a walk, a single and an error. A fast double play by the Tannery quashed any further scoring.

Tied In Sixth

With the score tied at four apiece going into the sixth, the Tannery scored eight runs. Singles by Brinklow, Calberry, and Blackburne aided by five Elgin errors accounted for the total. Tannery seemed to have the contest sewed up but six Elginites crossed the plate in the seventh frame but were still two runs down. At this junction a dispute arose as to the correct score. The Elgin boys in the last of the eight blasted out nine hits most of them far over the heads of bewildered Tannery fielders. When the barrage ended twelve runs were chalked up and Elgin led the game 2-12. Jack Preston with a long homer which drove in three runs, was the central figure in the batting display. Tannery tried hard in their last appearance at the plate but the best they could do was three runs on two errors, a walk, and a solid single by Bingeman.

Preston Stars

Eldon Preston aided his own cause with four safeties in five official trips to the plate. These included a triple, a double, and a brace of singles which drove in five runs. Alton Thompson, veteran Tannery pitcher, was also their leading clouter with two bingles in four tries. By their win Elgin has moved up to challenge the Juniors, at present on top of the local loop.

Quakers Swamp Lockworks 25-6

Quakers turned the tables on the Lock Works girls with a vengeance in the Girls' Softball League fixture last night when they swamped the Lock Works' outfit 25 to 6.

When the two clubs met last week Quakers set up an early lead, only to have the Locks come to life in the later innings and finally win the pastime 15 to 12.

There was no weakening on the part of the Porridge team last night. They scored in almost every inning and broke the game wide open by registering eight in the third frame and coming right back with five more in the fourth. After that is was just a case of playing out the string.

Gertrude Masters pitched good ball for the winners and got much better support than Beryl Lee who did the tossing for Quakers. The teams:

Quakers—McIver ss; Gandy 2b; Brown rf; Laing 3b; Masters p; McGregor c; Crane cf; Williams lf; O'Heron 1b.

Lock Works—McFarland rf; Barbara McMahon cf; V. Carr ss; Houran 1b; Fallis 1b; Matthews 2b; Betty McMahon 3b; B. Lee p; D. Lee rf.

Walloping the ball for a .345 average, Second-baseman Blas Monaco, lead-off man of the Baltimore Orioles, is being watched closely by major-league scouts but Manager Tom Thomas of the International League leaders has been fighting shy of deals for the slugger because of pennant aspirations. Blas has reached base 101 out of 188 times at bat this season. In a five-game series with Buffalo, Monaco got on base 16 out of 25 times, hit four home runs and drove in nine tallies.

The draft board at Pittsburgh yesterday gave classification 4-F to Pitcher Nick Strincevich of the Pirates because of gastric ulcers. Outfielder Vince DiMaggio was deferred pending X-ray tests when similar symptoms were discovered.

With its annual tournament suspended for the duration, the Women's International Bowling Congress opened its 27th annual meeting yesterday at Indianapolis with nearly 500 delegates attending.

With a divorce action pending in the Detroit court against her husband, Mrs. George J. Moriarty, 33, wife of the former Detroit Tiger manager and major league umpire, yesterday died in a Detroit hospital after reportedly jumping into the Detroit river from the Belle Isle bridge.

Reported killed in action with the invasion forces in Normandy, June 7, Lieut. Robert Edmind Dorsey of Hamilton won the All-round Athletic Championship Trophy in his graduation year at McMaster University. He had held the Hamilton District Badminton singles trophy for several years.

Orioles Blast Montreal Team

(By The Associated Press)

Baltimore was on top in the torrid International League baseball race today. The Orioles moved into first place by blasting out a 12-5 victory over Montreal last night while Buffalo blanked Jersey City, 3-0.

Sparked by Pat Riley, with four for four, and Howie Moss, who drove in five runs with two homers and a single, Baltimore walloped four Montreal pitchers for 13 hits. The Royals got 12 hits off Rolland Van Slate and Frank Rochevot, but left 13 runners stranded.

The veteran Mike Roscoe turned in the shutout for Buffalo, limiting Jersey City to six hits. The Bisons scored all their three runs off Bob Barthelson, 19-year-old twirler.

Syracuse nosed out Toronto, 3-2. Herb Moore's fourth-inning single drove in Len Rice with what proved the winning run. Toronto's Dave Lambton yielded only six hits, but the Chiefs made the most of their scoring opportunities.

Rochester and Newark had an open date.

Senators Clip Yankees For 4-3 Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

The world-champion New York Yankees got biffed on the nose again last night and nose-dived into sixth place in the American League, the first time in years the Yanks have been in the second division this late in the season.

When Jake Powell singled in the 11th inning to give Washington a 4-3 victory it marked the Yankees' sixth straight defeat and their 12th setback in the last 14 games.

The regulation game had ended in a 1-1 deadlock and it appeared that the Yanks were in when they scored twice in the 10th. But the Senators tied it up again their half and proceeded to tag relief pitcher Atley Donald for the winning run in the 11th.

In another American League night game Cleveland nicked Detroit, 6-5, mainly on the strength of a five-run uprising in the fourth. Mickey Rocco and Oris Hockett drove in four of the five tallies in this frame, each delivering a two-run single.

New York Giants spotted Brooklyn four runs in the first inning then came from behind to wallop the Dodgers, 15-9, in the only National League game scheduled. Manager Mel Ott and First Baseman Phil Weintraub each socked two homers for the winners.

Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns were tied, 1-1, after 2½ innings when rain forced a postponement. Other clubs in both circuits had an open date.

Dufferin Race Weights Are Announced

TORONTO, June 13 — Weights were announced yesterday for the running of the Dufferin Handicap, a $3,000-added race to be run Wednesday at Dufferin Park. Shepperton has been allotted 141, a single pound less than he was given for the Little Saratoga Handicap, which he did not start in.

Shepperton is a doubtful starter in this race, which means W. E. MacDonald's stout-hearted Canadian-bred Tulachmore will be top weight with 120. Sweepgold, Grandpal, Florizan Sam, Sovia, Jacless, Mr. Infinity and many others are named to start in this 1 1-16 miles features. Bon Jour has been also allotted weight but the horse is on his way to Delaware Park.

Schelke has nominated Shepperton for five handicaps at Garden City.

The nominations and weights are: Shepperton 141, Tulachmore 120, Bon Jour 115, Sweepgold 114, Jacless 114, Sovia 113, Florizan Sam 112, Mr. Infinity 110, Attrisius 110, Amber Tint 108, Airpan 107 Ompalo 107, Acara 106, Sayonara 106 and T-Chum 104.

Bowling Entries Show Big Gains

TORONTO, June 13—(CP)—W. J. Stewart, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Provincial Lawn Bowling Association, said today rink entries for the Association's official tournament in Toronto Aug. 14-18 are considerably ahead of last year. Entries close Aug. 9.

Among early entries are R. M. Sands and H. W Baker of Port Colborne, E. D. Kelly of Dunville, E. Bickle of Windsor, and D. E. Kelly of Buffalo.

The Sports Round-Up
By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—After a quick canvass, Dan Ferris had to split his vote between the sprints and the 400-metres when called upon to name the best event in the national A.A.U. track meet next week-end.....The sprint field includes Charley Parker, the Texas kid who is so good that one local sprinter who has seen him doesn't think he can be beaten; Illinois' Claude Keystone (Buddy) Young, Ed Conwell, Barney Ewell and Herb Thompson. ....The 400 will have defending champion Cliff Bourland; Elmore Harris of Morgan State, a sensation in the N.C.A.A. meet, Johnny Fulton, Herb McKenley and John Yeager, the Louisiana State boy who his coach, Bernie Moore, says is capable of a 47-second quarter....Best yet, in our opinion, is that Ross and Bob Hume won't run their 10th consecutive dead heat in the 1,500 metres.

Up and down:

It seems that Adam Walsh, the old Notre Dame "Mule" who coaches the Bowdoin football team and fights fires in his spare time, was battling flames on the roof of a Brunswick, Maine, hotel not long ago when some one hollered: "Phone call for you, Adam."....Walsh climbed down the ladder to receive a call from Notre Dame's president, asking him to return as assistant coach....Adam, who coincidentally had received similar bids from Columbia, Dartmouth, Colgate and Bates that same day, merely declined with thanks and went back to his fire fighting.

Tucker Boosts Batting Quota

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—Thurman Tucker, slugging centrefielder for Chicago White Sox, fattened his batting average 15 points during the past week and now is in a position to make a strong bid for the crown of best batter in the major leagues which is being worn by Dixie Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Tucker's spurt lifted him to .398 in the same period, Walker's aggregate skidded 10 points to .416.

Walker's decline also has brought him opposition from within the National League. Stan Musial, St. Louis speedster and the circuit's leading swatsmith a year ago, zoomed from .348 a week ago to .369. Today's tabulation includes games of yesterday.

Phil Weintraub, New York Giant firstbaseman, was ninth a week ago with .316 but his slugging of the past seven days has lifted his season's total to .343 and third place.

Oris Hockett, who swings the big bat for Cleveland Indians, increased his American League total eight points during the week but his runnerup .361 is dwarfed by the accomplishments of Tucker.

Driver Is Fined $15 For Using Marked Gas

LINDSAY, June 13 (ENS) — Roy Knight of Gooderham paid fines of $15 each on two charges of infractions of W.T.P.B. regulations in driving a car without a gasoline coupon book and for using marked gasoline. The young man stated that he tried to obtain a proper ration book after purchasing a car but did not receive one from the oil controller's office. "I only used marked gasoline to start my car, then used kerosene," he said.

Canadian Sport Snapshots
By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 13 — (CP). — The girls on the West Coast are all in a dither over a suggestion or proposal to hold a Dominion play-off for the female fastball (that's swank for softball) championship. The suggestion hasn't got beyond the talk stage yet, but there are signs it is receiving favorable consideration, at least, in some quarters.

The Ontario softball body has always had a soft spot for a national playoff, and attempts were made to promote one back in 1937. It fell through that time because of lack of interest, not to mention financial and transportation difficulties. Now that Vancouver is sold on the idea, some action might be stirred up if the girls go at things the right way.

Girls' softball is flying high all through the west and it should not be difficult to promote some keen intersectional play leading to the national finals.

Grounds for suicide:

Doug (Windsor Star) Vaughan tells about a pal of his who had a harrowing experience at the Detroit race track. He picked himself a "sure thing" and bet heavily on it. Then a friend gave him a hot tip, so he bet that one to place, and finally he placed a wager on a nag recommended by another friend, betting it to show. So what happened? The horse he picked to show, won the race; his choice as winner came in second; and his place choice lammed home fourth to the accompaniment of much finger-chawing.

Incidentally:

Flight Sergt. Gordie Ross, former Western hockey and football star, and later sportscaster of no mean ability, has been discharged by the R.C.A.F......Jockey Emil Roy doffed his racing silks just a few days after the Calgary spring race meeting ended. He's wearing the Johnny Canuck colors now—solid khaki.....The youngsters are getting lots of breaks in Calgary. The Buffalo Athletic Association, that provided a sporting park and recreation centre, is sponsoring a Pee Wee Baseball League now.

Canadian Cities Need Re-development

MONTREAL, June 13 — (CP) — Harold S. Buttenheim of New York, editor of the American city magazine, said here today "it would be tragic indeed if we were to assume that the present conflict necessarily proves that our cities must spend collectively billions of dollars to reduce their vulnerability to future warfare from the air."

In an address prepared for the delivery at the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, Mr. Buttenheim said that although "city rebuilding in Canada and the United States may lack the immediate urgency that confronts many an English community," there should be town restoration and re-development.

Mr. Buttenheim described the post-war city that "might be and must be" as one with:

A safe and ample water supply; recreational use of water fronts; sanitary disposal of domestic and industrial wastes; streets and highways that are well-designed, well-lighted and well-maintained, ample facilities for air transport; fire and police departments properly trained and equipped: plenty of parks, parkways, playgrounds and swimming pools; fine schools with able teachers; well- planned real-subdivisions; a "rational system of real estate taxation; an able and well-financed city planning commission.

Sunday School Has Anniversary

HAVELOCK, June 13—(ENS). — The anniversary of the Sunday School of the United Church was observed at morning and evening services on Sunday. A combination service of the Sunday School and church was held at 11 a.m. when Rev. George Kelly of Lakefield was guest speaker. Taking for his text "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do with thy might," he laid special emphasis on the manner in which the boys and girls serving in the armed forces are doing their bit in defence of King and Country. Music was provided by the choir—a duet "I belong to the King" by Stella Wilkinson and Helen Anderson, a quartette Mrs. S. Southward, Miss Dora Ketchen, Everard Chiles and W. Platt sang "It Is Well," and the anthem by the choir "Praise the Lord Divine."

At the evening service the pastor Rev. J. W. Wilkinson took the service. The anthem by the choir "O Lift Your Eyes," the quartette "Lead Me On," a duet "To the End of the World" added much to the musical part of the service. The offerings taken during the day are to be used for some alterations and redecorating the Sunday School rooms.

Plane Flown To Base

NORWOOD, June 13— (ENS).— The plane which had an emergency landing on the Webster farm was taken to Trenton on Monday afternoon by a test pilot. The plane has been guarded since it made a forced landing a week ago Saturday. It was repaired some days ago, but the wind had to be in the right direction to permit the take-off.

Board Searching For 2 Principals

HAVELOCK, June 13.—(ENS).— The business of the regular and two special meetings of the school board was completed on Monday night, and dealt mostly with the hiring of a principal for each of the High and Public schools and two assistant teachers in the Public school.

Chairman Smith presided, with Trustees Wilde, Sarginson, Matheson, Sayers and Southward present. In the correspondence was a letter from the Unemployment Insurance Co. with an advertisement for a school caretaker, as approved by the Selective Service Board, and on motion by Trustees Matheson and Wilde, it will appear for two weeks in the Havelock Standard. A notice from the Department of Education stated the hours per week to be allowed for the teaching of physical education and health education. Diplomas for High school students are to be forwarded to the secretary for delivery. A request for an increase in salary by the assistant High school teachers was not approved at present, although the secretary is to write a letter explaining that the Board appreciated their efforts, they were inexperienced teachers, and the results of their work not yet known.

The secretary was asked to communicate as soon as possible with the former applicants for the vacancies on the staff: High school principal A. C. Reid of Odessa, at a salary of $2,200; Public school principal, W. M. Patterson of Wolfe Island at $1,500; Miss Joyce Fielding of Ashton for Grade 2 and 3, and Mrs. Charles Couch of Peterborough for the primary room.

On a motion by Trustees Sayers and Wilde it was decided that the school board be called together on the opening day of school, to get acquainted with the new teachers and have a clearer understanding of their duties.

The Property committee is to attend to some plastering in the upper school room and arrange for thorough cleaning of the school during vacation.

The following accounts were ordered paid: Teachers', secretary and caretaker's salary $1,150.38; John Leak, trucking ashes, $10; Havelock Standard, $1.50; Canada Accident Insurance Co., $8; Globe and Mail advertising, $6.67.

Plainville News

The June meeting of the Plainville W.M.S. and W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs T. S. McKinley.

Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Blizzard, Teddy and Connie of Douglas, Ont., are spending their vacation with Mrs. Blizzard's parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cole, and with Mr. Blizzard's family at Baltimore.

Major Fred Lander, son of Mrs. W. Lander of Plainville, was among officers in charge of landing troops in France during the invasion.

Mr. Kenneth Curtis, who has been ill in the Cobourg Hospital is at home again, although he will be confined to bed for some time yet.

JUDGE REBELS—Judge Will F. Jordan of Pana, Ill., tired of the male attire of women who appear in his court and on the streets of the town, wears a dress and a woman's "monkey hat" throughout Pana and in his court for one day, on the theory that when townswomen see how silly he looks, they will know just how they look in men's attire.

Single-handed Soldier Captures 27

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, June 13—(CP-Cable)— Cpl. Johnny Tod of St. Vital, Man., is a Royal Canadian Army Service Corps clerk at a brigade headquarters and his job generally involves hammering a typewriter rather than firing a rifle.

But sturdy Johnny single-handed captured 27 Germans in a trench.

This is how it happened: The formation moved forward as the attack from the beachhead went on and headquarters moved up to set up shop. There were pockets of the enemy around and headquarters' personnel helped to clear a reasonable perimeter around the camp.

Tod was on lone patrol armed with a rifle. He walked down a deep enemy trench, and coming around a turn almost bumped into a group of armed Germans. But he thought quickly and shouting, "Come on up men," as though he had a whole battalion behind him, walked up to the enemy.

They put up their hands, and as others came along the trench they did the same. The Canadian corporal disarmed them all and marched them into an infantry outfit nearby. Then he went back to the trench and dugouts and helped himself to everything that touched his fancy.

He came back to headquarters riding a bicycle and pulling a small trailer loaded with lugers, a radio, a camera, a pair of field glasses. In his mouth he had a briar pipe.

Car Upsets In Ditch Pins Driver Beneath

BENSFORT, June 13 (ENS)—Jack Nurse, while motoring down the Benfort church hill recently, had the steering wheel come apart, forcing his car to the ditch.

Immediately the car turned over and the driver was pinned underneath. He had his collar bone broken, two ribs cracked and was suffering from shock and bruises. However, he managed to free himself and walked to H. Moncrief's.

Dr. Russell of Bailieboro was in attendance and later took him to the Peterborough clinic where X-rays showed the extent of the injuries.

Personal

It was decided at the June meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliaries to discontinue their meetings for July and August.

His RHEUMATIC PAIN disappeared years ago

Many men and women, at the approach of their forties start to have various aches and pains which are attributed to "middle age". But not Mr. and Mrs. Patrick. They have enjoyed good health for 20 years. Mrs. Patrick writes:—

"For the past twenty years we have always taken a small dose of Kruschen in our early morning cup of tea — we never miss, not even on a holiday. My husband and I both largely owe our extremely good health to this treatment, and we are never afraid to say so. My husband, although 55 years of age, feels and looks no more than 45. He is a picture of health. Before he started with Kruschen, he suffered with rheumatic pain in his arm, but though this disappeared years ago, he will not give up his Kruschen."
—(Mrs.) L. C. Patrick.

Kruschen is a combination of natural salts which stimulate your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. Kruschen helps ensure internal cleanliness, and to keep the blood-stream pure.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable of all Drug Stores. 25c and 75c.

Just at the crucial point of a movie—they start to tear the paper off a candy bar—and the love scene sounds like a forest fire. Such nervous people should do something about it!

FINGER DRUMMERS

Those disturbers of the peace. They can't listen to anybody talk without drumming out a tattoo on the chair arm with their nervous fingers. Maybe they're people who drink tea or coffee when they shouldn't. Maybe caffein is affecting their nerves.

FOOT TAPPERS

The least little delay—perhaps unavoidable delay—starts them tapping out their irritation. Often they grumble at an innocent salesclerk or street-car conductor or stenographer. Can tea or coffee be to blame? Would Postum help?

HAPPY POSTUM DRINKERS

People should find out what causes nervousness or sleeplessness. Very often it's as simple a thing as tea or coffee. Tea and coffee make many people nervous, even though others can drink them without ill effect.

If tea or coffee affects you—switch to POSTUM. It is caffein-free, stimulant-free. It can't set your nerves on edge.

Postum has a robust, hearty flavor all its own. Economical—costs less than a cent a cup. Convenient—Instant Postum is made right in the cup just by adding boiling water or hot milk. Your grocer has Postum.

DIRECT ACTION TO HOLD PRICES

When prices were frozen in Canada two and a half years ago the W.P.T.B. realized that a negative policy was not enough. Active steps were taken to secure supplies of raw material and help Industry to reduce production costs. We are benefiting now from that foresighted policy.

An all-time record in the city of 124 blood donors was made at the Clinic Monday. The unprecedented response was partly accounted for by the Invasion and party because the Clinic will be closed during July while facilities of the Connaught Laboratories are being reorganized. Forty-eight donors came from the C.G.E. and Genelco, and other plant workers were from the Quaker Oats Co., Dominion Woollens, Canada Packers, Nashua Paper Co., and the Westclox. A group of ten was in from Young's Point; other fair-sized groups came from Havelock and Campbellford; and Douro, Lakefield, Indian River and Kaladar were also represented.

Junior Welfare Lague Members Review Year's Activities

Excellent accounts of the large amount of work accomplished during the year in war charities and local welfare work, were given at the annual meeting of the Junior Welfare League, Monday evening. Donations to war charities, from funds raised by the league, included: $100 to the British War Victims' Fund; $100 to the Milk For Britain Fund; $10 to the Peterborough Corvette Fund; $25 to the Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund; and $50 to the Red Cross and Community Chest.

In addition, cigarettes were sent at intervals to Capt. R. T. F. Brain, for distribution to men from this district. Two layettes were given to the Red Cross for shipment overseas, and 96 pounds of honey were also given to the Red Cross, to be sent overseas. A bail of clothing was prepared for Greek Relief, and relatives of members of the league were sent boxes of candy at Christmas.

Local welfare work was continued at its high standard, in addition to the war charities. Donations of milk, cod liver oil, baby food, layettes, knitted garments and other types of used clothing were made. Christmas gifts were sent to children at the Shelter, as well as to children of families in which the league is interested. Other donations to the Shelter included a crib and mattress, and the monthly treat of ice cream and doughnuts, in addition to toys, books, shoes, curtains, and other articles, from members. At a recent business meeting, members voted in favor of purchasing an incubator for use in Nicholls Hospital, at an approximate cost of $165.

Conveners reports were given by the following; Knitting, Mrs. Terrence Hall; Children's Shelter, Mrs. Keith Lech; Well Baby Clinic, Mrs. Lionel Sorby; sewing, Mrs. L. McKeever; visiting, Mrs. J. A. Dewart, Mrs. Hubert Eastwood read the treasurer's report, and Mrs. William Gordon gave the secretary's annual report. Plans for the fourth annual Thrift Shop, to be held in the autumn, were discussed.

Members of the League met at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club for a buffet supper, and later adjourned to Mrs. R. R. Fryon's home, River Road, for the business meeting. The hostess served refreshments at the close of the business period. Mrs. D. A. MacTavish presided.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, June 14

THE AUGURIES are excellent for a lively, productive and enterprising day even though these are to be rescued from some manner of chaotic, baffling and frustrating circumstances of a stubborn nature. However, the calm marshalling of the energies, sound judgment, practical tactics and swift moves should combine to overcome snares and obstacles, and produce surprising benefits of substantial and enduring worth. But work with attention to ways and means and not under snap impulses or high nervous tension. Personal and business affairs call for composure. Literary, public and community interests should bring honors.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a prosperous, happy and lively year with happiness, good progress and enduring benefits, depending upon shrewdness, practicality, keen insight and sound judgment, supported by quick grasp of peculiar situations or subtleties, which circumvented should produce quite surprising results. Sagacity, alertness and diligence should win, but under calm and systematic moves and not under tension or variable moodiness. Literary matters and new contracts as well as travel are indicated. All work in public welfare should bring rewards of real worth.

A child born on this day should have much energy, enterprise and ingenuity for overcoming obstacles, inhibitions and subtle snares, attaining success, and happiness, possibly some token of public esteem. Literary ability is shown.

The Canadian General Electric Co. and Genelco Ltd. are anxious to get the names and ages of all children of employees who are now in the Armed Forces for their Annual Employees' picnic. Anyone knowing of any such children kindly get in touch with Miss Gwen Burgess at the gatehouse of the plant. Phone 3501.

KILLED IN FRANCE — Pte. Joseph Thomas Heffernan is the first Peterborough soldier to be reported as an invasion casualty. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Heffernan, 438 Driscoll Terrace, were notified that he was killed June 7.

Pte. J. Heffernan First Soldier Killed In France

Fighting on the beaches of Normandy, presumably on the second day of Allied invasion, brought the sad news of the death of their son, Pte. Joseph Thomas Heffernan, to Mr. and Mrs. James Heffernan, 438 Driscoll terrace, Monday night. Twenty-two years of age, Pte. Heffernan, an infantryman, is the first Canadian Army casualty from Peterborough to be reported from the battle in France.

A telegram from the War Department informed the parents of the boy of their loss. Though it only stated the date of his death in action, June 7, and did not mention the theatre of warfare, there was little doubt that Pte. Heffernan was among the gallant group of Canadian seaborne troops that stormed the approaches of the Atlantic wall one week ago. As late as May 24 he had written a letter to his mother postmarked from England.

Born and educated in Otonabee, where his family lived before moving into the city five years ago, Pte. Heffernan enlisted in the Army April 15, 1943, and was at first attached to the Tank Corps. In the fall of last year he was transferred to the infantry. Here in Canada he had taken his training at Cornwall, Aldershot, N.S., and Halifax. Before going into the Army, he worked for nearly a year with the Quaker Oats in the shipping department.

Besides his parents, the soldier is survived by three sisters and a brother. They are Mrs. D. Monahan of Toronto, Mrs. William Condon of Peterborough, and Harold and Joan Heffernan at home.

Capt. J. E. Lean Dies In Norwood

NORWOOD, June 13 (ENS) — Capt. James Erwin Lean, dropped dead Monday at the home of Mrs. W. Simpson, Queen street, where he was boarding.

Although he had been suffering from a heart condition for some time, he was apparently feeling all right when he came downstairs for breakast. A short time later he fell, and died before the doctor arrived. He was 53 years old.

A veteran of the last war, Capt. Lane went to the Peace River district following his discharge and taught school and farmed for 21 years. For the past two years he has been residing here. Interested in Norwood activities, the late Capt. Lean organized the school fair which is to be held this fall and the Calf Club. He had also made several applications for a job as teacher for the fall term.

Surviving are his father, Joseph Lean of Camborne, four sisters and five brothers, of whom Melville Lean, Trent River storekeeper, is one.

The funeral will be held from the home of his sister, Mrs. Mervin Grieve, Camborne, Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. The Veterans are arranging a semi-military funeral.

Corporal C. Huard Wounded in Battle

Cpl. Clair Huard, who enlisted in Peterborough in 1940, has been wounded with the Third Division fighting in France. He is suffering from a lacerated right hand.

Cpl. Huard is a brother of Mrs. Leonard Collins, Edison Avenue, and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Huard. Three of his brothers, Joseph, Cyril and William, are also serving overseas. Before enlisting, he worked in Guerin's grocery store and attended St. Peter's School.

Stores To Close Monday, July 3

Peterborough Business Men's Association decided last night to observe the Dominion Day holiday on Monday, July 3.

Although July 1 is on Saturday, the merchants are remaining open for business that day, but will keep their doors locked on the following Monday.

It was stated last night that for some time sentiment has been inclined to the Monday and that the C.G.E. Social Club's annual picnic was arranged for that day.

The association elected the following directors, who in turn appoint the officers for this year:

Fred Cripps, Herb Routley, William Moorhead, Ken Currie, Vern Selkirk, J. S. Boyd, Myer Cherney, J. A. Jebson, Ernest C. Braund, J. G. Lewis, Ed. Riley, I. H. Keefer, S. S. Heard, Ron Knox, D. J. Fitzgerald and Myer Levine.

City Clerk Outram commented to the Examiner today that local expectations of the Monday observance of Dominion Day had been influenced by an Order in Council designating as the public holiday the Monday nearest to the date, in this instance July 3. Announcement yesterday from Ottawa transferred official celebration to Saturday, July 1.

In the meantime the Peterborough Bowling Club, the C.G.E. Athletic Club and some other groups had made arrangements for the Monday holiday, and further action in that direction was taken Monday night by the Business Men's Association.

"I cannot speak for the city council, but in view of these arrangements it is likely that the council at its meeting next Monday night will authorize Mayor Hamilton to declare Monday, July 3, a public holiday," Mr. Outram said.

Restaurant Owner Increased Prices

Nick Douros, restaurant proprietor was fined $50 and costs in police court Monday afternoon after he had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of having charged prices higher than the ceiling prices set forth by the war time prices and trade degulations.

Ross Payne, inspector for the board, gave evidence, mentioning about ten items on the menu that he said had been raised in price above the ceiling.

Stating that the penalty in the last similar case had been made $30 and that he had given warning at that time that the fine would be stepped up in future cases, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., made the fine $50.

D. H. Chisholm of Port Hope prosecuted the case for the War Time Prices and Trade Board and W. C. Grant was defence counsel.

Peterborough Men Warned To Watch Socks Girls Are Using Then Now As Headgear

This is a warning to all males: Watch your socks!

It seems that girls are now putting up their hair with men's socks —socks snatched from husbands, brothers and fathers. The members of the fair sex wind a piece of hair around the middle of the sock in the "putting-up-in-rags" manner, and let the toe and heel dangle.

This new fad is supposed to be the quickest manner yet discovered and the "spongy" quality of the average male's sock makes it much better than the rag technique.

This method, started in the United States has been tried out in Peterborough with what has been termed fair success.

Peterboro Lions Name Officers

Jack Armitage was elected president of the Peterborough Lions Club at the annual election of officers held Monday evening. He is at present deputy-district governor of Lions Clubs in this section of Ontario, and has been active in the local club for several years.

The complete slate of officers is as follows: Pres., J. E. Armitage; 1st Vice, Arnold Deyell; 2nd Vice, Frank Edgar; 3rd Vice, Bruce Sargent; one year directors, Joe Sharp and P. D. Scollard; Secretary, Walter Smook; Treasurer, Frank Woolley; 2 Year Directors, Jim Burns and W. R. McInigan; Lion Tamer, Hurrell Dodds; and Tail Twister, Simpson Gledhill. Jim Dutton, Jr., Immediate Past President, presided for the election of officers.

Work on the swimming pool and playground under the Hunter street bridge near Riverside Park is progressing favorably, and the project should be opened by July 1. The annual Lions Carnival will be held this year July 27-28-29 at the Ashburnham Bowl, and carnival draw tickets are now on sale.

Liable To Callup Man Given Militia

John Ward who pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of not having notified the divisional registrar of a change of address although he was a person liable to military callup was turned over to the R.C.M.P. to be taken to the nearest military training centre, after suspended sentence had been imposed in police court this morning.

Corp. Karl M. Lockwood of the Cobourg detachment of the R.C.M.P. made the application to the court to have the accused given over to the police to be taken to the military authorities.

"I suppose that is really what is wanted" remarked Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., "and you will be satisfied with a suspended sentence so far as this charge is concerned."

Max Tully, 639 Chamberlain street, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge, and as he admitted a previous conviction was treated as a second offender and fined $50 and costs.

Roy Wright, Louis street, charged with vagrancy, was remanded until tomorrow morning for trial. He did not seem to understand the charge when it was read to him today.

A SUPER DUCKING

One of the mechanics down at the Duffus garage will remember invasion week, not because of the war, but because he received an unlooked for shower bath. He was lying prone in a mechanic's dollie under a car on Water street in front of the garage making repairs to the car when the street flusher came along. The man in the flusher couldn't see the mechanic and the latter was too busy to notice the flusher." Flusher is right, said the soaked mechanic, it flushed me right into the gutter". McG.

$1,000 Is Voted Town Planning By City Council

A request to the council to place $1,000 at the disposal of the special committee on city planning was adopted at a recent meeting of the committee on Alderman Curtis' motion, seconded by Alderman Swanston. Payments for any necessary expenditures are to be made on the certificate of the chairman, Alderman Dutton.

The committee decided to meet once a month, and set the following limits of the area to be considered in the proposed planning:— north boundary, lying parallel to the city limits, including the new subdivision adjoining Highway 7A; eastern: Trent Canal and Otonabee River; southern: Otonabee River to the intersection of Monaghan Road; western: semi-circular from the southern boundary to include the Kawartha Golf Club area at the Jackson Park western boundary.

Plans are to be made for a period of five to ten years. A resolution by A. J. Girdwood, seconded by Gordon Monkman, arranged for traffic counts to be taken with the assistance of Boy Scouts and the Air and Sea Cadets co-operating in the work, and that the members of the traffic committee be: Messrs. A. G. Northover, Gordon Monkman and Ronald J. McGrath.

A motion by Mr. Monkman and Mr. Girdwood provided for the obtaining of the services of "outside draftsmen" when required.

The following resolution by R. L. Dobbin and Alderman Swanston was also adopted: "That to insure the planning committee a working status authority should be provided the committee by the city council that all classes of matters which may be affected by long term planning consideration be referred to planning committee before they are finally accepted, examples of such long term planning being: layouts of streets; new subdivisions; location of new public buildings; semi-public improvements upon which public action is necessary; all expenditures of funds for capital expenditures; zoning: all these being to assist the committee in its function of co-ordinating and advising civic authorities on the broad question of civic development.

A resolution by Mayor Hamilton and Alderman Swanston appointed the following committee to study population: Alderman Curtis, J. H. Eastwood, A. J. Girdwood and W. R. L. Blackwell, "to study and assemble population data, playgrounds and parks."

The meeting brought together the city council's special committee and its special advisory committee. Those present were Alderman Dutton, presiding, Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen Curtis, Swanston and Sands;; Messrs, R. H. Parsons, Gordon Monkman, J. H. Eastwood, A. G. Northover, A. J. Girdwood, R. L. Dobbin, J. W. Pierce, W. R. L. Blackwell.

Mountie Is Asked To Address Police

At is regular meeting held Monday afternoon the board of police commissioners decided to invite Corp. Karl M. Lockwood of the Cobourg detachment of the R.C.M.P. to talk to the members of the local police department on police work.

Corp. Lockwood has just returned from a course at the R.C.M.P. school at Regina, and the suggestion that he should be asked to give the Peterborough department the benefit of what he had learned there was originally made by Mayor Hamilton, who was an absentee from Monday's meeting.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., has been giving the police several lectures on their work and on motion of Magistrate E. A. Gee, seconded by Judge S. L. Smoke, the commission decided to thank him for his services in that respect.

City Clerk E. A. Outram reported that he had received a petition from the grocers of the city asking for a by-law compelling all groceries to close at 7 o'clock on Saturday and the Acting Chief Constable was instructed to have a list of the grocers and their addresses prepared.

Judgment Reserved In Employment Case

Judgment was reserved in Police Court this morning by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in a charge against Joseph Secco of having terminated his employment with the Canadian Raybestos Company without giving the proper notice.

W. F. Huycke prosecuted the case for the Selective Service, and called a number of witnesses, including officials of the Raybestos Company.

Mr. Bradshaw did not call any evidence, and in his argument contended that Secco had done everything the indictment charged with not doing

Magistrate Langley, announcing that he wanted to read over the regulations thoroughly, reserved judgment in the case for a week.

DOCTORS ON CALL

The Peterborough Doctors are observing Wednesday Afternoon as a Half-Holiday throughout the year. Those on call on Wednesday Afternoon and Evening of this week are: Dr. Yelland, Dr. Gordon, Dr. Moffat, Dr. Howson.

REPORTED INJURED — Pilot Officer Dean Kelly of the R.C.A.F., son of Mrs. Kelly of North Monaghan and the late T. N. D. Kelly, is reported seriously injured overseas. He joined the Air Force in January, 1941, and has seen vast areas of Europe from the sky. He was with the celebrated "602" R.A.F. squadron of which "Paddy" Finucane was the leader, and then later was sent to the Mediterranean and the later defence of Malta.

PO. Dean Kelly Suffers Serious Injury

After more than three years of jousts with the hazards of the air and its winged warfare, Pilot Officer Dean Kelly, son of Mrs. T. N. D. Kelly of North Monaghan, is reported seriously injured in action, presumably over Europe.

Pilot Officer Kelly was home on a furlough last January, and on that occasion recalled to The Examiner some of his experiences, especially over Malta and the Mediterranean where he was officially credited with one enemy plane.

Enlisting in Toronto in January, 1941, he received his wings at Dunnville in October of that year, and fifteen days later was on his way overseas. In England he was assigned to an advanced phase of flying, mastered the Spitfire, and for a while was an instructor in the Bournemouth area.

For seven weeks he was with the famous R.A.F. squadron "602" of which the late "Paddy" Finucane was the leader.

Pilot Officer Kelly recalled that he arrived at Malta the day after George Beurling was shot down into the sea and was rescued with only a minor injury to one foot.

The information reaching his mother today was only a brief announcement that he had suffered serious injury. All his friends will be hoping for his recovery. Dean Kelly is a tall, rangy youth like most of the Bridgenorth Kelly men, with an appealing smile and an attractive disposition that seems to be a magnet of friendship.

Pte. Chas. Sharpe Wounded June 6

Mrs. Isabel E. Sharpe, R.R. 4, Peterborough, Smith Township, has been notified that her husband, Pte. William Charles Sharpe, of the Third Canadian Division, was wounded in action on Tuesday, June 6, the day the Allied invasion of France began.

The official telegram from Ottawa informed Mrs. Sharpe that the details of the extent of her husband's injuries were not yet available.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sharpe, 693 George Street, Pte. Sharpe enlisted in Peterborough four years ago this month in an Eastern Ontario unit. His immediate family consists of his wife and a little daughter, born after her father went overseas, and whom he has not seen.

Four Injured In Traffic Crash

Four persons were hurt in an accident involving three motor vehicles, near the corner of George and Dalhousie streets Monday evening.

John Corkery, R.R. 8, Peterborough, was driving his car south on George street and just south of Dalhousie street his engine stalled.

Everett Weaver, 608 Young street, was following behind the Corkery car, driving a McLeod roofing truck and when he pulled up suddenly to avoid hitting the vehicle in front. The car, driven by his wife, also travelling south, ran into the rear of the truck.

Mrs. Weaver sustained a bump on her forehead, Mrs. William Martin, 607 Young street, an injured wrist, Mrs. Ward Martin, same address, a cut on the forehead and abrasions on the hands and Arthur Nicholls, Fenelon Falls, a cut on the forehead. The last three were passengers in the Weaver car. All three vehicles were damaged in the mixup.

City Trust To Discuss Surplus Funds Report

A joint meeting of the City Trust Commission and the finance committee of the council is slated for Thursday at 4 p.m. "to discuss the City Auditor Humpage's report regarding the Commission's surplus funds."

It is understood that Mr. Humpage has prepared a survey of the City Trust's financial position, and that his statement will be the subject of a friendly discussion in the light of the needs of the Commission in relation to the council's present financing and probably future projects.

Alderman Ovens mentioned this question prior to the municipal elections January 1 last, and recommended that because the city finances were in a sound position some consideration should be given to the possibility of improving further the assistance received from the Commission by virtue of their accumulating surplus.

Paper Salvage Totals 16 Tons

Slightly over 16 tons of paper salvage, 32,050 pounds, was collected by the salvage truck of the Peterborough Women's War Services Committee operating in all districts of the city between Tuesday and Friday of last week. The collection represented a better result than in either of the two previous drives.

At least as much more, in the opinion of the dealer handling the collections, Frank Petersiel, was picked up by school children for their collection from the salvage piles left at city curbs by householders and merchants. He estimated that the business district had made a very improved showing in its contribution to the cause, though by the nature of things, its bulkier scrap consisting largely of boxes and the like does not bring the weight in salvage supplied by smaller bundles of newspapers and magazines.

As announced by the committee, salvage collections have now been put on a regular monthly basis, and the first complete Tuesday to Friday period in each month will henceforth be collection days in the city's paper drives.

To Observe July 1 As Dominion Day

OTTAWA, June 13 — (CP). — The State Secretary's Department reporting a number of queries from across Canada about the date upon which Dominion Day will be celebrated, said yesterday that Canada's national holiday will be observed as always—on July 1. Dominion Day is one of the six wartime statutory holidays.

The Department explained that early last year it was decided to celebrate the holiday on the first Monday in July, but several weeks before the date arrived an Order-in-Council was passed reinstating Jul 1 as the observance date.

However, a number of calendars for 1944 had been printed with the holiday shown on July 3, the first Monday in July.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LEARN BRIDGE FAST
20—Leads at a Suit

AGAINST a suit contract, the opening leader has a purpose which is different from that of his usual lead against a No Trump contract. Instead of trying to establish the little cards of his long suit—which probably will only be trumped by the declarer or the dummy—he concentrates more on taking the maximum number of tricks with his side's high cards. Consequently he bases his choice of suit more on the top cards in it than on its length.

This causes a player to classify his holdings under three main headings, which might be called positive, doubtful and negative, or desirable, neutral and undesirable. The positive or desirable leads are those from suits—regardless of their length—which are headed by solid combinations of honors, in sequence, and the negative or undesirable ones those which are headed by an honor or honors not in sequence.

Thus, the lead of a K from A-K or K-Q-J or K-Q-10 is highly positive and desirable, whereas any lead would be undesirable from K-9-4, Q-10-8, K-J or A-Q, because it might present the declarer a trick and cost you one.

In between fall the leads of a card from a suit which does not contain honors at its top. When leading from such a suit, the logical card is the fourth-best if the suit is of four cards or more. If it is of only two or three cards, the lead is the top card.

There you have the simple set of standard leading principles against a suit when your partner had not bid—prefer the top card of a solid combination, avoid leading a suit headed by high honors not in sequence and instead generally prefer one from a topeless suit to jeopardizing any non-touching honors.

If your partner had bid a suit, you usually will lead that, and with most partners should invariably select your highest card of it. With advanced players, if you hold four it will generally be better to lead the fourth-best unless you have the ace, which is preferred, or touching honors, when you lead the standard card from the touchers.

There are times when it is well to lead an ace against a suit contract—if it is in a long suit of five cards or more and you fear it may be ruffed if you do not score it at once, if it is a singleton and you hope to ruff the second round of the suit, or if it is a doubleton and you hope to ruff the third round. When you hold an A-K alone, without any other cards of the suit, it is well to violate the rule of leading the K and lead the A first, followed by the K. With fine players, this means that you have no more and tells your partner you want to trump the next round of the suit.

When you win the first trick with your lead and intend to repeat the suit, the standard practice is to lead next the lowest card of your sequence, so your partner can tell how long it is. Thus, if you lead the K from A-K-Q-4, your next lead is the Q, not the A. And from K-Q-J-3, your K would be followed by the J, not the Q.

These same general principles, governing what card to lead from a suit of a certain composition, also apply to leads later in the play, except that your tactics may then be altered somewhat by the great information you have, from seeing the dummy and the early plays made by your partner and the declarer.

Against a suit contract, the opening leads are often guided by the course of the entire bidding, even more so than in the case of a No Trump contract. That subject will be the next in this series. Tomorrow: Leads From Bidding.

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

PTE. EARL SPENCER

Pte. Earl Spencer, whose wife lives in Norwood, feels that it is one of the exigencies of war that his unit and the Germans, which are slugging it out in the daytime use the same well for drinking water. When darkness falls, men from both sides crawl to the well for this precious commodity.

Pte. Spencer enlisted four years ago with the R.C.O.C. and he went overseas two years ago. Since September, 1943, he has been stationed in Italy where he works as a fitter machinist and gun fitter with a mobile workshop. Before enlisting he worked for the Department of Highways.

In a recent letter home, he wrote that he was glad he had learned to use a pick and shovel with the Department, because now he can dig a slit ditch in a hurry to get out of sight of the enemy, as tons of lead are showered on them.

He mentioned how white the Italian women get their clothes by rubbing them on stones in the cold water and said he felt his washing was a battleship grey after using hot water and soap. The mail is arriving regularly he writes and he has received 16 out of 17 parcels sent by his wife.

He has met only two Norwood men since arriving in Italy. One is Ross Clarke, M.M., and the other Capt. H. Wainman, who was with the Midland Regiment and transferred. He formerly boarded at Samuel Wildman's and he is now captain of Pte. Spencer's unit.

Check Addresses

Defence headquarters requested in a statement today that next-of kin of Canadian soldiers serving overseas notify the Director of War Records, C. L. Laurin, of vacation-time changes of addresses.

The statement said many Canadians leave their permanent residences for summer homes and resorts without leaving forwarding addresses. This causes difficulty for telegraph companies making deliveries of casualty telegrams.

Grateful Thank You

One of the sailors, Ray Clark, serving on H.M.C.S. Peterborough, grateful for all the kindnesses extended to he and his pals on their visit to this city, sent the following letter to Mrs. V. Zufelt, 573 Sherbrooke street. It was written the day before the dedication ceremony at Cobourg.

"I just received the Peterborough paper and I'm taking this opportunity of thanking you. I would also like to thank the people of Peterborough for the good time they so generously gave us.

"We took the ship out for final trials and she went exceptionally well. As you know she has been officially commissioned and we have run up the Navy flag. The crew are all on board and she will be our home from now on, and it's up to us to bring her back just as good as when she left. There is no place for complaint in the way she has started her career. You people have given her a grand send-off. The boat is so new that I still hardly know my way around."

P.O. VERNON HUNT

Pilot Officer Vernon Hunt, son of Mrs. M. Hunt, Omemee, is serving with the R.C.A.F. in Prince Edward Island. He enlisted in November, 1942, and graduated at Chatham, N.B., as a navigator bombardier in April, at which time he received his commission. P.O. Hunt is a graduate of Omemee High School and before enlisting was employed in the Keene Branch of the Bank of Toronto.

Two old Peterborough friends who had been trying to get together ever since their units arrived in Italy many months ago, met unexpectedly recently when they found their tents pitched close together. The two were Capt. Verne Zufelt, former minister of Knox United church, and Tom Allen, well known teacher.

In a recent letter home, Capt. Zufelt said that he heard the Princess Pats, to which Tom Allen is attached, were going to be stationed near him and he determined to have a visit with him. The next thing he knew was that his friend's tent was pitched within 500 yards of his own. A third Peterborough man, Capt. Jack Baird, in Capt. Zufelt's unit, joined them and the trio held a grand reunion. The chaplain said that Capt. Baird is back with the unit, fully recovered from his accident.

Stripped of Food

Everywhere he goes the pathetic condition of the Italian peasants is evidenced, Capt. Zufelt writes. He met an Italian who had spent 18 years in the United States, who was back in his native land caring for a few of his relatives—53 to be exact.

This man told him of the propaganda the Germans dished out in occupied territory as they stripped the land of even the bare necessities on which the people exist. The Nazis announced that Canada did not have nearly enough ships to, bring in food to her fighting men, so they had to clear the territory of everything so they would get no supplies.

The Italian, had however, managed to salvage a little grain, by digging holes and burying it, and he invited some of the Canadians to share it.

He also told Capt. Zufelt that his relatives would be delighted to take care of his washing for him. He didn't want any pay for it, all the natives wanted was a little sugar and salt, which they had not seen since August, 1943.

"After hearing that, our fourteenth meal of mutton tasted very good," the chaplain wrote.

One of the things which constantly amazes Canadians is the way in which women are made into slaves and beasts of burden in Italy. Out in the fields it is the women who do the planting and their husbands do the directing. They carry the equipment on their heads and go shoeless into the fields, he explained.

They Don't Fool

Indian soldiers in Italy have plenty on the ball, in the opinion of Pte. Wood, a Toronto soldier, who is no slouch on scouting himself. An experience he had recently has increased his respect for the swift moving Eastern soldiers.

Recceing enemy position up the Liri Rver valley for minefields, tank crossings, bridges, Wood felt one unseen hand in the darkness, and saw the glitter of a long kukri an inch from his throat in the other.

"Who?" came the challenge from the unseen Ghurka.

"Canadaese, sergeant!" shrieked Wood in his best Italian.

The Indian scout acknowledged "Canadaese," but wanted confirmation on the rank. Wood's black sweater came off like lightning, showing the khaki and the three stripes. The Indian and Torontonian continued reconnaissance together.

Improving From Wounds

Word has been received by Mrs. G. Gahagan, 494 Sherbrooke street, from her son, Sgt. Mike Gahagan, that her other son, Cpl. Pat Gahagan who was reported seriously wounded recently, is showing some improvement.

Sgt. Gahagan writes that his brother was wounded by shrapnel when a mortar bomb fell near him and has among other things a broken leg. The official telegram stated that he had a compound fracture of the left ankle and right leg and multiple shell fragments in the face and legs. His progress is good and it is hoped that he will be able to come home before long.

Tom Madill received several slight wounds but will be all right. We had a wonderful day recently as we smashed the Hitler Line. Our battalion took over 300 prisoners. There was lots of loot and for a while the boys all looked like colonels."

Sgt. Gahagan has been serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and was promoted to his present rank early in May. His exploits against the enemy in Italy have earned him considerable fame.

Like Cigarettes

Pte. W. A. Moncrief and Spr. G. Herbert, serving overseas, have written the Peterborough Workers and Unemployed Association for cigarettes they have received. These were purchased with funds raised at the Bingos. Both men wrote how much they appreciated getting the smokes because they are hard to buy overseas and Spr. Herbert said he hoped after the war to be able to return to Peterborough for a long visit.

Brothers In Army

Gnr. Keith Lyle Alton, formerly employed at Genelco, enlisted in the Army five months ago and is now stationed at Petawawa with the R.C.A. He is a son of Mrs. Elleda Alton, 448 Mark street. A brother, Lloyd Alton, is serving overseas, and he has been in the forces for two years.

Paratroopers Put Up Terrific Fight

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, June 13—(CP-Cable)—Canadian parachutists are putting uv a "terrific fight" on the eastern flank of the Normandy beachhead, according to officers who have just come from that sector.

The parachute unit was part of the British 6th Air-borne Division which dropped early on D-Day and won ground north-east of the city of Caen, six miles inland, to protect the beachhead flank.

The officers added that unit made a good landing and occupied a wooded area from which they have been fighting for nearly six days. The Canadians had some of the toughest fighting of all in the divisional sector, but they have not been budged from their positions and have been doing mangificently.

The Germans have been attacking the air-borne force with infantry and tanks, the officers related, but the British and Canadian troops, holding villages and wooded farm land, have given the attacking forces several bad beatings. They ambushed the enemy, sniped them, and blasted them with machine-guns.

A large amount of German booty has fallen into the hands of the paratroops.

The Germans are shelling and mortaring steadily the area where the air-borne forces landed and the enemy planes have strafed it. It is one of the hottest sectors on the front.

Sniping and machine-gunning goes on day and night along the roads.

Rev. W. MacNamara Resigns Position

TORONTO, June 12.—(CP).—Rev. W. J. MacNamara Monday tendered his resignation as clerk of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to the General Assembly of the church in session here. He has been clerk since church union in 1925. Action will be taken on the resignation later.

Rev. John Lindsay of Oshawa, reported total assets in the pension fund to the church amounted to $866,000. A retired minister himself Dr. Lindsay said 304 ministers are receiving annual payments from the fund but that 30 others who have passed the retirement age of 70 years are still serving the church in parts of Canada.

A committee of eight named by the Assembly two years ago to encourage formation of lay associations in the church was re-appointed for another year at the request of the chairman, Rev. J. A. Macgillivary of Sarnia, who said the committee proposed to assist in the rehabilitation of returning soldiers after the war.

Springville Society Guests Of Fairmount

FAIRMOUNT, June 13 — (ENS)—The Fairmount W.M.S. held the June meeting in the Howden Memorial Hall with a large attendance. Springville W.M.S. was invited to take part and provided the following impressive program.

Mrs. B. Preston, president of the Springville society, took the chair and opened the meeting with "A New Commandment I Give to Thee." Scripture lesson from John 15:1-17, was followed by a few moments of silent prayer for the boys on the battlefields. Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge welcomed Springville guests and Mrs Preston replied.

The theme of the following program was friendship. Mrs. J. F. Everson read an article, 'The Value of Friendship'; Mrs. J. Whitfield, a piece on 'The Making of Friends'; a duet, 'I Have a Friend,' was sung by Misses Joy Preston and Velma Staples; a paper on 'A Piece of Friendship' was given by Mrs. S. S. Staples; Mrs. W Shaw gave a reading. 'A Friend's Greeting'; a play, 'Stewardship,' was presented by the girls of the Y.P.U. Those taking part were Misses Velma Staples, Flora Dunford, Laura Neals, Joy Preston, Mrs. E. Kimball and Mrs. Cook.

Lunch was served by the Fairmount women and Mrs. O. Murray on behalf of Springville ladies, thanked Fairmount for their hospitality.

General Clean-Up

LOS ANGELES, June 13—(AP)—Highway patrolmen and military police set up red-lantern blockades on California thoroughfares Saturday night, stopped more than 20,000 automobiles and cited more than 7,000 motorists for faulty lights, brakes or other equipment; lack of operator's licences; failure to heed traffic signals, and other causes.

3 Men Attack Married Woman

PORT ARTHUR, June 13—(CP)—Three men seized Mrs. Viola Jamieson at her home in Flanders, Ont., on Saturday night, wrapped her in a sheet and set her atop a hot stove, Ontario Provincial Police Headquarters announced here on Monday.

She suffered severe burns, and was taken to hospital at Fort Frances, Ont.

A village vigilante committee, the police said, captured the men, and locked them in a root-house until police could be called from Fort Frances, but two of the men escaped.

The two men returned to the Jamieson home, seized the woman again and carried her to the root house, where they covered her with sand and gravel. Later, members of the committee found her in the root house.

The reason for the attack was not immediately learned. Police are investigating.

Archbishop Confirms Warsaw Candidates

WARSAW, June 13.—(ENS). — St. Mark's Anglican church was bright with early summer flowers for the Confirmation service recently conducted by His Grace the Rt. Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto. Prayers were offered for the Allied cause and all who were suffering through the horrors of war.

Those confirmed were Marion Davis, Milo Payne, Donalda Payne, Roydon Cooper, Earl Cooper, and Victor Clements.

After the service all were invited to the home of Mrs. Robert Tighe, where refreshments were served.

Presbyterian Church Needs Ministers

TORONTO, June 13—The Presbyterian church is faced with shortage of ministers, and only 10 graduates from colleges are entering the ministry this year, Rev. Dr. W. R. Mulligan, Montreal, chairman of the board of education told the 70th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada on Saturday.

The shortage is accentuated by the fact that 86 Presbyterian ministers are serving as chaplains with the armed forces, he said, and during the past year three clergymen have died. He believed colleges should encourage young men to enter the ministry.

On Sunday many of the ministers attending the week-long General Assembly meeting here preached the sermons and conducted services at Presbyterian churches throughout Toronto. The conference resumes today.

Tire Shortage Continues Rubber Scarce

TORONTO, June 13 — (CP). — J. G. Godsoe, chairman of Wartime Industries Control Board, said yesterday Canada's supplies of crude rubber, with the production of synthetic rubber, are expected to be sufficient to provide for military requirements and highly essential civilian items, but there is no immediate prospect of tires becoming generally available.

In an address prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Godsoe, who is also Controls Co-ordinator for the Munitions Department, said stockpiles of crude rubber, built up before the war spread to the Pacific have been exhausted. Canada now is dependent on "trickles" from Ceylon, Mexico, Central and South America and Africa.

"Conversion to the use of synthetic rubber from crude rubber is proceeding remarkably well, although there have been and still are technical difficulties," he said.

Supply Military.

"We now are fairly confident that our supplies of crude, together with our production of synthetic, will be ample to provide for military requirements and highly essential civilian items.

The Plymer Corp. synthetic rubber plant at Sarnia, Ont., is exceeding its rated capacity on buna-S rubber and production has reached a point where "some quantities" have been released for export and restrictions have been removed on the use of buna-S other than latex.

"This does not mean there are going to be enough tires," Mr. Godsoe warned.

Limited plant facilities, labor shortages, and a scarcity of rayon and cotton tire cord were among other limiting factors.

"In short, while the demands of the armed forces remain at anything like their present level—and we expect them to increase rather than decrease— tires will continue to be made available to civilians only as replacements for the most essential users," he said.

7 People Confirmed By Toronto Bishop

BUCKHORN, June 13 — (ENS).—The Suffragan Bishop of Toronto, Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, D. D., conducted a Confirmation service at St. Matthew's Church, in Buckhorn, Monday, when the rector, Rev. C. A. # Scout Riflemen Carry Out Hazardous Tasks

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, June 13—(CP)—They are members of a scouts and snipers platoon and their job is to probe German positions. They travel, usually, in advance of the rifle companies of their Ontario battalion.

In the first week of fighting up the Liri Valley they saw more action, met more Germans than during a winter on the Adriatic coast. Their platoon commander, Lieut. Bill Rich, St Catharines, Ont., called the men aside and told them to tell their stories. Here are some of them.

Sgt. Frank White, Montreal, and Ptes. Frank Reed, Niagara Falls, Ont., and Wayne Ankcorn, Chatham, Ont. were out with other members of the platoon exploring caves where Italians were sheltering. They heard a baby cry from behind a curtain in a cave where 10 women and a man were hiding.

Hid in Cave.

"I asked a woman if there were Germans there and she said no, but I looked behind the curtain anyway," Reed said. Out came a German officer. Iron Cross first class, complete with shaving kit as though he expected to be taken prisoner. He didn't even have a revolver."

This same trio, with Ptes. D. E. Cake, Ferndale, Mich., and Ivan Young, Ingersoll, Ont. were ahead of the battalion on another occasion scouting a suspected German hideout in a house. As they approached, an enemy corporal emerged from a cave, shouted, and was followed by four more Germans all anxious to surrender. The house netted four more prisoners without a shot being fired.

Cpl. Jack Henderson, Montreal, with Ptes. W. V. MacDougall, South Porcupine, Ont., and Neil MacDonald, Oshawa, Ont., was detailed to make contact with another Ontario battalion believed to be holding a tower 500 yards away.

"We were half way there when one of the boys looked around and saw four Germans right behind us, some 30 or 40 yards away," Henderson said. "They ran, we fired and one Jerry yelled and dropped into a ditch. The others jumped in behind him and we followed tossing grenades.

"Then we decided to make tracks because we were being sniped from the side and from the tower we thought the Canadians were holding. When we went back to the ditch later we found a ripped boot so I guess out grenades took effect."

Horse Fractures Jaw Of 61-Year-Old Man

BANCROFT, June 13 — (ENS)—Alfred Carfrae, aged 61 years, of Faraday Township, was taken by ambulance to the Belleville General Hospital lost week in a semi-conscious condition as the result of receiving a fracture of the jaw and severe injuries to face and head.

Mr. Carfrae was employed by Faraday Township with his team grading some of the roads near the village. He had just finished his noonday meal and started to hitch his team to the grader when one of the horses commenced kicking, knocking Mr. Carfrae partially down and against the wagon. The horse struck hard again with both hind feet, striking Mr. Carfrae in the face both times, fracturing his jaw and severely injuring the left side of his face. He was rushed to Bancroft Red Cross Hospital by two other workers, Albert Gaebel and Clifford Casselman, and was attended by Dr. O. W. Anderson.

British House Postpones Debate On French Issue

By ALEX. SINGLETON—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 14—(AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today obtained a postponement of full-dress debate in the House of Commons on the controversial issue of British-American relations with the French Committee of National Liberation, countering a demand for a showdown with the assertion "it would do more harm than good now."

In his first appearance before the House since his trip to the beachhead in Normandy Monday, Mr. Churchill made only scant reference to the progress of the war, declaring that any anxiety over the De Gaulle committee question "should properly be directed to our gallant soldiers and to the great operations which are in progress, which give hope as well as anxiety."

Complete Negotiations.

The Prime Minister contended full discussion of the subject should be held off until negotiations among the French Committee, Britain and the United States can be completed.

The House of Commons turned to other subjects after Mr. Churchill said he would not be seeking to delay the debate "if I had no hopes of a better solution than I can announce at the present time."

He warned the House that a debate on relations with Gen. de Gaulle would have "great dangers" at the present time and asked that the subject be postponed until after negotiations between the Committee of National Liberation and Britain and the United States are completed.

"The Government has taken great trouble over the conduct of this business and on the whole it may be said that it has been conducted with success," the Prime Minister declared, amid cheers.

"When you look at the advance in Italy and the extraordinary advance across the Channel, a fair-minded man would consider that the administration has a right to the confidence of the House when they state that they do not want this particular subject to be discussed."

The Prime Minister took the floor in response to several questions

Canadians Edge Forward Slowly

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIANS IN FRANCE, June 14 (CP Cable)—Units of the Canadian 3rd Infantry Division prodded away today at German positions in the little towns on the perimeter of the enemy-held defence line around the city of Caen.

The Canadian forces are keeping up the pressure there as a British armored thrust knifes deeper into enemy territory south of Tilly-Sur-Seulles and south and southeast of the cathedral town of Bayeux.

Other British forces are pushing ahead east of the River Orne on the other flank, seeking to cut off Caen from enemy communication lines in that direction.

In an area where Canadian infantry, tanks and artillery met and held strong German counter-attacks at the end of last week, the 3rd Division is easing slowly forward against dug-in enemy tanks and entrenched infantry.

The Germans appear now to have gone on the defensive and they are in position in villages near Caen, the city of 61,000 six miles inland for which the Allies have fought bitterly since D-Day. Villages have been turned into strong points and those situated on slopes can be tough obstacles.

British Commandos working with the Canadians attacked a town a few miles northwest of Caen and there was fierce fighting by night in the streets. When a Canadian unit went in next day to relieve the Commandos they found 22 dead Commandos and 120 dead Germans.

Casualties Moved Rapidly
Doctors Went In Alongside Troops

HEADQUARTERS ALLIED ARMIES, June 14—(CP Cable).—The invasion beaches of France were "practically cleared" of all casualties except non-transportable cases, by the end of the sixth day of the invasion, it was disclosed yesterday by a senior British medical staff officer who said casualties were "nothing like we had been led to believe."

The officer did not give any casualty figures but it was obvious from his remarks that they were lower than probably the most optimistic estimates.

"We didn't get the amount of casualties we catered for," he said. "Wounds did not require the high percentage of blood transfusions we expected."

Medical men were right with the fighting men from the start of the invasion. They landed in assault waves with the fighting troops and jumped with air-borne troops. Surgeons were right in the front line.

The thoroughness of the medical preparations undoubtedly resulted in the saving of many lives which otherwise would have been lost and a spokesman said there had been from casualties excellent reports of the treatment they received.

Record-Size Armada Raids Europe
Nazi Oil Refinery France, Belgium Hit By 1,000 Planes

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press War Correspondent

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 14.—(AP).—Fifteen hundred United States heavy bombers—the greatest single striking force in air histroy—attacked France and Germany to-day in concert with up to 750 American heavies which struck Hungary and Yugoslava from Italy.

The oil lifelines from Hitler's thirsty war machine were hit hard, part of the big task force from Britain hitting the oil refinery at Emmerich, Germany, while the Mediterrean force attacked half a dozen oil refineries in Hungary and Yugoslavia, including the Shell Koolag, five miles south of Budapest, the largest in Hungary.

Other Britain-based heavy bombers aimed their bombs at six enemy air bases beyond the beachhead in the unrelenting campaign to wipe out nests of German air force opposition. Others hit bridges in France and Belgium.

Supreme Headquarters announced that in the first seven days of invasion 56,000 individual flights were made by the Allied Air Forces with the loss of 554 planes—less than one per cent. of the attacking force.

In that time 42,000 tons of bombs were dropped.

The American force aggregating upwards of 1,500 bombers and fighters attacked among other targets the Le Bourget and Creil air fields at Paris, Etampes-Mondesir and Chateaudun in France; Brussels-Melsbroeck and Eindhoven in Belgium.

Meanwhile, another American heavy bomber force the German radio said, surged up from Italy for an attack on Axis Europe which underwent heavy attacks from the south in the Munich area both yesterday and last night.

The air armadas took full advantage of ideal weather in stepping up the assaults on German fighting forces and strategic targets far inland. It was described here as "a marvellous air support campaign getting more satisfactory every day."

In direct support of troops battling in Normandy, large forces of medium and fighter - bombers swarmed across the channel all day. The fighters extended attacks to German shipping while a separate force of American Lightnings patrolled defensively over the Allies' sea lifelines.

30 Airfields Ripped.

Supreme Headquarters said Allied leaders planned to press the two-ply air campaign across the channel with tactical and long-range strategic bombing to split the Germans' dwindling air force into even greater feebleness than it has showed over the battlefields so far.

It was estimated that more than 30 Nazi air fields had been blasted in the past three days.

It now is authoritatively reported that the Luftwaffe has been reduced to around 2,000 planes against

MADRID, June 14 (AP)—Reports from underground France asserted today that a methodic, persisting rising by the greater part of the French people is undermining the Germans' best-laid plans to combat the Allied invasion.

These advices, filtering through many points on the Franco-Spanish frontier and through diplomatic channels, said guerillas and the organized underground were actively leading Frenchmen in making trouble and yet more trouble for the Germans.

That the Germans recognized the danger was demonstrated by an order placing 11 departments in central France and parts of four others under the same military rules as those prevailing in the Atlantic wall zone.

CBC Revenue Up $178,045

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP).—Tabling the financial statement of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for the last fiscal year, Treasurer Harry Bramah said before the Commons Radio Committee today that revenue for commercial broadcasting amounted to $1,421,598, an increase of $178,045 over last year.

Total net operating surplus amounted to $88,851, compared to $230,261 last year, "but depreciation was cut in half," Mr. Bramah said. Total expenditures were given as $4,925,658, compared with last year's figure of $4,328,763.

Licence fees brought in a total of $3,787,886, an increase of $86,196 over last year. Fixed assets amounted to $2,749,806, an increase of $133,169.

The balance sheet showed that the cost of the short-wave transmitter at Sackville, N.B., had been $229,921 up to March 31. This transmitter is expected to be ready for operation by the first of next year.

Reds Within 30 Miles Viipuri Port
5 Finnish Towns Captured In First Battles

LONDON, June 14 — (CP) — Red Army troops have advanced to within 30 miles of the important port of Viipuri, crushing Finnish troops resisting from strongly-fortified positions, Moscow announced today while enemy reports said Russia's whole northern front from the Arctic to the White Sea and Gulf of Finland was ablaze with action.

Finnish and German radio broadcasts declared the Russians were attacking in the Lisa sector between the Arctic ports of Murmansk and Petsamo, and Berlin asserted Soviet forces also were striking southwest of Narva in Estonia.

In addition, the broadcasts said, there was reconnaissance activity in the Kandalaksha sector on the shore of the White Sea, 550 miles northwest of Viipuri, and near Loukhi, on the railway from Archangel across Finland to the Gulf of Bothnia.

The Moscow communique was restricted to the Karelian Isthmus fighting, saying Soviet troops captured several Finnish strongpoints during yesterday's battling and listing five in the area of Kivennapa taken Monday. There were Steklyannaya, Kelrola, Ronnukjula, Vehmajnen and Tijranmjaki.

The Russians are within 20 miles of the Mannerheim Line, main defence barrier across the Karelian Isthmus, after cleaving the second belt of approaches, Moscow bulletins indicated.

A Moscow broadcast said it was reported in Helsinki that Col.-Gen. Edward Dietl, commander of German Divisions garrisoned in northern Finland, conferred with Field Marshal Baron Mannerheim, Finnish Commander-in-Chief, then visited the battle area.

Kill 1,000 Germans In Yugoslav Battle

LONDON, June 14—(CP).—Capture of the fortified place of Loparevo in Eastern Bosnia after a seven-hour battle was reported today by Marshal Tito, who declared also that Yugoslav troops had seized a large quantity of war material and forced the enemy to abandon western Bosnia bases between Glamoc and Drvar. Approximately 1,000 Germans were reported killed in fighting on several fronts.

Breville Gap Traps Germans

By LEONARD MOSLEY
Daily Sketch War Correspondent

WITH THE BRITISH 6TH AIRBORNE DIVISION, France, June 14—(CP)—Paratroop Captain Charles Bliss had that grin on his face that always means something brewing.

"This," said Charles, "is going to be good. Do you remember the gap we left in our lines just around Breville? Well, Jerry's found it at last and he's coming through. We have a report of at least 600 Panzer Grenadiers advancing through the woods and believe they're going to try to drive through Ranville to break our line and gain the east bank of the river. Well, what we are going to do to those Jerries should make a nice little story for you. Look."

British Everywhere

He pointed along the walls and through the orchards, and when you looker hard you could see British troops everywhere.

They were well dug in among bushes and grass, and only the green camouflaged tops of their helmets poked above the skyline—that and the muzzles of their Brens, heavy machine-guns and Stens.

It was just before noon when we saw our first Germans. Over on the other side of the dropping zone you could suddenly see figures moving among trees. We watched them forming up in batches of 10 to 15 men.

No one fired at them.

Shortly after noon Saturday the German attack began. In those batches of 10 to 15, spread out over 200 or 300 yards, the German infantrymen came in at a run. They moved through the waving corn in the black plough-land until they reached a line of wrecked gliders. Then, they fell on their faces and lay there. After a few minutes they got up again, ran forward, then fell flat again. It went on like that for 400 yards. Still, no one fired.

No Retaliation

From somewhere in the wood now a German mortar gun was going into action and its shells fell all around us and in the serried rows of gravestones in a church yard. Splinters fell among us. There were casualties. But there was no retaliation.

Spain Urged To Ban All War Shipments

WASHINGTON, June 14 — (CP) — With a major diplomatic victory in hand—Sweden's agreement to limit subphstantially her ball-bearing sales to Germany—the United Nations now will concentrate on Spain.

United States Ambassador Carlton Hayes, it was learned today, has been instructed to ask the Spanish government to ban all war-vital exports to Germany, not only of Spanish tungsten, but of every other commodity important to the Nazis.

The Swedish agreement is regarded here as an important psychological blow at the enemy and a prime diplomatic accomplishment. Stanton Griffis, American movie executive and special representative of the foreign economic administration, took a virtual blank cheque to Sweden and presumably through preclusive buying for the United States, trimmed sharply the ball-bearing shipments to Germany. Sweden previously had said it could not afford to make any reductions in its exports.

The new requests of Ambassador Hayes—the United States had made previous demands upon Spain— are to be based on the change in the military situation since the invasion and upon Portugal's total embargo of tungsten shipments.

In a report released yesterday by President Roosevelt, there had been hints of new military as well as diplomatic action in this direction. The report by Foreign Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley said that depriving the Nazis of Spain's tungsten exports, Balkan chrome and manganese and Norwegian molybdeum would materially effect the German war machine within six months.

President Roosevelt observed at his news conference that the only way he knew of keeping the important metals of the Balkans, Norway and Finland from Germany would be throwing the Germans out of those areas.

Refused To Let French Fight

WASHINGTON, June 14 —(AP)— In the final hours before the start of the invasion of France, Gen. de Gaulle is reported here to have suddenly cancelled the orders of several hundred French officers scheduled to land with the first waves of Allied troops.

Reports from General Eisenhower's headquarters to the highest military officials here disclosed today that as a result, co-operation between the French population and Allied armies has been impaired in the occupied Normandy areas.

This is true, according to officials who are investigating the situation now, even though Gen. de Gaulle finally relented to the extent of allowing 20 French officers to go along with the forces assigned to liberate their homeland.

Gen. de Gaulle's action with respect to the officers is said to be

Guns Of Huge Battleships Belch Rain Of Steel To Aid British, Canadians
Montebourg, Troarn Wreathed In Battle At Each End Of Bridgehead Tide Of Battle See-Saws In Some Places

By WES GALLAGHER—Associated Press War Correspondent

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 14—(AP).—The Germans have flung four armored divisions into fierce fighting to hold their eastern battleline bastion of Caen, the Allied command announced tonight, and heavy fighting is raging at Montebourg and Troarn at opposite ends of the 100-mile front with both towns changing hands in the last 24 hours.

The savage German counter-action on the eastern flank in Normandy followed a British armored drive 23 miles inland outflanking Caen from the west, and the armored struggle is rising in intensity.

The four Nazi armored divisions were hurled into the area between Caen and Caumont, 20 miles southwest, seized in the hard British punch.

American troops fought the Germans fiercely for Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of the strategic port of Cherbourg, and the great guns of the British battleships Nelson and Ramilles thundered in support of the British-Canadian fight to hold Troarn, town eight miles east of Caen taken in an outflanking drive on that bastion to the east of the Orne river. The British 6th Airborne division, which includes Canadian paratroopers, landed in this vicinity on D-Day.

Both Germans and the Allies have fought into and been thrown out of Montebourg and Troarn in the last 24 hours, headquarters said.

The greatest single striking force of planes in war's history—1,500 American heavy bombers—battered targets in France and Germany today in an air support of the invasion.

The U.S. Force in Normandy is the largest yet thrown into fighting in any theatre in this war.

In the Carentan area, south of Montebourg, other Americans chopped deep gashes in the Nazi defence of Cherbourg Peninsula.

American armored forces there smashed the Germans back, and a Berlin broadcast acknowledged a withdrawal of several miles west and north of Carentan, with the Allies thus apparently cutting half to two-thirds of the way across the narrowest neck of the peninsula.

Lose Some Ground.

Headquarters said Americans fighting in the Montebourg area had to give some ground along the road to the sea.

"In some areas we continued our advance and in others the Germans had some local successes," the Supreme Command said in describing the whole battle front.

The four Nazi armored divisions plunged into battle around Caen, Tilly-Sur-Seulles, Troarn and Caumont included the 21st and 12th S.S. Divisions. It was not known whether all the armor of these units was committed in battle, but all their infantry was. The Canadian 3rd Division is operating in the sector somewhere between Bayeux and Caen.

The Germans said Caen itself was in flames and was being attacked on all sides. Berlin also reported Allied armored thrusts south of Caumont.

Gen. Montgomery lounched a squeeze on Caen with the thrusts reaching 23 miles inland into the area south-west of the big anchor city.

Striking as he often did against Field-Marshal Rommel in the African desert, Gen. Montgomery,

8th Army Moves 60 Miles North Of Rome

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent.

ROME, June 14 — (AP).—Fifth Army elements have swung around the heavily-defended strong point of Orbetello, 71 miles north-west of Rome, and captured the important junction of Highways Nos. 1 and 74, some 4½ miles beyond the town, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Reconnaissance elements pushed still further north.

"In the coastal sector our troops, having encountered increased resistance south of Orbetello, developed their strength in the mountains and late June 12 cut the road junction of Highway Nos 1 and 74," said a Headquarters communique. "Reconnaissance elements are moving farther north."

In the east the 8th Army advanced 60 miles north of Rome.

Gains also were made both east and west of Lake Bolsena and Allied troops were closing in on Narni, 7½ miles below Terni and 43 miles due north of Rome.

The town of Latera, four miles north-east of Valentano, was gathered in by 5th Army units and the advance moved on toward Gardioli, less than two miles farther north-east.

Other 5th Army forces were closing in on Bolsena, on the eastern shore of the lake.

Meanwhile the 8th Army contin-

Police Ordered To Stand Trial

QUEBEC, June 14 — (CP). — Judge Thomas Tremblay to-day ordered two Royal Canadian Mounted Police constables — Fernand Savard and Roger Lizotte—to stand trial October 10 on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the shooting of Georges Kuenette, 24, at St. Lambert, Levis County, on May 7.

Both Lizotte and Savard were released from custody on $2,500 bail each.

The two R.C.M.P. constables were charged with manslaughter after Guenette was shot to death on his father's farm as he attempted to evade capture by the R.C.M.P. Guenette was sought on a charge of attacking an R.C.M.P. constable who was attempting to arrest a draft-dodger.

Nelles Visits Bridgehead
Says Canadian Sailors Right On Job

LONDON, June 14 —(CP Cable)— Vice-Admiral Percy W. Nelles, head of the Canadian naval mission in London and senior Canadian flag officer overseas, has been to the Allied beaches in Normandy.

After a trip Monday which took him ashore behind the sector where Canadian troops are fighting, Admiral Nelles said Canadian navy men who carried and escorted the troops to France and swept minefields ahead of them "did and still are doing a marvellous job."

The head of the naval mission returns to Canada shortly to make a report to the department of naval affairs. He has been in Britain since last January.

Admiral Nelles made the trip across the Channel in the Canadian Tribal Class Destroyer Algonquin, Commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Debby Piers, Halifax. He returned in a motor torpedo boat of a flotilla commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. C. A. (Tommy) Law, Quebec City.

The Admiral spent some time on the beach, where orderly activity of all kinds was going on, including a shuttle service of Canadian landing craft.

"All hands knew what they were doing," he said.

Stalin Generous In Praise Of Second Front

BY EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, June 14 — (CP) — Premier Stalin praised the Allies highly last night for their invasion of France, declaring that "the history of war does not know any such undertaking so broad in conception, so grandiose in scale, and so masterly in execution."

Stalin was in high spirits and rare form, describing Hitler as "an Hysteric" who bragged for two years that he would cross the Channel but never risked the attempt. He also pointed out that Napoleon failed in his plan to cross the Channel and conquer Britain.

"Only the British and American troops succeeded in honorably fulfilling the grand plan of crossing the Channel and making a mass landing of troops," Stalin said. "History will record this as an achievement of the highest order."

Stalin's estimate of the western invasion was made in a statement given to foreign correspondents and later put on the Moscow radio to be repeated several times and broadcast through the land.

British and American diplomats and Militarists in Moscow called the statement a masterly utterance characteristic of the Soviet leader in its directness and sharpness.

Stalin said: "On summarizing the seven days battles for liberation by the Allied troops invading northern France, one can without hesitation say that the wide crossing of the Channel and the mass landing operations of the Allies in northern France have succeeded fully. This is doubtless a brilliant success of our Allies."

Napanee Wants New Hospital

NAPANEE, June 14—(CP)—About 200 people voted unanimously last night in favor of establishing a 25-35 bed hospital in the county of Lennox and Addington. The meeting was called by Mayor Dr. D. R. Hall of Napanee and Warden J. G. Day at the request of a local service club (Lions). There was no discussion of location or cost.

It was felt that while major surgical cases would still have to be taken to the larger centres a great many medical cases and minor surgical cases could be taken care of locally and it was much better for those who are ill not to have to go a long distance and be away from friends.

Americans Use Biak Airdrome

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, June 14 — (AP) — Mokmer airdrome on Biak Island in the Schouter group has been put into operation, headquarters announced today.

Infantry troops on Biak pushed westward toward Borokoe airstrip as airplanes started using Mokmer Tuesday.

Mokmer strip is approximately 880 miles from the Philippines, closest Allied-held point, to that enemy stronghold.

American forces landed on Biak Island off Netherlands New Guinea May 27 and took the important airstrip June 7 after hard fighting.

Medium bombers sank four small Jap merchantmen off Manokwari, Netherlands New Guinea, Monday. Heavy bombers attacked Palau again Sunday and Monday, starting fires. They also hit Truk in daylight Monday.

Acquitted

NEW YORK, June 14 — (AP) — German-born Hans Gert von Gontard, grandson of the late Adolphus Busch, St. Louis brewer, and three other defendants charged with conspiracy to evade the United States draft were acquitted last night by a Federal court jury. The other defendants were Dr. Arnold Aaron Hutschenecker, Austrain born physician; Michael, secretary of the G.M. Uniform Company in Brooklyn, and Army Lieut. Francis X. Grottano, former New York city detective.

Nurses In France

HEADQUARTERS ALLIED ARMIES, June 14 (CP Cable)—Canadian Nursing Sisters as well as British and American nurses will be in France in "the near future," it was learned yesterday. They probably will be working first in casualty clearing stations, later in general hospitals. Reports that nurses already are in France are incorrect, a medical spokesman said.

Sea-Air Battle Bags 141 Planes

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP). — The Tokyo radio acknowledged today a "powerful enemy task force" attacked Japanese bases in and around the Mariana Islands in a series of operations beginning last Saturday and continuing for three days.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, was the first Japanese reference to widespread American naval operations in the mid-Pacific area some 1,500 miles from Tokyo, which were announced yesterday by Admiral Nimitz.

Nimitz announced the task force, operating for three days within 1,500 miles of Tokyo, sank 15 ships, damaged 16 others and destroyed 141 planes with loss of 15 American aircraft.

Breville Gap

Stretcher-bearers wriggled forward and dragged wounded men away, but never showed themselves against the skyline.

So the enemy was gaining confidence from the stillness. Smelling no danger, his loping advances were longer, his periods flat on the ground of only a few seconds duration. He came on fast. He kept on coming until he was about 100 yards away. Then at a pre-arranged signal every automatic weapon, every rifle in the paratroops' line opened up. It was a roar that set your teeth chattering with shock.

You suddenly saw the Germans grimacing wildly, clutching their bodies, throwing up their hands, then falling by the dozens into the corn. They all flung themselves down and the British paratroops continued their fire.

A rain of bullets surged across those 100 yards of French farm land and battered into the huddles on the grass. The earth was scuffed up in showers of corn and went down as if under a flail.

But the Germans weren't beaten yet. One of their officers rose to his feet and called to his men, and those not wounded charged once more. This time the paratroops held their fire even longer, and it was 25 to 30 yards when the small arms barrage hit the enemy.

Turned And Fled

In writhing heaps the Germans went down. And now the remnants turned and began to flee. But only a few made the shelter of nearby woods, for now our shells and mortars came into play and plastered a river of steel between the enemy and the sanctuary for which he was racing.

By 1 o'clock it was all over, and the dropping zone was littered now not only with gliders and containers, but with hundreds of enemy dead and enemy wounded.

Back in the woods those Nazi troops who had made it were joined by reinforcements, and there, among green shadows, they reformed and planned how to get out.

But they were not given the chance. All through the woods, hidden in trees, ditches and slit trenches, the camouflaged British paratroops were waiting for them. Around 4 o'clock a squadron of Sherman tanks rumbled up to where most of the Germans were concentrated, and poured a five-minute barrage from their big guns into the trees.

The Germans began to retreat. Their retreat was the wrong way for them, and once more it was massacre. Sten gun bullets hit them from such close range they were torn to pieces.

The terrified Nazis threw up their hands and tried to surrender. If they were in time they were allowed to. Some were too late and got a burst that flung them to the ground. Only a few snipers were left by Saturday evening, and their fire was sporadic.

On Sunday morning the Germans tried again to blast through to Ranville.

Once more they came in batches, and once more the British soldiers mowed them down. That same morning they had had enough and went limping away to the safety of the marshes beyond the river Orne.

With the men who had killed them—boys from Lancashire, Yorkshire, Somerset — I went into the woods to see the flotsam and jetsam this short but bloody war had left. Everywhere was death. But it was Nazi death. At least 400 had been killed and nearly 2,000 made prisoners. And in breaking the whole of a German regiment and capturing its commander, British losses did not number over 50 all told, including wounded.

Our troops are hoping the enemy will try to break through the Breville gap again—and soon.

the Allies' front line force of more than 11,000. The Germans are said to have 500 single-engined fighters massed at fields in the battle region which is under this current intensive attack.

American heavies, attacking from Britain just before dark yesterday, smashed at German communications across the Brest Peninsula leading to the Cherbourg battle area. They bombed six bridges on the north-south railroad system between Vannes and St. Malo, a likely artery for German reinforcements from the south.

Two more air bases in the Paris area were hit by the heavy bombers, in addition to three bombed in an earlier mission.

Fighters maintained an umbrella over the Allied cross-channel lifelines over which reinforcements and supplies poured steadily.

Bombardment of immediate tactical objectives in the invasion area by the air force in response to hurry-up requests from the ground forces continued on an increasing scale. Air force strength has reached the point in disruption of German communications where planes patrol unbroken sections of railroad lines waiting for any traffic that affords a target.

Rocket fighters shot up radio installations at Le Havre, an observation post at the Caen air field, German convoys south of Caen and Nazi headquarters near St. Lo. The German radio said St. Lo was a mass of rubble from air bombardment.

At the request of the ground forces medium bombers hit German armor concentration at Caen and the fliers watched warship shells crash into the city. "It looked like absolute hell, scarcely possible for life to exist there," commented a navigator.

Other targets included German troop concentrations in the Cherbrug battle area, Nazi fuel dumps in the Andain forest, and the Domfront, St. Martin and Mexidon rail yards.

In addition to supplies coming across the channel by sea traffic, the 9th Air Force used five new landing strips and open fields to land fleets of transports carrying supplies and gliders bearing technicians.

German air opposition continued sporadic and spotty, although Allied pilots yesterday reported some of the heaviest flak they have encountered over Europe.

Success of the whole Normandy invasion was dependent upon great Allied superiority, it was stated at Supreme Headquarters, and the bombardment had had a "marvelous" delaying action on German reserves, despite frequent bad weather which has been the Germans' only opportunity to move forces unharrassed.

Home and School

MAY'S SCHOOL

Plans for the annual picnic and field day of May's school to be held June 16, were discussed at the regular meeting of the Home and School Association this week. It was decided to have booths and refreshments, and prizes will be given to winners in various competitions. An invitation has been extended to all parents to attend and join in the fun.

A committee, consisting of Mrs. E. Frizzell, president, Mrs. G. Robinson, Mrs. W. Carter and Miss M. Brown, was named to arrange for an honor roll of boys and girls who attended May's school, who are now on active service. Miss Brown, who is leaving May's school to join the civil service, gave a brief outline of her new duties as a placement officer. The president expressed the Association's appreciation for Miss Brown's efforts on behalf of the Home and School, and for her service to the school. Regret was also voiced because Miss H. Latimer and Miss D. Cooper of the staff, are also leaving.

Mrs. E. Horton and Mrs. Ray Collins served refreshments during the social half hour which followed.

Cardin Leads Attack On War Aid Plan

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP). — Eight members from Quebec constituencies—five of them in Liberal Party benches— yesterday showed in the Commons their opposition to the Government's mutual aid program.

The members voted against the second reading to a Bill authorising expenditure of $800,000,000 this year for mutual aid to the United Nations, and for relief to liberated countries through the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

The Bill was given second reading by a vote of 128-8, and later was adopted on division.

Voting against the second reading were J. F. Pouliot (L-Temiscouata), Hon. P. J. A. Cardin (L-Richelieu-Verheres), Emmanuel D'Anjoy (L-Rimouski), Sarto Fournier (L-Montreal - Maisonneuve-Rosemount), L. P. Lizotte (L-Kamouraska), J. S. Roy (Ind-Gaspe), Maxime Raymond (BP-Beauharnois-Laprairie), and Armand Choquette (BP-Stanstad).

Following passage of the Bill, the House gave second reading to the Quebec Savings Bank Bill, and resumed clause by clause study of the Bill incorporating the War Assets Corporation, set up to dispose of surplus and obsolete war materials.

Navy Losses Low.

Earlier, the House gave third reading on division to the Bill providing for the taking of the armed personnel vote in the next Federal election, and heard Navy Minister Macdonald announce that Royal Canadian Navy personnel losses have been "negligible" since the beginning of the invasion Losses in ships have been confined to a "few landing craft."

Mr. Macdonald said Canada was represented in the invasion operations by more than 100 ships and almost 10,000 officers and men.

Debate Brisk

In the brisk debate which preceeded the voting on the Mutual Aid Bill, most of those opposing the measure said they could not understand why Canada should make "gifts" to Britain which was a much richer country.

However, interest in the debate centred on the speeches of Justice Minister St. Laurent, a Cabinet minister since 1941, and of Mr. Cardin, former Federal Works Minister who resigned in 1942 on the conscription issue.

Mr. Cardin said he had no objection to Canada contributing war supplies to the United Nations in the common cause, but an accounting should be kept and they should not be furnished as a gift. He said he could see no justification for Canada giving gifts to Britain which was richer than Canada "is and will be for many years after the war."

Changes Tune

Mr. St. Laurent answered him by quoting Mr. Cardin's own speeches as a Cabinet minister. Mr. St. Laurent said Hansard of June 18, 1940, quoted Mr. Cardin as saying that "money is of no importance when the freedom of a nation is at stake.'"

"'What will be the value of our petty chattels and even our great assets, what will become of our accumulated wealth if Germany succeeds in crushing under her bloodstained boots the combined strength of France and England?'" Mr. St. Laurent quoted Mr. Cardin as saying in former speeches.

The Justice Minister said that "doubtless we can help the cause of liberty and democracy by supplying arms to England and her Allies; doubtless we can help them by sending them as much as possible in the way of munitions and foodstuffs.

"But I ask those who bring forward this argument: Do you not in your own heart feel a bit ashamed of thinking only in terms of money while abandoning to your neighbors the protection of your life, or your possessions and your rights?"

Not a Gift.

Finance Minister Ilsley said the mutual aid contributions were not gifts to enrich any one of the United Nations.

"If it could be regarded in any sense as a gift, it is a gift to enable them to fight a war which is our war just the same as it is their war, and I prefer not to call it a gift at all," he said.

"I agreed to the entry into war—and I am not ashamed of my act, but I say we entered the war because Britain did," Mr. Cardin said. "We went in because we are a member of the British Empire. The Empire is a society of nations and each commits itself to go to the defence of the other. We have never acted as an independent country."

He said he believed that Canada would only be informed of the peace terms after they had been drawn up by the "great powers."

"Canada will have to accept the decision of the great powers—and with that I find no fault" he said. "We are still a small nation, with great aspirations, but we haven't yet reached the development of a great power."

Mr. Cardin saiad he believed his views on mutual aid were those of most of the citizens in Quebec province and of those of many people in the other provinces.

ued to march up the Tiber Valley on a broad front and armored units penetrated several miles north of Magliano.

These troops were advancing under heavy shell fire directed from observation posts high in the hills. Two thousand shells screamed down on the forward troops two days ago, the Germans apparently having determined to fire every possible shell from their dumps as they fall back.

Resistance Severe.

While the Germans were withdrawing in some places without resisting elsewhere advance Allied patrols encountered concentrated fire from automatic weapons and mortars.

The Germans were planting Teller mines whenever they had time, and continued demolitions on a wide scale.

Tattered remants thrown in to slow the Allied advance even included a number of cavalry units and much horse-drawn artillery.

The Mediterranean Air Force, besides providing support for the advance north of Rome, broadened its activities. R.A.F. night bombers attacking the Munich area early today, a few hours after between 500 and 750 American heavies blasted the same region yesterday.

American mediums hit two 400-foot cargo ships in the harbor at Livorno (Leghorn). It was believed the Germans were preparing to fill them with concrete and sink them at the entrance of the harbor.

R. A. F. coastal craft roamed Southern France, strafing enemy vehicles in the Istres-Montpelier area.

The Mediterranean naval command announced that British destroyers engaged four German E-boats off the Dalmatian coast the night of June 11 and sank one, picking up a few survivors.

British light naval forces shelled the Adriatic harbor of Lussinpiccolo the night of June 10. Enemy return fire was termed ineffective.

Allied Ground Commander, sent tanks rumbling south of Bayeux along the central sector of the front. Possibly Canadian armor was also in the drive.

Tanks Reach Caumont.

The tanks smashed through Villers-Bocage, 15 miles due south of Bayeux and reached Caumont, 14 miles south-west of Bayeux. Both are important road towns on roads running north-east to Caen.

Then the invading armor turned east and north to drive savagely into the German flank protecting Caen on the west.

The British tanks struck with "great effect," the Allied Supreme Command announced.

Caen itself was under heavy naval bombardment from Allied warships. A flier who flew over the city said it seemed "scarcely possible for life to exist there."

A German Trans-Ocean Agency broadcast said the fiercely-contested town of Tilly-Sur-Seulles, eight miles south and a little east of Bayeux "is not in German hands." It had been cut off by the armored thrust farther south.

A fierce German counter-attack was made on British-Canadian forces in newly-captured Troarn, six miles east of the battered city of Caen. Fall of Troarn—presumably to troops of the British airborne division, which includes Canadian paratroopers—was announced yesterday.

The enemy attack was obviously aimed at blunting Gen Montgomery's thrust to outflank Caen on the east.

100-Mile Front.

On the western end of the Allied beachhead, now enlarged to a 100-mile fighting front, Americans used armored forces to break a deadlock at Carentan, six miles from the sea. A German broadcast acknowledged a Nazi withdrawal west and north of Carentan "to spare German lives."

This several-mile withdrawal would put American forces between half and two-thirds of the way across the Cherbourg Peninsula at its narroest point.

Berlin broadcasts conceded that Americans advancing on strips of non-flooded land had infiltrated and taken "a number of villages." Nazi lines north-west of Carentan.

The Allies, aided to-day by fair weather, already have seized a foothold in France of 600 to 700 square miles, and captured more than 10,000 prisoners. Allied officers estimated 250,000 Germans are engaged in Normandy. Berlin, apparently trying to picture Allied successes as due to overwhelming numbers, has placed the figure of Allied soldiers as high as 300,000.

Losses Heavy

Supreme headquarters said the Germans were expending a large number of soldiers in a furious assault on Troarn, east of Caen.

Troarn is the left arm of a Montgomery pincers movement closing in on Caen. The right arm is the double blow from below Tilly-Sur-Seulles and the Caumont and Villers-Bocage roads.

In a Berlin broadcast, the German Transocean agency declared that Nazi forces broke through American lines and into Carentan late Tuesday but "Montgomery hastily ordered heavy British warships to the support, which, with all their guns, shelled the Carentan area, whereupon the Germans withdrew again to hill positions more advantageous for defence."

Transocean said the "situation changes hourly" in the Carentan area as attacking American forces try to "widen their bridgehead toward the south and west."

From the Axis meanwhile came a broadcast suggesting the possibility of a new Allied landing—this time in a sector not previously mentioned by the enemy.

Only hours after Gen. Eisenhower had reported to President Roosevelt that eventually the "Nazis will be forced to fight throughout the perimeter of their stronghold," the Vichy radio quoted a Berlin military spokesman as saying important Allied shipping had been sighted in the Bay of Biscay off southwestern France near the Spanish coast.

There was no Allied report of any shipping in that area, some 400 miles from the Normandy fighting.

As the invasion of Europe went into its eighth day, General Eisenhower informed his commanders and troops that "the accomplishments in the first seven days of the campaign have exceeded my brightest hopes... I truly congratulate you."

Canadians Battle Hard

Fierce fighting by British-Canadian troops was reported at Tilly-Sur-Seulles. The Canadian 3rd Division, the British 3rd and 50th Infantry Divisions and the British 6th Airborne Division were in action in the eastern end af the front against the German 21st Tank and 12th Elite Tank Divisions and the 716th Infantry Division.

Last night's communique said more than 10,000 prisoners were taken in the first week.

Although field dispatches yesterday reported capture of Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg, and some Axis broadcasts admitted its fall, one German report last night said the Nazis had recaptured the city.

A Transocean broadcast from Berlin declared "particularly violent fighting" had been in progress for 24 hours near both Montebourg and American-captured Carentan to the south. Transocean claimed the "initiative was rather with the Germans."

The best information here was that this German resistance was coming from local enemy reserves, hurled into a desperate effort to block the uphill Allied drive to Cherbourg.

Le Ham Captured

The American 4th Division was said last night to have broadened its assault front from Quineville on the coast to captured Le Ham, 2½ miles southwest of Monebourg and eight miles inland. Patrols penetrated the outskirts of Valognes, 10 miles from Cherbourg.

The last miles between the Americans and Cherbourg embrace increasingly difficult battle terrain—sparsely populated country broken by craggy hills jutting up 500 or 600 feet.

On the central front there was no continuous line in the Allied teamwork thrust through the woodlands east of St. Lo, and the exact gains were difficult to measure, but it is known that the Americans have pushed advance forces at least five miles south of Balleroy and the British are believed to have penetrated up to seven miles southwest of Tilly-Sur-Seulles.

A Vichy broadcast this morning claimed both Balleroy and Tilly still were in German hands.

by cutting of a large section of southern France from the Mediterranean road and rail route so important to the Germans. Travellers said the German occupation command was too busy with other troubles at present to send forces needed to recapture Tarbes.

It was reported that Limoges also was held by the Maquis, while northeast of Bordeaux Angouleme and Perigueux were out of communication with the rest of France. In the Limousin mountains and the plateau Millevaches in Vienne and Correze departments a powerful guerilla army was reported organising with arms and munitions supplied by plane.

From the Mediterranean frontier at Portbou it was reported guerillas and Maquis of Svoy were moving westward across the Rhone toward the great Central plateau, gathering volunteers from Vichy gendarmes and mobile guards.

With certain exceptions these French forces seemed to be avoiding open battle with the Germans. For the moment their main activity was sabotage.

probably the most important new factor entering into the background of a proposed meeting between President Roosevelt and the leader of the French National Committee here either late this month or early in July. The attitude of the French chief and, as a result, of the officers at his command, also is given as the reason why President Roosevelt dealt at length in his press conference yesterday on arrangements which had been made for French invasion currency.

W.M.S. Reviews Active Month

The reading of the King's message, by the president, Mrs. J. H. Rowe, opened the final meeting for the season of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United church in the Board Room, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. F. Lane led in prayer for missionaries. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. A. Sandercock, who read the Bible lesson, and Mrs. James Brown, who led in prayer.

Group D, Mrs. W. Burns' group, was in charge of the mission study period, on the topic "Oriental Missions in Canada." This study brought out the fact that the Japanese in Canada, many of them third generation Canadians, were undergoing many hardships, through no fault of their own. Wrs. W. T. Cox, Mrs. A. Sandercock, Mrs. James Brown and Mrs. W. Burns took part.

Mrs A. F. Lane, who is leaving Peterborough soon to take up residence in Toronto with her daughter, was presented with a life membership pin by Mrs. James Fanning, treasurer, and Miss E. Might, secretary, expressed the regrets of all the group on her departure. Mrs. A. H. Radford, guest soloist, sang "Thanks Be to God," accompanying herself on the piano. While the members were gathering Mrs. Radford played soft music, having volunteered to take the place of the regular pianist, Mrs. W. P. Purdy, who was absent.

The corresponding secretary said that three letters of sympathy had been written. Mrs. R. Parnall, for the Community Friendship committee, said that three visits had been made to the hospital, and 16 in homes. One hundred and two calls made during May and June, was the report of Mrs. J. W. Hales, for the sick and visiting committee. Mrs. James Spencer, superintendent of Christian Stewardship and Finance, gave a review of the givings of the past six months, and read a fine paper on "Letting Go."

Announcement was made of a garden party, being sponsored by Group D of the W.M.S., at the home of Mrs. Gordon Miller, June 27, from 7 to 9 in the evening. Mrs. F. E. Latimer is leader of this group.

Bishop Urges Sex Education

LONDON, Ont., June 14 (CP) — The suggestion that the Catholic Women's League of Canada inaugurate a campaign of parental instruction in sex education of children was made by Most Rev. Philip F. Pocock, Bishop-elect of Saskatoon, speaking at a luncheon of this organization here Tuesday in connection with the 24th national convention here this week. The luncheon was arranged by the five London subdivisions and was presided over by Mrs. J. J. McClafferty, convention chairman.

The best way of teaching sex education was in the home, according to the need of the individual child, said His Excellency. The answer to impurity lay in proper home education of the child.

Bishop Pocock outlined three kinds of education necessary: Intellectual, moral and religious.

pending before the House on subjects relating to Gen. de Gaulle. There has been a persistent editorial demand in the British press for a clearer understanding between the French and Anglo-Americans in the interest of all parties.

Mr. Churchill said that if a large number of members desired to "bring these matters to a head, a suitable occasion for debate would have to be found, but I would advise strongly against this now."

Given Consideration.

He added that although the Government was prepared to discuss the matter "in all detail and all severity,' the result "might well be to emphasize any differences which might exist" with the French National Committee.

The Prime Minister assured the members that "in this last week of great success" as much time had been given to discussions about De Gaulle and his affairs as to any other subject.

In response to a request for assurance that nothing would be done to prevent De Gaulle landing in France if he wished, Mr. Churchill said:

"The question is one which I hope may be found capable of solution."

He declined to discuss in detail the issuance of franc notes to invading troops on the grounds that he had not had a chance to read President Roosevelt's statement, but added:

"It seems, however, quite clear that if notes are given out to the French population in return for livestock or other services, that the responsibility of meeting them in the first instance, at any rate, would lie with the government issuing them."

Bring A Chuckle

Cries of protest rose from the floor when Aneurin Bevan (Labor) pressing for further explanation of relationships in general with the French and the issue of notes in particular, asserted the government does not have the full confidence of all the people in the political handling of the war.

These protests turned to laughter when Mr. Churchill retorted he "never aimed at such a high idea" as entire agreement throughout the country on methods of handling foreign policy and chuchles when he added," and when I think of some of the persons who would have to be converted, equally I have never aimed at it."

He disagreed with one member's observation that the question was causing "great widespread anxiety," but added if it existed" it should be properly directed to our gallant soldiers and to the great operations which give hope as well as anxiety."

IOOF Conducts Service For James McGill

MILLBROOK, June 14—(ENS)— One of the largest funerals ever held in this community took place Tuesday, when James Norman McGill, for many years township clerk and secretary-treasurer of Millbrook Agricultural Society, was buried here. Represented at the funeral were the reeve and members of Cavan Council, the reeve and members of Millbrook council and other municipal officers, the Agricultural Society, the World War Veterans' Club, Masons and the I.O.O.F., under whose auspices the funeral was conducted. Also present were the session and congregation of Grace Presbyterian Church, and members of the councils of Durham and Northumberland counties.

Rev. Walter Patterson took the service at Grace Church and laid special emphasis on the value of good citizenship in community service. Nobel Grand Rev. A. L. Sisco and Chaplain Fred Elliott, P.G., officiated at the graveside.

Among the many floral tributes, a wreath of 31 roses, representing his 31 years as township clerk, was sent by Cavan Council. There were many mourners from Lindsay, Toronto, Peterborough, Port Hope and the district.

Honorary pallbearers, veterans overseas with Mr. McGill in the last war, were J. W. Hilton, H. M. Trick, Charlie Sanderson, William Theobald, T. H. Collins, Albert Muspratt, Fred Lowery and Joseph Todd.

The pallbearers were Harold Moncrief of Bensfort, brother-in-law of Mr. McGill, and I.O.O.F. Lodge members who entered the lodge at the same time as Mr. McGill: R. O. Larmer, Harold Tate, James Bingham, Lavergne and Arthur Fallis, Wilfred Elson and Leonard Smith.

July 1 Holiday Is General Survey Reveals

TORONTO, June 14 — (CP) — Regardless of what the calendar may say, Canada is celebrating Dominion Day this year as usual— Saturday, July 1.

The official date remains July 1, and a survey by the Canadian Press today showed that cities across the country are celebrating that day, although here and there a few industries are taking the day off on July 3, the first Monday of the month.

Dominion Day is one of the six wartime statutory holidays. Early last year it was decided to celebrate the holiday on the first Monday in July, but before the day arrived an Order-in-Council was passed reinstating July 1 as the observance date. A number of calendars for 1944 however were printed with the holiday date shown as July 3, which led to some confusion this year. The state secretary's department recently made it clear that the date is the first of the month.

The celebration day is July 1 in the Maritimes and Quebec. In Ontario, the list of cities celebrating on July 1 includes Ottawa, Toronto, Windsor, Hamilton, Brockville, Cornwall, St. Catharines, London, Brantford, Guelph, Galt, St. Thomas, Kitchener, Chatham Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury and North Bay.

However in Peterborough plans have been made for a holiday July 3. The Canadian General Electric Company has arranged for a picnic for its 4,000 employees for that day and merchants plan to close their stores on the Monday. In London a few commercial and industrial firms have made plans to observe the holiday July 3.

At the head of the lakes July 1 is the likely observance date, but the Port Arthur council is meeting next Monday to make a decision. It will be July 1 at Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Vancouver.

Catholic Women Meet In London

LONDON, Ont., June 14 — (CP) — The Catholic Women's League of Canada, at Tuesday's session of the 24th National Convention, decided to print league leaflets in French for distribution in French speaking and Bi-langual parishes.

Mrs. G. S. Marceau of Quebec offered to finance the printing. Distribution of French leaflets would increase interest in the work of the C.W.L., it was stated.

Mrs. P. J. McGarry, C. B. E., of Kitchener, Ont., National president, appointed a committee which included representatives from eastern and western Canada after it was suggested the west be given a more equal share in news in the official C.W.L. magazine, "The Canadian League."

Rev. F. Craik Speaks At Special Service

BAILIEBORO, June 14—(ENS). —Rev. Fred Craik, St. James' United Church, Peterborough, was the guest speaker for the evening service of the United Church Sunday School anniversary. Mr. Craik emphasized the upholding of the Christian standards and the importance of discipline in maintaining those standards. The morning service was conducted by Rev. A. H. McConnachie, and he told the story of the prodigal woman, Luke 7, 36-50. A children's choir in the morning included solos by Margaret Dawson and Gladys Turner, and a duet by Misses Betty Joan Howson and Eileen Gaimer. In the evening a full choir anthem "Our Light and Our Salvation," a male quartette "Wandering Child," and a solo was sung by Rev. Herbert Malcolm.

Cheese Roulades

In France they are called "ROULADES" . . . Here they are known as "cheese and meat balls". But anywhere, when made according to this new wartime recipe, they're delicious.

Blend 1 small package of plain cream cheese with 1 teaspoon of H. P. Sauce, 1 teaspoon of minced onion, ¼ teaspoon of salt and a sprinkle of pepper. Spread this mixture on 12 thin slices of bologna. Roll each slice tightly by itself and secure with a toothpick.

Buy a bottle of H.P. today and try this new economy dinner. There is never "flat taste" when H.P. Sauce is used. Serve H.P., that grand old British thick sauce—also with soup, stew, salad, sandwiches, fish and fowl.

The Sphinx Of Saskatchewan

Saskatchewan will hold its provincial election tomorrow, and the outcome is of great interest in all parts of Canada. As always on the eve of election day, the leaders of the contesting parties are confident: Premier Patterson is sure that he will be returned to power; Mr. Douglas sees the C.C.F. taking at least 36 seats out of the possible 55; the Conservative party has no expectation of winning, but claims that it will take 10 seats —a bold claim in Saskatchewan. These are the hopes which we expect to hear expressed before elections. But what do the best judges think, those knowing men who can take the pulse of a province and predict with reasonable accuracy what the outcome of an election will be? The best judges, the knowing men are silent, for they cannot make head or tail of the situation. The Saskatchewan election will be decided by the Saskatchewan farmer, and the Saskatchewan farmer is as silent as the Sphinx.

Let us look to the figures of former elections, to see if we can learn anything from them which will be of help in appraising the situation. This is the record of the voting in 1934:

|---|---|
| Liberal | 206,191 |
| Conservative | 114,913 |
| Farmer-Labour (C.C.F.) | 103,031 |
| Others | 6,554 |

And this is the record of the vote in 1938:

|---|---|
| C.C.F. | 82,508 |
| Social Credit | 69,720 |
| Others | 35,249 |

The Liberal vote, it may be seen, has remained fairly constant, while the C.C.F. vote has dropped markedly. If the C.C.F. hopes for a plurality in the next Legislature it will have to double its vote; if it expects to win, it must quadruple its vote. It would be greatly helped if the 70,000 Social Credit voters of 1938 rallied to its cause, but will they? As the Liberal vote has remained steady for two elections we may assume that the Social Credit party recruited its following mostly from the Conservative camp, and it is fair to assume that a lot of that following will go back to the Conservatives.

The Saskatchewan Liberals think that their vote is solid, and are glad to see the Conservative party active in the campaign as they think that it will split the anti-Government vote. They may be too hopeful on that score. Observers on the spot say that the C.C.F. campaign has been well managed and that Liberal organization has been slipshod. The Liberal Government is running on its record, and although that record is a good one no record of achievement can be as glamorous as the promises of the C.C.F. Governments campaigning on a past record are apt to be dull on the platform. Mr. Douglas is conducting his campaign as a crusade, and has made a vigorous appeal, assisted by Mr. Coldwell, who is a good campaigner. The C.C.F. have been impeded to some extent by Mr. Harold Winch of Vancouver, who flew off the handle and called the Hon. W. J. Patterson a liar on a public platform, but otherwise their appeal has been judicious, although anything but ingenuous.

In Saskatchewan the C.C.F. has been preaching a variety of corporatism, and not socialism. Farmers are individualists and capitalists, detesting any sort of regimentation. When the C.C.F. began its career as the Farmer-Labour party in 1933, it was completely socialist in its views, and included progressive socialization of farm lands in its program, as its handbook of that period clearly states. It has dropped farm socialization now, and C.C.F. speakers have been telling the farmers of Saskatchewan that if their party is elected to power the farmer will continue to be master of what is his own, and will get high prices for his produce. And how is that to be achieved? By socialization of industry, which will provide the industrial workers with high wages. The catch in this is obvious to anybody with a smattering of knowledge of trade and money; if wages go up in the city, the price of groceries, and clothing, and machinery will go up too, and as the farmer has to buy these things his high prices will not do him much good; he will have more money but he will also have higher expenses. Does the Saskatchewan farmer see this? No one can tell.

The C.C.F. is trading heavily upon the ancient grudge which the farmer bears against the industrialist and which, from time to time, expresses itself politically or through some kind of agrarian revolt. But what the C.C.F. is trying to sell to the farmers is simply the kind of corporatism which existed in pre-war Germany and Italy; it is a system which places vast powers in the hands of the Government, and which works arbitrarily, and not by the common laws of economics. In order to give added weight to the real grievances of the farmers the C.C.F. has represented agriculture as the slave of the financial interests. Mr. Douglas has wildly misrepresented the figures concerning farm evictions; Mr. Gillis has said that 80 per cent. of Canadian farms are in the hands of the banks and the trust companies, though he must know perfectly well that the banks and the trust companies have never held mortgages on as many as 25 per cent. of Canadian farms.

The C.C.F. hopes to capitalize on discontent among the farmers, and as the farmers are getting good prices and are doing very well at present the C.C.F. has to provide ready-made discontent where none already exists. This strategy may work, at any rate to some extent. Any Government which has been in power for a long period tends to lose its hold on the people, and the natural desire for a change is an imponderable factor in many elections. At present those who are accustomed to read the omens before elections are baffled. The Sphinx of Saskatchewan, the Western farmer, has not betrayed any enthusiasm on either side sufficient to warrant a prediction. Tomorrow the matter will be decided.

Confusion About Holidays

We wish that the Dominion Government would make up its mind about the observance of Dominion Day. By Order in Council No. 8682 dated Sept. 25, 1942, six statutory holidays were appointed to be observed in Canada during the war, and one of these was Dominion Day, to be celebrated on the first Monday in July. But Order in Council P.C. 4671, dated June 7th, 1943, rescinds the previous order which placed Dominion Day on the first Monday in July, and restores it to the list of holidays to be celebrated during the war without specifying any date. We wish that the Government would specify a date and have done with it.

The Secretary of State has announced that Dominion Day this year will be celebrated on July 1, which is a Saturday. Perhaps this decision was made in order that plants engaged in direct or indirect war work would only lose half a day's production. But surely it would have been an easy matter for the Secretary of State to make his decision public several months ago? As matters stand several calendars show the 3rd of July as Dominion Day and several large industries—the C.G.E. locally for one—have arranged outings for their employees which cannot now be altered. As a result a part of Canada will have its holiday on the 1st of July, and another part on the 3rd. There is a great deal to be said for setting one date for a public holiday, and sticking to it whatever day of the week it may fall on. This has been done with Christmas for several centuries, and we have never heard of any serious inconvenience or hardship resulting from it.

Dominion Day receives little enough respect in Canada at present. Very few of the people who accept the holiday really observe it in the spirit of a national festival. We shall never have a genuine national feeling in Canada until we have a few national possessions, a holiday of our own among them, with a complex of distinctively Canadian patriotic observances surrounding it. And we shall certainly never have such a national day as long as the Government plays ducks and drakes with the date.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A report from Berlin says that Field Marshal Rommel looks as though he has had little sleep for two days. Poor chap; he should try some of that anti-caffeine German coffee.

"Science Wins Out", says a headline in a Western paper. Wins out of what? Why 'out'? 'Face up' and 'win out' are two expressions which we should do well to root out of our language. 'Face' and 'win' are better alone.

One Man's Meat

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

ONE man's meat is another man's poison; I am going to write about my meat today, and quite possibly it may be your poison; if so, do not let me detain you any longer. I am going to write about books on the theatre, and if you have no interest in the theatre you will find what I have to say very boring. In my time I have listened to enthusiasts in every form of sport discussing their pastimes; I have kept my eyes open and repressed my yawns while ardent fishermen showed me the baubles with which they bemuse and betray the finny tribe; stamp-collectors have held me captive over their books full of old, used stamps; once a toy-soldier maniac made me crawl on the floor with him, reconstructing one of Napoleon's campaigns; I have endured much from other men's hobbies and now I am going to write about my own. If you don't like it, go away.

RECENTLY I received a catalogue from a shop in New York which specializes in books about the theatre. What the seedman's catalogue is to the rose-grower, that catalogue is to me. Of course, I can do nothing about it. At present we are discouraged from buying articles in the U.S. by the currency regulations, and we are discouraged from buying such luxuries as old books by a heavy income tax. Still, there is no tax on dreams (though one is expected in the next Budget) and my catalogue has provided me with many a happy hour, in which I have speculated on what I should buy if there were not a war and if I had any money to spend.

IF you have stuck with me thus far you may be curious to know what these old books about the theatre are like. I assume that you know nothing about them, because very few people in Canada share my hobby, and most of those to whom I have mentioned it looks upon me as an amiable dizzard. Well, one of them which I should buy if I could, is the earliest play about Canada of which we have any record; it is called "Tombo-Chiqui; on The American Savage," and it was written by John Cleland about 1758. Plays about Canada are very few and this one—a first edition—is a genuine rarity, for no copy of it has been sold either in England or the U.S. for at least a quarter of a century.

I AM pleased to see a set of the twelve volumes of "Dodsley's Old Plays" offered in this catalogue which is obviously inferior to the one in my possession, although I paid much less for mine than the price asked in New York. A book-collector is a mercenary ruffian; he loves nothing more than to get a prized book for less than the current prices; he can then sneer at his fellow-enthusiasts who have paid more than he, and give free rein to the mean, over-reaching streak in his character. I see that the three-volume first edition of Congreve's plays is being offered at $30, which is reasonable enough and any book-collector might pay it. But only a true collector of theatre books would pay $15 for the three volume edition of the works of James Sheridan Knowles; Congreve may be read with delight by anybody, but only a hobbyist can read Knowles; I once saw this edition offered for $6 and if I had had the money I would have bought it. But like many other book-collectors, I never have the money when I need it, and when I go into a bookshop loaded down with gold and silver there is never anything to buy except rubbish which has no connection whatever with the theatre.

THE catalogue also lists several tempting collections of theatre pictures, another of my enthusiasms. Here is one: "Character portrait, bedizened with many bits of gold and coloured tinsel to heighten the costume; water colour background of mountains, ca. 1810. Possibly unique. A very quaint and unusual item." Yes, but not unique. I have two such tinsel pictures. One of them shows a popular actor named Butler as Caractacus in a play called "The British Chieftain"; his armour is ingeniously and prettily contrived with red, green and gold tinsel, and his sword is a realistic bronze. It was published in 1837. My other tinsel picture is of Van Amburgh, the Brute Tamer of Pompeii; his costume is all in tinsel, and he is struggling with a tiger made of velvet, with tinsel eyes; a lion, already vanquished, lies at his feet, and it is velvet too. Van Amburgh was the first theatrical attraction Queen Victoria went to see after her accession to the throne, and she has left an interesting account of it in her Diary. He literally forced a lion and a lamb to lie down together, which impressed the Queen mightily, and when he was presented to her after the performance a contemporary records that all she could say was "La, Mr. Van Homburg." Apparently the royal memory for names was not fully developed at that period.

SEVERAL fine collections of playbills—those forerunners of the modern theatre program—are also offered for sale. Rummaging through old playbills and tracing the career of a great actor through them is exciting detective work if you have a taste for it. What would I not give to have a copy of that obscure playbill of a performance of "Little Red Riding-Hood" in which a competent young actor named Mr. Henry Irving played the part of the Wolf? 'From Wolf to Great Dane' might almost be said to sum up Sir Henry's career.... But I grow tiresome, as all hobbyists are apt to do. There is nothing like a hobby to refresh us, but we should spare others our private raptures; they have hobbies of their own, no doubt. One man's meat is another man's poison, and we should be chary of spreading ptomaine among our acquaintance.

ARMY AS INSTRUMENT

No one denied that, in time of war, compulsion is sometimes necessary to force back into line those who are demonstrably and willfully interfering with the war effort. But does that mean that the Army is to be employed to pay off executive grudges against non-war concerns? And, if that is the national policy, shouldn't it apply to all alike to labour organizations as well as to business organizations, to unionist obstructors of war production as well as to management obstructors of the same? There have been a few of the latter and thousands of the former, but everyone knows which of them feels the administration's club and which goes scot-free. The crux of the Ward case is the closed shop which, feebly camouflaged as "union maintenance" and the "check-off" the War Labour Board appears determined to fasten upon American industry as the price of organized labour's political support of the administration and as a bribe to unionism to keep its no-strike pledge.—Los Angeles Times.

Gloomy Prospects For Socialists

(TORONTO SATURDAY NIGHT)

IN the very hour of victory, the Canadian Forum, organ of the intellectual Socialists of Canada, seizes the moment to proclaim that it is no victory and that Canada's blood, sweat and tears are of no avail. "The Second World War," proclaims Mr. E. A. Beder in the most important article in the June issue, "most emphatically does not make sense." It will not produce a Socialist revolution in Europe. Mr. Churchill is the worst kind of reactionary, Mr. Roosevelt "announces that he has abandoned the New Deal", and M. Stalin "is careful not to mention the word socialism to the warring or defeated nations". The defeat of Hitler and Hitlerism is obviously a matter of no importance whatever.

The Communists had to go underground, and Mr. Houde is still in internment, for telling us exactly the same thing before June, 1941, but we imagine that Mr. Beder is quite safe. He is just hurrying in to take over the position which the Communists so suddenly evacuated a few weeks ago. He figures that M. Stalin has sold the "social revolution for a mess of pottage in the shape of United States economic aid after the war. "We shall see the devastated European nations herded back to the capitalism that produced their chaos, and we shall see capitalists and communists in the role of herders". Britain is the sole hope of the true Socialists, for Britain alone of all Europe "is not completely dependent upon American foods and goods", and is not unduly dominated on the left by the treacherous Communist Party.

But a Socialist Britain will need a Socialist Commonwealth to exist, for "it cannot conjure from the air certain foods and raw materials it does not produce". So the C.C.F. must triumph in Canada at the same time as Socialism triumphs in Britain. "Presumably a C.C.F. Government would look upon the struggle for a Socialist Britain as of equal importance to a war against Hitler", and provide a billion dollars of foodstuffs a year while the struggle lasted. Mr. Beder says that the Americans (and Russians) would probably not intervene in arms to maintain British capitalism, but he does not discuss what the Americans would do if Canada intervened economically to help destroy it.

This of course is pure Trotskyism, slightly muddled by the assumption that Canada would have an interest in a Socialist Britain which it would not (and should not) have in a capitalist Britain. What it really means is that Mr. Beder wants Canada to intervene to the extent of a subsidy of a billion a year on behalf of one party in Britain against another party. He would be wild with indignation (and we suspect quite rightly) if a capitalist Britain devoted a small decimal fraction of a billion dollars to supporting Canadian capitalism, but all's fair in love and revolution. On the other hand if Britain does not go Socialist we fancy Mr. Beder will want Canada to seek some other Commonwealth to be a member of.

A Lesson From History

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

AT a recent session of the Senate, Senator L. A. David of Quebec proposed that the coming Dominion-Provincial conference appoint a committee to prepare a textbook of Canadian history acceptable to all the provinces. Speaking in support of the proposal, Senator Rupert Davies pointed out that there are a score of histories presently in use in Canada, and advocated preparation of a "fair, broad-minded, authoritative textbook for the whole of Canada."

The extent to which history books may influence the course of nations has been often demonstrated—and just as often forgotten. One of the most striking instances is provided by the histories of Norway and Sweden, and the example is clearly illuminated in the following paragraphs from a speech delivered by Dr. C. J. Hambro, President of the Norwegian Parliament:

"If you will allow me I will finish by mentioning the fact that in the Scandinavian countries we had been at war for a longer period than any other group of countries in the world. For a thousand years not a century passed without at least three or four sanguinary wars between Sweden and Norway. The last was in 1814.

"One of the reasons was that history was taught in a different way in the two countries. The stories of wars and peace and of warriors had been entirely different on both sides of the border. A few years ago we appointed a joint committee of scholars from the northern countries to work through the textbooks of history. Unanimously they recommended that the government take out of books used in schools in Norway any line that might hurt the feelings of a Dane or Swede. In the same way this was done in Denmark and in Sweden, and it was agreed to by all the governments. There have been no catastrophic results. The Swedes have been educated to be better Swedes than they were and Norwegians better Norwegians. You can try to apply that little example to all the world and you will see what it means."

Here were two nations, of the same broad racial stock, with a long and bitter history of strife. Although there had been no hostilities for over a hundred years, the ten-century record of strife permitted no assurance of a lasting peace; then they began to change their history books. Relations became more amicable, contentious matters were submitted to arbitration, and the final step was taken when the three nations brought their histories into general conformation along certain lines.

The experience of the Scandinavian nations proves that history lessons can bring about friendship as well as cause strife. Although the example is international, there have been intranational incidents illustrating the same truth. There isn't the slightest doubt that narrow sectional histories will keep alive sectional differences, just as narrow national histories have a like effect among nations. A fair-minded national history text-book would be an immensely valuable influence toward maintaining and establishing complete unity and harmony among Canadians from coast to coast.

Cost Little—Worth Much

"Every man has a right to utter what he thinks truth and every man has a right to knock him down." So quoted Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor in a message to the spring convocation of the University of New Brunswick.

Sir Frederick, member of the London Advisory Board, Bank of Montreal, and associated with other Canadian institutions, is, as he described it, "a Canadian out of the New Brunswick kennel."

"Manners makyth man," the historic old legend of a couple of British universities, was the theme he was emphasizing. He said:

"The young man or woman with a pleasing manner familiar with the amenities of polite society, starts life's race with many points in his or her favour as against those with bad manners or void of manners. And mark well, good manners cost nothing, they can be acquired by the humbly born, by any normal person.

"With determination brains can be developed to some extent, but in the main they are congenital; to put it in other words any human can acquire good manners, but brains, no.

"With one or two exceptions it is open to question if any systematic effort is made by our colleges to cultivate good manners. Most of our private schools are different and there is much to commend in their practice but our high school attendants run wild.

"There is no servility in politeness. There is no cringe in saying 'Sir' to our seniors.... Why should our colleges not introduce something of the kind into their curricula? Their present efforts—largely example, not precept—fall short."

Ottawa Jottings

Ottawa: More than 25 per cent of superior court judges in Canada are 70 years of age or over. This information is contained in a list supplied by Stanley H. Knowles, M.P., who introduced a bill into Parliament dealing with the retirement of judges, and argued, in connection with his bill, that 70 years would be a suitable age of retirement for judges. Mr. Knowles' list contains the names and birth-dates of 148 superior court judges. There are 28 of them between 70 and 75 years of age, and 11 more who are 76 years of age or more.

Youngest superior court judge in Canada is Mr. Justice Joseph D. Landry, who is 41 years and will be 42 on Aug. 8. He is puisne judge at Sherbrooke, Que. Mr. Justice Geron Pratte, puisne judge at Quebec City, is next youngest. He is 43 years of age. Oldest active judge in Canada is Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell, of the Ontario court of appeal, who was 92 years of age on April 6.

Contemporaries

SHOULD BE ELIGIBLE

There is, of course, no good reason why civil servants should be regarded as exempt from military service provided it is possible to have someone who is ineligible do their work. Hence the re-examination from that standpoint of the civil service which is now being undertaken. It may yield a considerable number of promising recruits.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

MANY INVOLVED

Two facts are obvious. One is that three non-European Powers, however powerful, cannot organize Europe without the willing support and active help of the nations of Europe. This is just as impossible as peace is impossible if the great victors are divided. The second fact is that decisions are being made now, with every advance of the armies, in every discussion of the terms of settlement, that vitally affect the future of the nations that are not taken into council. How can the future of Germany be decided without consultation with the nations? It is necessary only to count the countries that border on Germany, to think of the territories that have to be attacked in order to blast a way to Germany, to realize how many peoples are involved in the solution of this central problem.—New York Times.

A Bible Message

H. & P.E. Regiment Crosses 20 Feet Of Barbed Wire To Crack Line

MARMORA, June 14—(ENS)—Once the real attack against the vaunted German legions got under way, the Hitler Line crumpled like a burning sheet of newspaper, according to Lieut. Robert Scott of Marmora, who is serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy. Formerly coming from Millbrook, he was employed by F. N. Marett & Company at Marmora, at the time he enlisted. The letter was written May 29, to the Marmora Branch of the Canadian Legion.

"We are just having a breather after our big push this far and a few days of heavy pushing until we contacted the so-called Hitler Line. It was quite a show while it lasted and we had a real field day when we got inside the line and his barbed wire fence of some 20 feet in depth. We lay rubbing noses with him for a short time once we hit the wire. They did not move around much since we were only some 75 to 125 yards from them across the wire. However we had to have some means of crossing the wire and a few gaps to get tanks across.

"It was my job to reach the wire and find a suitable way for tanks and lift any mines in the approaches. After four attempts to cut the wire in different places and well covered by forward troops to clear the way, I was finally able to get the mines out when it was breaking daylight, making two gaps in case one was a failure. There were all kinds of small arms fire and shelling going on—quite the spot to be in—in line with one or two M.M.G.'s covering all approaches, my job was completed and zero hour came in the afternoon. It was this same unit which crossed the Hitler Line that crossed the Moro, a different crossing in all respects.

"The boys rolled over his 20 feet of wire, covered by the tanks supporting. They too rolled forward to the houses Jerry occupied, cement machine gun pits, slit trenches and cellars dug under the local farmers' houses, some 15 feet and more in depth. The weight of fire was terrific. Jerry could only take it for a time. They gave up in dozens. They ran out of all the hiding places and came from all directions. At this stage the boys' morale lifted to heights unknown and nothing could have stopped them. They had broken his line and outwitted him at all angles. Yes, the cry went all down the line "The Hasty Pees have done it again". Even mortar men were out for the hunting and taking prisoners too. What we did not get could be seen taken out and snipers having a field day, too.

"Our objective was just a short distance inside the wire, but the tanks fanned out to the flanks and the people on the flanks came in for the kill and saw the Line wilt like a burning newspaper. The excitement was terrific in stages. I saw a Jerry coming in and holding a short stick and what was a pair of white underwear pants at one time were tied to the stick and blowing in the breeze as they would on a clothes line. The prisoners were very scruffy and just about worn out. Clothes were torn nd they had had little to eat for days. Quite a lot spoke English of a kind. When one talked to them they were very glad to be out of it.

"The line was well laid out but not completed by any means. In the two gaps we had for the tanks to pass through there were only 17 of tough. Yesterday I took the oppor-

his famous anti tank mines. All kinds of mines were laid out but lots were not armed. Hundreds of tons of the same mines and explosives were in dumps and not laid out. Machine gun pits and anti tank gun positions were elaborate. Some dug-outs were cased in steel and others made of cement. Sleeping quarters were well built in, deep in the ground. Anti tank guns were power driven and traversed at all angles. One of the dug-outs I was in had three hens in it to keep the gun crew in egg supply. Flowers were growing in pots and pictures were on the wall. From one gun pit I took out the electricity and three little motors. One motor I'm going to use to keep our radio battery charged. The Germans also left a lot of good sound equipment behind and we will benefit by using some of it.

"I think you at home have every right to be proud of this unit and where we stand in this army. It has changed over a few times but with what is left of the old timers, it has still got what it takes when the chips are down and the going is tunity to visit Cassino and M. Hill. This is a pretty grim looking spot today—just one more of those battlefields that will go down in history. We have all the respect in the world for the fighting Poles on our flank and the French—they too have done a big job in this valley. News is good today and in a short time we will likely catch up to our neighbours forward. Who knows? Maybe we will get in on the flanking of Rome."

Montgomery Praises Canadian Brigade

BY WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE ALLIED FORCES IN FRANCE, June 11 — (Delayed) — (CP Cable) — Gen. Montgomery, reporting on the Normandy campaign last night paid high compliment to the work of a Canadian Infantry Brigade which has been in the thick of the fighting since D-day.

The Allied invasion Commander, in a chat with British, Canadian and United States correspondents, during which he reported 7,000 prisoners had been captured, including some Japanese, described the work of a western Canadian Brigade which is part of the Canadian 3rd Division as "excellent."

"The Brigade landed on the beaches and went right away to its objective inland and still stands there," the General said. "It was very good. It was excellent."

Montgomery added the western troops feat had not been equalled on the "British front," explaining by that term he meant British and Empire invasion troops.

MAINTAINS VITAMINS ESSENTIAL
"Vitamins" are essential to the maintenance of vigorous Health—not only at certain seasons but the whole year round. It is a proven fact that "We are what we eat" and as unfortunately most of us are guided in our choice of food rather by taste and preference than by food value, it stands to reason that in a large percentage of cases our Health is not all it should be, due to a deficiency in natural Vitamin intake. This condition can be rectified of course by the taking of additional vitamins. Your Tamblyn Drug Store maintains at all times a special "Vitamin Department" in which prominence is given to the products of all standard Pharmaceutical Houses. By reason of this, you can be assured that the particular preparation indicated in your individual case can be promptly secured from this most comprehensive assortment. CINCY ACE ON WAY TO PITCHING FAME—Bucky Walters, the reformed infielder who has made good as a pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds, is on his way to another 20-game victory season. Bucky, hurling in his finest form, already has compiled nine victories in the campaign to take the lead in the National League standings.

New Millbrook Pitcher Fails To Halt Starry Plazas

U.E.W. reached out into Millbrook for a pitcher last night and for a while it looked as if MacPherson, slow-ball artist, was going to pull the upset of the season in the Union's City League battle with Plazas. McPherson pulled the string on the second-placers with a floater that seemed to stop in mid-air, wink at them and then curl down around their bats.

For the first five innings, with the exception of a brief flurry in the second when they bunched three hits for a pair of runs the Union pitcher had the Plazas stopped cold. In the meantime the U.E.W. batters had been pecking away at the offerings of Terry Wood, scored a single in the third, came back with two in fourth and when they opened the sixth by a rally that netted them three more runs and put them in front 6 to 2 the Starr-Ellis outfit looked to be on the run.

Then Plazas switched tactics, discovered that McPherson couldn't field a bunt and they started laying the ball down with the result that in their end of the sixth they practically butned themselves into a win. They broke through for six hits, nearly all on bunts and these blows, with a couple of errors and an outfield fly sent half a dozen runs over. They came back with three more in the seventh and put the game on ice for Woods blanked the tail-enders in the last three innings.

There were more strikeouts than in any other game this season. McPherson slow-balled the third strike past ten Plaza batters while Woods who went the distance for Plazas blew his fast one by the same number of Union hitters.

Fielding feature was a fast play by Art Heal who went over behind second for a hard-hit roller and robbed Vic Griffin of a hit.

Plazas scored two in the second with two out. Ellis lined to right for a base, Art Heal doubled to the same field and Dave Wilson slashed a single through short to send the pair in. The Union team got one back in the third. Griffin opened with a single to centre, McPherson fanned. Platt singled to centre, Quigley flied to Wilson in right and when Ellis after taking the relay threw low to third Griffin ran home.

The losers came back with a pair in the fourth to go in front. With one away Patterson singled through short and Isaac to centre. Jackson's single through short scored Patterson and Isaac went home when Pryde failed to hold McPherson's high fly to short centre after a long run.

Plazas filled the bases in their half and had two on in the fifth but failed to drive in a run.

U.E.W. added three more in the first of the sixth. Jackson singled to left. Grifin popped to Ellis but McPherson drew a pass. Platt's single to centre scored Jackson. Quigley's solid sock to left drove in McPherson and Girard singled to send in Platt. Woods put on the brakes then by fanning Murduff and getting Patterson on a popper to Maloney.

Plazas broke up the game in their half. Safe bunts by Heal and Wilson, Pryde's single to left, Jackson's muff of a fly by Maloney, a bad throw to third, Burton's long fly to Griffin, safe bunts by Starr and Tucker and a single by Ellis sent 6 runs in to put Plazas in the van 8 to 6.

They added three more in the seventh on Wilson's two-base bunt, a pass to Pryde, a double by Maloney and Burton's infield single and that was all for the night.

Whipper Watson, Toar Morgan Take Mat Tussles

Virtue triumphed in the tag team wrestling bout under the Tunney banners at the Brock Street Arena last night but only after a lot of trials and tribulations for the heroes and an hour of thrill-packed action.

Whipper Billy Watson and Toar Morgan finally won the argument when the bad man combination of John Katan and Al Bunny Dunlop was disqualified by Referee Maxwell after the rival teams had split the first two falls.

Bunny Dunlop was the goat. It was his action in tossing Referee Maxwell through the ropes that cost his team the match. The finish was a wild one. Katan and Dunlop had gone berserk. Both got into the ring together and Dunlop threw Watson out and followed by hurling the referee out after him, and in the meantime Katan had managed to truss Morgan up in the ropes in true Cantonwine fashion and the villains were apparently masters of the situation. They thought they had won and when Referee Maxwell climbed back into the ring and signalled a win for the Watson-Morgan team there was an uproar.

The two bad men sailed into their opponents and Watson and Morgan met them more than half way. Katan was hurled into a corner and finally was left tangled helplessly in the ropes. Then the Whipper and the former marine picked Katan up and using him as a battering-ram, rushed him across the ring and drove his head into the prominent stomach of Dunlop who was knocked off the ropes and fell to the mat with his big partner on top of him. And that was a windup that delighted everybody—except Katan and Dunlop.

A Wild Battle

It was a wild battle all the way. Referee Maxwell had his hands full trying to make the rival teams obey the tag team rules and at times all four men were battling in the ring at once.

The bad men took the first fall after a lot of action that had the crowd in an uproar. Every time one of the battlers happened to get near the corner where his opponent's partner was waiting to be tagged he could count on having to handle a two-man attack for the partners didn't miss an opportunity of sliding in a punch or kick.

For a while it looked as if the team of Katan and Dunlop might break up in disorder. Morgan dashed into the ring once to rescue his pal and in the mixup with all four wrestlers and Referee Maxwell down Bunny managed to get hold of Katan's leg by mistake and Katan came out limping and crabbing vigorously at his partner. To add insult to injury Dunlop launched a punch at Toar Morgan once, missed the Marine completely and conked Katan on the jaw.

However the villains took the first fall a little later when Katan slapped a leg hold on Toar Morgan and with some help from Dunlop pinned his shoulders to the mat.

A Ride For Dunlop

The second round was something else again and before it was over Dunlop took the worst ride that has been handed out at the Brock Street Arena since the Tunney shows moved in. After a lot of even-stephen battling the heroes managed to get Dunlop into the ring with Watson and well away from his corner. The Whip gave the strong man a few rounds of rapid fire punches and a couple of body slams. Then Morgan took over and dropped Dunlop several times with well-aimed flying tackles. Back came Watson with a series of drop-kicks, intermingled with body slams. By that time Dunlop's grandmother could have put up more resistance. The Whip and the Marine were relieving each other faster than Jack Adams even sent in new forward lines and Dunlop was the target for it all. Morgan finally wound up the round by flopping the big fellow hard with a couple of body slams and then dropping on him for the fall.

Honors were about even in the third round [illegible] villains staged their berser[illegible] all hands and the re[illegible] thereby lost the match.

Want Another Battle

Katan and Dunlop were far from satisfied and they have demanded another chance at team wrestling but have asked that the tag rules be scrapped and that the rival teams should be allowed to battle any way they like with all hands in the ring at once and no restrictions. They may get an opportunity next week to show whether or not their boasts as to what they can do in that kind of a battle are justified.

Ralph Garibaldi of St. Louis and a new and classy wrestler Cheri Velana from Florida, met in the preliminary bout and treated the customers to thirty minutes of skilful wrestling in which honors were about even. Both boys showed speed and cleverness. Velana had Garibaldi in difficulties in the early part of the bout with a persistent hammer lock but the St. Louis grappler eventually got out of that jam and gave Velana something to worry over when he went on the aggressive. Garibaldi showed how to use the flying tackle effectively for he crashed Velana to the mat several times, and to the delight of the crowd Referee Maxwell got in front of one of those tackles and was knocked for a loop. The bout was a draw.

Maxwell handled all three bouts and as usual the clocking and announcing were taken care of by Fred Scates.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

One of the best games of the entire season is offered by the Girls' Softball League tonight with the two leading clubs of the loop, the unbeaten Westclox and the second-place Aircraft teams meeting in their second battle of the campaign. The clash between the two old rivals should be full of thrills. Both are strong in every department of the game, with good pitching, accurate fielding and hard hitting and there is nothing that either of them likes better than beating the other. In the opening game of the season Westclox, after trailing most of the journey, just did manage to head off the Aircraft gang at the wire and take the decision by a fighting finish. Aircraft hope to even the series by grabbing tonight's game and thus tie the Big Bens for the leadership. The champs, on the contrary, declare that they will make the record read two straight wins for them over their nearest rivals. Norma Strickland will be delegated to do the tossing for Aircraft with Annette De Carlo behind the bat while Westclox will pin their faith on Isobel Bullock with Jean Castle doing the catching. Both outfits will trot out their strongest lineup for this battle and the clash should give the girls' league their biggest crowd of the season.

* * * * * *

The City League also comes up with a superior attraction for tonight with Soldiers, a much improved club, meeting St. Peter's, the outfit with whom it looks as if the Camp may have to battle it out for third place in the league standing. The Military Training Centre team turned in two of its best games of the season within the last week in giving the two leading clubs, Switchgear and Plazas a merry battle to take the honors, and they are confident that after a slow start they are now on their way. Bill Lewis is still in town and the Soldier management will probably decide to use the sailor against St. Peter's tonight while the Saints will depend upon their reliable right-hander, Gene Reynolds. This game will have an important bearing on the ultimate standing and both clubs will battle until the last ditch for a win. The result should be a struggle that will keep the fans on the edge of their seats until the last man is out in the ninth. Tonight's game will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp and should be a honey.

Not For Belleville

Belleville girls' softball teams are not anxious for provincial competition according to the following paragraph by Ken Colling in his Belleville sport column: "The executive of the Belleville Ladies' Softball League met over the week-end and voted to refrain from affiliating with the Ontario Provincial Ladies' Softball Union. Secretary Eddie Schrieder had been in communication with Miss Gladys Mortimer, of Peterborough and president of the O.P.L.S.U., who are anxious to include Belleville in the provincial gals softball picture. After studying the situation from all angles the team representatives voted to remain as an independent organization for the time being at least. "We've worked four or five years now to attain the successful league we now enjoy. Why move into something we are not certain will be of any benefit to us?" asked Tommy Colden, coach of the SWACO gals. Bill Bland of the Reliance team was of the same opinion. The league executive would have liked to affiliate one team only as an experiment, but the matter was definitely turned down by the team managers. However, plans to bring a Peterborough girls team to Belleville for an exhibition game later in the season are pending. In this manner the league and fans alike can ascertain just whether or not the calibre of girls' softball played in Belleville is on a par with other centres or not."

"The use of snuff, a pulverized, aromatic form of tobacco highly esteemed by Babe Ruth, is reappearing on the diamond," says Doug Vaughan in the Windsor Star. "Ruth, in case you didn't know, was baseball's most famous snuff addict. As a matter of fact the pitcher off whom he hit his sixtieth homer, in the 1927 season, to set a major league record that has never been surpassed, was Jonathan Thomas Zachary of the Washington Senators and, like Ruth, he, too, used snuff. Old timers aver that both Ruth and Zachary took pinches of their favorite concoction, and inhaled deeply, just prior to the pitch that the Bam nudged to make sports history. Zachary later became a Yankee himself, and in 1929 won 12 straight for the late Miller Huggins without losing any all year. Old Tom's reward came the following May, when he was sold by the Yankees on waivers to the Boston Braves of the National League. Zachary was a native of the Piedmont belt of North Carolina. Naturally tobacco products interested him. He also appreciated the beauties of the old-fashioned snuff boxes, whereas Ruth was content to take his rations out of a commercial canister, such as might be purchased at any tobacconists."

Plenty of Homers

Brooklyn Dodgers got revenge on the Giants yesterday for their lop-sided defeat of the day before by pinning the New Yorkers' ears back to the tune of 9 to 4 with home runs again a prominent feature, although strange to say Mel Ott didn't manage to come through with one. In three days on the Polo Grounds the boys have hammered out 17 four-masters which suggests the old Yanks in one of their hittingest moods. Head got the credit for the Brooklyn win and the loss went to Rube Fischer who has only managed to win one game in five starts this season. Jim Tobin, Boston ace kept eight Philadelphia hits well scattered and the Braves took the game 2 to 1, giving Tobin his seventh victory of the season. He has dropped five. Ray Starr won his first game of the season for the Pittsburg Pirates, getting the benefit of a short count, against his old club the Cincinnati Reds. The Pirates took the decision 3 to 2 when the game was called at the end of the sixth because of rain.

* * * * * *

In the night games last night the New York Yanks for whom the skids seem to be thoroughly greased dropped another game to the Washington Senators and this time they did not need extra innings to absorb the defeat. As a matter of fact they could not score at all and the Senators administered a neat coat of whitewash 3 to 0. The Boston Red Sox, currently the hottest club in baseball right now rattled through their sixth straight win in easy fashion by defeating the Philadelphia A's 7 to 2, with Bob Bowman doing a neat job of pitching. In St. Louis Max Lanier who went through six wins and then ran into all kinds of trouble adding another to the string finally picked up his seventh win last night in his first triumph since May 20 when the Cards set back the Chicago Cubs 8 to 3. At that Lanier did not finish the game and had to be relieved by Munger. The game was notable for the fact that Danny Litwhiler snapped out of a batting slump and contributed three doubles in a row along with a single to help his club's cause along.

Kawartha Plans Pro-Amateur Golf Tourney

The Kawartha Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament will be held this year on July 15 and 16th.

The Pro's will play 54 holes for $500.00 in cash prizes, and amateurs 36 holes for 28 valuable prizes.

Bob (Weaver) Gray will be on hand to try and repeat his last year's win. Among the other topnotes pros. who have signified their intention to compete are Gordon Brydson, Dick and Hugh Borthwicke, Bob Burns, Les Franks, Gord. Watson, Bill Kerr, Jack Littler, Willie Spittal, Archie Gumsditch and from Quebec province Stanley Horne and Jules Huot. It is also rumored that the field will include some Americans from nearby New York State. Lex Robson, the Kawartha Club pro, whose tournament record is surpassed by none in Canada will be right in his element on his home course.

The amateur entries will be divided into three flights handicaps—1 to 10—11 to 20—21 to 32. Players will be competing for both 18 and 36 hole prizes. There will be eight prizes in each flight and a team prize for the four low gross scores from any one club.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Peterborough, proceeds for charitable purposes.

The Kawartha Lakes Tournament was started in 1942 for the purpose of raising money for the Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund. Last year $850.00 was realized for this purpose. A feature of this year's tournament will be a draw on which the tickets will also serve as admission tickets to the course during the tournament. Last year the players attracted a following of 750 persons and it is expected that with the larger field and keener competition 1,500 to 2,000 persons should attend this outstanding golfing event.

Veteran Golfer To Try For Title

CHICAGO, June 14 (AP)—Chick Evans, 53, has played 5,000 rounds at the Edgewater Golf Club in preparation for the Chicago Victory National Championship there June 28-July 2.

"I guess you could call 'em practice rounds" winked the original boy wonder of golf. "I'm the oldest Edgewater member and in the last 33 years I've played some 90,000 holes on the course—just waiting, you might say, for a big tournament like the Victory National to come to Edgewater."

Evans holds the course record of 64—six under par—"but I'm not kidding myself about winning the title," he grinned.

"Craig Wood, Jug McSpaden, Sammy Byrd and Byron Nelson—those are just some of the fellows this old man will be up against. A 72-hole score of 272 should win. My ambition is just to shoot a 70, which would be the lowest single-round score made in a major tournament by a 50-year-old."

Carpet-Makers Score Second Win

Brintons, last season's intermediate champions, had little trouble picking up their second win of the current campaign at the Bowl last night when they defeated Lock Works 20 to 2.

Doris Walker pitched steady ball for the winners and was given nice support by her teammates. Brintons showed a lot of power at the plate and started off in the first inning by chasing five runs across. They had piled up 18 runs before the Lock Works girls annexed their first run.

Brintons—T. Batley, 3b; Betty Hamblin, rf; J. Vass, c; M. Thompson, 2b; Doris Walker, p; Helen English, ss; E. MacKenzie, 1b; N. Blackwell, cf; M. Walling, lf.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Chairman R. Hendry tells us it will be a mixed tournament Friday night.

So far we have received only one entry in the doubles and one entry in the rinks for the local provincial play-offs. Can it be that the boys are losing interest? Saturday is the last day for receiving entries.

We haven't had time to check up on the standing of the teams in the different schedule groups and, even if we had we don't believe that our report would last overnight. It appears to us that every night changes the complex of the whole thing. Top-notched teams getting bumped off, dark horses coming through with good scores, brand new rinks taking on all and sundry.

We are not sure about this, but we believe that there is no more than one or two rinks in the men's section that have not been defeated. It speaks well for the grouping done by the games committee.

Claire Wallace Loses Contract

TORONTO, June 14. — (CP).—The War Finance committee has cancelled the contract of Claire Wallace, Toronto radio commentator, effective June 23, it was learned to-day, ending her five-days-a-week series of 15-minute programs. The counterpart of the program on the French network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation also has been cancelled.

There was no comment immediately from spokesmen for the War Finance committee in Ottawa.

Still In Doubt

LONDON, June 14 (CP)—As the Allied invasion arc on the beaches of Normandy extended to 90 miles yesterday the inhabitants of the Channel Islands off the coast of France apparently still were awaiting liberation. No word has come from Allied headquarters that a landing has been made on any of the islands and the Germans in recent days have not mentioned them after first saying they were invaded.

Boston Red Sox Take 6th Straight Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

Boston Red Sox are blossoming out as pennant contenders in the American League while Cincinnati Reds have hit the skids in the national loop.

The second-place Sox chalked up their sixth straight win yesterday by beating Philadelphia Athletics 7-2, behind veteran Joe Bowman. Meantime, Cincinnati dropped its fourth in a row as Ray Starr, waived from the Reds two weeks ago, pitched Pittsburg to a 3-2 triumph in a five-inning fray halted by rain.

Dutch Leonard, veteran knuckle-ball flinger for Washington Senators, extended the New York Yankees' losing streak to seven straight. Dutch rubbed it in by shutting out the New Yorkers 3-0 under the arcs.

Sparked by Danny Litwhiler, who bashed out three doubles and a single, the first place St. Louis Cardinals walloped Chicago Cubs 8-3.

Trailing until the ninth the league-leading St. Louis Browns banged over three runs to beat Chicago White Sox 5-3 for Jack Kramer's eighth triumph.

The Phillies snapped a five-game losing streak by beating Boston Braves 8-7 in the second game of a double-header. Jim (No-Hit) Tobin twirled the Braves to a 2-1 triumph in the opener.

Three home runs, one of them by Dix Walker with two on in the fifth, gave Brooklyn a 9-4 decision over the Giants.

WINNERS $17,500 WAR BOND TOURNEY—Sam Byrd, former New York Yankee outfielder, belted and bunted his way through the four-day first annual $17,500 War Bond invitation golf tournament, sponsored by the Philadelphia Inquirer and held at the Torresdale-Frankford Country Club, Philadelphia. He was the first recipient of war bonds totalling $6,700. Byrd's 10-under-par 274 beat Craig Wood's 281 and Sergt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison's 283. Shown here are Sam Byrd flanked by Sergt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Left, and Craig Wood, Right, all appearing mighty happy to have finished 'in the money' as they hold their War Bond awards.

A Long Shot

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14 (AP)—Seaman R. O. Turner, South Pacific veteran, thought he was lucky to be rescued when his ship foundered on the Farallan Islands off San Francisco last month, despite loss of his wallet and $1,040 in currency. But now Turner has his savings, too. The wallet, currency intact, was found on a beach 25 miles from the scene of the wreck and returned to him.

Lindsay Cops 5-Point Lead

OMEMEE, June 14 — (ENS). — Lindsay Live Wires held their winning streak by defeating Omemee Creamery here 6-1 in a Town League game. Hattie Eakins pitched for the Live Wires and held Omemee to a single run. Twice Omemee threatened with men on bases, but Eakins robbed them of possible runs. Johnson for Omemee was no obstacle for the Lindsay crew. For Lindsay Worsley and Green were the best hitters with two each, Worsley's being both two-base hits.

For Omemee, Williamson hit a three-bagger, and scored Omemee's only run after Brooks' long fly to left field was caught.

The line-ups:

Lindsay Live Wires — Deyell cf, Green 3b, Schell 1b, Eakins p, Parrish c, Kerrys ss; Anglers rf, Worsley 2b, Coombs lf.

Omemee Creamery— Bradley ss, Parsons 3b, Crawford 2b, Williamson 1b, Brooks c. Weir lf, Deyell rf, McQuade cf, Johnson p.

COLONIAL AID

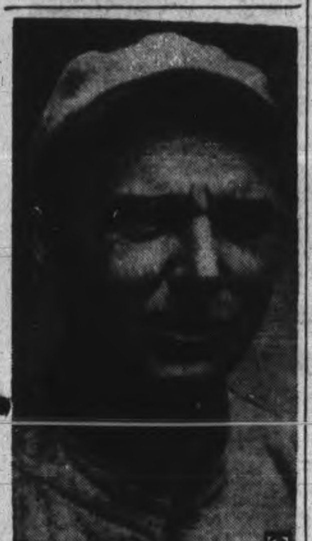
LONDON — (CP) — Contributions from the colonies to the Duke of Gloucester's Red Cross and St. John Fund during April amounted to $24,975. Subscriptions from the colonies to the Aid to Russia Fund in the same month totalled $15,948.



SCOUT FOR CUBS—Ray Schalk, one of baseball's great catchers of yesteryear, is back in the baseball news today following announcement that he has been signed as scout for the Chicago Cubs. Schalk caught for the White Sox for 17 years and was a coach.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 14 — (CP). — Maritimers have always been looked at rather askance because they preferred English rugger to the Canadian brand, but at last they have been given a word of tribute, if somewhat left-handed at that.

Harry Eisen of the London Free Press says it is his considered opinion that rugger is the "roughest, toughest, most gruelling sport outside of a waterfront brawl." The fact that 15 players start, play and finish game with none of the varied and frequent substitutions allowed in Canadian football amazed him the most, and he figures a man must be a tough egg to do it.

"We predict that when this war is over, those lads who trained in commando units will turn to rugger, not to such sissified engagements as football, wrestling or lion taming," says Harry.

Racing pioneer:

Andy Robinson, one of the vanishing group of horsemen who helped blaze the racing frontiers of the West in the last years of the 19th century, is back at work on the Winnipeg race courses. Robinson handled quarter horses in the days when this type of racer was the rage in the newly-opened West, and he wrangled Mustangs in thet ol Alberta caow country. He's still considered tops at his buisness of tuning a racer to top pitch.

Incidentally:

Wallace Kelk, Vancouver News-Herald racing expert, has been appointed to the official committee arranging the testimonial dinner for the turf expert, John L. Hervey, better known by his pen name Salvator. Kelk is the only Canadian on the committee, that includes most of the big names of U.S. racing....J. E. "Gee" Ahern has returned to his old post as sports editor of the Halifax Herald. Gee has always been actively interested in promoting sports of all kinds, especially among the younger fry.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 14—(AP). — Along with one order for tickers for the major league all-star game the Pirates recently received a request to reserve a hotel room for the buyer....This week's Red Cross golf shot at Wykagyl, arranged on rather short notice, had more than $10,000 advance ticket sales plus $28,000 worth of program ads..... Wonder how the no-tournament U.S.G.A. feels about that?...One reason for cancelling the open and amateur for the duration was the long and expensive preparation required.....Slingin' Sammy Baugh turned in times of 18.8 and 12.6 seconds in the calf roping contest at a recent Abilene, Tex., rodeo. Football folks will say he always was handing at throwing that cow hide.

What could be verse?

A couple of lines from a versified tribute to Jean Knepprath, 20-years president of the Women's International Bowling (Congress, were: "So they got up a bowling club with snacks between each frame; But gradually the snacks wore off, as on they played the game."....And that probably explains why a lot of the gals continue to bowl.

Eddie Waitkus, former Cubs' first sacker now in New Guinea, is worried about his old club's standing. "Every time we get a box score out here I have to sneak around corners," Eddie writes.

Bears Take 2 At Rochester

By The Associated Press

Two weird games featured the International Baseball League last night. In one of them the Syracuse Chiefs made 11 errors.

In the other Rochester scored six runs in the top of the ninth, then lost when Newark came back with eight tallies.

Newark was the more fortunate for the story book finish gave the Bears a double win over Rochester Red Wings, 2-0 and 9-8. Floyd Bevens hurled a four-hit shutout in the opener. Bill Rabe's single climaxed the hectic ninth inning in the afterpiece by driving in the tying and winning runs.

Bob Katz, optioned by Cincinnati, pitched Syracuse to a 3-2 triumph over Toronto before the Chiefs got butterfingers in the nightcap to let the Maple Leafs chalk up a 16-3 victory for a split. It was the worst fielding of a Syracuse team in 11 years.

Jersey City regained first place by coming from behind to beat Buffalo 4-3 on Steve Filipowicz' ninth-inning single. Montreal defeated Baltimore 10-5 as George Washburn and Tom Warren proved too tough in the pinches. A total of 14 Baltimore runners were stranded.

FIND SHIP CAPSIZED

LIVERPOOL — (CP) — The mystery of the 200-ton steamship Speke which vanished last September has been cleared up in a court judgement which found the vessel capsized due to bad stowage of her cargo. Bodies of seven of her men were recovered on the shore.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Proclaiming himself the oldest member of the Edgewater Golf Club, Chicago, Chick Evans, 53, declared last night he had been practising for years for a big tournament on the Edgewater course which will come at last in the Chicago Victory national championship June 28-July 2. Evans, who won both the open and amateur titles in 1916, holds the course record of 64, six under par, but added he wasn't kidding himself about winning the tourney.

New Jersey yesterday launched an anti-gambling drive with the result that street-corner bookies were unable to pay off to small-time bettors around New York. Previously the bookmakers had relayed bets to big gambling operators in New Jersey, but this system was reported out.

In a fight at Montreal billed as the Canadian featherweight championship, Gus Mell of Montreal took a 10-round decision from Kid Point of Quebec. Mell weighed 126 pounds, against the 126 pounds of the loser.

Remember When—

(By The aCnadian Press)

The Edmonton Grads first came into international basketball prominence 19 years ago today when they won the women's basketball championship of the world. Grads defeated Cleveland Favorite Knits 19-13 to win a two-game titular round 34-20. Grads then became almost unbeatable until their disbandment in 1940.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Bobby Doerr Red Sox: Socked fourth homer as Sox walloped Athletics.

Mark Christman, Browns: His ninth-inning single drove in winning run against White Sox.

Danny Litwhiler, Cardinals: Socked three doubles and single in defeat of Cubs.

Dixie Walker, Dodgers: Walloped three-run homer to help defeat Giants.

SEA ENRICHED

Salt and other minerals continually are washed into the sea at an estimated rate of 3,000,000,000 tons a year.

Catholic Priest Joins Presbyterians

TORONTO, June 14 — (CP) — The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada Tues. approved a recommendation of its Board of Education that a Roman Catholic Priest be accepted into the Presbyterian Ministry. Rev. W. R. Mulligan, the board chairman, said "we recognize him as an ordained man."

The Priest is Rev. Henry Fournier of Quebec and an application on his behalf had been made by the Synod of Quebec. Dr. Mulligan recommended that it be adopted and that Father Fourier "be required to take courses under the Senate of Presbyterian College, Montreal, and that application be made to the board next year for full standing."

"We want to be sure he knows our doctrine and practice," said Dr. Mulligan.

Dr. W. S. Reid of Montreal asked: "Will he be eligible to conduct a sacrament service?"

"We recognize him as an ordained man and we are willing, if he conducts communion in our form," said Dr. Mulligan.

Rev. A. G. McPherson of Toronto said: "Does not the Westminster Confession of Faith tell us that the Pope is anti-Christ? Why then should we recognize ordination by the church?"

There was no further discussion.

Large Transport Upsets In Ditch

HAVELOCK, June 14—(ENS)—A Smith Transport travelling on No. 7 Highway, half a mile west from Havelock, which was driven by James Burbank of Toronto, overturned in the ditch Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock. It is believed faulty steering gear was responsible.

The heavy transport was travelling east from Toronto to Montreal and it failed to make the turn a short distance from the village. It ran into the guard rail breaking off thirteen rail posts guarding the sharp curve, and then turned completely over in the ditch. The damage is estimated at $1,800.

The transport was loaded with 16 tons of malt, which was contained in 30 barrels. Ten or 12 barrels were broken open, but the rest were intact, although the van was badly wrecked.

Although caught in the cab when the machine overturned, the driver escaped with slight injuries. He received lacerations to the left and right sides of his forehead, a bruised arm and back and lacerations to the left knee. He was attended by Dr. Donald Holdcroft of Havelock and has now returned to Toronto.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Officer Archie Grayling and Constable W. Akins of Havelock.

Move King Leopold

LONDON, June 14—(CP)—Belgian authorities in London said today they had learned that the Germans have moved King Leopold from Brussels to Germany as a security measure.

Since the Allied landings in Normandy, they said, the King has been confined to his palace under heavy guard on the ground that he was technically commander-in-chief of the Belgian army—and therefore a potential rally-point for Belgian resistance.

Oshawa Tank Unit Praised For Work In Italian Push

By DOUG HOW—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE 8TH ARMY IN ITALY, June 14—(CP).—Seasoned, in high morale, well versed in the ways of warfare, a veteran Canadian armored brigade fought in the Liri valley with a courage and ability that has brought a prestige equal to that of any tank formation on the Italian front. They had learned a lot in Sicily and Italy before they ever came to the Cassino sector. But they learned a lot more in the battles that broke the Gustav and Hitler lines and sent the Germans in disorganized retreat towards Rome.

Their fight in the Liri valley was one of two phases, the first their spectacular lunge through the Gustav line, the second their less spectacular part in the penetration of the Hitler line and the exploitation that followed.

In the first, the three regiments, the Ontarios (the Ontario Regiment of Oshawa, Ont.) with a Western and a Maritime regiment, faced for the first time an organized defence system. For months the Germans had prepared it, twice they had repelled major assaults from its positions behind the Rapido River.

Broken In 3 Days.

But it was breached and broken in three days and this flanking thrust on the left combined with the Polish troops' flanking thrust on the right, brought down the bastion of Cassino May 18. In that triumph, the armored wedge which the Ontarios and Westerners drove across the Rapido early May 12 played a vital, possibly decisive part.

British patrols had reported Aquino deserted and the Canadian armor was rushed forward to burst through this hole in the Hitler line the following morning. In the morning mist and fog the Ontario regiment deployed and advanced near the Aquino airport, drew near an anti-tank ditch, saw the fog and mist lift.

Within a few minutes 15 tanks had been knocked out by anti-tank guns that had lurked in waiting for prey to approach their positions across the flat, open terrain before Aquino. Only two men were wounded among those tank crews and 10 of those Shermans were recovered. But the five total lost in a few minutes equalled the number the entire brigade had lost permanently in the Gustav line fighting.

All through May 18 the Ontarios fought forward of the Aquino airport, knocked out five anti-tank guns, one tank, and held the airport despite the lack of infantry support.

But that day had shown that Aquino and the little river that flowed near it ruled out this right flank as the place to break the Hitler line. From there on it became a job of exerting pressure enough to occupy the enemy while the main offensive was prepared.

By May 25 the line was breached and the Germans had quit Aquino. That day the Ontarios and Westerners advanced to the Melfa River and the following morning a bridgehead was established with British infantry on the right flank near Highway Six.

Garden Party Planned By WA

BETHANY, June 14 — (ENS) — The monthly meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held recently at the home of Mrs. Otto Spencer with 23 members in attendance.

The Scripture Lesson taken from Col. 4th 1-9 was read by Mrs. Spencer. Thoughts on the lesson were given by Mrs. Mulligan and the President led on prayer. After another discussion a motion was made by Mrs. W. L. Rowan, seconded by Mrs. Spencer that the sum of $50 be given to the church board, carried.

Two new members, Mrs. Finnie and Mrs. Walker, were welcomed to the Society. It was moved by Miss Staples seconded by Mrs. Spencer that they hold their annual Garden Party on July 5.

A program committee was appointed by Mrs. W. L. Rowan, Mrs. H. H. Ryley, Mrs. Thorndyke and Mrs. Harding. No. five Group leaders were asked to act as a menu committee. With some slight changes all other committees were to the same as last year.

Mrs. W. L. Rowan took over the program and then gave a chapter out of the Study Book after which Miss Richardson, gave a report of the annual conference of the W. A. conference held at Peterborough. A letter on Temperance was read by Mrs. Jackson.

It was moved by Miss Bristow, seconded by Mrs. Mark that the Society give a gift of a cup and saucer to Mrs. Harding as a slight token of rememberance on leaving the circuit.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Paton seconded by Mrs. Veale.

Personals.

Mrs. Alfred Driver is visiting her daughter and other friends in Toronto for a week until the closing time of her daughter's school.

Mrs. Burnham of Toronto Bank staff of Peterborough is supply at the local bank here during the vacation of Mrs. W. Fallis Bethany branch.

Church Honors Sidey Family

BRIDGENORTH, June 14 (ENS) —At the close of service on Sunday in Bridgenorth United Church Sunday School a presentation was made to the Sidey family in recognition of their many years service to the Church and Sunday School.

W. A. Sidey who came to Bridgenorth 21 years ago, was for many years Asst. Superintendant to the late P. Udy and was unanimously elected Superintendant on Mr. Udy's death five years ago. Some years ago, Mr. Sidey was made an Elder of the Church and he, Mrs. Sidey and Miss Olive Sidey were Choir members Mr. Sidey acting as Choir leader and Miss Sidey as Organist. Mr. Sidey has taught the Adult Bible Class for many years and his daughter also has a class for more than seven years.

Following an address read by Rev. M. Mutton, Mrs. Petterson made the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Sidey of a cut glass table lamp and Mrs. W. Robinson presented to Miss Olive Sidey a locket and chain.

Real regret was expressed that Mr. Sidey's retirement from business as a general merchant in the village will prevent continuation of their services to the Church and Sunday School.

Remember Soldiers

PLAINVILLE, June 14—(ENS)—The Young People's Union held a special Sunday evening service. The president, Miss Evelyn Brisbin, Miss Audrey McKinlay and Edgar Buttar were in charge of the worship service and the pastor, Rev. M. C. Fisher, brought the message, dealing with things which should be preserved for the boys returning from the war, such as the holiness of the Sabbath and the rightful place of youth in the community. The north Bethesda choir was preset, singing an anthem and a duet was sung by Mrs. Garnet Isaac and Mrs. Martin, with Miss Lettice Drope accompanying the duet.

Soldiers Win Awards In Italy

OTTAWA, June 14—(CP)—Stories of gallantry displayed by nine officers and other ranks of the Canadian Army during bitter fighting for objectives in Italy were told Tuesday with release by the Defence Department of citations covering awards for valor won by them and announced May 19.

Lt.-Col. J. S. Ross of Quebec won the Distinguished Service Order for defying snipers and shell, mortar and machine-gun fire to reconnoitre suitable positions while serving as artillery representative with an infantry brigade during the struggle for the important stronghold of Ortona.

Two lieutenants, J. W. C. Biggs of New Westminster, B.C., and Stewart Lynch, of Vancouver, were awarded the Military Cross, Biggs for repulsing an enemy attack with his platoon though outnumbered "at least four to one," and Lynch for taking a prisoner with a fighting patrol of 10 other ranks despite heavy enemy machine gun fire.

U.S. Ambassador To Canada Urges Lowering Trade Barriers

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 14—(CP) — The likelihood that the North American continent will emerge almost unique after the war in having been spared the nearly universal physical damage and destruction visited upon other areas of the world will place a heavy "moral responsibility" upon North Americans to bend every effort toward world-wide rehabilitation, Ray Atherton, United States Ambassador to Canada, said here today.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Canadian club of Saint John, Mr. Atherton said North America was equipped for this task "physically, industrially and agriculturally."

"I believe that we are likewise morally equipped to meet our destiny," he added.

"The path ahead is clear, too. The path leads to co-operative international effort, economic and social co-operation for the rebuilding of world prosperity."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Cordell Hull, United States secretary of State, have spoken of the need for the reduction of trade barriers between nations if a lasting peace is to follow this war.

Canada and the United States share mutual understanding of the need for an expanded world trade and an understanding of the "many difficulties" in the way of achieving this ideal.

". . . . If Canada and the United States have not by now learned profitable and farsighted methods of promoting trade with one another, then no two countries can ever learned them. Every indication is, however, that if we believe in and work for these ends we shall not again disappoint one another."

Teachers Give Party For Mrs. R. W. Goheen

HAVELOCK, June 14—(ENS)—The executive of the Home and School Association and the teaching staffs of the High and Public school, were joint hostesses at an afternoon tea on Monday afternoon. The event was held in the primary room as a farewell party for Mrs. R. H. Goheen, the immediate past president, who is leaving shortly to reside in Lindsay.

Afternoon tea was served from tables decorated with vases of multi-coloured iris, peonies, and primroses. Following the tea hour, an address was read by the secretary, Mrs. Fred Bennett, while Mrs. Frank McKay presented Mrs. Goheen with a plaid silk umbrella. The newly-elected president, Mrs. William Woodbeck, expressed regrets at losing four members of the teaching staff, but hoped the new teachers would co-operate with the Home and School Association, when it re-opens in September.

Main Street Topics

SUSTAINS BROKEN LEG.

Jack White, son of Ev. White, cartage operator, 592 Young Street, is in Nicholls Hospital, suffering from a broken leg sustained yesterday when he was helping to unload a car of paper. He was caught between two heavy rolls of paper.

WANTED IN COLLINGWOOD.

Provincial Constable Price Morris yesterday arrested William John Robinson, 18, Dummer township, at the request of Collingwood police and he is being held here to-day awaiting the arrival of an escort. He is charged by the Collingwood authorities with assault.

MADE A CORPORAL

The Canadian Army in Italy announces that Pte. Max Glover, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Glover of Peterborough has been promoted to the rank of corporal. Cpl. Glover was one of the originals, who helped set up the "Red Patch" 1st Canadian Division newspaper.

WOULD CHANGE TIME

Kent County Council's resolution passed at the December session asking for reversion to standard time in this county has been endorsed by the county councils of Lincoln, Middlesex, Wentworth, Brant, Perth and Norfolk according to word received here yesterday. No further action is contemplated outside of presenting these petitions to the government.

COLLIDES WITH TREE.

An automobile driven south on George street by Harry Dunford crossed the intersection of Lansdowne street and collided with a tree near the entrance to the Military Training Centre. It was stated that something went wrong with the steering gear of the car. The vehicle was damaged but no one was hurt.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING.

Provincial police are trying to solve the mystery of some unexplained shooting in the neighborhood of Young's Point as a result of which two dogs and a cow have been shot, by some one using a high-powered rifle. One of the dogs, a valuable hound belonging to Tom Curvin, whose summer place is at South Beach, was killed; the other canine victim was not fatally injured.

Casualty List Rises Rapidly

Peterborough casulaties from the invasion area are being announced with increased rapidity since Tuesday morning, and news arrived today of the wounding of Sgt. Lawrence Cyril Galley, who was serving with the Third Division.

Son of Mrs. Stella Galley, 178 Douro street, Sgt. Galley was formerly employed at the Quaker Oats. He enlisted in 1940 and went overseas in 1941. No details were available about his injuries, but he was wounded June 6, the opening day of the invasion, presumably in the beachhead landings.

SGT. LAWRENCE C. GALLEY

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM J. GALLON.

William J. Gallon, retired commercial traveller, and for seven years a resident of the city, passed away in hospital after a year's illness, early this morning. He was 78.

Born in Lindsay, Mr. Gallon had spent most of his life in the West, having resided in Regina before moving to Peterborough. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mrs. Martha Graham Gallon, and three daughters: Mrs. C. J. Mackenzie of Ottawa, Mrs. Marshall Thompson and Mrs. Gordon Stewart of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

The funeral, from the funeral parlors of A. Comstock and Sons, will take place on Friday at 10 a.m., with Canon W. P. Robertson officiating. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

PATRICK HYNES

Funeral services were held Tuesday at St. Peter's Cathedral for Patrick Hynes, an employee of the Canadian General Electric Co. for over a third of a century. He passed away on Sunday morning after a short illness. Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. K. Malane and the services were largely attended by relatives, friends and fellow employees. Rev. F. Marocco was present in the sanctuary.

The vast quantity of spiritual and floral tokens presented at his late home during Sunday and Monday, and the many friends who came to pay their respects and extend their sympathy to his bereaved wife and family and brothers and sisters, bore evidence of the high esteem and friendship enjoyed by them and deceased in the community. Interment was made in St. Peter's cemetery, Rev. K. Malane conducting the services at the graveside.

Pallbearers were George Hynes, Stanley Farley, Daniel Harrington, Joseph Leddy, Daniel Phelan and Robert Beaubieu.

Out-of-town friends in attendance were: Mrs. E. Phelan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leddy, Mr. and Mrs. A. Armstrong of Toronto, Mrs C. Sharpe, M. D. Phelan, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. S. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. C. Venter, Mrs. W Curtin, Mr. E. Curtin, Mr. and Mrs. D. Sullivan, Lindsay.

Your Attention Please!

Good Neighbors Pass $900 For War Victims

A real zeal for a good cause has always served as the inspiration behind many a deed of an outstanding nature, which perhaps sums up from two different angles the splendid work accomplished by the Good Neighbor group on behalf of the sufferers from enemy air raid attacks over Britain, through the city and district fund, which operates on their behalf.

Commencing in a very modest manner through the efforts of Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. Townsley who live beside each other on Ware St., their leadership and work through the good support of all who became associated with them has grown to such proportions, that it may fully be accorded the right of being one of the major efforts of this city for this particular assist to the war effort.

By the holding of house parties among the various members of the group once a week, assisted by small draws for the most modest of cost per ticket, it seems almost in the realm of fair tale lore, that they are now on the last lap reaching out towards the $1,000 mark in money raised for the purpose that they became associated together for.

Latest Gift is $40

Today sees another $40.00 credited in their name as their latest contribution to a good cause, giving them a total credit of $930.05 which in itself speaks eloquently of what they have accomplished so far, from which they will undoubtedly proceed to new heights and new achievements on behalf of those they have done so much to assist thus far.

This latest contribution comes at a result of parties held in the homes of Mrs. R. Mathews on Ware street, Mrs. Murray on Charlotte street, Mrs. Clifford on Perry street, Mrs. Reynolds on Albert street and Mrs. Reader on Gladstone avenue, all of whom rendered a little extra to the cause by making their homes available for that purpose, and this week's party is being held at the home of Mrs. Head on Olive avenue.

Lakefield School Assists

A much more pleasant echo of the winter that has passed than many people would have, is a contribution from Grades 4 and 5 of the Lakefield School, which had as its foundation a skating party held by these two rooms of boys and girls, to which something had been added to make up the sum of $5.30 listed in their name today, which besides doing some good on its own account, might well serve as an inspiration to other young folk to take a hand in helping the cause along on their own account.

After making a continuous daily appeal according to the original plan for three and a half years with never a miss, it was with some concern that a break should occur through the frailties that human nature are subject to when they reach the point of becoming overtaxed, but it was most encouraging indeed that gifts from those who have the work of the fund at heart should continue to come in, all of which will be reported in due course, in the matter of which the writer would ask the donor's indulgence.

WHAT PRICE VICTORY?

A police dog owned by V. E. Crebar, Armour Road, has established a reputation for himself this spring of being a fearless skunk hunter. But Tuesday night he met his match. The two-year-old dog killed a skunk, bringing his total to between 12 and 15, and then he met his Waterloo. A porcupine appeared on the scene and in the ensuing scuffle, the dog came off second best and this morning is going through the painful process of having quills removed. In addition to the number of skunks he has decimated, the animal killed a fox in the spring and has also cleared out the rats.—J. S.

Melville Parnell Said Improving

STAFF SGT. M. PARNELL

Staff Sgt. Melville Parnell, was reported wounded in Italy a week ago, is not on the danger list, according to a further report received by his wife, George street.

He was wounded while serving with the Special Task Force, with the 5th Army. Staff Sgt. Parnell was one of the 15 men to volunteer along with Sgt. Emmett Guerin for paratroop work, and he won his wings at Helena.

Formerly employed at the C. G. E., the paratrooper was educated here and is now 29 years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Parnell, 193 River road.

Must Keep Abreast

TORONTO, June 14 — (CP) — Chancellor G. P. Gilmour of McMaster University, Hamilton, speaking at the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec yesterday told of the rapid strides of science in wartime. He suggested the desirability of the University keeping up with the progress made and recommended that a committee be set up to consider this situation.

A Love Angle

MONTREAL, une 14 — (CP) — Police said last night a suicide attempt of Mrs. Delivan Allain, 42, had been frustrated after the woman had been found lying on the grave of Martin Silvers, 43-year-old bandit shot during the holdup attempt in Winnipeg last month. Held briefly by Winnipeg police on a charge of receiving stolen goods following Silver's death, Mrs. Allain returned to Montreal recently.

Strawberries 23 Cents A Box

Lincoln county strawberries are arriving on the St. Catharines market at 23 cents a box as the new crop is ripening in the Toronto-Niagara district and is filling into fruit elsewhere in the province.

The fruit crop prospects in that Lincoln area are summarized as follows in the weekly review from the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—Peaches from 50 to 60 per cent of the 1942 crop is now fairly well assured unless there is an extremely heavy June drop; cherries 20 to 35 per cent; plums very light; pears: Keifer 10 to 15 per cent normal; Bartlett, slightly higher; other varieties 50 per cent of normal.

Welland: Early strawberries were on the market Saturday also beets, lettuce, radishes, spinach, etc...; hay crops are heavy; wheat is out in head, but there has been some lodging.

Wentworth: Hundreds of acres of alfalfa have been flattened; also large fields of wheat. Farmers are making requests for help every day.

Nowhere in the province is there any suggestion of lack of moisture.

Durham says the land is too wet to work at last week's end. In that county fall wheat and spring grains have made excellent growth; most of the corn was planted last week, and "an odd farmer began haying this week".

Northumberland: — Strawberries are now coming to market; delivery of milk to cheese factories is greater than ever."

Ontario county: some of the spring grain on the lower land is turning yellow in places; old meadows are not up to normal growth, but new meadows are in excellent condition.

Prince Edward: The set of apples of all varieties is heavy; cherries are very light; the hay crop will not be as heavy as last year poultry men continue to market broilers in large numbers.

York: crops look very promising but in some sections heavy rains are causing considerable damage; spring grains in those areas received a set-back from which they are not likely to make complete recovery.

Red Celebration

MOSCOW, June 14 — (AP) — Red flags fluttered from the Kremlin and all government buildings in the Soviet Union today as Russia observed "United Nations Day", proclaimed in a special order by the Council of Peoples Commissars in honor of "Great Britain, United States and the other United Nations." Premier Stalin's statement yesterday lauding the Allied invasion of western Europe was on page 1 of all Soviet newspapers.

Sgt. Vernon Read Has Hip Wound

Technical Sergeant Vernon A. Read, 451 Rogers street, is still another member of the Third Division, word of whose being wounded in action in the invasion of France reached Peterborough Tuesday night. An official communication from Ottawa informed his wife that Sgt. Read, on an undisclosed date, had been struck by shrapnel in the hip.

Sgt. Read, who was born and educated in Bobcaygeon and is the son of Mrs. Fred Read, lived in the city for 10 years before enlisting in 1940. He has been overseas for three years. At the time of his enlistment he was working at the Shell Oil Depot, Townsend street, and before that he was employed for six years at the Hood and Cummings Motors.

A technical sergeant in his unit, he is in the division of Stores and is connected with maintenance of technical transport. Sgt. Read is 37 years old and he and Mrs. Read were married five years ago.

10,000 Workers Expected To Be X-Rayed

Ten thousand employees of Peterborough's industry are expected to parade before an X-ray equipment for chest examination within the next month, Dr. R. A. Kelly, M. O. H., told the Board of Health Tuesday afternoon.

"The first unit will be here on Monday and a second unit will come on the following Monday," Dr. Kelly said. "We have something like 6,000 employees in line already and are hoping to enlist another 4,000. It will take us about a month this summer."

Several important aspects of this chest clinic enterprise are stressed by the Board of Health, and were mentioned by Alderman Dutton, chairman, Tuesday.

This service of inspection and prevention is optional and is private.

Nothing is being forced upon any employee in this examining of the lungs of all workers by Provincial Department of Health operatives.

Again, the examining doctor and the the subject are the only two persons to whom the result of the X-ray revelation is available.

This is the pledge and undertaking of the citizens' Board of Health in co-operation with Ontario Department of Health. If any employee in any factory does not wish to know the state of his or her pulmonary health, all that is required is simply a declining of this opportunity to be X-rayed.

Every Cooperation.

The proposal was first considered by the Board six or eight months ago as a result of reports from Kitchener and other centres where this community service was provided. Since then the heads of industry were consulted as to their willingness to cooperate with the Board if the clinic could be arranged.

"This Board has been facilitated in every way, Alderman Dutton said, intimating that he had personally visited many of the managers of the city's industries. "It was a gratification to the Board to know that employers were keenly interested in the physical welfare of their employees, and were willing to assist in every way. They felt they were rendering a health service to their staffs."

This industrial chest clinic is planned as a means of determining whether any unsuspected cases of tuberculosis exist among factory workers who themselves are unaware of the incidence of the disease.

This is a personal service. If you don't wish to know the state of your "lung health," well, that's your affair. You simply don't do anything about it when the opportunity comes to your plant. Just leave that opportunity to the more sensible persons in your factory and go your own way content in ignorance of the facts the X-ray equipment would disclose.

Dr. Kelly is planning to make further explanation of the arrangments before the clinics begin.

Private Examination.

The point which Alderman Dutton was emphasizing Tuesday afternoon as chairman of the Board of Health was, to repeat, that this service to industrial workers is optional and is secret.

'No official of any company will receive any information in regard to the clinic's findings," Alderman Dutton said. "This is a community affair in which we are receiving very fine cooperation from the heads of industry, and that is their only interest. This is an accommodation in health protection and disease prevention for every industrial worker who wishes to accept it. Naturally, this Board is anxious for the complete success of the clinic, and we desire to assure every citizen that this clinic is a matter between himself and the examining doctor with the X-ray machine. We want to assure every man and woman that this is something secret, a very personal matter which we respect to the very fullest extent.

But, in the constant fight against tuberculosis a community will naturally accept every reinforcement, and we feel that if any signs of tuberculosis are exposed, and we certainly do not think there will be any serious number, the individual worker would wish to know that fact in order that immediate steps could be taken to do something about it.

However, the information is in the hands only of that person, and the decison rests with him or her.

No Further Action.

Dr. Kelly explained to the Examiner this morning that the citizen does not hear anything further about the clinic, after examination, unless some suspicious looking shadow appears on his or her negative.

"The people will understand that it would involve a great deal of detail reporting simply to write to each person examined, conveying the information of satisfactory result of the examination," Dr. Kelly said. If everything is all right, a letter of that kind is not necessary. And so nothing happens, and the examined persons know they are free of T. B.

But, if there is any dubious sign on any negative in that case the examining doctor will arrange to have that person interviewed and informed of what has been observed, and also its significance."

The first unit comes to the C. G.E. next Monday and the second is booked for Dominion Woollens and Worsted on the following Monday, June 26. Examinations will also be made at other plants.

SALVAGE SALVAGED

The tin cans used for salvaged fats are themselves salvaged after the fat is removed at the rendering plant.

STATIONED OVERSEAS—Sgt. J. K. Mervin, son of Mrs. John Mervin, Monaghan Road, is serving overseas. Prior to enlisting he worked at Canada Packers, and a sister, Sgt Sidney Howden, is stationed at St. Anne's, Que.

Dr. R. D. Defries Congratulates Board Of Health

Congratulation to Peterborough on being the first city in Canada "to make provision for the training of prospective health personnel" was received by the Board of Health in a letter at the Tuesday afternoon meeting from Dr. R. D. Defries, director of the School of Hygiene of the University of Toronto.

The commendation of Dr. Defries is expressed to the city council of Peterborough in recently passing a bylaw offering a scholarship in public health nursing to a graduate nurse from either of the city hospitals. The details of the plan have not yet been determined, but suggestions, several from Dr. Defries, are being received and still being invited.

Dr. Defries thanked the council "for the privilege of being informed of their action," and expressed his heartiest endorsation "of the very progressive step which they have taken."

"It should prove to be one of the best investments your city has made for it will help to assure that graduates of your own city hospitals will be available to carry forward the work of your health program."

An Enlarging Problem

The Board of Health discussed a general report by Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., surveying the prospects of the department under the increased responsibility that is foreseen as a result of the annexation of the North Monaghan suburbs beginning January 1st next. Alderman Dutton presided with Alderman Sullivan, D. V. Canning and Dr. Kelly present, with Sanitary Inspector MacPherson and Dr. Harold Worton, assistant Sanitary Inspector, present. Mayor Hamilton is in Montreal attending the convention of the Association of Canadian Mayors.

The Board decided to ask Dr. Kelly to present his outline of the Department's expanding duty at the midmonthly meeting of the city council next Monday night.

The chairman congratulated Mr. MacPherson on his appointment to the editorial board of the Canadian Public Health Journal. "We know that he is doing splendid work," Alderman Dutton said, "and we are gratified that others appreciate what he is doing. We feel that we share in any honors that come to him."

Nashua Paper Beats Brintons

Driving in five runs in the ninth inning, Nashua Paper team eked out a 13 to 12 win over the Brintons in an Industrial League game last night after the carpet men had apparently tucked the contest in the bag.

Brintons flashed in front 3 to 1 at the end of the second, but Nashua came back with four in the third and added another in the fourth to go ahead 6 to 3. Brintons bobbed up with a six-run rally in the fifth to lead 9 to 6, and three runs more in the eighth gave them a margin of 12 to 8 going into the ninth frame.

Then came the Nashua splurge in the final inning to give the win.

The teams:

Nashua — E. Maudsley 1b, J. Maudsley rf, Hughey 2b, Crary ss, Martin lf, Loucks 3b, Lewis cf, Montgomery p, Gilmour c.

Brintons—Corbett 1b, Weese 3b, Jones cf, Byers c, McGarrity ss, Dorrell 2b, Rose rf, Kingdon lf, Phillips p.

Nashua ..... 0 1 4 1 0 0 1 1 5—13
Brintons .... 0 3 0 0 6 0 0 3 0—12

Traffic Fines Mount In City Court

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in traffic court this morning decided to wait for further details in connection with an accident involving a motorcycle and an automobile at Lock and Landsdowne streets before confirming the fines that had been set when pleas of guilty to two charges had been entered.

Harold Davis, driver of the automobile concerned had been charged with driving without a license and also with driving with inadequate brakes and Constable Bruce Menzies said that fines of $10 and $2.50 costs had been set in both cases.

"I think they will be satisfied with that," the officer told the court.

"But will the law be satisfied?" asked Magistrate Langley. "I would like to hear more of the circumstances as I am responsible for the disposition of the cases. It might be that I might decide that the minimum penalties should not be imposed in these cases.

Constable Menzies said that Don Wood, driver of the motorcycle who was injured in the accident was being charged with careless driving and the court decided to adjourn the other two cases until next Wednesday when all the circumstances will be investigated.

There was a heavy list of traffic cases this morning and written pleas of guilty were entered in most of them.

Norman Bell pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $5 and $2.50 costs. Provincial Constable Price Morris who laid the charge said there had been no accident but that the manner in which Bell had driven his truck had interfered with a bus.

Ralph Esterbrook entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of speeding and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs. Inspector James F. Reid told the court that Esterbrook had driven at a rate of almost 40 miles an hour on Charlotte street one afternoon.

Thomas Plane, Marmora, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for driving with inadequate brakes.

Failing to stop when entering through streets brought fines of $2 and $2.50 costs to Mark Davis, Percy Mooney, Reg Faryon, Curtis Bros., Thomas Lean and L. Parcels, while John Revoy and L. McCaffery were fined $3 and $1 costs for illegal parking.

Roy Wright, Louis street, charged with vagrancy pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Magistrate Langley to a week's imprisonment in the county jail.

His Worship announced that he had been unable to give the consideration he desired to the case of Maurice Pelland, charged with car theft and he accordingly reserved judgment in the case until tomorrow. The evidence and argument had been heard Saturday.

Pte. Earl Daynes In Casualty List

Pte. Earl Daynes of Third Division, overseas since July, 1941, has been wounded in the first week of the invasion, word received by his wife, 537 Waterford street, revealed Tuesday night. No particulars as to the date or place were contained in the offical communication.

Thirty years of age, Pte. Daynes enlisted four years ago and prior to joining up was employed in the Wire Department of the C. G. E., where he worked for almost four years. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rube Daynes of this city.

Mrs. Daynes, who came from Beaverton at the time of her marriage, heard last from her husband in England about a month ago. The soldier is the father of a daughter 13 years old and a son, aged three.

Auxiliary Joins Baby Band For Meeting

Wesely Hall, St. James' United Church, was the scene of a joint meeting of the Auxiliary and Baby Band of the W.M.S.

There were eighteen members of the older society present who conducted the opening and business sessions.

Reports were given by secretary and treasurer, showing good progress for the past two months.

Mrs. H. F. Doig reported for Community Friendship and Mrs. Ernest Kitney for the supply department, having packed and sent a bale of clothing. Mrs. W. K. Sloane reported for christian stewardship.

Mrs. George Martin, secretary for the Baby Band, was in charge and she gave a cordial welcome to the mothers and children, numbering 102. The latter provided the program which followed. Prayer was offered by Elaine Leggitt, while Ronnie Leggitt read the lesson. Jean and Patsy Hewie delighted the gathering with a vocal duet. The offering was received by Joan O'Dette and Barbara Wallace, who gave the dedicatory prayer in unison. Another youthful entertained was Ian Neilson, whose solo was enjoyed.

During the afternoon, Mrs. E. M. Davis, the president, presented life membership certificates to five of the children whose grandmothers donated their fees. Among them were Dianne Martin, Joan Rowe, Peter Pearson, Phyllis Godfrey and Richard Whatley.

Little Barbara Wallace sang 'Such A Wonderful Friend," while Mary Hunter read the story of "Michael and the Garden."

The group in charge of the day were all Mission Circle members including Mrs. Stanley Leggitt, Mrs. George Martin, Mrs. Gerald Cuff and Mrs. Ashton Fife who sang for the closing, "The Song of Seven Pennies" with Mrs. A. Neilson accompanying at the piano. Mrs. G. Wallace accompanied all the hymns and other selections. Mrs. George Aitchison offered the closing prayer, after which refeshments were served by Mrs. Martin and her group.

War Workers Hold Garden Tea, Sale

Twenty quilts were on display and for sale at the North-End War Workers' garden tea Tuesday afternoon and evening, at the home of Mrs. A. R. Winslow, 198 Barnardo Avenue. The quilts, made by the workers at their weekly evening meetings during the winter, were displayed on the spacious lawn of Mrs. Winslow's home, and the novelty and touch and take tables were also set up outside. Mrs. W. A. Christmas, who told fortunes with cards, sat in a quilt-draped little booth.

Receiving the guests were the hostesses, Mrs. A. R. Winslow, and Mrs. G. S. Kingdon. The rooms of the house were decorated with vases of peonies, iris, and other flowers in season, and the tea table, set with a hand-worked cloth sent from China, was centred with a huge bouquet of large pink peonies, in a silver basket, on a reflector. Flanking the bouquet were two silver candelabra, set with white and green tapers, and silver services were placed at either end.

Pouring tea for the afternoon were Mrs. H. Batten, Mrs. A. E. Johnston, Mrs. Mae Squair, and Mrs. T. Irwin. In the evening, Mrs. F. Sayers and Mrs. A. Ruth poured tea, and Mrs. Winslow and Mrs. H. Batten received the guests. Table helpers were Mrs. A. Powers, Mrs. E. Boyer, Mrs. H. Webb, Mrs. T. Davies, Mrs. N. Austin and Mrs. J. Bateson. Supervising the kitchen were Mrs. T. Ruth and Mrs. G. McCurrach, with Miss M. Finnie as table convener.

Mrs. G. Simpson was treasurer for the afternoon.

In charge of the sale of quilts and the afghan draw, were Mrs. E. Brown and Mrs. G. Puffer. Mrs. C. Doughty and Mrs. J. Johnston supervised the touch and take table, and Mrs. F. Sayers and Mrs. F. Ivy were in charge of the novelty table. The afghan was made by Miss Jean Sine, and donated to the group to raise funds for their war work. Winner was Everest Holland, 584 Murray Street. Proceeds from the sale of quilts and the afghan draw will be used for the war work of the North-End War Workers.

SHAPELY HAIR RIBBON—Ribbon hats, like school girl hair ribbon bows, can take a lot of punishment and come out looking fresh as ever. ## W.A. Has Picnic To End Season

The closing meeting for the season of the Senior Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church, was held in the form of a picnic in the Parish Hall Tuesday afternoon. After a brief devotional and business session, the members adjourned to the Primary Hall, where a buffet supper was served. from a long table tastefully arranged with salads, brought by the members, and centred with a large bowl of peonies.

The arrangements were in the hands of the refreshment committee, headed by Mrs. A. W. Turner and Mrs. D. Eldred. A feature of the meeting was the attendance of a number of young mothers, who were guests of branch members, and were cordially welcomed by the president, Mrs. G. S. Cameron.

Fred Hooper Weds Nurse In Evening Ceremony

Trinity College chapel, Toronto, was the setting for a pretty wedding of interest Monday evening, when Laura Eileen McMullen, Reg. N., became the bride of Frederic Morphet Hooper, B.A. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McMullen of Campbellford, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Hooper, of Peterborough. Rev. Gordon Mercer of Montreal officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin, with a shirred bodice. Her net veil was caught to a bandeau of gardenias, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas and bouvardia. Miss June McMullen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, in yellow organza, carrying a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Linden Reed of Peterborough and Miss Jean Mackenzie of Toronto, were frocked alike in green organza, and carried pink roses.

T. E. Hull, of Calgary, was best man, and the ushers were Scott Dunbar and Alan Hooper, brother of the groom

The reception was held at Dalfrew Manor, Clarendon Avenue, where the guests were receive by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McMullen, the latter wearing an orchid dress and hat, and a corsage of yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, parents of the groom, also received, the latter wearing a grey ensemble, with mauve mohair hat, and a corsage of mauve sweet peas.

After a three weeks' honeymoon, the young couple will make their home at 157 Glen Road, Toronto.

Campbell's
CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP

JUST WATCH YOUR YOUNGSTERS come pelting into the house lickety-split once they get to know what "Campbell's Chicken Noodle" really means. For boy-oh-boy, this soup is rich with the flavour of fine, plump chickens.

Just taste that delicious broth — slow-simmered the way they made chicken noodle soup in the good old days! Look at those pieces of tender chicken meat! Yes sir — and good egg noodles — plenty of them in every bowl.

That's the kind of hot dish that "peps up" cold summer meals. It sure is tasty — and better still, it's downright nourishing. The kind of good wholesome soup that folks need for energy in war-time days.

Remember — this isn't just noodle soup, it's Chicken Noodle Soup. Look for Campbell's familiar Red-and-White label.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP

Our little chat with you to-day is on desserts for as we all know, no matter how good the first part of the meal is, we always look forward to the dessert, so I am going to concentrate my recipes to-day on the dessert half of the meal.

Blushing Betty.

3 lbs. rhubarb, 1 1-3 cups sugar, 1-3 cup seedless raisins, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, 1 cup flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Wash rhubarb, do not peel; cut in 1-inch pieces, mix with 1 cup sugar. Place in greased baking dish, add raisins. Cream butter with 1-3 cup of sugar, add egg, beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Add alternately with milk to the creamed mixture, add vanilla. Spread over fruit. Bake in moderate oven for one hour.

Pineapple Betty.

2½ cups crushed pineapple, 2½ cups corn flakes, ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon of grated lemon rind, 3 tablespoons melted butter. Sherry fluff sauce. Place pineapple in baking dish. Combine corn flakes, sugar, nutmeg, lemon juice and rind, butter. Sprinkle over pineapple. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

Sherry Fluff Sauce.

Two teaspoons cornstarch, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups of milk, 3 egg yolks, 3 egg whites, 1 tablespoon sherry, few grains nutmeg. Combine cornstarch, sugar and salt, gradually add milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Beat egg yolks, slowly add milk mixture. Cook over hot water stirring constantly until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Beat egg whites stiff, fold in milk mixture, cool, add flavoring. Serve with the pineapple betty.

Rhubarb Compote.

1½ lbs. rhubarb, 1 cup sugar, 2 sticks cinnamon, 1 orange, mint sprigs. Wash rhubarb, do not peel. Cut in four-inch pieces, combine with sugar. Place in baking dish. Break cinnamon in small pieces and add. Cover and bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F. for 40 minutes or until tender, stirring after 20 minutes. Chill. Arrange in individual serving dishes. Peel orange and slice and use as a garnish with mint.

Pineapple Zip.

Two cups diced pineapple, ½ cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons maraschino syrup, ¼ cup powdered sugar, few grains cinnamon. Combine pineapple, juice, maraschino syrup, sugar and cinnamon and chill. This will serve four.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, June 15

AN EXCEPTIONALLY opportune time for concentrating all the energies, funds and resources upon the attainment of the highest ambitions and cherished hopes. This may be in the realm of the romantic, intellectual, social, financial and business aims and objectives, as enhanced prestige, popularity, credit, esteem and preferment are assured. It may be necessary to compromise some trivial cares in relation to papers or contracts, but in all superiors and those in high places should be in friendly attitude for promotion and favors. A similar pleasant and promising state of affairs may pervade the domestic and social relations.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a most progressive, prosperous and happy year, with social, domestic, romantic and business affairs under excellent auspices for fulfillment of cherished heart's desires. Promotion, honors, favors, increased financial and social prestige are in sight, with all under a most expansive and felicitous reign. Sign all writings cautiously and forge ahead to most gratifying and happy fulfilments, with good luck and romance assisting.

A child born on this day should be bounteously equipped for a successful, productive and happy life, with many talents and worthy ambitions. Its gracious, noble, good nature should win high prestige and much personal gratifications in life.

CHECKS ARE ENDORSED—Check the checked design as the perennial pet come Spring and Summer. This year checked fabrics appear for play things, for casual frocks, dress-up models and for evening elegance. Pretty and prudently practical is this general wear dress, a two-piecer in a new seersucker check of Celanese rayon. The skirt features soft unpressed pleats in front and the jacket top has two pockets with yoke tabs. It's a good choice for travelling, too!—By Alice Alden.

DOROTHY DIX . . . . .

PRAISE AIDS MEDIOCRE CHILD

Brains Come in Great Variety; Wise Mother Criticizes Failures Judiciously.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I was a widow with two children. Three years ago I married a wonderful man and he has been a splendid father to my children who are now 14 and 12 years of age. But there is one subject upon which my husband and I disagree and have some arguments. He says that the children are dumb and lazy because they do not make top grades at school. They are just average children, and I have always felt if they made good passing grades it was satisfactory.

But my husband said I should always make them believe that I am disappointed in them and be after them all the time to do better. What is your viewpoint?

MRS. H. R.

Some Good Children Dislike Study

ANSWER—Not all children are Quiz Kids, thank Heaven, nor are all children students and bookworms. There is just as great a variety in brains as there is in eyes or noses. There are plenty of children who are endowed with good, hard, practical common sense who never like to study; who never take a prize at school, and whom no amount of badgering will ever turn into highbrows.

The old idea that you could stimulate a child's ambition by discouraging it is outmoded now. We have found out that praise, not blame, is the spur in his side that goads him on to doing the best he can. Tell a child that he is lazy or dumb and that you are ashamed of him and he accepts your verdict on him and just gives up. But tell him that you are proud of him; brag on how he works, or how good he is at figures or whatever it is that he excells in, and he will break his neck living up to his reputation.

But, of course, in dealing with the young you must combine praise and blame judiciously. I knew of one case in which a wise Mother did this. A very successful man used to tell me that his Mother would always find something in his work to congratulate him upon, and she would add a little tag that would urge him on still further. She would say: "That's a fine report, son, but you can do a little better." Or: "You did a nice job in cleaning up the yard, son, but you could have done it a little better."

"And, long afterwards," said the man, "when I had gotten into big positions I would look at my work and think: I did a pretty good job there, but I can do better. And it nerved me up in putting forth fresh efforts."

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a boy friend who has been very attentive for the past five years. During that time he has never approached the subject of marriage, nor has he once taken me out to dinner, or to a picture show, or to any gathering with friends. He is in my home almost every evening.

I cannot quite understand his attitude, but I have grown very fond of him. However, I feel that perhaps it would be best for both of us if he discontinues his attentions. What would be your advice to me?

A READER.

Boy Selfishly Sacrifices Girl's Happiness

ANSWER—I cannot understand why a girl of your intelligence does not realize that the man has no matrimonial intentions whatever, so far as you are concerned. He is merely making a convenience of you and your house, and he is selfishly sacrificing you to his own pleasure, because he knows well enough that he is keeping you segregated from the kind of men who are looking for wives.

Furthermore, your deadbeat gentleman friend must be the champion tightwad as he doesn't even stand you the price of a dinner or a ticket to the movies. My earnest advice to you is to rid yourself of such an incumbrance as soon as possible. In courtship the gambler's motto "put up or shut up" is the rule.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My husband and I met on Monday, married on Friday and on Saturday morning he went back to camp and I have never seen him since, though that was a year and five months ago. I have fallen in love with a married man. Should I marry this man, or should I wait for someone I don't care for?

ANSWER — Well, at least, wait until you and the new sweetheart have unscrambled your various marriages.

Bride Wears Mother's Veil

A wedding of interest took place recently in Christ Church Cathedral, Ottawa, when Elizabeth Thoms, eldest daughter of Mrs. Thoms, and the late A. E. Thoms, became the bride of LAC Leslie Walter Cavalier, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W Cavalier, King Street, Peterborough. Godfrey Hewitt played the wedding music, and choir members sang. Rev. W. R. Wright officiated.

Given in marriage by her uncle, J. C. Thomas, the bride was gowned in white embroidered organdy over taffeta. She wore her mother's wedding veil caught to her head with orange blossoms, and carried a white prayer book with markers of roses and white orchids. She was attended by Miss Elise Thomas as maid of honor, Miss Mary Cavalier as bridesmaid, and Diane Minnes as flower girl.

Cpl. Reginald Clark was best man and Sgt. James Last, R.C.A.F., Sgt. Norman Morphy, and Sgt. William Walker were ushers.

After the reception, held at the home of the bride's mother, the young couple left on a wedding trip to Montreal, Toronto, and Peterborough. For ravelling the bride chose a Windsor blue gabardine suit, with blue felt hat and a corsage of carnations. Misses Janet Morphy, Edith Abraham, Agnes Moore and Selena Buck of Peterborough were among the out-of-town guests.

Roseneath

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Small and children, Agnes and Wilbert of Hamilton were week-end visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thackeray and son, Pte. Allan Thackeray, visited Mr. and Mrs. R. McCullough, Cobourg, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Davey, Pot Hope, last week.

Pte. Allan Thackeray leaves today for Camp Borden after a furlough spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thackeray.

Rev. E. Unstead and N. Sherwin attended the Bay of Quinte Conference held at Peterborough the past week.

Lyn Pacey of Cambellford was with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hugh, for the week-end.

Miss Fern Blodgett, Port Hope, was a week-end visitor with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Blodgett.

It's a grand-tasting Cereal! QUIX

TOASTED WHOLE WHEAT FLAKES

Quix is delicious! No wonder it's just as popular for those night-shift snacks as it is for bang-up breakfasts in the morning! A really tasty treat . . . Quix has the crunchy-munchy crispness . . . the rich nut-sweet flavour of sun-ripe wheat. And remember—Quix is just as nourishing as it tastes good! It's crammed with wheat's body-building proteins, minerals, carbohydrates . . . a tempting way to get the high food-energy values you need every day, and particularly every breakfast-time! Another "Quaker" triumph—Quix is made by the makers of Quaker Oats. # Council Levies Extra Mill To Help With Post War Work

COBOURG, June 14 (ENS) — Northumberland and Durham Counties council held a brief session Tuesday morning, adjourning until two p.m. today. The balance of the day was spent in committee work but a considerable number attended the funeral Tuesday afternoon at Millbrook of J. N. McGill Cavan township clerk, who died last Sunday.

Council dealt with the insurance tenders at the morning session. The tender of M. Clancy and Sons, was accepted, the premium being $456.35.

The Schools Committee took no action in connection with the requests from various county organizations for establishment of public health nurse service. It was pointed out that four nurses were stipulated when it came up last year, with the province still paying for one. Attention was drawn to the fact that experience had shown that the municipalities with a public health nurse had the least trouble with juvenile delinquency. Warden L. E. Kelley agreed that it was a good idea but he offered the opinion that in time the province would go into the matter of public health nurses and he felt the council would be wise to let the matter stand pending future action from the provincial government.

Prepare for Post-War

The Finance Committee in adopting the budget for 1944 of seven mills, a slight increase over last year, passed a resolution recommending an additional levy of one mill to take care of post-war construction. The counties clerk-and-treasurer drew the committee's attention to the fact that nothing was being set aside for post-war work and if it were left until the war was over it might mean a sudden boost of several mills to finance it.

Warden Kelly agreed that it was time something was done in that direction but there still had been no corresponding move from either the federal or the provincial governments.

Reeve F. Barnard of South Monaghan township declared that if the council had started to set a certain sum aside each year, there would not be the burden on the taxpayer which had accumulated. The clerk said that by 1949, if everything went well, the counties would be free of debenture debt. However the county rate was bound to increase from now until after the war. The clerk was asked how much one mill would raise and he said $35,000. Accordingly a motion of Reeve W. Cole of Hamilton township, seconded by Reeve H. Davidson of Alnwick township, that the committee recommend a one mill levy for post-war construction, was carried.

The auditors' report was adopted by the Finance Committee. Discussion centred for some time on the fact that exchange was being charged by the banks on county pay cheques. The clerk pointed out that efforts had been made to persuade the bank to drop the exchange but nothing materialized. He expressed the opinion that it might not do any harm to try again. A recommendation to that effect was accordingly made.

Pass Accounts

Accounts approved between sessions were administration of justice, $3,151.14; maintenance of indigents, $5,034.05; counties home, $7,327.12; jail, $1,734.41; municipal government, $4,323.42; child welfare, $6,043.15; roads $32,213.36; miscellaneous, $50; loans repaid, $10,000; interest on loans, $231.23.

Speaking in connection with indigent patients, the clerk said that some of the hospitals outside the counties were in a great hurry to get their indigent accounts in. He said one case revealed how ridiculous it could be. A Cobourg resident who came here in the summer, and whose husband was a multi-millionaire was taken ill in Toronto one time and when taken to the hospital she was without funds having spent all her money shopping. Promptly next day the hospital sent down word to the counties clerk that she was an indigent patient.

"That shows just how ridiculous they can be," commented the clerk.

The committee waxed indignant over the fact that although the counties owned the jail and paid 75 per cent of its upkeep, the Attoney-General's Dept. could do just as it pleased and the counties would have to pay the bill. The discussion arose over the appointment of two extra turnkeys (due to eight hour duty). Council had withheld payment of their salaries for the past two months until the matter was clarified. The salary for each turnkey was $1,500. Reeve H. Woodley of Hope township told the council that he understood two extra women might be added to the female staff.

"We decided that we would not pay it until it came up before the counties council. We own our own jail and pay 75 per cent. of its upkeep yet we are never consulted when the government decided to load some more expense on us. We will have to pay it anyway, but as a matter of courtesy the government should let us know what is going on.

Reeve Sid Little of Bowmanville said that there was nothing much the council could do now except pay it, but the council should object strenuously when they paid it. On motion the committee recommended that the account be paid "under protest."

Favor Increase

Resolution from Lanark County council asking for an increase in the government grant to Children's Aid societies, was endorsed by the Finance Committee. All the government gave was $1,000 in the case of Northumberland and Durham and much extra work was being done in connection with investigations of soldiers' homes, this being done without charge for the federal government.

No action was taken in connection with the proposed T.B. sanitorium to be built at Kingston. Cost would be $400,000 with the province paying $125,000. Kingston wanted Northumberland and Durham to be in on it, but attention was drawn to the fact that Northumberland and Durham counties would be paying more than Kingston and Frontenac together.

Accept Resignation

Hon. L. M. Frost Tells Council Of Steep Outlay For Education

LINDSAY, June 14 (ENS) — To bring all Ontario schools up to a proper standard of education would probably cost the Province about thirty-five million dollars, Hon. L. M. Frost, Provincial Treasurer, advised the meeting of the Victoria County Council at Lindsay. The Minister stated that it would cost the Government $23,000,000 to assume fifty per cent of the cost of education it must be assured that all school boards will cooperate in keeping expenses down as much as possible. He stated there was a definite need for consolidation of schools specially in the rural district giving as an example Verulam township, which he said, maintained 13 schools with only 126 pupils in all.

The County councillors were critical in regard to the Government action in appointing an assistant turnkey at the Lindsay jail. The councillors remarked that there were usually few prisoners in the jail and that the turnkey could easily work more than eight hours. In explanation, Mr. Frost stated that new industrial regulations demanded eight hours a day and that the jail attendants should have more reasonable hours.

Check Dance Halls

He advised the council that there must be a complete check-up of all halls where dances were held. He agreed with Councillors that the Lindsay Town Hall, Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall, and also the K. of C. and I.O.O.F. Halls were "not too good" and that regulations will call for a sign to be erected in hallways, or on doors, showing the number of people allowed in the halls.

The following resolutions were passed for petition to the government. That county councillors be allowed special gas category; that government pay 50 per cent. of cost of maintaining Children's Aid Society; that department of justice investigate juvenile delinquency and take action regarding proper penalties; that both Dominion and Provincial governments give consideration to remodelling elementary and secondary schools; Reeve Tiers of Fenelon asked grant for new fire truck to replace the one lost in the fire which destroyed the village of Kinmount. The Village estimated a straight loss on the old truck and equipment of $6,300, after having received $2,300 insurance.

Considerable discussion took place, Reeve Paul Maguire of Emily voicing the opinion that it might be a bad precedent to establish. "Mariposa township suffered the loss of a $2,500 bridge and Emily suffered heavy loss because of floods, but these townships did not approach the Council for grants." A grant for $1,000 was made to the Village of Fenelon Falls. The grant of $250 to the Salvation Army will be taken from the Patriotic Fund.

Grant Refused

A request from D. McQuarrie, head of the County post war Committee was turned down, as it was thought to be a duplication of the organization headed by the county Council. Mr. McQuarrie asked for a grant for secretarial work.

Reeve Bent, Omemee: "We are receiving too many circular letters as it is. The only person benefitting by this flow of letters is the Government through postage. There is too much repetition in post war work."

A grant of $500 was made to the Federation of Agriculture, it being explained that $300 was a fee to join the Association for one year only, the balance to go towards expenses. Reeve Dix, of Mariposa, stated that labor and industry were organized and the agriculture should be.

21—Leads From Bidding

MANY A TIME the best lead to make, to begin the play, will be clearly indicated by the bidding which the opponents did before they reached their final contract. Often they will bid more than one suit, giving you a pretty fair picture of their hands. This can enable you sometimes to be pretty sure about how the declarer will play for his contract, consequently pretty certain about what he wishes you would lead and what he wishes you would not lead.

Many such situations can be easily classified. First among them is the case in which only two declarations have been mentioned—the one which becomes the final contract and a suit which had been bid by the player who ultimately becomes the dummy. In these cases, the declarer generally would rather have you lead the suit bid by the dummy than anything else, especially if the contract is No Trump. That helps him to get a head start in setting up the suit. So leading that suit would usually be the worst lead possible.

Let us now consider several bidding sequences, as follows:

| | South | North | | South | North |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1. | 1♠ | 2♥ | 5. | 1♠ | 2♥ |
| | 2♠ | 3♠ | | 3♦ | 4♦ |
| | 4♠ | | | 5♦ | |
| 2. | 1NT | 2♥ | 6. | 1♠ | 1NT |
| | 3NT | | | 2♥ | 3♥ |
| | | | | 4♥ | |
| 3. | 1♠ | 2♥ | 7. | 1♦ | 1♥ |
| | 2NT | 3NT | | 1NT | 2♣ |
| | | | | 3NT | |
| 4. | 1♠ | 1NT | 8. | 1♠ | 4♠ |
| | 2♠ | 3♠ | | | |
| | 4♠ | | | | |

Without knowing what cards you hold, you can come pretty close to deciding what would be the best and worst leads against those bidding sequences. A heart would be an overwhelmingly bad lead in the case of No. 1, 2, 3 or 7, and a spade would be just about as bad against 1 or 3. In each of these cases, you would be doing just about what the declarer would hope. Unless your holding is very freakish, lead something else.

In the case of No. 5, a trump would usually be the best lead because the declarer is clearly in a position for what is called a cross-ruff. He can trump hearts in his own hand and spades in the dummy, each time using only one trump to take a trick. Leading a trump makes him use two trumps to take a trick.

A trump lead is also indicated in the case of No. 6. Here the declarer is prepared to get rid of some of his spades by trumping them in the dummy, and an early trump lead will use up one of dummy's trumps and perhaps impede the process.

In the case of No. 7, not only are you steered away from the dummy's dangerous heart suit, but the second-round club bid guides you into considering a club lead to knock out the side entry or entries for the dummy's hearts. Whether you would lead that or the unbid spades would depend on your own holding.

In the case of No. 4 and No. 8, your own holding must guide you in deciding whether to make a trump lead, to cut down apparent desire by the dummy to do some ruffing, or to prefer the unbid suits.

One more kind of situation, in leading against a suit contract, is that in which you hold four or more of the declarer's trumps, with some fairly high card at the top. In this spot, it is often best to lead your longest suit, in the hope of making the declarer ruff and ultimately making him shorter in trumps than yourself. Nothing upsets the average declarer more than to find, along in the play, that some defender holds one more trump than he does himself.

In general, don't treat your opening lead as either a pure guess, or as a place in which you must slavishly follow somebody's table. Consider it a chance to do some thinking—not always right, surely sometimes wrong, but anyhow, thinking.

Aerial Blows Pulverize French Bases

R.A.F. In Daylight Crumples Le Havre Sub Pens

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 15 — (AP).—A force of between 1,000 and 2,000 American heavy bombers and escorting fighters swept over France this morning, bombing airplane plants, airfields and railroad facilities in a dozen places.

Berlin radio reported an attack on the great industrial city of Hanover in Germany, while lighter Allied warplane from bases in Normandy and Britain continued their widespread support campaign in a smashing follow-up to an 1,100-bomber operation overnight.

As a part of the latter operation several hundred Lancasters blasted E-boat pens at Le Havre with sixton "factory busters" in daylight.

Drop 2,800 Tons.

Twenty-eight hundred tons of explosives were dropped on the port in two separate attacks, the first just before dusk, being the R.A.F.'s heaviest daylight bombardment of the war and its first high altitude daylight precision blow.

Targets of the American heavies to-day ranged from Nantes, La Poisonniere and Angouleme to Beauvais, La Frilliere and Bordeaux. The force comprised approximately 1,000 bombers and several hundred more fighters, possibly approximating yesterday's record of 1,500-bomber force.

The multiple attack, the deepest penetration of France since the invasion, took the bombers over a 300-mile expanse from Beauvais, 40 miles north of Paris and 100 miles east of the battle-line, to Bordeaux,

Infantile Paralysis Claims Disputed By Medical Board

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CHICAGO, June 15 — (AP) — A charge that the public and many doctors have been misled by publicity about the infantile paralysis treatment of Sister Elizabeth Kenny famous Australian nurse, was made to the American Medical Association here today in a report by seven University professors, all physicians.

They also said they acknowledge publicity accorded her has stimulated the Medical profession to more effective treatment.

The seven appointed two years ago to evaluate the Kenny treatment by the Orthopedic section of the American Medical Association and by the American Academy of Orthopedic surgeons and the American Orthopedic Association.

"There is no evidence," the report said, "that the Kenny treatment prevents or decreases the amount of paralysis. We criticize severely the oft-repeated statement of Miss Kenny to patients who have come to her after treatment elsewhere that had this case come to her earlier the disability would have been prevented. Such statements are not founded on facts.

Sudden Recoveries

"Spontaneous recovery in Poliomylitis occurs in many cases. Reports in the Medical Literature indicate that this varies in different epidemics from 50 to 80 per cent. We have seen many patients receiving the Kenny treatment who showed no muscle involvement at any time, yet she assumes credit for their satisfactory results and does not take into account for the fact of spontaneous recovery."

In another place the report said: "Miss Kenny has repeatedly stated that under 'orthodox' treatment only 13 per cent. of the patients recovered without paralysis, while under her treatment over 80 per cent. recovery....Miss Kenny's statement of 80 per cent. recovery under her treatment has not been supported by accurate statistics in a significant number of cases.

"The figure on 'orthodox' treatment is taken from an article which dealt entirely with severely paralzed patients. Miss Kenny has been told repeatedly that this is not a fair comparison to make and that, if every case in an expidemic is included in the statistics, recovery of from 70 to 90 per cent. can be expected from 'orthodox' treatment. Miss Kenny made this inaccurate comparison as late as May, 1944.

Saw 740 Patients

"Some people using the Kenny treatment believe that paralysis can be prevented when treatment is started early enough; that is, prior to the onset of paralysis. We have seen enough cases, however, in which the Kenny treatment was instituted very early to be convinced that this does not prevent or even minimize the degree of permanent paralysis...."

The committee in its study visited six cities and 16 clinics, where about 740 patients were examined, of whom approximately 650 had been treated by the Kenny method.

The committee members are Doctors Ralph K. Ghormley, University of Minnesota Post-Graduate School, chairman; Edward L. Compere, University of Illinois College of Medicine; James A. Dickson, Cleveland Clinic; Robert V. Funsten, University of Virginia Department of Medicine; J. Albert Key, Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis; H. R. McCarroll, Washington University School of Medicine; and Herman C. Schumm, University of Wisconsin Medical School and Marquette University School of Medicine.

Mayors Disagree On Home Plan

ABOARD S.S. ST. LAWRENCE AT TADOUSSAC, Que, June 15.—(CP).—Opinion was divided yesterday among delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities as to what form to give a resolution to be adopted on a "housing program for Canada' at the end of the five-day conference-cruise.

Opinions were expressed by mayors and other civic officials from different parts of Canada with the matter being returned to the Resolutions committee for final drafting and further discussion.

Discussion of the housing problem followed an address Tuesday by Dr. C. A. Curtis of Queens University, Kingston, Ont., chairman of the sub-committee on housing and community planning of the Federal Advisory committee on post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation

In his address, Dr. Curtis saiad supplying housing was not yet the responsibility of "any government, adding that the matter of controlling housing "generally should be a responsibility of the local government and sometimes of the provinces."

Mayor J. E. Lloyd of Halifax, said "what is confusing most municipalities in this county regarding the housing problem, is a lack of a definite statement by the Federal government of its policy."

He asked that such a statement, particularly in regard to slum clearance in larger cities, be made as soon as possible. He said such a statement of policy had been asked last year with "absolutely no result."

Not Released.

Replying to Mr. Lloyd, Dr. Curtis said that the report of his subcommittee was now in the hands of the Government and that he was hopeful to have the recommendations contained in it taken up by the Government. He was unable to say any more since the report, although in the hands of the Government for three months, had not yet been printed and released.

Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa said that the federation's resolution last year urging the Federal Government to call a conference of Dominion, provincial and municipal governments to study the housing situ-

C.C.F. Policies Keenly Debated

(By Canadian Press Staff Writer)

REGINA, June 15.—(CP).—Saskatchewan voters walked to the polls today to decide whether the Liberal provincial administration elected in 1938 shall be retained in office.

Through most of the province there was sunshine. Votes were being cast in 48 of the 49 provincial constituencies. Balloting in the remote Cumberland riding has been postponed until June 24. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. M.D.T. (11 a.m. to 7 p.m. E.D.T.).

The election campaign has been fought mainly on the issue of the C.C.F. policies, which Liberal and Progressive Conservative candidates have said mean "socialization" of land and the loss of freedom to farmers. The C.C.F. speakers have replied that their party always has fought for security of the farmer on his land.

The main antagonists in point of numbers are the Liberal and C.C.F. candidates, the former with 50 candidates for the 51 seats to be decided today and the latter with 51. The Progressive Conservatives have 39 candidates in contests to be decided today.

For the first time, candidates who have a small but sufficient majority at the close of counting today will remain uncertain whether they will have a seat in the new government. An unusual element is the vote from Saskatchewan voters with the armed forces in the province. They will vote for candidates in their home ridings, and with "several thousand voters" in the services, upsets are possible when the "soldier vote" is added to the returns to be counted today.

Stewart Reyburn Wounded

Apsley Soldier Returns From Italy

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP). — Lieut. Stewart Reburn, former Canadian figure skating star, was among a group of 16 officers and 98 other ranks—15 of them hospital cases — who returned to Toronto from overseas to-day. Lieut. Reburn, former skating partner of Sonja Henie, served 15 months overseas with the 48th Highlanders of Toronto and received shrapnel wounds in Italy.

Wounded in the left leg, it was feared at first he might never skate again. Doctors, however, have expressed belief the leg will heal normally.

Pte. Jack Cartmill of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., said he was "laid out" while serving with the Royal Canadian Regiment at Campobasso in Italy. He was wounded in the leg.

Cartmill related his experience with the German six-barrelled mortars—it was an exploding mortar shell which wounded him—and says there usually is time to take cover when they are fired.

"We always got a warning. They fire two shells first and then the other four follow. It gives us time to duck into a slit trench.

Pte. E. F. Young of Apsley and Pte. Bill Lawson of Guelph were other Ontario men among the arrivals.

Gen. de Gaulle Returns From France

Allied-French Relations Still Clouded

LONDON, June 15.— (CP).) — The French Committee of National Liberation reported to-day that Gen. Charles de Gaulle during his trip to the Normandy beachhead had "left everywhere instructions regarding resumption of civil administration, organization of supplies and public relief."

In a communique issued through the French press service, the committee said De Gaulle had been a "most moving demonstration of courage and devotion by the population of Isigny and that elsewhere he was greeted in the same atmosphere of immense fervor."

Gen. de Gaulle, back in Britain after a triumphal reception on French soil, laid before British and American political and military councils a claim of enthusiastic support from newly-liberated Frenchmen to back his demand for recognition of the French Committee of National Liberation as the voice of France.

De Gaulle was said to be planning tentatively to return briefly to Algiers to report to the French Consultative Assembly on the result of his discussions with British government heads and with Gen. Eisenhower, before proceeding to the United States to see President Roosevelt.

The London Press hailed the general's brief trip to the Normandy front with the expressed hope it would help solve the ticklish situation.

Recognize Partisans

A London Standard editorial characterized De Gaulle's visit to France as "widely welcomed" on both sides of the Channel, and said that "whatever may be the political differences still to be resolved, the paramount need of the House is that the military campaign should be assisted in every way possible."

The newspaper saw in the visit "recognition" by Gen. Eisenhower of the importance of the Partisans' role in the battle for France, and commented it would have been "tragic if political differences in any way blighted the hopes of advantages to be secured for our cause now by full mobilization of the resistance movement."

De Gaulle's return to France yesterday, for the first time in four years, received a warm welcome from cheering crowds. No official disclosure of the length of his visit was made, but the Brazzaville radio in French Equatorial Africa said he stayed only a few hours.

But the enthusiasm with which the French greeted him was marred by a reported disagreement involving employment of French liaison officers during the invasion. On this subject, however, British-American diplomatic quarters remained silent.

While he was in Normandy, qualified sources in London said

Fierce Nazi Counter Attacks Repulsed By British Armor

Germans Using 6-Barrelled Rocket Mortar

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, 11.30 a.m., June 15—(CP Cable).—German formations, occupied with British thrusts southeast of Bayeux and from the Allied beachhead east of the River Orne, evidently have been compelled to hold the northern and western perimeter around the city of Caen with what they had left of badly-battered units which lost heavily in abortive counter-attacks.

But the Germans are strongly dug in and using their 'Nebelwerfer' six-barrelled rocket mortar and other weapons to block the way to Caen, the strategic city six miles inland on the Orne River. Their equipment also includes well-sighted anti-tank guns and artillery.

The rocket mortar was used against Canadian troops on the Moro River line in Italy and also in Sicily, but this is the first experience of it for the 3rd Canadian Infantry Division.

Strong Canadian patrols are on the prowl every night, feeling out these positions and Canadian artillery is shelling the area.

Work From France.

This morning Spitfires, Typhoons and Thunderbolts, refuelling and rearming on French airstrips, have been shuttling over the German lines at tree-top height.

They are strafing enemy positions and attacking anything appearing on the roads to and from Caen.

The Germans have thinned out considerably in this British-Canadian sector of the Caen perimeter but they still hold some formidable positions.

Canadian soldiers took note of the "Nebelwerfer" when the enemy started using it here.

Maj. Phil Strickland of Saskatoon said he was at forward headquarters when he saw a flash of flame from one of the German positions, followed by a billow of black smoke —and then mortar bombs crashed in rapid succession in the nearby fields.

There has not been any great concentration of fire from the "Nebelwerfer," which used to be known to Canadians in Italy as "Moaning Minnie."

REFUGE IN CONVENT—Mrs. Margaret Roosevelt Pallavicini, second cousin of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, escaped harm at the hands of the Nazi occupation authorities in Rome by taking shelter in a convent, accompanied by her six-year-old daughter, Julia. The Nazis were on the look-out for her.

American Forces Drive To Sever Main Highway

BY WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press War Correspondent

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 15 — (AP) — British Infantry and armor repulsed fierce German counterattacks in Villers-Bogate Sector, southwest of Caen, headquarters announced today, while American forces thrusting westward from captured Carentan drove closer to the Germans' last west coast communications linking Cherbourg with the rest of France.

A Berlin radio report said less than six miles separated the American forces from the main road and railway running near the west coast, asserting Allied troops have reached Pretot, nine miles west of Carentan.

Gains were hammered out in spite of furious counter-attacks all along the 100-mile invasion front into which the Germans have thrown about 30 Divisions and 300 tanks.

Allies Hold Firm

Allied headquarters, confirming that American infantry and parachute troops, supported by tanks had scored further gains west of Carentan, said Allied soldiers were holding firm everywhere else despite the massive nature of the German counter-stroke and were inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

This was after it was acknowledged that British units at the eastern end of the line had been forced to give up Troarn, eight miles east of Caen, and Villers-Bocage.

Further heavy counter-attacks in the Villers-Bocage area were turned back late yesterday. Headquarters said, and British forces were still secure in their hold on Caumont, their other most advanced point 20 miles southwest of Caen Seventeen German tanks, including eight 60-ton Tigers, were knocked out yesterday, headquarters said. The other eight tanks were Panthers armed with 75 mm. guns.

At the western end of the line, the Americans first moved forward on a nine-mile front to the Les Sablons-Bapte area, south of Ste. Mere Eglise and only about seven miles from high ground overlooking La Haye du Puits on the west coast road and rail line leading to Cherbourg.

Gain 3½ Miles.

A Berlin radio commentator, Ludwig Sertogius, then reported that they had gained another 3½ miles to the west, reaching Pretot, less than six miles from La Haye du Puits.

In Mountebourg, 14 miles southwest of Cherbourg, headquarters said street fighting was in progress. But the fighting here was fluid, and the Germans in mid-afternoon claimed they were again in possession of the town.

American forces also were engaged in heavy fighting in the Pont L'Abbe area, four miles north of Pretot, and along the road from Montebourg to Quineville on the coast. The Americans advanced both in the Pont L'Abbe area and around Quineville, which represents the Allied right flank.

A German counter-attack drove British forces from Troarn, today's Allied Headquarters communique announced earlier.

Presumably Canadians also are fighting in the Troarn area as the British 6th Air-Borne Division, which includes Canadian paratroopers, has been operating in this region since the D-Day landings.

Heavy battles involving both tanks and infantry were reported in almost every sector of the winding 100-mile front and airmen said the German High Command was rushing up reserves by every available means under cover of the few hours of darkness. A front dispatch said

Brave Fellows

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP).—Bloodhounds on the scent of an escaped German prisoner of war led searchers to an old church. Two of the party climbed a tower, opened a trap door and felt something alive brush past. They quickly retreated, then returned with reinforcements. A soldier slithered through the door and came face to face with two frightened pigeons.

Allies Occupy Orvieto In Italian Push

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, June 15 — (AP) — Allied troops, breaking the stiffening German resistance of the last three days, have made a general advance all along their line in Italy taking Orvieto, Aquila and Narni and pushing onward, Allied Headquarters announced today.

Orvieto is 57 miles northeast of Rome; Narni, 41 miles north, and Aquila, 54 miles northwest. Along the west coast the 5th Army has advanced 79 miles beyond Rome.

As one 8th Army column entered Oriento, an important road junction northeast of Lake Bolsena, another reached the outskirts of Terni but was delayed by a blown bridge and a German counter-attack in the vicinity of the city.

Fifth Army troops along the west coast met determined enemy resistance at Magliano, 11 miles northeast of Orbetello, but overcame it and entered the town.

The fall of Obretello itself, a west coast town 71 miles beyond Rome, and the centre of German resistance to the 5th Army's offensive, was reported last night.

In the Lake Bolsena area French troops continued to advance and American units reached Pitigliano, 11 miles west of the northern end of the lake, and sent reconnaissance elements farther.

Troops of the 8th Army in the Adriatic sector are across the Saline river, which flows into the Sea 17 miles northwest of Ortona.

Huge Planes In Action First Time

Bombers Carry Great Load; Have Long Range

WASHINGTON, June 15 —(AP)— The United States Army threw a new fighting giant into the war in the Pacific today, turning loose the new B-29 Superfortresses in an air attack on the Japanese homeland.

A terse war department communique said:—

"B-29 Superfortresses of the United States Army Air Forces 20th Bomber Command bombed Japan today."

It was the first fighting assignment for the sky mammoth, and the announcement also served to disclose for the first time the existence of the 20th air force of which the 20th Bomber Command is a part, a world-roaming unit under the personal direction of Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces.

No Details

The war department withheld details on the new bombing of Japan proper—first such attack on the mainland since the Doolittle raid of April 18, 1942.

However, the War Department subsequently disclosed that planes taking part in today's raid came from the India-China-Burma theatre.

The B-29, it was disclosed for the time, is a heavily armored ship whose bomb load, range and ceiling exceed that of any other plane. It is powered by four engines of 2,000 horsepower each, each carrying two superchargers. Its wing span is 141.2 feet, as compared with B17's (Fly-Fortress) span of 104 feet.

There was no immediate hint of what part of Nippon had been hit, nor from where the B-29's went into action.

But Arnold said in connection with the announcement:—

"This employment of the B-29 makes possible the softening up attack on Japan very much earlier than would be possible with aircraft hitherto known to combat."

Firm Foothold Held By Allies

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP). —War Secretary Stimson said today the Allies have established a firm foothold on the European coast.

"I believe we are there to stay until all of France is liberated and Germany defeated," he asserted, although cautioning that "we must expect counter-attacks greater than any yet met" in the fighting in Normandy.

Mr. Stimson told a news conference that destruction or heavy damage to nine bridges over the Seineriver by Allied air forces was one major factor in slowing down development of a major counter-attack—"a delay longer than we could reasonably have counted upon."

"The further information which has now come on the initial landings of our men on the French coast," the secretary said "is a case in point to illustrate the desirability of not reaching hasty conclusions. The west wall was no myth or pushover."

Mr. Stimson noted that Allied forces suffered casualties in the operation "but not as many as our commanders were obliged to calculate upon beforehand."

Submarine Fails To Sink Trawler

BOSTON, June 15 — (CP) — A German submarine invaded the north Atlantic fishing grounds recently, shelled and machine-gunned a Boston trawler and forced all but two of the crew to abandon ship.

The submersible finally left, her skipper apparently thinking the trawler would sink. Then the crew put the vessel in shape and brought her into port early today, her hull and superstructure looking almost like a sieve.

Details of the attack were given at a press conference by Captain James L. Abbot, 35, skipper of the 145-ton fishing vessel, The Lark, owned by F. J. O'Hara Brothers, Boston operators.

The sub first was sighted about 2.30 a.m., Captain Abbott said but was mistaken at first for a friendly patrol boat. Then John Aspell, at the wheel, got a good look in the moonlit night and Abbott immediately roused the crewmen who were sleeping.

The enemy fired one shot across the bow and then opened up with machine guns as the fishermen scrambled into their dories. Captain Abbott, his 74-year-old cook Dan Maloney and the ship's dog, Rex, remained aboard.

The sub fired from about 300 feet, the Captain said, but there were no casualties. Then the underseas craft vanished and the men pulled about a mile from their ship. One dory started back, however, and the U-boat returned.

This time she circled, slamming shells into the Lark.

"There were 500 holes in the sails," Abbott related. Seven large holes were ripped in the hull. Abbott said a third type of weapon which he could not describe also was used.

Turk Minister Resigns Post

NEW YORK, June 15 — (CP) — The Turkish radio said today that Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu resigned after a Cabinet meeting during which he failed to gain support for his policies.

The broadcast in Arabic, reported by U.S. government monitors, added that Premier Sukru Sarcaglu would take over the foreign ministry.

Berlin radio dispatches news of the resignation as a "flash" under a Sofia dateline.

Menemencioglu has been Foreign Minister for 22 months. Foreign Secretary Eden conferred with him in Cairo after Mr. Eden and State Secretary Hull had been together to Moscow in the spring of 1943. He accompanied President Ismet Inonu in the spring of 1943. He of Turkey to Cairo in December of 1943 where the two spent three days talking with president Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Last April 20 Menemencioglu announced that Turkey no longer would permit the exportation of chrome into Germany—a diplomatic victory for the Allies.

Wants International Court

F.D.R. Suggests Post-War Council

WASHINGTON, June 15 —(AP)— President Roosevelt today made public the administration's conception of a postwar international peace organization providing for a council representing all nations, to concern itself with the settlement of international disputes and to prevent war.

The president said the organization also should include an international court of justice.

Mr. Roosevelt issued his statement after a conference with State Secretary Hull, Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Dr. Isiah Bowman and Leo Pasvotsky, officials of state department who have been working on postwar planning.

"It is our thought," the president said in his statement, "that the organization for international co-operation would be be a fully representative body with broad responsibilities for promoting and facilitating international co-operation."

The organization, he continued, "would provide for a council elected annually by the fully representative body of all nations, which would include the four major nations and a suitable number of other nations. The council would concern itself with peaceful settlement of the international disputes and with the prevention of threats to the peace or breaches of the peace."

Niggardly Treatment Of Veterans Must Be Ended Says Sinclair

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, June 15 — (CP). — A serviceman's views on what the Government should do to prepare for the rehabilitation and re-establishment of members of the armed forces after discharge were expressed in the Commons yesterday by Flt. Lt. James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North).

Flt. Lt. Sinclair, 36-year-old R.C.A.F. administrative officer, on extended leave from his overseas post, said the Government should be prepared to treat the fighting men as fairly and as generously when they return to train for peace as when they trained for war.

"The whole problem of the return and the proper re-establishment of our fighting men after the war is a secondary one," he said. "It depends on the one prime consideration that the program of reconstruction shall eventually provide adequate employment for all those who are willing and able to work."

He spoke on second reading to a bill setting up a Veterans' Affairs Department to handle all matters concerning ex-service personnel. The matters now are handled by the Pensions Department.

Suggests Change.

Hon. H. A. Bruce (PC-Toronto Parkdale) suggested that the medical and health services of the government be placed under the proposed new Department of Social Welfare He said the new department should be known as the "National Health Department" since its principal task would be the administration of the projected health insurance plan.

By centralization of health and medical services under one department, duplication would be avoided and better service would be provided both veterans and the civilian population.

Others participating in the debate were G. S. White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough), Robert Fair (SC-Battle River), Hon. R. B. Hanson (PC-York Sunbury) and Clarence Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South).

"Nothing could convince the people of Canada at this time of the government's post-war intentions more than for the government to announce that when our men returned to training for peace they will be treated as well as when they trained for war, that the day of niggardly and parsimonious treatment of the fighting men, when the war is ended, is ended forever as far as Canada is concerned," Flt.-Lt. Sinclair saaid.

Dr. Bruce said veterans requiring medical treatment should be kept on the strength of the forces so long as treatment was being given even though that meant for the rest of their lives. It was not humane to discharge a man until his treatment was completed.

More beds for Neurological cases among members of the forces were needed. Winnipeg would likely provide a suitable location for a Neurological institute as Neurological work was already being done in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

Want No Relief

Mr. Hanson said changes were needed in the system of awarding pensions. Many men were being denied pensions on the grounds that their disability was due to a pre-enlistment condition.

Flt. Lt. Sinclair said if the rehabilitation program was not based on the assumption that adequate employment would be available for all, then the program "could be nothing but a program of qualified relief, with a little training thrown in to pass the time away."

"The program then is to return those who had civilian jobs to those jobs, to find jobs for those who have trades and skills, and to provide training for those who will need it or want such training to fit themselves for employment."

Many who left school to enter the forces would be condemned to a life of unskilled labor if they were not provided training.

The present allowances for men undergoing training were insufficient, and many a discharged service man was taking the first job that came along because he had no other alternative. If the allowances were increased many more men would take the opportunity of training for a new or better job.

Give Clear Title

Mr. Fair said he hoped soldiers settling on farms purchased with the aid of the government would be given better treatment than veterans of the First Great War. He urged that the government grant a clear title to veterans of the last war who still owed money on their farms.

Mr. Gillis said one section of the bill provided for the payment of unemployment relief to members of the forces. This was not in line with the government's promise of full employment for all. He hoped the canteen funds of the services would not be spent in providing relief.

Mr. White said the setting up of the department was a step in the right direction, but at the outset care should be taken to see that its affairs were not wrapped up in red tape.

The radio committee of the Commons decided yesterday to give John J. J. Fitzgerald an opportunity to speak. Mr. Fitzgerald, who calls himself Chairman of the Atlantic Charter Committee of Blind River, Ont., asked to be heard after compiling a pamphlet in which charges were made that certain CBC staff members held left wing political views. The charges were denied by E. L. Bushnell, CBC General Supervisor of programs.

Gen. de Gaulle

Gen. De Gaulle had withdrawn all but a handful of French liaison officers at the very moment Allied troops were moving onto the assault beaches. A similar report come from high authorities in Washington.

It was said here that these officers had been counted upon by the Allied Supreme Command to act in a liaison capacity with the French people to help take over civil administration.

His action was attributed to anger over the Allies' non-recognition of his National Liberation Committee as the provisional government of France and the refusal of the Supreme Command to let him take over the issuing of radio directions to the French people on D-Day.

A Statement.

Referring to the Washington report that the General had cancelled orders for several hundred French officers to land with the first waves in the invasion, Gen. De Gaulle's press attache said:

"This is a most incredible report. We cancelled no such agreement for we never signed such an agreement. We negotiated several months with the Allies prior to the invasion but as the whole world knows we reached no agreement with the American Government nor with the Allied commanders, either on the government of the liberated territory or on sending liaison officers with the invasion forces.

Not Their Fault.

"As to reports that co-operation between the French population and the Allied armies had been impaired—that is quite possible, but it is not our fault."

It was said in London that the arrangements had been made between the Supreme Headquarters' civil affairs branch and Brig.-Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, assistant chief of the Fighting French general staff, and that Gen. De Gaulle permitted only a token force of 20 French officers to go with the Allied troops. Because of restrictions on communications from Britain, Gen. Koenig was not in touch with Gen. De Gaulle when the arrangements were made it was explained.

At present, lack of liaison officers makes little difference because the beachhead area is so small that it is all in operational territory and under military law from commanders on the spot.

As the liberated territory in France becomes larger, however, the Allied military leaders will have to provide tens of thousands of men to deal with civil problems behind the lines, unless the deadlock is broken.

Highest officials branded as false rumors that Gen. De Gaulle had ordered the French underground forces not to attack.

Russians Gain 5 Miles Across Finland

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, June 15 —(AP)—The Red Army hurled the Finns across an important but unnamed river today as it pressed on toward the port of Viipuri against an enemy who is throwing up what Red Star described as "a multitude of obstaclel."

All dispatches stressed the difficult fighting conditions faced by Col.-Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's troops. In numerous places the Russians were employing special squads to cut through dense forests and build highways.

There were many indications that Finnish resistance was stiffening and that the Soviets had come up against the main Finnish defences, but no indications that the Finns had been able to stop the Red Army in any sector.

Falling back towards Viipuri, 25 miles away, the Finns chopped down hundreds of tall firs across the highway and railroad lines.

The Finns were using the forests for ambushes, causing extreme caution on the part of Soviet troops anxious to save every tank in the near-wilderness of the Karelian isthmus.

The Russians introduced heavy bombers in efforts to blast through the forests. An Izvestia correspondent reported that sailors from the Baltic fleet had entered the campaign, but he did not specify where.

Penetrate Lines

Russian troops have penetrated the Finnish lines at Kuterselka, the Finns acknowledged today in a communique broadcast from Berlin. The bulletin also said Viipuri was attacked last night by 150 Soviet planes.

Evidence of the ferocity of the fighting was contained in a Russian announcement, which said one unit of the Red Army had in three days wiped out 3,000 of the enemy, destroyed 30 guns, 25 mortars and 80 machine guns, and captured 70 other guns.

300 miles south of the battle zone.

Angouleme is 70 miles north-east of Bordeaux, La Poisonniere is 50 miles east of Nantes, which is 120 miles south of the battle zone. La Frilliere is 8 miles east of Tours.

A force of Mosquito bombers attacked the synthetic oil centre of Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr last night to keep the increasing assault on Hitler's war machine going around the clock.

The Lancasters, accompanied by fighter escort, were believed to have accomplished a successful mission yesterday in their switch to daylight bombing, for the Royal Navy reported no E-boats at work in the channel last night.

Record Bomb Load

The R.A.F.'s heavies have operated in daylight a few times in the past, notably in the D-day preliminary assault, but n ever in such a heavy attack. The tonnage dropped by the R.A.F. on the thick concrete installations at Le Havre was estimated as high as 3,360 tons—more than most of the R.A.F.'s "saturation" attacks on German cities.

German broadcasts telling of the progress of the American daylight raiders today reported planes over Brandenburg province, in which Berlin is situated, as well as over Hanover.

The R.A.F. had more than 1,100 bombers out last night. Their targets included another string of enemy railroad centres—Douai, Cambrai and St. Pol—and German front troop concentrations at Evrecy and Aunay-sur-Odon, only nine and 189 miles respectively, from Caen in the Normandy battle area.

Canadian heavy bombers participated in the attacks on Cambrai and St. Pol and two Canadian aircraft were lost.

R.A.F. night bomber losses — including these two R.C.A.F. planes—were placed at five. None were lost in the Gelsenkirchen attack.

The American 9th Air Force, in its heaviest assault since the first 48 hours of the invasion, sent out more than 2,400 bombers and fighters from dawn yesterday to late last night to pound key points behind the Nazi lines with 1,485 tons of bombs at a cost of 14 fighters and one medium bomber against 11 German planes shot down and 10 destroyed on the ground.

Hundreds of medium, light and fighter bombers and fighters of both the American 9th and R.A.F. tactical force concentrated on small targets in the area at the base of the Cherbourg peninsula, bounded by St. Lo, Coutances, Granville and Tessy, and up the peninsula.

Bomb Le Mans

The Americans included a surprise attack against the German air base at Le Mans in their operations last night. About a dozen planes were destroyed on the ground.

Hundreds of sorties were flown from the mounting number of Allied air bases set up with full facilities in captured territory.

along the central sector of the front were engaged in heavy fighting around Caumont and Villers-Bocage, with the Allies in Caumont but the Germans back in Villers-Bocage after a counter-attack.

Hold High Ground.

The main fighting was taking place in front of Villers-Bocade. Allied troops held high ground facing the town a quarter of a mile away. The river Seulles divided the German and Allied forces.

From this area northwestward to Montebourg the 9th and 2nd tactical air forces carried out what was officially described as "a great number of sorties" in support of the ground forces, many of them from a mounting number of Allied air bases set up with full facilities in captured territory.

Allied fliers reported more movement on the roads behind the German lines last night than at any time since D-day.

Enemy broadcasts reacted to the new Allied attention of Le Havre, lying just east of the beachhead, with surmises that it portended a forthcoming land move in that direction.

East of Villers-Bocage to Troarn, beyond battered and besieged Caen, great tank battles raged with undiminished intensity into their fourth day. The Germans were using elements of four armored divisions.

Huns Scores Gains.

Tilly-Sur-Seulles, a dozen miles west of Caen, changed hands several times. The Germans were reported in it last and a Nazi counter-attack definitely had retaken Troarn, battered into heaps of rubble by air, sea and land bombardment.

With the German counter-attacks mounting in fury, there were indications that Field Marshal Von Rundstedt had decided to draw some of his reserves from other portions of France to meet the Allied thrusts.

Appearance of the 2nd German Panzer division—the best armored unit in the German army—indicated the Germans were making a supreme effort to seal off the Allied beachhead.

The next two or three days are expected to show whether the German High Command has been forced to throw reserves into the battle piecemeal—as in the past nine days—or has been able to keep them intact for a decisive all-out counter-attack.

Americans Land On Marianas

LONDON, June 15—(CP)—The Tokyo radio said Allied forces attempted to land on Saipan island in the Marianas today and reported heavy fighting in progress there.

The landing attempt followed a series of raids carried out against Saipan and other Japanese bases in the Mariana area by a powerful Allied task force, the broadcast said.

Raids on the Marianas—some 1,500 miles southeast of Tokyo—were announced Tuesday by Admiral Nimitz and acknowledged yesterday by the Japanese.

About 70 landing barges and 20 or more special craft were employed in the actual landing operations, Tokyo said.

The Mariana group is on a direct line between the big Japanese naval base at Truk—which has been a repeated target of American raids—and the home islands of Japan.

Should American forces succeed in landing on Saipan they would have a foothold nearer Japan than any of the bases already conquered in the Pacific.

The Japanese reports of the attempted landings were not immediately confirmed by Allied souces.

British Gain In Burma Thrust

KANDY, Ceylon, June 15 (AP) — Battle for the North Burma town of Mogaung was joined today, with Allied forces striking by surprise from the East aided by maximum bomber and fighter support.

Capturing the neighboring villages of Pina-Nmi and Mohaung, the force, which included Lancashire Fusiliers and South Staffordshires—took an ammuniton dump estimated to hold 200 railway carloads.

Observers reported that the Japanese were caught completely unaware by the initial thrust. The battle is developing in fierce proportions with heavy casualties on both sides, they said.

Nora Corkery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Corkery, 465 Gilmour street, was injured Wednesday evening when she was knocked down by an automobile while crossing Park street, a short distance south of Gilmour street.

The automobile, the police report says, was being driven east on Gilmour street and when it swung on to Park street to go south the car struck the girl and knocked her down.

She was taken to the office Dr. Robert Young where she was treated for cuts on her face and bruises on her left leg and wrist.

Nazis Blocked Tito Announces

LONDON, June 15—(CP)—Reporting a German concentration of forces about 110 miles southwest of Belgrade in the Plevje and Prijepoleu sectors, Marshal Tito announced today his Yugoslav Partisans had repelled thus far all Nazi "attempts to penetrate into liberated territory."

His broadcast communique said the Partisans had destroyed six trains, killing many officers and men, and added that 320 Germans and Chetniks had been annihilated in battle.

Four Bullets Hit Cpl. O'Connor

MARMORA, June 15 — (ENS).— In a letter sent to Marmora friends by Cpl. Leo O'Connor "somewhere in Italy," following his wounding on May 22, the following interesting extracts appear:

"I had one bullet make about a three-inch tunnel in my right arm and another two or three struck me in the back just across the shoulder blade, making about a 7-inch wound. I had no bones broken in either wound.

"I have seen some beautiful drug stores and some real junk shops I believe that the doctors and the druggists in this country must make a fortune in peacetime as almost every house that I have been in here has its cupboards and shelves filled with pills and bottles and hypodermic needles and syringes. The Italians must be full of holes if they use all the needles."

Cpl. O'Connor also thanked the Canadian Legion and the Deloro War Fund for cigarettes received Before enlisting he spent five years in Shanon's drug store as clerk.

Wallace Speaks

NEW YORK, June 15 — (CP) — Vice-President Henry Wallace in an article published last night advocated post-war independence for Asia's "subject and colonial" people and said the United States should take "a positive, progressive policy toward this area."

Halsey Resigns As Pacific Chief

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, June 15 — (AP)—Admiral William F. Halsey relinquished his position as Allied commander-in-chief in the South Pacific today to Vice-Admiral John Henry Newton, 62, his deputy commander.

Admiral Halsey is being assigned to a new and as yet undisclosed role in the Pacific. He became commander of the South Pacific area as a Vice-Admiral Oct. 18, 1942.

Forces under his command defeated the Japanese in the battle of Santa Cruz Oct. 26, 1942, and in the battle of Guadalcanal the following Nov. 13-15. He was promoted to the rank of Admiral Nov. 18, 1942.

Vice Admiral Newton came to the South Pacific command early this year after serving as deputy commander-in-chief of Pacific areas under Admiral Chester Nimitz at Pearl Harbor.

He formerly was deputy chief of naval operations under Admiral Ernest King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

ment, said that the Superfortress introduced a new type of offensive against the enemy and "also creates a new problem in the application of military force."

Have Great Power

Because of the enormous range and heavy bomb load of this newest bombardment plane, said Gen. Marshall, they can strike "from many and remote bases at a single objective."

Their power is so great, the chief of staff continued, that the (American) joint chiefs of staff decided it would be uneconomical to confine the Superfortress organization to a single theatre, and "these bombers therefore will remain under the centralized control of the joint chiefs of staff with a single commander, Gen. Arnold, acting as their agent in directing their bombing operations throughout the world."

"The planes ill be treated as major task forces in the same manner as naval forces are directed against specific objectives," Gen. Marshall said.

"This type of flexible, centralized control recognizes that very long-range bombardment is not a weapon for the Air Forces alone. Under the joint Chiefs of Staff, theatre commanders will have a voice in its employment, ensuring that maximum effectiveness will be obtained through missions which will contribute directly to the overall strategy for the defeat of the enemies."

It was the second American raid on the Japanese homeland. On April 18, 1942, word came that Tokyo and other Japanese cities had been attacked from the air.

The first announcement then came from the Japanese and it was not until weeks later that it was learned that a force of B-25 Mitchell bombers under James Doolittle, now Commander of the 8th Air Force, had carried out the mission.

The Mitchells flew from the aircraft carrier Hornet and after crossing Japan flew on to the Continent. One landed in Eastern Siberia, the others in China. Some of them came down in Japanese-held territory and a few of the fliers were taken captive. Months later the Japanese themselves made it known that some of these prisoners had been executed.

Lakefield Man Reported Missing

LAKEFIELD, June 15—(ENS).— Word was received this morning by his aunt, Mrs. Fred Young, that Staff Sergt. Edward F. Morin, a paratrooper serving in Italy, is reported missing.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morin of Lakefield, Sergt. Morin enlisted with the Stormant Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in Peterborough, later transferring to another unit. After nine months overseas, he was sent back for paratroop training and spent a year training in Montana. At the time he was listed as missing, he was serving with the 1st Special Service Force with the 5th Army.

Formerly employed at the Peterborough Canoe Company, Sergt. Morin received his education in Lakefield. His wife, formerly Reta Kilbrick and nine-months-old son, are living in Lindsay. A brother Wilfred is in the Navy.

Oil Refineries Hit

Despite the arrival of fresh German divsions in Italy Allied armies still are encountering only formations made up of remnants of the 14th German Army. Apparently these are being used for the present delaying action and the new divisions are being saved for a stand on a line farther north.

The Allied communique said all of Highway 74, which runs from the coastal highway at a point north of Orbetello eastward to Orvieto, was in Allied hands.

Allied heavy bombers attacked oil refineries in the Budapest area and northern Yugoslavia while medium bombers attacked rail targets on the Italian east coast and south of Florence. Shipping also was attacked the west coast harbor of Livorno.

Medium and fighter - bombers struck enemy communications and concentrations in the battle area and an enemy airdrome near Budapest.

Fifteen German planes were destroyed in all operations and 16 Allied aircraft were missing. During the daylight hours the Mediterranean Allied air force flew approximately 2,000 sorties.

Make Some Gains.

The German High Command said the fighting in Normandy was increasing in violence with the Allies trying to enlarge their bridgehead in all directions.

The American advance across the narrow neck of the Cherbourg peninsula developed after repeated German attempts to recapture the pivotal city of Carentan were repulsed.

The advance threatened the last German land communications lines to the city of Cherbourg, near the peninsula's tip to the north. Supreme Headquarters said violent German reaction was expected momentarily, and that further American advances would come only through hard fighting.

The American forces thrust to the Les Sablons-Baupte area, south of Ste Mere Eglise and west of Carentan, seven miles to the westward is high ground overlooking La Haye du Puits, through which runs the last remaining major north-south highway on the peninsula still in German hands.

The advance placed the Americans nearly half-way across the peninsula at its narrowest point.

Toward the tip of the peninsula hand-to-hand fighting surged between Germans and troops of the U.S. 4th Division in the streets of Montebourg, 14 miles south-east of Cherbourg.

American artillery as shelling the road from Montebourg to Valognes to the northwest, and Allied troops controlled the road from Quineville to the coast to Montebourg, but the town itself changed hands from hour to hour.

American airborne troops led the fighting around Carentan and besides pushing to the west shoved the Germans back more than one mile south of the town.

Are You a Sufferer From Rheumatic Pains?

These pains come from an inflammation in the muscles and are generally caused by a deposit of poison in the blood called uric acid which produces the irritating and painful effect that causes many days and nights heavy with pain.
During the past 60 years Canadian people have found that by purifying the blood stream, Burdock Blood Bitters aids them to enjoy freer body movement with less rheumatic pain, as B. B. B. helps to tone up the system and clear up the uric acid in the blood, and probably help fortify the system against future attacks.

Athlone Lauds CanadianFarmer

SEAFORTH, Ont., June 15 (CP)—Canadian farmers played a "decisive and notable part" in driving from Great Britain the shadow of the "spectre of starvation" which threatened her when enemy sinkings of Allied shipping were greatest, the Earl of Athlone said here today.

In an address prepared for delivery at a Rural Field Day sponsored by the Huron County Federation of Agriculture the Governor-General said shortages of labor and machinery have laid an "onerous burden" on the shoulders of farmers. But they have overcome these troubles "with a true spirit of enterprise and with a determination to play their part in the war effort of Canada in spite of all obstacles.

"When I come here to see some of those who are engaged in farming I feel that I am visiting the workers in one of the largest of our munition factories of which the output in the form of agricultural produce is among the most valuable of the sinews of war. . . ."

Counties Council Refuses To Purchase $30,000 Crusher

COBOURG, June 15 — (ENS).—Northumberland and Durham Counties Council on Wednesday turned down the proposal that the Road Commission be empowered to purchase a stone crusher. One of the figures mentioned was $30,000. Highways Engineer Charles Poynton advised against purchase of so large and expensive a stone crusher and suggested that they wait until after the war when they would be more plentiful, less expensive, and more improved.

Council as notified that the missing lease between the town of Cobourg and the counties, for rental of counties offices in the Town Hall, had been located and that Cobourg was going to go ahead with repairs under the present lease.

Apportion Cost.

The by-law to levy a rate for county purposes at 7 mills, was read and passed and the rate is apportioned among the various municipalities as follows:

Townships — Alnwick $3,695.30, Brighton $8,785.70, Cartwright $9,339.40, Cavan $13,090.70, Clarke $17,397.10, Cramahe $8,670.20, Darlington $19,261.90, Haldimand $11,429.60, Hope $15,037.40, Hamilton $17,575.60, Manvers $9,359.70, South Monaghan $4,635.40, Murray $9,131.50, Percy $9,557.80, Seymour $11,131.40.

Towns— Bowmanville $16,855.30, Campbellford $9,200.10, Cobourg $21,894.60, Port Hope $17,823.40.

Villages — Brighton $4,979.80, Colborne $3,036.60, Hastings $2,268, Millbrook $2,008.30, and Newcastle $2,228.10.

Total to be raised—$248,392.90.

Following are the amounts recommended by the School Committee to provide for cost of education of county pupils attending High School, Continuation School, and Vocational Schools, and ratified by by-law:

High and Continuation Schools—Alnwick $1,646.50, Brighton Township $4,745.11, Cartwright $3,412.92, Cavan $4,961.98, Clarke $6,841.54, Cramahe $3,561.11, Darlington $9,736.31, Haldimand $6,751.66, Hamilton $7,684.60, Hope $7,174.32, Hastings $1,986.74, Manvers $3,229.34, Murray $5,149.10, South Monaghan $1,487.75, Percy $3,198.96, Seymour $5,434.40.

Vocational Schools — Darlington Township $1,002.47, Cavan $74.75, South Monaghan $202.04, Clarke $33.18, and Hope Township $68.15.

The one mill levy for post-war purposes, which will raise $35,484.70 will be apportioned among the municipalities as follows:

Townships — Alnwick $527.90, Brighton $1,255.10, Cartwright $1,334.20, Cavan $1,870.10, Clarke $2,485.30, Cramahe $1,238.60, Darlington $2,751.70, Haldimand $1,632.80, Hamilton $2,510.80, Hope $2,148.20, Manvers $1,337.10, South Monaghan $662.40, Murray $1,304.50, Percy $1,365.40, Seymour $1,590.20.

Towns — Bowmanville $2,407.90, Campbellford $1,314.30, Cobourg $3,127.90, Port Hope $2,546.30.

Villages— Brighton $711.40, Colborne $433.80, Hastings $324, Millbrook $289.60, Newcastle $318.30.

Will Make Improvements.

The committee which met with the Town Council Property Committee on Tuesday evening in connection with the lease of the county offices from the town, reported that the lease had been found. A letter from Mayor Jack Burnet assured the Counties Council that the town would decorate the Police Court Room, raise the floor in the county engineer's office so that new flooring could be laid by the counties, and weatherproof the windows. Lease was renewed in 1941 for period of five years, expiring again in 1946. The counties solicitor, Alan Field, recommended that next year a new lease be drawn up, setting forth clearly all the details and including also the provision for coal instead of the present separate agreement covering fuel.

The counties clerk and treasurer, Major E. L. MacNachtan, pointed out that the new lease was never signed by himself or the Warden back in 1941 for the reason that Cobourg was not living up to one of the clauses. Reeve Robert Love declared that the Counties Council at that time had accepted it.

Mr. McNachtan replied that the counties were only overholding tenants as a resolution did not override a by-law. He declared that being a citizen of Cobourg as well as a counties official, he would be the last one to drag in a contentious issue but the fact remained that certain repairs stipulated in the lease had not been made and that he and the Warden at that time did not sign it.

"Is there no copy?" asked Reeve Love of Cobourg. The clerk replied that there was an unsigned copy.

"When we were in your office, the only one you produced was the 1906 lease. It was renewed in 1931. Where is the renewal lease?" Reeve Love asked. The clerk replied that he did not know, as he had no copy.

Mr. Field declared that it was not good practice to renew a lease by resolution. It should be by by-law and he suggested that a comprehensive lease be drawn up next year. The police court room was a grand jury room a few times a year and the balance of the time it was used as a police court, so the town was undertaking its repair and decoration.

A query as to how much it cost counties for the counties offices' rentals, the clerk said it was around $6,000, including coal.

Pass By-Laws

By-laws passed were the rate by-law, school by-law, confirmation of By-Law No. 532, South Monaghan township; post war levy, five by-laws reverting road section in the county road system, located in Darlington, Brighton, Seymour, Manvers townships; by-law to raise $10,000 more for county roads purposes; by-law stipulating minimum width of 66 feet for township roads taken into the county road system.

A number of requests for grants were received and referred to the finance committee. A letter from W. H. Carleton, public school inspector, contained equipment estimates for rural schools in his inspectorate, amounting to $2,411.62, but the clerk pointed out that the lettter was too late as the amounts had already been figured out.

The report of the surgeon at the counties home, Dr A. R. Richards, revealed that grippe, coughs, heart ailments and minor maladies had been the main disease affecting inmates. During the quarter, fourteen had died. Average number at the Home was 105 to 110 and their general condition was good. Most were treated at the institution, few at the hospital. In closing his report the surgeon praised the superintendent, Mrs. Rena Thompson for her solicitous care of the inmates.

A letter from the West Northumberland Women's Institute requested that the council consider a public health nurse service in the rural schools. As it has already been dealt with, it was received. Request of the matron of the jail, Mrs. Vera Wight for an increase in salary, was referred to the Finance Committee. At the suggestions of the clerk a resolution was passed stipulating that letters for counties council consideration should be in a week before the sessions.

F. Cannon, field secretary for the Navy League, addresssed the council on the work of the Navy League, its increased duties and the need for a larger grant. Reeve N. Green of Cartwright township gave the report of the Children's Aid Society committee, referring to the annual report of the Society, and briefly reviewing its work. The Legislative and By-Laws Committee endorsed the resolution of Perth County Council in regard to post war planning; endorsed the Gray and Lincoln county councils resolutions re special gas category for county councillors; endorsed Simcoe County council re increased government assistance to Children's Aid Societies but recommended that no action be taken in connection with resolutions from Elgin and Norfolk counties.

Too Late

Reeve W. Smith of Murray Township informed the council that, authorized last year by the council to buy a stone crusher at $15,000, which would be a used one, the Road Commission found that the government would not subsidize used machinery and accordingly looked over a new crusher at $30,000 a which could be got on a rental basis of $3,000 a year. As the Commission did not want to take the responsibility for so large a purchase, there was some delay and in the interim the chance to acquire the crusher was lost. He wanted council to advise the Commission whether or not it should go ahead and buy a new crusher or get the stone by contract, the latter plan to cost more than twice as much as if the counties owned their own crusher.

Mr. Miller, the counties road superintendent, read council a list of figures which he declared clearly indicated the saving the counties would affect by buying a $25,000 crusher, to be written off at $3,000 a year for ten years. A breakdown of the costs of crushing stone was given by him, total figure amounting to about 65 cents a yard, whereas it cost around 95 cents yard to have it done by contract, a saving of 30 cents or so a yard.

Some of the councillors asked if a stone crusher could be bought right now.

Charles Poyton told the council that it was a good idea for the counties to own their own crusher but he felt that $30,000 was too steep in price. The war made it difficult to get a crusher and the chances were that after the war they would be easier to get, cheaper and more improved in performance. It would do no harm to wait, he suggested. Reeve Smith said that the counties would pay enough out in contracts to buy a machine.

"Not at $30,000 for one," said Mr. Poynton. Mr. Poynton went on to point out that the Dept. would subsidize a used machine if it proved to be worth the money paid for it.

Reeve Bert Reid of Clarke township said that he couldn't understand why the counties leased out their own crusher at $500 when the lessor was able to take it into another county and make money on it. He said he didn't see why the Road Commission couldn't use it.

The matter went to a vote and it was decided to drop the question of buying a new crusher.

Council then adjourned until two o'clock this afternoon.

Army Auxiliary Plans Tag Day

The third annual tag day of the Peterborough Women's Active Army Auxiliary, to be held Saturday, will gather money to send Christmas boxes to every Peterborough boy and girl serving in the Army, whether in Canada or overseas, and to raise funds for its various voluntary efforts in assisting and bringing comfort to servicemen and their next-of-kin.

Taggers on Saturday will be women of the Auxiliary and members of the different I.O.D.E. chapters. Mrs. Chill Turner is convener of the event. Taggers will be on the street corners of the business district both morning and afternoon; and ladies of the Auxiliary are hopeful of clearing a larger amount than the nearly $800 their tag day realized last year.

For one thing, boxes to the soldiers will have to be sent out earlier this fall than was the case in 1943, since the greatest number of those being sent overseas last year only went as far as England, and this year must undoubtedly be transmitted onward to Italian and French battlefronts. In all, 1,000 boxes were made up by the Army Auxiliary last year and forwarded to servicemen and women overseas, while about 150 were sent to points in Canada.

One of the most important and worthwhile services rendered by the Auxiliary to the servicemen it looks after is the sending of parcels and letters to boys wounded in the fight, who, cut off from home ties and perhaps with time hanging heavy on their hands in some distant Army hospital, deeply appreciate the remembrance of them by people from their own community and the useful and enjoyable gifts they receive. Since Christmas the Auxiliary has been engaged in this work; and it can only be expected that present events will give it a much wider scope. Hence the need of a still more generous response from Peterborough citizens for this and other charitable purposes.

The German Home Front

Some interesting information about the German home front reaches us by way of the Swiss newspapers, which are still free to maintain their correspondents inside the Reich; what these Swiss journalists have to say may be relied upon, for the Swiss press has long had a reputation for the accuracy and caution of its foreign news. The principal Swiss newspaper, the Neue Zuricher Zeitung, has high praise for the courage with which the German civil population has withstood Allied bombings; the Germans have shown a courage equal to that of the British during the bad days of 1940-41. But the Zurich paper also says this: "On the other hand, it is quite clear that the Allied air offensive has already affected this spirit considerably and is continuing unceasingly to wear it down. . . The air war completely dominates life and is almost the only topic of conversation, thus pushing far into the background events on the front or even in politics". We must bear this in mind: the British were blitzed at the beginning of the war when their spirits were fresh, and when they knew that they would be able to pay the enemy back if they could hold out; the Germans are being bombed three years later when they are beginning to suspect that victory has eluded them.

The German civilians are suffering from a great war-weariness, and weary people are not as open to suggestion by propaganda as vigorous people; they are too tired to care what Dr. Goebbels tells them. As a result they are apt to talk unwisely, or to betray their discontent with the war, and in consequence the Gestapo has its hands full. Terrorism in Germany is on the increase; men and women disappear without trace, and the compulsory measures for national security are enforced with the utmost brutality. In spite of this rigour of discipline, it is reported that "whole cart loads" of Gestapo and Nazi card indexes and black lists have been destroyed by fire.

Another German problem is the 6,500,000 foreign workers who are inside the Reich. These people, who were supposed to be "slaves" because of their "inferior racial background", have become almost openly menacing toward their masters. Large numbers of them, particularly Russians, are running away; sabotage is growing, and a Swiss paper, Die Tat, estimates that it has lowered German production by at least eight per cent. This same paper quotes a German industrialist as saying: "The behaviour of foreign workers has become unbearable, but we can do nothing about it, for they know we cannot do without them". A German paper declares that foreign workers have set fire to factories when the R.A.F. was coming over, in order to guide the bombers.

The correspondent of Neue Zuricher Zeitung says: "The danger is constantly growing that one day the German people will break down under the burden of war which for long has been much too heavy for them". Of course we cannot count on such a breakdown, but it is interesting to know that neutral journalists hold this opinion about the Reich.

Burlesque In Toronto

There has been a good deal of discussion recently about the burlesque shows which are presented at the Casino Theatre in Toronto, and which a group of zealous citizens would like to see forbidden. What happens in Toronto is no direct concern of a newspaper in Peterborough, but as some of our provincial contemporaries have expressed themselves in favour of the close-the-Casino movement, we should like to say a few words about keeping the Casino open. Liberty, after all, is a universal right, and when liberty is threatened in Toronto it is not a bad thing to take up a cudgel for it in Peterborough.

The Casino presents a stage-show as well as a movie at its performances, and the stage-show is made up of a few vaudeville acts and a 'production number,' which means a spectacular finale. Most of the vaudeville acts are the kind which we remember from the 20's—singers, dancers, magicians, jugglers and what-not. Sometimes the comedians are coarse. But—and this is the point—many people like coarse humour, and as a taste for coarse humour is not a sign of depravity or a threat to public morals, we do not see why they should not have it. People who do not like coarse fun are not obliged to go to the Casino. Nor is a taste for coarse jokes and songs confined to a "low" section of the populace, as Roly Young the movie columnist of the Toronto Globe and Mail, makes clear in the following paragraph:

"The chief point of the whole business is the fact that it is a matter of relativity, and what offends the gentlemen of the cloth can be perfectly innocuous or merely boring to a low-lifer like myself, just as something that strikes me as being uncalled-for often strikes many others as being highly hilarious. Who am I to say that some gag about unmarried motherhood is an offense at the Casino when a whole play on the subject runs for four weeks at the Royal Alexandra? Who am I to say that the leering, stupid cracks of a Casino comedian warrant closing the theatre when Nan Blakstone sings 'Teaching to Boys Riding Out at College' down at the Lobster? True, there is a difference in presentation, but they are playing to different audiences, and while the 60-cent version of a joke may sound a bit crude to a $2 audience, it is in the idiom of the 60-cent audience, and is no more crude to them than the same joke dressed up in sophisticated style for the people who buy it for $2 at another place of entertainment".

Canada as a whole, and Ontario in particular, suffers from the blight of a minority of moralistic zealots who want to create all mankind in their own image. The obvious solution to the fuss about the Casino is the one which Mr. Young suggests in another section of his article: load the performers from the Casino into a Black Maria some evening, take them to court, and convict them of indecency—if that can be done. We doubt very much if it could be done, for the Casino burlesque, though rough, keeps within certain well-defined bounds. As we have recommended before, the reforming element in a community should take direct action and charge the people of whom it disapproves in court; it is waste of time to attempt to sweep to victory on a wave of public indignation.

Let people have the kind of amusement they like. If they transgress the bounds of decency, there are laws to deal with them. A moral dictatorship, like any other sort of dictatorship, is detestable.

Germans Do Not Change

There was painful familiarity about one of the stories which came from the invasion area last week. Allied forces had brought a village near Caen to the point of surrender; Germans came out of the village bearing white flags; but when the Allied forces entered the village, they were fired on at close range.

This story has been heard more than once before in this war; it was heard several times during the last war. The fake-surrender dodge seems to be a favourite with the Germans. They look upon it, apparently, as a legitimate—or at any rate an excusable—way of making war. Bad faith is good German policy so long as it pays.

Hitler, writing in Mein Kampf, goes to some length to explain the technique of bad faith in all its ramifications, and the idea was by no means original with Hitler; it has had its place in the German bag of political and military tricks for a long, long time. Bad faith in war and bad faith in peace must be expected of the Germans if they have anything to gain by deception or a broken pledge. When this war is over the success of the peace will depend to a great extent on the pains which the United Nations take to see that Germany keeps her word. After the last war Germany was convinced that she had not been beaten honestry, and was therefore free to deceive us in any way she could. Have no doubt about it, the Germans will not believe that they have been beaten honestly this time, if we do not take special pains to enlighten them, and they will feel no obligation to honour their pledge if we do not stand beside them to make them do so. A country which accepts bad faith as an instrument of policy must be given very special treatment.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In one way or another, every dream comes true. A lot of Hitler's men are crossing the Channel for England now, but they are headed straight for the cage.

The House of Commons assembled on January 27, and it looks as though they would not be finished by the end of this year. Well, isn't it from Parliament that all the cries come about sticking to our jobs until the war is over?

A contemporary writer with the air of one posing a decisive question, asks: 'Where is it better to meet your future wife—in a church or a drinking place?" If your intentions are really serious you are quite likely to meet her in both.

Wild Rose Time

(By BRUCE HUTCHISON)

NOW after the explosive green smell of spring's first succulence, a subtler perfume pervades the air of Canada. The wild rose is abloom. I suppose there are wild roses in other countries, but in some curious fashion it seems to be the special property of Canada, the emblem of the dawning Canadian summer after the cruel Canadian winter, and its frail odor carries with it the boyhood memories of every Canadian.

No flower is so pungent with nostalgia. The first scent of it, wafted up unexpectedly some June evening, is full of old delights and yet an intolerable sense of loss for the days that are no more. Our youth, or the best part of it, the spring and summer and the days of dreams, were lived in that matchless brier smell. The first wild flowers we gathered were those modest pink blooms from the hedgegrow and, having known the winter of this country, we loved them as others could not love them. And our first falling in love was in wild rose time.

THE wild rose is not a temperamental or a choosey flower. It asks no special moisture like the shy dwellers of the bog. It needs no special drainage like the rock plants of the mountains which city people grow only with cunning artifice and special mixture of soil and gravel. It needs no pruning, no fertilizing and any soil is good enough for this natural democrat.

You will find it on our rocky seacoasts, or in the valleys of the Rockies, or on the plains, or beside the Great Lakes. Let man strip and scar the earth to make a road, and level every living thing in his stride, yet the wild rose will suddenly appear in his footsteps and presently beside the road hangs the wild rose scent. Let man strew the empty lot of the city with rubbish and garbage, yet within a year or two the wild rose has taken over, covered the corruption and perfumed the surrounding air. Along the fence-lines where the plow will not reach, on the spot of useless land where the grain will not grow, by the corner of the old barn, over the foundations of the fallen house—in every nook and cranny which man neglects—there will be found this brave little flower, whose fragile look belies its inward energy.

Beside its perfume all the airs and graces of your cultivated roses are as mere cheap perfume from the five-and-ten-cent store. As the collectors breed their new varieties by cross-pollination, selection, budding, grafting and other bestial perversions, the perfume of the rose dies, so that the highest-bred are odorless, flushed and painted harlots of the garden. But nothing diminishes the touches, the virginity of the wildling, nothing stales its perfume.

THE pampered and illegitimate strains must be fertilized with chemical, must be pruned and sprayed and protected against caterpillars, aphis, black spot and a thousand other artificial diseases, so that the rose grower is a slave to his beauties, like the bankrupt owner of a seraglio. Moreover, as new varieties are bred, as new names appear on the catalogues, as the fashion changes, the fancier must grasp after every addition, is envious of his neighbour's collection and miserable when one of his own choice specimens dies from the weakness of its synthetic origin.

But of all this art, this pomp and display, the wild rose is innocent. No one prunes it, no one sprays it, no one fertilizes it, no one tries to improve it. It only asks to be left alone and is careless whether you even pause by a country roadside in your walk to lean over and sniff its incomparable flavour. Yet it is the foundation of all roses. To its stout briar stalk all the tame varieties are grafted; and even after its little season of bloom, when it fills the air with scent as the birds fill it with song, the wild rose still presents us with the lively treasures of winter, the red seed pods, the hips which hang above the snow.

Were it rare and difficult to grow all gardens would contain it, all gardeners would lavish care, money, fertilizer and insect spray upon it and thousands of botanists would be engaged in an attempt to make our present fancy roses resemble it. But as it grows free and wild it is unnoticed, except when someone pauses for a moment in the twilight, sniffs the air and suddenly remembers his boyhood, the sweet ecstacy of it and the cruel wastage of his life.

The Senate Under Fire

The editor of The Toronto Globe and Mail wants to know "Is the country paying a quarter of a million dollars for Senators to sit in comfortable red leather arm chairs?"

Surely this gives a wrong impression to the public. In the first place, we are assured the chairs are not comfortable. We are also told that if the editor of The Globe and Mail could be transported for two or three hours some hot afternoon from the sybaritic luxury of the overstuffed chairs in his sanctum in the handsome William H. Wright building at the corner of King and York streets to the hard-armed, straight-backed dining-room style armchairs in the Senate Chamber he would change his opinion. We are assured that there is "never a loll"; and as for snatching a nap, only the head on the hard-surfaced desks makes such a thing possible.

Further, if the Senate is kept waiting for bills, (which we are credibly informed the Senators do read, study, sit in committee on, and liberally amend), is it their fault or the fault of their long-winded colleagues "in another place"?

We will not touch on The Globe and Mail's figure of a quarter of a million dollars. Why pour salt in the wounds which the Senators are still licking since Mr. Ilsley withdrew his dagger on April 30th?

The Risks We Take

Canada is blessed with great wealth of lakes and rivers which beckon boys and girls during the summer season—and older folks, too. Each year there is a considerable toll of lives exacted. Many of these deaths are preventable and it is up to the community to see that where possible they are prevented.

Practically every Canadian youngster spends some time in boats or in the water. All should learn how to swim and how to conduct themselves in boats. Every summer has its story of lads who can swim, carelessly upsetting boats or canoes and being injured or overcome so they could not save themselves. Everyone should be able to look after himself or herself in the water and those who take other people out in positions of danger have a special responsibility.—London Free Press.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DISLIKES GOLDBERG

Sir,—Why must you clutter up a perfectly good page with stuff by that Rube Goldberg? If ever a guy was well named it's him. If I didn't care about our home town paper I wouldn't even bother writing in. Goldberg's feeble attempt to make a guy laugh is a laugh.

A READER NOT A BEEFER
(BUT THERE'S A LIMIT).

HOUSEWIVES, SHOP EARLY!

Sir,—May I have space in your valuable paper to protest against housewives who leave their daily shopping all between 4.30 p.m. and 5.30 p.m.? Those are the hours when dozens of factory workers like myself are trying to do a little buying, and it is our only time. If we all crowd into the stores together it makes a crush, rattles the store help, etc., and makes bad feeling all round, and I have heard housewives who have all day to shop say very mean things about "women in overalls" standing up at the counter with them. I say let the housewives shop early and then there would be no crowding at rush hour.—Yours,

CO-OPERATION.

REPLIES TO "PARENT"

Sir,—In replying to "A Parent," I will not argue as to the suitability of the films shown at the recent free show, but would like to explain that no one locally was responsible. The whole campaign was arranged in Toronto by National Salvage Department, in various cities throughout the province. The films are sent from Toronto and no one knows what they are until shown on the screen. All we do is pay for them. Our theatre managers most courteously opened up the theatres and supplied staff. They have nothing to do with the choice of film.

The majority of youngsters thoroughly enjoy these Wild Westerns, the more shooting the better. However, it is difficult to satisfy every taste.

How fortunate are our children who only see "make believe" murders on the screen, while the children of Europe have had a steady diet of murder, and worse for the past five years, which alas is only too real, and they haven't the choice as to whether they see it or not.

DORIS WHALEN
Chairman Salvage Committee.

BAD MANNERS

Sir,—I have noticed very often in our buses that small children and school-children remain seated while their elders, often old enough to be grandparents, stand. And may I say that while my wife and I have given buckets of grease and pounds of papers and magazines to school-children for their salvage campaign I have never yet heard a "Please" or a "Thank you" from one of them.

Canada is a democracy, but democracy does not mean that we all have to have bad manners to show how we are as good as everybody else. We are as good as we act and no better. Children who have no manners are starting life with a serious handicap. I don't think I am wrong in saying that children today are a lot rougher and ruder than when I was a lad 60 years ago.—Yours,

OLD-TIMER.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Sir,—Perhaps a brief outline of what is being done in public schools in religious education may remove the perturbation that seems to exist in the minds of some as to what the future may be in this particular field.

During the regime of the Reverend Egerton Ryerson, first Superintendent of Education in the Province of Ontario, religious education was provided for in the public schools. The Public Schools Act has always contained this rather appalling statement, "It shall be the duty of every teacher to inculcate by precept and example respect for religion and the principles of Christian morality and the highest regard for truth, justice, loyalty, love of country, humanity, benevolence, sobriety, industry, frugality, purity, temperance and all other virtues." (Sec. 103 a). Amplifying this teachers are instructed by regulation that "Every Public School shall be opened with the reading of the scriptures; the scriptures shall be read daily and systematically; emblems of a denominational character shall not be exhibited." (Reg. 13 in part).

Teachers as a rule are very conscientious about their work and have endeavoured to "inculcate respect for religion and the principles of Christian morality." A great body of teachers, many of whom have been associated for years with Sunday schools, are giving acceptable religious instruction in the schools. Many ministers are helping the teachers, some by giving the children instruction directly, some with suggestions, others by supplying suggestive outlines of study. The Department of Education published in 1940 "Bible Readings for Schools" based, I believe, on the work of a group of ministers. That all this religious instruction has been given without arousing denominational differences speaks well for the common sense of the teachers and ministers and for the tolerance and understanding of the parents. Speaking of this, one preacher said, "The final test is to be ethical, not theological." I understand that these successful efforts, combined with research in other directions, are being used as the basis of a program in religious instruction. I speak without authority but I am sure that the Department of Education is deeply appreciative of the worth and work of the teachers and ministers who are giving the instruction.

After allowing the idea of religious instruction in schools to grow in the minds of people for 75 years, and after helping the instruction to become established in many schools, it is not astonishing that the Department of Education should prepare a program of study for the guidance of teachers. For several years the nucleus of a course in religious instruction has formed part of the program of Social Studies for Public Schools. Using this as a basis, the Normal Schools have prepared the methodology through observation of the response of the children to various methods of presentation used by successful teachers. Normal School students must be given a training that will fit them to give intruction in schools where several denominations are represented.

After fostering the subject and experimentation associated with it for so many years, it was obvious that the Department of Education would in the not too distant future launch a more extensive program of religious training. Some of us in the Normal Schools hoped that it would be deferred long enough for the ministers who have given so generously of their time in the training of Normal students to develop both the content and the methodology of a program. The Normal School is very grateful to the ministers who have given hours of time each year to religious instruction during the past thirty-five years.

In addition to this non-sectarian instruction, a minister is permitted to give instruction to school children of his own denomination. It speaks well for the development of religious tolerance that ministers entering public schools do not as a rule arrange the children in homogeneous groups but give instruction to children of various denominations. Very rarely do parents have their children absent themselves from such instruction though they may do so legally. Many ministers are excellent teachers; a few depending on the lecture method, which is seldom used in the Public Schools and rarely in the Normal School, are not so successful. However, it seems to be the consensus of opinion of ministers, teachers and parents that children should be taught "respect for religion and the principles of Christian morality" and that the best place in which it may be done is in school.

As far as I can learn, there is to be no change in law or regulation, but greater attention will be given to the subject and a more definite course will be developed.—Yours,

E. H. McKONE.

If You See a Star

Now that press photographs of the invasion are beginning to appear, it is perhaps timely to recall that as long ago as May 26 it was announced that when the great attack began, motor vehicles of all the United Nations armies would bear the American five-pointed white star, irrespective of their nationality. This was done for simpler identification and was part of the arrangements for the greater integration of the Allied forces.

Already Canadian and British-built vehicles, containing Canadian or British crews, have appeared in photographs bearing the white star. Therefore, when pictures of the fighting on the Continent begin to appear more frequently in the newspapers and on the newsreels, showing vehicles so marked, it will be worth bearing in mind that they may be the vehicles of any one of the United Nations taking part.

Many a high-pressure salesman would know himself for a low-pressure fool if he could only approach himself in the fashion that he is wont to tackle others. After all, no human being will move one foot in any direction until he is convinced, and convinced moreover in the images and terms of his own consciousness. ### EDUCATIONAL GUIDANCE

The announcement that an educational guidance branch will be established within the Ontario Department of Education, will no doubt meet with the approval of those who have given thought to educational needs in this province. The object is to teach pupils why they are studying certain subjects, to develop the particular talents they possess, and to overcome the tendency to impart a broad general education and then trust to luck that the children find out what use their education has been to them. Experts will assist in directing the steps of young people into the particular fields of activity for which their talents make them specially fitted.—Guelph Mercury.

A Bible Message

And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so. And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.

And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.

And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

And the evening and the morning were the third day. (Gen. 1: 9-13.)

Two More Lincolns

What page of the Government press do you read?

On the editorial page of the local Liberal organ, Wednesday, May 31, appeared a highly satirical piece having huge fun with the Windsor Star's notion that John Bracken looks like Abraham Lincoln.

"If Mr. Bracken's political fortune is going to depend upon establishing a resemblance of his face and that of President Abraham Lincoln, Mr. Bracken is, politically speaking, a dead duck. The John 'Abe Lincoln' Bracken movement might just as well cash in its chips and fervently hope nothing more will be heard of the matter."

In the same paper, same day, on Page 3, appears a laudatory article on Richard Motherwell, new head of the Young Liberal Federation. Here is the first sentence of it:

"A dark-haired, bespectacled Saskatchewan farmer, who impressed at least one delegate with his resemblance to Abraham Lincoln...."

You see, Mr. Motherwell is a Liberal—and in the eyes of our contemporary that makes all the difference.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Phone Pioneer Dead At 78

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP) — One of the Canadian pioneers of the telephone system, Peter H. Fox, of Northport, Prince Edward county, was buried yesterday from his residence here. He was in his 79th year and had lived in Toronto for the past 35 years.

In 1886, when Mr. Fox was 22 years of age, he started out on a hobby that grew eventually into an independent telephone company serving some 700 subscribers in Prince Edward county.

From crude hand tools he made the equipment that was responsible for the first telephone system in the county, a service between his own and his father's house.

Mechanical minded he had served since he was 19 years of age as the Great Northwestern telegraph operator in the community.

Mr. Fox later built the first telephone service for the use of fire rangers in Algonquin Park.

After devoting much of his time to organizing independent telephone systems throughout Canada, Mr. Fox engaged in the electrical business in Toronto, retiring in 1928. He was a member of the United church, Quinte lodge, A.F. & A.M., Rameses Shrine and the Governor Simcoe Branch, U.E.L.

He is survived by one son, two sisters and a brother. Interment was at Albury cemetery, near Belleville.

TORONTO, June 15—(CP)—A 31-year-old guard at Don jail in Toronto has been suspended as a result of investigation into the escape from the jail Saturday night of Allen Baldwin, convicted Windsor bank robber, it was learned from official sources today.

One source said there was "collusion" between a guard and Baldwin who is charged with murder in the death of Robert Canning, a jail guard. Baldwin, who had been in hospital for treatment of a fractured arm, was removed to the jail yesterday.

War Pension Program Changed To Eliminate Soldier Hardships

OTTAWA, June 15—(CP)—Pensions Minister Mackenzie today announced that an order-in-council had been passed making widespread changes in regulations under which ex-servicemen receive medical and other treatment after discharge.

The Minister said the changes were designed to simplify and consolidate existing regulations, to remove certain inequalities, and, where necessary to raise treatment allowances so a former serviceman or woman would not suffer hardship as a result of illnesses following or attributable to service.

Under the old regulations there were 21 classifications under which an ex-serviceman or woman might receive treatment, he said. These have been reduced to 12 without any former rights to treatment being lost.

"The changes will be of benefit to Canada's veterans as far back as the Northwest Rebellion," said Mr. Mackenzie. "But they will be of particular assistance to those young Canadians who now are fighting on the beaches of France, in Italy, in the skies and on the seas."

Major Change

One of the major changes affects persons discharged while still in need of treatment, said the Minister. Until last February, all under this classification went on hospital allowances of $10.20 weekly for a single man and $14.40 for a man and his wife. It was found this caused hardship and in February authority was given to continue pay and allowances of rank, up to a ceiling equivalent to Army Lieutenant for the period of a man's service to a maximum of one year.

"Even these regulations resulted in hardship in some cases," he continued. "This was particularly true of the time factor, so under the new regulations we have taken care of this. No matter what the period of service we can continue the pay and allowances of rank for a full 12 months' period. If the disability is pensionable and if the veteran is still responding to treatment after the year has elapsed, we may still continue the military rates of pay for a second year and if curative treatment continues to bring improvement, we can go beyond that period if necessary. The ceiling has also been removed, with the result that we continue the pay and allowances of whatever rank a man held during the time of this uninterrupted treatment."

Retroactive

Mr. MacKenzie said this regulation was retroactive to May 1, 1943, or to the start of uninterrupted treatment, and that treatment which began within 30 days of military discharge for a condition incurred during service was considered as being "uninterrupted treatment." If the pension department grants leave beyond 30 days the treatment still would be regarded as "uninterrupted."

A change also was made in what was known as "class 1" treatment. This originally affected only those who had been awarded pensions from this and the First Great War. Its terms now have been broadened to include all observation cases — both pensioners and non-pensioners —directed to hospital for observation by the Canadian Pension Commission and to veterans of the Northwest Rebellion who previously were treated under another class.

Mr. MacKenzie said: "It will take some little time before the full effect comes into operation and I must ask patients in hospital and those who have been discharged to bear with us during the period we are getting these new regulations in full operation. That will not be longer than absolutely necessary."

Ontario Man Smashes Army Record

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, June 15—(CP)—A fleet fellow who soared through the air with the greatest of ease blasted a Canadian Army record when a Canadian Corps halted on invasion eve for a turn of sport.

Lieut. E. B. Morgan of Leamington featured the Corps' track and field championship by covering 42 feet, four inches, in the hop, step and jump. It smashed the former mark by nine inches and well outdistances Pte. N. E. F. Brinsdon of Moose Jaw, Sask., who placed second.

CQMS. Bert Rosen of Winnipeg took the individual championship of the meet by compiling 10 points that helped his infantry division win the team title with 74 points to 26 for the second placed armored division. Rosen's feats included triumphs in the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard event.

The Winnipegger broke the tape in the century in 10 seconds flat with P. F. Taylor, a gunner from Oakville, Ont., inches behind. Cpl. W. H. Cox of Fort William, Ont., chased Rosen hard to take second position in the 220. The winning time was 23.1 seconds.

Lieut. W. W. Knapp showed a snappy finishing sprint that brought victory in the 880-yard event in the time of 2:6.8. Pte. S. Smith of Hamilton, Ont., crossed the line in second place.

Three Mile Event

Another Hamiltonian, Sgt. G. Elliott, showed a wealth of second-front stamina in winning the three-mile grind. He was clocked in 15:42.1 with Cpl. Dave Canavan, a Northern Irishman attached to the Canadian Army, a few yards behind.

Officers gained their third and final victory in the running high jump when Lieut. K. R. Wallace of Edmonton, Alta., cleared the bar at five feet, eight inches. Brinsdon, second in the hop, step and jump event, soared into his second second place.

Pte. S. J. Maynard of Toronto leaped 21 feet, 1 inches, to victory in the running broad jump while Pte. G. W. Hetherington of St. James, Man., was second and Pte. D. W. McLean of Brockville, Ont., third.

A signalman from Gaspe, Que., R. P. Beck took the 440-yard dash in 54.2 seconds, beating his superior, Capt. J. P. G. Kemp of Montreal. Cpl. J. L. Nicholson of Bonnyville, Alta., paced himself to a stirring triumph over Sgmn. E. J. Young of Moncton, N.B., in the mile run. Nicholson's time was 4:41.3.

In just one second less, an infantry team won the mile relay. Members were Beck, Cpl. I. M. Levy of Wolfville, N.S., and Ptes. G. A. Patterson of Hanover, Ont., and W. E. Hunter of Toronto.

An armored team pulled itself to victory in the tug-of-war classic and winning members included Cpl. P. K. Fanning of Port Arthur, Ont., and Ptes. D. W. Campbell, Minnitaki, Ont.; M. Huston, Portage la Prairie, Man.; J. Sanders, Fort William, Ont.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Francis Barrett and Pinky Woods, Red Sox— Barrett relieved Pitcher Emmett O'Neil and allowed only one run in 7 2-3 innings to win in his first appearance after coming up from Columbus in the American Association; Woods gave Red Sox sweep of both games by hurling six hit shutout over Athletics.

Rufe Gentry and Joe Hoover, Tigers — Gentry blanked Indians with six hits in opener; Hoover made three hits and drove in three runs in nightcap to lead Tigers to double win.

Walker Cooper, Cardinals—Drove in winning run in eighth inning with one of his three hits and also scored three runs.

More Pearls

HAMILTON, June 15—(CP)—Fish stories are including mussels these days. Agnes Queen found forty-two pearls in one can of mussels. This tops the 18 pearls reported found last Friday in a tin.

Pitcher Rosy McPherson, the big Millbrook twirler with the bewildering slow ball that buffaloed the Plazas so badly in the early part of their game with U.E.W. the other night will be back on the hilltop tonight for the Union team as they clash with the unbeaten Switchgear outfit. McPherson's blooper that seemed to stop dead in the air and then float down like an autumn leaf past the bats of the Plazas has the fans all talking and those who saw the Tuesday night battle will be back tonight to see how the hard-hitting Switchgear team get along with the delayed action pitches of he Millbrook heaver. The Union team behind that kind of pitching, look like a different outfit and they will be fighting all the way tonight in the hope of being the first team this season to stop the leaders. Freddy Elliott will likely do the tossing for Switchgear with Holly Mowry catching. Elliott threw a classic the last time out to stop the Plazas completely and he and the slow-baller on the mound for the Union club should have themselves quite a pitching duel tonight. One way and another this contest should be be highly entertaining and it rates a good crowd. Action will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp.

The menu in the Girls' Softball League for tonight calls for the Westclox second team to battle with the Quakers and these two young teams should stage themselves quite a ball game. The Baby Bens have uncovered quite a lot of promising material as future players for the Westclox seniors and they hope to add another victory to their string when they meet the Quakers this evening. On the other hand the Quakers unreeled an easy victory at the expense of the Lock Works Monday night and they played good ball behind steady pitching by Gertrude Masters to turn the trick. That win gave the Porridge girls a lot of confidence and from now on they will be tougher to beat. They are confident of their ability to repeat that victory tonight and take the Baby Bens into camp. The battle for the intermediate honors this season promises to be close all the way down the stretch. Brintons, intermediate winners f[illegible] he past two seasons are favorites to repeat but the other [illegible] the section are improving all the time and they may [illegible] interesting before the title-winners are finally decided. [illegible]orrow night Brintons and Johnson Motors will clash.

Keeping Baseball Alive

Fortunately for the future of baseball in Ontario there are still some centres in which the need of developing young players is recognized and where a real effort is being made to keep the game alive by providing opportunities for young players. Oshawa is one of those places and they have an up-and-coming juvenile league organized. Stratford is another and Chick Appel tells in the following paragraph what is going on there: "But speaking of homebrew youngsters, it shouldn't be many years before Stratford will have capable replacements for their veterans, now that the newly organized juvenile league is about to start proceedings. Teams will compete from four designated zones in the city, with C.N.R. sponsoring the south team, Avon Dairies the west team, Kist Canada the east team and Bradshaw Knitwear the north team. Backers of these teams, together with prospective players and others who are willing to lend a hand in putting the loop over, are being asked to be present at National Stadium this evening, when many of the preliminary matters will be straightened out. The stunt of dividing the city into four zones and having youngsters play with their respective teams looks like a much better plan than allowing them to play for the team of their choice, regardless of where they reside. This will prevent packing of one or more teams."

"The rush should be on around New York by now to discover what type of pills Mel Ott is taking this year," says Billy Westwick in the Ottawa Journal. "It isn't the first time ball clubs, hockey or football teams have adopted a diet of vitamin pills, but the New York Giant manager started off the season taking them and what he's been doing at the plate since returning to an active player role has been the talk of the big town, as well as the rest of the baseball world. The home run habit with Ott has taken on a double tinge. Yesterday he poled out two more circuit clouts for New York. He has 16 of them now and the habit has become contagious among Giant players who lead the majors in home runs. Meanwhile Ott is just about set to add another record — for extra base hits to his already imposing string. Baseball men don't overlook the fact that the short outfield at the Polo Grounds is quite a help to home run hitters. And the brand of pitching isn't up to the standard Ott faced in former years. But the Giant boss is setting quite a pace. At any rate, Ott has drawn renewed attention to the vitamin pills. He's in his 20th year in big league ball and he hasn't appeared to any better advantage in other days. Just who started the multiple vitamin business in sport is a moot question, but St. Louis Cardinals a few years ago were gobbling them regularly. They were under orders to do so by Owner Sam Breadon, and whether it meant anything or not the Cards rolled through to a World Series triumph."

Red Sox Roar Along

Skipper Joe Cronin of Boston has his Red Sox pointing straight for the top of the ladder and rolling along under a full head of steam. Yesterday the Sox breezed through to a double win over the Philadelphia A's and that made eight triumphs in a row for the Cronihites. They took the first game 6 to 4 with Barrett getting credit for his first win of the season after he had relieved O'Neill and garnered the second on super-deluxe elbowing by Woods who blanked the Mackmen on five scattered hits. Bobby Doerr who has not been slamming as many homers as usual this season managed to get his fifth of the year. Detroit also managed to pick up both ends of a twin bill against the Cleveland Indians yesterday. Rufe Gentry, winning his third triumph as against five defeats won the opener 3 to 0 and Newhouser and Gorsica took care of the Detroit pitching in the nightcap which the Bengals won easily by 11 runs to 3.

* * * * * *

The St. Louis Cards show no inclination to let up in their drive for another National League pennant and yesterday they increased their already substantial lead by knocking off the Chicago Cubs. The champs took the fixture 10 to 9 but they had to battle all the way to head off the Cubs and both Mort Cooper and Harry Brecheen failed before Schmidt finally got the losers under control and the Cards batted and battled on to win. Bucky Walters, reliable old veteran of the Cincinnati Reds who is having one of his best seasons added another victory to his long list by outlasting three Pittsburg pitchers in an 11-innings affair which the Reds ultimately grabbed by 3 to 2. Walters spaced out ten Pirates hits very effectively in going the distance for the winners. And the New York Yanks beaten seven times in a row finally found a way to stop their slump when rookie Walter Dubiel held the Washington Senators to five hits and the Yanks came home in front 6 to 2, the victory being scored at the expense of Early Wynn, one of the better Senator pitchers.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Peterborough lawn-bowlers got a tough break yesterday when in spite of a fine entry list they had to call off their tourney because of the rain....Softball also suffered. The City League fixture between the Soldiers and St. Peter's had to be postponed but that was the first league fixture of the season that had to be shelved because of the weather....In the Ladies' loop the feature game between Westclox and Aircraft also was washed out....Incidentally Aircraft and Brintons will play a postponed game on Saturday of this week, the first Saturday fixture in the Girls' League this summer....Syracuse Chiefs had eleven errors in a game the other night and that seems about par for the course in Class AA ball....Frank Demaree has been released by the St. Louis Browns....The veteran outfielder has seen a lot of service under the big top....Boston Red Sox are only a game behind the Brownies in the American League race. In fact in the early evening last night the Croninites were only half a game out of first place but the Brownies

Creamery Delivers Sounl Trouncing 28-8

OMEMEE, June 15—(ENS)—Omemee Creamery defeated Reaboro in an exhibition game there, 28-8. The Creamery had no difficulty in solving Smith's delivery, who issued 8 walks. Stephenson, on the mound for the Creamery, pitched a nice game, allowed but three free passes.

G. Smith, J. Callaghan and Bob Reeds collected two hits each for Reaboro. Parsons with two homers, Stephenson with one homer, Bradley with four hits and a walk and Brooks with four were Omemee's heavy hitters. Johnson pitched for Omemee the last four innings, and B. Reeds for Reaboro in the last two frames. Both pitchers were hit freely.

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP) — Ancient history lesson: Moved by the furore over Mel Harder's 200th major league victory this spring, Ernie Lanigan looked over his records and found the near-misses included 198 victories by Bullet Joe Bush, 197 each by Larry French, Al Orth, Dazzy Vance and Rube Waddell, 196 by Babe Adams and 195 by Adolfo Luque and Bob Shawkey.

Vaughan Hazen, Rochester rookie, had made only two hits in 17 times at bat when the Red Wings went to play an exhibition at the Sampson, N.Y., naval training centre . . as he went to the plate the first time, a teammate remarked: "You ought to hit the devil out of this sore-armed semi-pro pitcher." . . . Hazen did, a 400-foot homer on the first pitch . . . After he circled the bases a veteran commented: "All you needed was to hit against some good big league pitching." . . . . When Hazen learned the Sampson pitcher was Hal White, formerly of the Tigers, he became jittery and popped up on the next try . . . "I was so busy studying that big leaguer's style I just couldn't keep my eye on the ball," he explained . . . Last Saturday President Shag Shaughnessy of the International League fined Baltimore's Blas Monaco 25 bucks for some slight offence. That night Monaco socked two homers and the next day he hit another . . . and Shaughnessy wasn't pitching, either.

Bucky Walters Chalks Up 10th Victory For Reds

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer.

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds became the first major league pitcher to win 10 games this season when he hurled the Reds to a 3-2 triumph over Pittsburg Pirates in 11 innings.

Including last night's game, the Reds' brilliant right-hander has started 12 games and completed 11 of them. Only Jim Tobin of Boston Braves has pitched more complete games, 12.

Walters has hurled 114 innings in which he has allowed 22 runs and 74 hits, an average of fewer than six hits and 1.65 runs per game.

The Reds had to come from behind to win yesterdays game. After the Pirates had gone ahead with a single tally in the 11th, Steve Mesner tripled, Eddie Miller followed with a double to score Mesner, and Woody Williams singled Miller in with the winning run.

Red Sox Take 2.

Boston Red Sox won their seventh and eighth straight by capturing both games of a doubleheader from Philadelphia Athletics 6-4 and 5-0. Francis (Red) Barrett won the opener in relief for his first major league victory and Pinky. Woods hurled a six-hit shutout in the nightcap.

New York Yankees ended a seven-game losing streak by whipping Washington Senators 6-2 behind Walter Dubiel's five-hit pitching. The victory hurdled the Yankees back into the first division in fourth place.

Detroit Tigers took both ends of a twin bill from Cleveland Indians 3-0 and 11-3. Rufe Gentry, who broke into the majors last year with a shutout over the Indians, duplicated it in the opener, scattering six hits. Hal Newhouser won his ninth game in the nightcap, more than any other American hurler.

The league-leading Browns overwhelmed Chicago White Sox 10-3. Nelson Potter hung up his seventh victory of the season, aided by Al Zarilla who banged out four hits, including a double and triple.

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP). — Strange things happen beneath the midnight sun—and also in Victoria. It seems the show business and the fight game got badly tangled up there the other night and the resulting carnival beggared the imagination.

Carl (Vancouver News-Herald) Robertson gave a blow-by-blow description of the affair, with some hair-rumpling. It started with the Gizeh Temple Shrine Band giving out with a few numbers, after which four bouts were bouted.

"Then the Gizeh boys have a return engagement and at this point a band of Militia Rangers start to work on the ring. Before you can say wotin (censored) goes on, there is the neatest hunk of fir floor covering the ring as you've ever seen."

The program included glamor girl singers, a violin solo (longhair variety), a roller-skating act, and a "snappy can-can dance." Oh yes, with some fights mixed in.

"Wonder if the Victoria papers sent their night club reporters or their sports writers to the show?" mused Mr. Robertson.

Coast to Coast:

Tiny Herman, former Ottawa Rough Riders gridiron star, became a proud father in Halifax recently when his wife presented him with youngster number one. Its a girl for the big R.C.N.V.R. lieutenant....Jimmy Hanratty was retired from the C.N.R. Publicity Bureau in oMntreal. He was a sport reporter on the Montreal Star back in 1896 and sports editor of the Gazette about 1902.....Race patrons at Dufferin Park, Toronto, on Wednesday witnessed a unique spectacle —a feature race without betting. Track sponsors decided to run the $3,000 added Dufferin Handicap that way because only five owners were represented in the entry list—hardly enough for spirited wagering....Vancouver is interested in the talked-up Dominion High School football playoff. Before the coast city could enter, the leagues would have to change their schedules — starting now after Christmas — and the schools would have to shift from the U.S. game they play now.

Rain Wipes Off All League Games

By The Associated Press

The International League race is so tight that any of the first six teams can pull away from the rest with a sizeable winning streak.

With all games wiped off the calendar yesterday due to rain, Jersey City maintains its first place lead by half a game over Baltimore, which in turn is half a game ahead of Buffalo. Then follow Rochester, Montreal and Toronto, with the Leafs only four games away from first place.

The best winning streak thus far has been posted by Rochester, winner of eight straight in May.

The longest losing streak was turned in by Syracuse, 13.

Spyros Skouras, one of the USA's leading film figures, predicts that within five years British films will be competing with American films everywhere on an even basis. Evidence that the British are aiming at the world market in a big way is the fact that "Queen of the Nile," ready for production in the Old Country with Vivien Leigh as the star, will cost more than $3,125,000 to make. . . . Ontario's most interesting theatre manager is Maurice Coste of the Century, Kitchener

Coste was born in the American Consulate at Port Said, Egypt, in 1870 on the same day that country was celebrating the opening of the Suez Canal. His father, a British subject, was acting Consul and one of the engineers who built what was to become the lifeline of the British Empire.

In honor of his birth the Khedive of Egypt presented the infant with a decoration and a certificate signed also by the Sultan of Turkey proclaiming Coste a Pasha of the Moslem world.

The elder Coste brought the family to Canada. Maurice, after studying at Upper Canada, took the medical course at McGill University but skipped before graduation to practice medicine during the Klondyke Gold Rush. From there, in 1899, he went to the Boer War as a captain. When General Cronje surrendered Coste was in charge of his bodyguard on the Island of St. Helena, where Napoleon had been jailed.

The 74-year-old Coste, hale and hearty, couldn't stand retirement and came back to the theatre business several years ago.

He had spent most of his life as an actor and producer and played with actors and actresses whose names are historic today.

Clearing copyrights on film music isn't easy these war days. ## Mr. and Mrs. J. Gehan Married 47 Years

MARMORA, June 15—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gehan who have been residents of Marmora for the past thirty-six years and enjoy the high esteem of a wide circle of friends, quietly celebrated their forty-seventh wedding anniversary Wednesday. They were married at Sacred Heart Church, Kemptville, on June 14, 1897, with Rev. Father M. MacDonald officiating. They have four children, Desmond, Fort William; Gladys, Trenton; Donald, Syracuse, N.Y. and Mrs. William Shannon (Dorena), Marmora.

Mr. Gehan is happy to feel that this present anniversary is marked with a fine recovery of health after a long illness.

ON WAY TO PRISON CAMP — German prisoners, including an officer, start on their way to prison camps in Britain. In spite of the west wall the Canadians rolled up onto French beaches in their invading craft and a little later many Germans rolled back across the Channel in the same boats.

Four Canadians Wounded Treated Royally

By JOAN CAPREOL
Reuters Staff Writer

LONDON, June 15 — (CP-Reuters).— Londoners yesterday opened their hearts to the first casualties from France they had seen—four Canadians who call themselves "the unluckiest" because they could not follow their colleagues in.

They were Cpl. George Russell, Kinistino, Sask., Tr. Alex Trotter, Stratford, Ont., Spr. Ralph Spencer, Londonderry, N.S., and Rfm. Gerry Leves, Winnipeg.

In the pubs they visited nobody would let them buy a drink. People gathered around to hear their stories and buy a round. Spencer volunteered to pay with a 100-franc note. But no one would allow it.

Taxi drivers gave them free rides. flower sellers pinned bouquets on them.

It wasn't hard to tell they were casualties. Spencer had shrapnel in his left leg. Leves who displayed a machine-gun slug taken from his leg, limped badly.

Russell, who had shrapnel wound in his right wrist which he got three minutes after he hit the beach, and Trotter who was hit in the shoulder by shrapnel when his tank was knocked out by direct hits on the turret, killing his crew commander, had their hands slung inside their tunics.

They all wore new uniforms because their others were ruined. But their boots were dirty with Normandy mud. They hadn't had time to clean them before their London jaunt

They kept repeating that they wanted to go back because "we were as unlucky as hell."

They were proud of the Canadians who "went in from the barges as if they had been fighting all their lives."

Cavan News

Mrs. T. Douglass is in Port Hope this week staying with her aunt, Mrs. William Evans, who is ill.

Miss L. Shae of Fleetwood has accepted the position as teacher at Whitfield's School for the year commencing in September. Her sister, Mrs. Cairns Lee, who is the present teacher, has resigned.

Miss Barbara Argue, who is teaching at Fairmount, has resigned and accepted a position on the Public School staff at Oshawa for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Armstrong, Miss Mary Armstrong, and Donald Mason, who is spending the summer with them, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Reid and Miss Mary Hampton at Reaboro on Sunday. It was in the form of a farewell party for their aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong, who has been visiting them for the past three weeks and left for her home in Edmonton on Monday.

Miss Bertha McNeil of Toronto is visiting at the home of her brother, Leonard McNeil.

Mr and Mrs. Frank Staples of Whitby attended the Bay of Quinte Conference in Peterborough last week and spent the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Matchett.

Rev. Floyd and Mrs. Honey and little daughter Margaret Elaine, of Baltimore, are guests of Mr. Honey's father and mother, Rev. W. E. and Mrs' Honey.

Among the exhibitors from this district who won prizes at the Millbrook Live Stock Exhibition recently were R. Ferrin, D. White, R. Matchett, J. Armstrong, R. McCamus, L. McNeil, W. Elson, Wilbert Larmer, and H. C Argue.

The dance sponsored by the Millbrook Agricultural Society on Friday night at Cavan Community Hall was attended by a large crowd. The door receipts amounted to $91.

Public Utility

TORONTO, June 15 (CP)—Minister of Agriculture T. L. Kennedy said yesterday that the Union Stock Yards here will become a public utility July 1 when ownership of the yards will pass from the United Stock Yards Company to a government-backed board representing the farmers who will operate it for their own interests. Mr. Kennedy stressed that the government is not buying the stock yards, but is guaranteeing the bonds to be issued by the stock yards board.

ATTACK RECOGNIZED

LONDON — (CP) — Twenty-five officers and four ratings of the Fleet Air Arm who took part in the April attack that crippled the Tirpitz have been awarded military decorations.

Remember, Dad

LONDON, June 15—(AP).—The United States War Department, looking ahead to the time when American troops may have leisure hours in France, advises them in a 36-page booklet distributed on the Normandy beachhead to give the women a hand with the housework.

"French women still talk about how your fathers did." it states.

Cheddar Cheese Must Be White

OTTAWA, June 15 — (CP) — Staring next Monday, all cheddar cheese manufactured in Quebec and Ontario must be white and unwaxed, not less than 14½ inches in diameter and 75 pounds in weight, the Dairy Products Board announced to-day.

The Board said this was to meet requirements of the British Food Ministry which is taking the bulk of cheese made in Canada. A similar order has been issued by the Board every year since 1940 to apply during the period of heavy cheese production.

TO MARRY ANZAC

RICHMOND, England — (CP) — Miss Joan Woolford, whose romance with Wing Cmdr. Paddy Finucane ended when he died on operations a few months before their wedding was to have taken place in 1942, is to be married to a New Zealand airman, F.O. Edward Crang.

Are your Children THIN NERVOUS UNDER PAR?

Try New, Improved OVALTINE

Children who are thin, nervous and under par, science has discovered, are often found to be eating foods which do not give them enough of the essential food elements everyone needs for health.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, $B_1$ and D, Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron — all from Ovaltine alone. Also quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins for building sturdy bodies.

So — if your child is thin, nervous, under par, or eats poorly, start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine regularly. Get Ovaltine today at drug or food store.

3 Yorkshire Sows Win Certificates

Gordon Stalker of Smith reports that three of his Yorkshire sows whose litters have been under test have qualified for advanced registry certification. These sows scored 82, 81 and 76 points. This result automatically qualified the herd sire.

Mr. Stalker is president of the Quinte-Kawartha Yorkshire Breeders' Club.

Swine breeders in this county are rated among the leaders of the province in the production of commercial animals, but advanced registration has not been generally adopted by the farmers of the district, and the new club was organized to promote qualification.

5 Soldier Casualties From Brockville Area

BROCKVILLE, June 15 — (CP) — Word was received by relatives yesterday that three Brockville boys had become casualties in France, and that one of them, Pte. Herbert Box, 25, had been reported killed on "D-day." The other casualties reported were Sgt. Delbert Bradford, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bradford, and Pte. Elmer McCune, son of Mr. and Mrs. David McCune. Bradford and McCune both were reported wounded in France.

Two Cornwall families were notified yesterday that their sons had been reported wounded in action in France. One, Pte. James H. McDonald son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. McDonald, was reported wounded and seriously ill. The other, Pte. John Kennedy, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kennedy, was reported suffering from shrapnel wounds.

$375 Required To Complete Next Donation

For the 29th time, the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund is approaching the culmination of an effort on behalf of the victims of enemy air raids over Britain, the amount required at the moment to complete the usual amount of £500, that has been forwarded on most occasions now standing at $375.00.

At each of the three Christmas seasons that the fund has been in operation, special gifts of £1,100—£1,500 and £1,600, has been forwarded respectively, so that in all, a total of £16,700, has been cabled to the Lord Mayor of London, and the present gift in course of completion will make a total of £17,200, requiring in all a sum slightly over $77,000, in Canadian funds to make this possible.

With everyone's attention focused on events now taking place in northern France, it is only natural that other things take a back seat, and yet only two nights ago there were two alerts in London, and bombs were dropped in the suburbs, a poignant reminder that the work of the fund must still continue, for the need still exists and the danger remains until the German air force is obliterated.

Bible Class Totals $210.00

It is only just about one week ago that this column reported a donation from the Tuesday afternoon South-end Group of the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church, who were among the very first to take practical steps to assist the people of Britain by raising money on their behalf, and now this is followed by a further gift of $10.00 on behalf of the whole class, through Miss A. Jenkinson their treasurer.

This money was voted at the final business meeting before the summer recess, this final act being one that has been typical of their work throughout the time of the fund's operation, for in all they now have a total credit of $210.00 in money raised and sent overseas for this purpose.

Then Grade 4 pupils of Queen Mary School have given $1.05 which they brought to the teacher, and saved for that purpose, they also approaching the summer recess, and their kindly thought for other people in trouble is a fine example o fothers might well follow before they disburse in the pursuit of pleasure free from scholastic duties.

William A. Taylor of Crawford's Grove has always given a helping hand during the summer months when he could raise some money from the fruits of his garden, and this has once again commenced with a gift of $2.00 listed in his name today, also displaying a thought for others in need that is quite commendable.

From Campbellford

Mayor F. F. Long of Campbellford has a host of friends in this city gathered through an association of many years standing, and his personal gift of $5.00 to support the work that this fund carries on, besides the good it will do, carries a mute evidence of the interest that he presonally has in the work that his friends in this city have been and are doing much to support.

Convicted Himself

PATERSON, N.J., June 15 —(AP).—Brought into court to prove his owner's statement that he was meek as a lamb and would not harm a soul, a large police dog let out a series of frightening barks and made a playful lunge at a woman spectator. The judge lost no time in finding the owner guilty of a charge of permitting the dog to become a public nuisance.

SHRAPNEL WOUNDS — Sgt. Vernon Read is suffering from shrapnel wounds in the hip, received while serving with the Third Division in France. He enlisted in 1940, and his wife lives at 451 Rogers Street.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE—Pte. Charles Sharpe, whose wife is a gas station attendant at Lillico Motors, has been wounded in the invasion with the Third Division. He enlisted in 1940.

Dismiss Counts Against Chinese

As an aftermath of a recent police swoop in the vicinity of the Locks bridge when three white girls and three Chinese waiters were arrested, Art Mah, George street, was tried before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy.

He was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Sergt. G. T. Puffer told of arresting Mah along with the two other Chinese and the three girls. He said that the accused was with one of the girls while the other two couples were spread out a distance of some 20 or 30 feet apart. Witness said that he did not give a good account of himself.

In cross-examination Sgt. Puffer said that he knew Mah was employed at the De Luxe Cafe and that he had worked until 2 o'clock that morning. The accused had had some money on him when searched.

Magistrate Langley dismissed the charge, without any defence evidence being put in.

"The law is not what the police think it should be," he said. "It is what parliament has made it. The whole vagrancy charge is predicated on the accused having no visible means of subsistence and in this case it is shown that the accused did have money and that he was regularly employed."

A similar charge against Frank Lee, another Chinese waiter, was also dismissed when the crown announced that it would offer no evidence.

Evidence was then heard in a prostitution charge against Rita Charron, Toronto, one of the three girls arrested with the Chinese.

Constable Leo. Murphy told of seeing the accused, along with two other women known to the police as street-walkers on Simcoe street about 12:45 o'clock that same morning and an hour later talking to several Chinese on Charlotte street. Later she was one of the party arrested near the Locks bridge.

Sgt. Gordon T. Puffer gave evidence as to the arrest. Called by the defence Frank Lee, Canadian-born Chinese told of knowing Rita Charron in Toronto where he said she lived with him for some time and added that he was still supporting her. He said that she had behaved herself so far as he was concerned and that he did not know her as a prostitute.

The accused also gave evidence, stating that she had lived with Lee and had come down to visit him after he had moved to Peterborough. She denied being a prostitute.

At this stage the court adjourned for luncheon.

Apsley Soldier Has Bomb Fragment Injury

Mrs. Harry Rowe of Apsley has received word that her husband, Pte. Harry Rowe, was wounded on June 8 by a bomb fragment in the upperarm, while fighting with the invasion forces in France.

Before enlisting in 1940, Pte. Rowe was employed by Duncan Brown of Apsley, where he lived with his wife and four sons. His mother, Mrs. Frank Brown, lives at 478 Rubidge street, and his father, who enlisted with the 93rd Battalion in the last war, was killed overseas.

Not Acceptable

OTTAWA, June 15 — (CP). — The French Information Service said last night in a statement that "the French people will never accept Amgot, even under its new name of 'G-5' or 'Military Section of Civil Affairs.'"

Warden Wants Tax Rates Struck Early

Holding special sessions of the County Council in March to consider estimates for the current year and making this a regular practice was advocated by Isaac Anderson, Warden of Peterborough County, in his address to members of the council at the opening of the June session in the Court House this morning.

Mr. Anderson said in reference to the first such special session of last March: "If this could be made a regular practice and the rates struck at this time, it would be an advantage to the municipalities in the county which have advanced their tax collections which necessitates striking their rate before the June session of this Council."

He told members they would be called upon at the present session to confirm the County rates by bylaw. "The patriotic grants," Mr. Anderson remarked, "will be slightly over one mill this year, which is more than one half mill higher than last year. Secondary education is costing $2,763.12 more, and the special grant made to the two local hospitals will be one half mill. The above are the main reasons for the increase in our rates this year."

In expressing his thanks to members and staff for the kindness and cooperation shown him in carrying out his duties during the past few months, the Warden strongly urged study and consideration of the enabling legislation recently passed to make possible Municipal Health Services by a municipality of two or more municipalities. "This would be a forward step in promoting better health in the country," he said, "and might even help to remove the cause for future grants being made to hospitals, as has been necessary in Peterborough city hospitals this year."

Break For Farmers

Remarking on the increase in the supply of farm machinery which will come into effect with the next machinery year beginning July 1, and the greater quota of repair parts which will also be made available to Canadian farmers, Warden Anderson termed this a "gratifying" fact, and added: "This will assure the continued production of necessary food products, despite the farm labor shortage of which Peterborough County has been no exception."

The Warden revealed that Reeve P. J. Mather had been chosen at a recent conference on planning held in Toronto, to sit on a representative committee which will work with the new Department of Planning and Development set up by the Ontario government for the purpose of organizing postwar programs. "The County," he said, "is fortunate in having a member on this Committee, and we hope a suitable method for financing this gigantic scheme can be found, so that this development may function at a time and in a way that will do the most good."

Children To Visit

Mr. Anderson reminded members of the entertaining of a deputation of County school children which is to take place Friday and which is the first program of its kind ever undertaken by the Council. Some 200 boys and girls, representing the rural schools in all the townships will travel into the city in the morning; will be spectators of a session of the Council on their arrival; will be shown about the County building and instructed in the functions of the various County offices; and will be guests at a picnic luncheon.

Correspondence read by the clerk at the brief morning session included a communication from the Deputy-Sheriff re the appointment of two new turnkeys for the jail, an action necessitated by the eight-hour day law which went into effect recently. S. D. Johnston, returned serviceman on the sheriff's staff before his enlistment, was one of those appointed; and the other was Wilfred Wood.

Also read to councillors was the report of F. C. Paterson, Agricultural representative, which itemized expenses of the office maintained in Peterborough as $175.85 and stated the balance on hand as of March 31 at $943.95. The office had begun the fiscal year with a balance of $619.82; and during the year was recipient of a County grant in the sum of $500.

War—4 Years Ago

June 15, 1940.—French government moved to Bordeaux. Germans advanced to points 20 miles both south and east of Paris and crossed Rhine in Alsace. Germans claimed Maginot Line breached on broad front south of Saarbruecken and reported capture of Verdun.

WOUNDED IN ARM — Pte. Harry Rowe of Apsley was wounded in the arm June 8, while serving in France, it has been announced. His wife and four children live in Apsley.

Louis Yeotes Is Fined $2

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., registered a conviction against Louis Yeotes in police court today on a charge of having allowed a boy under the age of 18 to frequent his poolroom.

Constable Gordon Trennum said that he saw the youth in the Louis Billiards pool room and that he was wearing a military uniform.

Harry Smith, the boy in question, said that he was 15 years old at the time and that he had no permission from his parents to visit pool rooms. His mother was also called to prove his age and also the fact that she had not given him permission to frequent the pool room in question.

Yeotes said it was difficult with boys in uniform because he did not like to order them out of the place. He admitted that he had received warnings from the police about minors visiting his pool room, but said that help was hard to get and it was difficult, under the circumstances, to keep check on the boys.

Magistrate Langley fined the accused $2 and $5.50 costs, remarking that he had done so because Yeotes had promised to keep a closer watch on young patrons.

Pte. Rayfield Ennis Suffers Foot Wound

NORWOOD, June 15—(ENS)—Pte. Rayfield (Skinny) Ennis, has been wounded while serving with the invasion forces in France, according to word received by his grandfather, Richard Ennis, and an aunt, Mrs. F. Webb. He is suffering from a foot injury.

Pte. Ennis enlisted in 1940 in Peterborough and has been serving overseas for two years. He is now with the Third Division. Since his arrival overseas he has been married.

Arrest Two Youths Entering Warehouse

OSHAWA, June 15 (CP)—Norval Northcott and William Coty were arrested yesterday on charges of breaking and entering the warehouse of the Weston Bakery. Northcott, 18, was arrested when he was shot in the ankle while trying to escape from the warehouse and now is in hospital.

Coty was arrested later in the same day, and appeared in court today. He was remanded. Police said nothing was taken from the warehouse.

King Removed

NEW YORK, June 15—(CP)—The Berlin radio, broadcasting a dispatch from Brussels, said last night King Leopold had been taken from his palace at Laeken near Brussels to "another residence worthy of his rank and position" on orders of Hitler.

RECEIVES WOUND — Pte. Earl Daynes, whose wife lives at 537 Waterford street, has been wounded while fighting with the Third Division in France. He was formerly employed at the C.G.E.

Cricket Player Suffers Wound

Another Peterborough soldier, Sgt. Richard Walker Parkes of the 3rd Canadian Division, has been officially reported wounded in action acording to a telegraphed notice received Wednesday by his wife, Mrs. Janet Parkes, 221 Rink street. The date or nature of his wounds was not disclosed, but he is a member of a famous Canadian regiment whose presence in France is no longer a matter of doubt.

Sgt. Parkes enlisted four years ago and went overseas in 1941. His military training antedates his joining up for active service, as he was a member of the Prince of Wales Rangers for some years before the war and qualified as a special instructor in the use of the trench mortar.

Sgt. Parkes was born in England and came to Canada as a young man. For 12 years he was employed at G. Whitaker and Co. and during that time was an active player on the company's cricket team. He is 33 years old and the father of three small children.

Health Dept. Seizes Impure Milk

When Harold Worton, V.S., of the city's health department picked a bottle of milk from a dairy delivery wagon across the river recently his hand fell upon an entire load that was being distributed without benefit of pasteturization.

It was a flagrant and cynical violation of the provincial statute and the law which requires all milk sold to the consumers of this area to be pasteurized.

Immediate enquiry elicited the explanation that something had gone wrong with the dairy plant, and in the possibility of escaping official interference the management decided to substitute raw milk for the pasteurized product.

Previous Trouble

The sample was obtained from a delivery truck in Ashburnham, but it was the output of a dairy in the south end of the city. Dr. Kelly, M.O.H., also reported to the Board that the bacilli count of that dairy's milk was too high in the report for May.

The Board instructed Dr. Kelly to notify the owner of that dairy that he was being given forty-eight hours to put everything around his plant in good order.

Sanitary Inspector MacPherson remarked in the discussion that the owner was one of those who was not convinced of the value or need of pasteurization.

Excellent Dairies

Reference to the continuous supervision of dairy farms is quoted from Mr. MacPherson's report to the Board:—

"When examinatoin of the raw milk shipped by any producer indicated evidence of visible dirt or high bacterial content, Dr. Worton visits the dairy farm concerned and endeavors to correct the cause. He has rendered valuable assistance in this way this month and as more and more tests are made, the results of these visits will be seen in a better quality bottled milk.

"Several dairy farms were visited in company with Dr. Worton and I am pleased to report that they were found in good sanitary condition. Stables were clean and free from cobwebs, dust and litter. Cows were well groomed, flanks clipped and generally well kept. Milk houses were clean and utensils well looked after. Yards also were clean and free of litter.

"One milk producer to whom a temporary permit was issued was subsequently shut off when after 30 days lapsed he had failed to comply with the suggestions of the Inspector."

19-Year-Old Youth Sent To Reformatory

Maurice Pelland, 19, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to a year in the Ontario Reformatory with a further indefinite period of ten days after a conviction had been registered against him of stealing an automobile belonging to Robert Crowley of Otonabee.

Evidence in the case had been heard last Saturday at which time W. J. Arthur Fair, defence counsel, had argued that the accused should not be convicted of stealing the automobile but rather of joy-riding.

However in his judgment this morning Magistrate Langley said that he had read over the authorities and was satisfied that a charge of theft of the car had been made out against Pelland and there would be a conviction.

7-Day Jail Term For Drunken Driving

Ray Williamson who entered a plea of guilty in police court today on a charge of drunken driving was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to seven days imprisonment in the county jail.

Constable C. J. McGillen in giving evidence stated that he had seen a car being driven in an erratice manner on the early morning of last Sunday and had followed it over to the home of the accused. Witness said that when Williamson had got out of the car he had staggered against the wall of the building.

The officer added that there had been no accident.

Magistrate Langley said he thought that it was a case where the minimum sentence might be imposed.

SERVING OVERSEAS — Sgt. Gerald Stanley Killingbeck is serving overseas as an air gunner with the R.C.A.F. Before enlisting in August, 1943, he worked at the Peterborough Canoe Company. His wife lives at 86 Gladstone Ave.

Kinsmen Deny Sponsoring Show

Kinsmen Club is not sponsoring a carnival show that has made its own arrangements to pitch its tents in North Monaghan, A. H. Lewis, president of the Club, told the Examiner today.

A representative of North Monaghan council, who said he had nothing to do with permission granted to the show, said its management volunteered to make a contribution to some war auxiliary and decided to give $150 to the Milk for Britain Fund conducted thorughout Canada by the Kinsmen.

"We've had nothing to do with them," Mr. Lewis said, and it was reported that the authorities in Ottawa were being informed that the show was not sponsored by the Club.

A comment at the city hall suggested that the show people look for a location in the township because the city council had decided not to encourage any carnival outfit coming here during a critical period of the war, with money needed for its paramount demands.

Training Centre Praises Milk

The quality of milk delivered from Peterborough sources to the military training centre at Morrow Park received a medico-military tribute through the Board of Health this week that was really too complimentary for publication.

That is the simple fact. Much as the Board wished to pass the compliment on to farmers and dairies, Alderman Dutton requested the press not to publish the statement thereby avoiding invidious comparison with other centres.

So, this item of reference to the incident affords nothing more as intelligence than the general tenor of the military praise to the Peterborough milk pool.

Dr. Kelly reported to the Board that twelve persons were cared for during seventy hospital days; "average stay per patient 5.8 hospital days. Of the twelve patients, only six were residents of the city."

"Three persons were reported as having tuberculosis infection in an inactive state. They are continuing at work under observation for the present, and will be investigated further at the next visit of the travelling chest clinic."

Keene United Church Reaches 111th Year

KEENE, June 15 — (ENS) — The 111th anniversary of Keene United church will be celebrated on Sunday at the services held at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m., when the Rev. J. A. Cranston, M.A., D.D., of Toronto, will be the guest preacher.

Few churches in Ontario hold a record so pronounced as the present United church One of its first ministers, Rev. Francis Andrews, D.D., was minister of the Keene Presbyterian church for 52 years, it was due to his faithful and efficient service that the church was so firmly established and the present building stands as a monument to the splendid work of those who were the officials in those days. A glance at the membership roll today shows the names of families who were leaders in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in those early days. At the first communion, 38 partook of the sacrament, the present membership stands at 358, this includes 52 who have enlisted in the Armed Forces.

Britain Honors First Flier To Cross Atlantic Ocean

By CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 15—(CP Cable)——In the midst of wartime days, a large part of whose orchestration is made up of thundering planes and headlines, Britain's aviation industry took time out yesterday to honor a slight, stooped man with sparse grey hair and a quiet, unaccented voice—Sir Arthur Whitten Brown.

Twenty-five years ago to-day, Lieut. Brown climbed into the navigator's cockpit of a twin-engined biplane on a temporary airdrome near St. John's, Newfoundland and, with Captain John Alcock at the controls, took off into a gusty, southwesterly gale. Roughly 14 hours later he crossed the coast of Ireland and in 16 hours and 28 minutes landed on a bog at Clifden, Ireland. The first non-stop Atlantic air crossing had been achieved.

Both subsequently were knighted and Alcock died shortly afterwards in an air accident.

In a luncheon speech to-day Brown hardly mentioned the flight. He said his friends in the present-day R.A.F.—in which he has a son—on seeing the plane merely say "my God." But then it was the best aircraft designed and did the job for which it and the engine were designed."

The chairman, Maj. H. R. Kilner, chief of aviation for Vickers, recalled that only 10 years prior to the Alcock-Brown flight, Louis Bleriot startled the world by flying the channel.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick Bowhill, chief of the R.A.F. Transport Command, noted that the 15,000th trans-Atlantic flight was completed a fortnight ago. Every flight still is carefully studied, he said. The Atlantic is not to be played with yet but is being flown winter and summer, day and night, in all weather.

Post-War Test

HAMILTON, June 15 (CP)—The severest test of the adequacy of universities to meet post-war problems will be in the extent and quality of their service to men and women demobilized from the armed services or released from war industry, the national conference of Canadian universities here last night was told by its president, Dr. Sidney E. Smith, president of University College of the University of Toronto.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 16

THE STELLAR indications for this day place the accent on the purely personal engagements of life, with a tendency to relegate the regulation business into the background. The lure to the more advanced cultural, intellectual or romantic or sentimental affairs seems to call for indulgence, with extravagances, excessive outlay of funds, energies and emotions, although there might be some enduring results for industry and application in practical matters. With serious attention there are promising auspices.

Those whose birthday it is may be inclined to put aside more constructive interests of life for the pursuit of pleasure, either in emotional, romantic, cultural or intellectual avocations. The tendency to careless, indulgent or extravagant neglect of serious work or interests might prove regrettable, as there may be certain erratic or trying circumstances. These might be overcome by logical and concentrated effort on practical affairs while still enjoying the higher social, romantic or domestic inclinations.

A child born on this day, while serious and responsible, may feel disposed to the finer and more cultural expressions of its talents and energies, risking possible benefits by carelessness or extravagances.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

DEAR MARY MOORE: I can make a complete supper seem extra super by making Light Potato Rolls as follows: I serve only old cheese, some jam, and tea or coffee with them. Some of us like a salad with it but it is not necessary.

Mrs. Chandler's Potato Light Rolls.

Boil 2 rather large potatoes in just enough water to cook them. Put them through ricer or colander while hot. Add 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon lard, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup lukewarm water, 1 cup yeast dissolved in the potato water which has been cooled to lukewarm. Beat together, then add 5 cups unsifted bread flour. Knead lightly. Let stand 6 to 7 hours at about 80 deg. Fahr. — rather warm kitchen — and when it has risen to be very light—more than double in bulk—turn out on well floured pastry board, and pat into sheet again—do not knead it. Cut in small rounds and place on buttered baking pan, let stand 15 minutes or until light and well puffed, and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 15 or 20 minutes. These are the lightest rolls I know and are sometimes called Fairy Rolls. They must be served immediately to be at their best. If you want to serve them with dessert ½ cup sugar may be used.—Mrs. Chandler.

How about serving them with soup, and salad and dessert for a company Sunday night's supper! Sounds like High Jinks to me.

Women Snipers Harass Allied Troops

BY MARGARET ECKER

LONDON, June 15 — (CP) — Armed women, some French, some German, are a thorn in the side of the Allied soldiers fighting in Normandy.

Gen. Montgomery himself warned the troops of the menace of these women snipers, who are quick on the trigger, and already two sharpshooting pro-Axis women are among the enemy prisoners of war who have arrived in England.

One of these is a gentle-mannered French widow who was said to have fought by the side of the Germans until five bullets silenced her gun. She sat at the bedroom window of her home in a small French village, sniping at British naval parties who had occupied the town.

Canadian assault troops attacked the house and found it barricaded. Eventually, with some casualties, they took the strong point and found the woman wounded at the foot of the staircase.

It was learned from other villagers that the woman, now in a British coast town hospital, was a leading Quisling and hostess to German troops stationed in the village for many months. Her gun and ammunition were German.

A girl sniper, identified as Myra, was captured by American troops in one coastal sector, but not before she had wounded several of their comrades. Myra's technique was to smile at the Allied soldiers and when they approached to shoot them at close quarters, Allied officers said.

Myra claimed to be a Polish woman forced by the Germans to cook for them. She told her captors a sob story about a blind child in France, aparently seeking to charm them into sympathy.

On the other side of the picture are countless French women who are using guns against the Nazi overlords.

One pretty French girl an underground worker, led Allied troops along a secret path through marshland flooded by the Germans. The girl was later wounded and brought to England for treatment.

In another village, a girl of 12 was shot by the Germans when she disobeyed enemy commands and warned American soldiers occupying the town of Hun snipers hiding in the houses.

"Wholesome Food Ends Constipation"

"Sure, I'm happy about ALL-BRAN. It really solved my constipation, and so gently. It proved that I could quit harsh embarrassing purgatives—which at best gave only temporary relief. So that's why I praise ALL-BRAN — eating it keeps me regular — and it's a wholesome cereal, too."

Good food, as well as a gentle laxative. That's the big news on ALL-BRAN—if your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. So simple, too. Just eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, and drink plenty of water. This pleasant cereal helps to produce smooth-working "bulk" and prepare wastes for easy elimination. Then, to stay regular, you'll enjoy eating ALL-BRAN every day. Remember, it's a cereal—not a medicine. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in 2 handy sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Eakins Couple Wed 50 Years

MILLBROOK, June 15 (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eakins, lifelong residents of the community, reached their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Wednesday, their marriage having taken place in the year 1894, with the late Venerable Archdeacon Allen performing the ceremony in the presence of over forty guests. No special observance of the passing of the fiftieth milestone was planned as neither the bride or groom of half a century are in good health.

Their marriage took place at the home of the bride's mother, the late Mrs. R. Lancashire, the ceremony being under an arch of flowers on the lawn, with the groom's sister, Mrs. William Turner (Louisa Eakins), now of Victoria, B.C., and his cousin, Ruby Eakins, now Mrs. Oxley of Toronto, as bridesmaids. The late ex-Warden William T. Wood, was groomsman.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Eakins belong to families that have been prominent in the history of the community and countryside from pioneer days, the latter being a descendant of John Deyell, who came out from County Monaghan, Ireland, and is considered to have been the initial white settler in what later became Cavan township. She was born and brought up at Millbrook, and Mr. Eakins, whose father, the late Samuel Eakins, was a well-known cattle buyer for many years, had his birthplace and early years on the family homestead, 4th Line, Cavan, now owned and occupied by W. H. Armstrong. When the Eakins family moved to Millbrook their home was the large red brick house on Main street, now the residence of Captain Frank Stinson.

Headed West

Mr. Eakins successfully followed his father's business as a cattle drover, but in his young manhood, when the exodus from this neighborhood to the West took place he and the late John Dawson, who later became his brother-in-law, caught the fever for a new country and pioneered in Manitoba.

The journey from railhead at Brandon, was by ox-team and covered wagon, the land they jointly homesteaded being at the forks of the Souris River, on one of what were known as "the antlers," and near where the town of Melita was later built. The first breaking of the ground was by ox team, but the second year horses were brought in, and a crop of three thousand bushels of oats harvested. Mr. Eakins put the first load of grain in the elevator at Verdun. After three years, the land was sold at a good profit, and the homesteaders returned East for continued residence.

Council Member

Mr. Eakins was for twenty-four consecutive years a member of the Millbrook Municipal Council, and became known as the dean of that elected body. Failing health recently compelled retirement from any public duties.

During the last World War, Mrs. Eakins gave fine service as president of the local Red Cross. Her activities in the Presbyterian church have been varied and constructive, including teaching in the Sunday School, secretary for many years of the W.M.S., and Presbyterial supply secretary. Among other accomplishments, Mrs. Eakins has written and published, locally, a history of the community from pioneer times, covering every phase of municipal activities and organizations up to a few years ago.

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Eakins the local golfers had their club house and grounds at "the Mansion," of which he is the owner, and while the course is but a nine-hole one, for beauty and natural scenery it is doubtful if the location could be surpassed.

Interested in all civic improvement, and holding membership in practically all local organizations for the welfare of the community, the bride and groom of half a century find their friends extending congratulations and best wishes.

Music Scholarships Discussed

A discussion of music scholarships was the main item of business at the regular meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Music Teachers' Association, in the Y.W.C.A. this week. Another important point brought up, was the advisability of holding the annual Students' Recital in the Collegiate auditorium, since it could accommodate a greater number of people than the Y.W.C.A. A card from Miss M. Rannie, expressing her regret at her inability to attend meetings, and wishing the Association the best of luck, was read. Mrs. J. S. Smith presided.

Navy Auxiliary Receives Hints on Canning Methods

An interesting, detailed account of the different steps required for the proper canning of fruits and vegetables, and several new tips, in addition to the methods the Department of Agriculture Consumer Section is recommending this year, were given to the members of the Navy Auxiliary at their regular meeting Wednesday evening, by Miss Gertrude Gerlach, of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculutre. Miss Gerlach, whose home is in Ottawa, showed the new slides made by the Department in the experimental kitchen, under the topic, "Canning, Step by Step."

Each slide demonstrated an important step in canning, and Miss Gerlach elaborated upon each scene, to give a general picture of the process. The discussion was carried on under the following headings: Testing the jars; cleanliness; fresh fruits and vegetables; working quickly; proper adjusting of tops; processing the recommended time; and proper cooling and storing.

The speaker explained that the department was not recommending that the jars be sterilized before being used, on the theory that the processing would destroy all bacteria. She advised, however, that the jars be heated to avoid the danger of cracking. Two main methods of preserving were stressed: the hot water bath, or the pressure cooker; and the oven heating. In the hot water bath, Miss Gerlach explained that the jars should be covered so that about two inches of water covered the tops, and then processed the proper number of minutes. The pressure cooker was especially recommended for vegetables. In the oven heating method, she recommended placing the jars in a pan of water, to catch any moisture. She also warned the women to allow the jars to stand in the oven, with the door open, until all bubbling of liquid in the jars had stopped, to avoid the danger of accidents.

New Method

Since less sugar is being used during war times, a dry sugar method was also discussed. Miss Gerlach explained that it was not necessary to make a syrup first. The jar should be half filled with fruit and then alternate fruit and sugar should should be added. After the warm water has been poured over the fruit, to within a half inch of the top, the jar should then be sealed, and rotated so that the sugar is completely dissolved. It can then be placed in hot water bath for processing. One important fact stressed by the speaker was the tightening of tops. She said that the jar should be tightened and then loosened just about an inch before being placed in the heat to allow for expansion and to let the air escape.

Another result of experimentation which Miss Gerlach passed on was the fact that in oven heating only the bottom element should be heated so that all danger of tops cracking is eliminated. Since turning jars upside down to cook is not being recommended this year she suggested that they rotate the jars in their hands to make sure that the seal was perfect. Labelling was also mentioned by the speaker, and she said that all preserves should be stored in a dark place with even temperature. A final word of warning about sealing was that the jars should never be tightened after they have cooled since the seal will be broken.

Control Helps

Mrs. H. H. Graham of the consumer branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, briefly addressed the group on the many contributions price control had made to the war effort. She discussed the economic stabilization plan under five headings: Price control, wage control; distribution control; wartime taxes, and Victory Loans. Asking the group to check prices and be specific in complaints, Mrs. Graham mentioned the new labelling system which has been introduced, and stressed the importance and the need for the co-operation of every citizen to keep prices down. In conclusion, she left this thought, "To have price control for victory we must have self-control."

A splendid donation of $47.65, the collection from a softball game recently sponsored by the Plaza baseball team of the City League, was presented to the meeting by Mrs. F. D. Craig. Members voted to send a letter of thanks to the secretary of the league, asking him to convey the auxiliary's deepest appreciation to this team. Mrs. E. L. Ainslie, treasurer, reported a balance of $347.21 in the bank and a total of $110.35 spent on wool since the new executive took office in February. A book for each ditty bag for the corvette Peterborough was bought by the auxiliary, and the president, Mrs. F. Merrett, read a letter from Lieut. W. L. Ostler, who is stationed on the "Peterborough," thanking the auxiliary for their splendid work. Four new members were welcomed, Mrs. H. McDougall, Mrs. G. A. Perks, Mrs. H. Dorsett and Mrs. N. Pammett.

Henessey-Healey Vows Pledged

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was decorated with red and white peonies Wednesday afternoon when the marriage was solemnized of Mary Kathleen Healey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Healey, 158 Dufferin street, and Herbert Joseph Henessey, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Henessey, of Ennismore. Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan officiated. Mrs. J. A. MacDonald played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. C. Connelley sang "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Boston marquisette, made on princess lines, with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, coming to a point over each hand. Her finger-tip veil of white net fell from a matching halo, caught with lily of the valley, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Cecilia Healey, of Toronto, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, frocked in pink taffeta, made in long toso style, with a sweetheart neckline, and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore elbow-length pink net gloves and a Dutch cap trimmed with blue flowers, and carried a bouquet of pale pink roses and blue corn flowers.

The best man was Edward Perdue of Downeyville. The ushers were Ray Healey, brother of the bride and Earl Hickson, brother-in-law of the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Empress Hotel for 30 guests, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of navy and white sheer, with hat of white straw and navy trimmings, and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of navy and white crepe with hat of white straw and navy trimmings. She also wore a corsage of white carnations.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Toronto and Niagara and points west the bride travelling in a two-piece orchid dress and white accessories. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver; to the bridesmaid a pearl rosary, and to the best man and ushers, bill-folds.

July Brides Honored at Surprise Party

Miss Irene Battle and Miss Audrey Garside, who are to be married July 1, were entertained at a surprise party Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. B. McWilliams, George Street. About 35 members of the weekly knitting club at Trinity United Church were present, and Miss Myrtle Sargent, on behalf of the group, presented the brides-elect with identical crystal sandwich plates.

After an evening spent in games, lunch was served from a lovely table, tastefully decorated. It was set with a large reflector, fringed with vine and small flowers, and centred with a crystal swan, filled with flowers, in which small birds and groom statuettes were placed. Narrow white twisted strands of paper connected the small bridal couple with the crystal candelabra, which were set with lighted ivory tapers. The buffet was also set with candelabra with lighted ivory candles, and centred with a huge bouquet of pink and white peonies.

Miss Mignon Mayneord was in charge of arrangements, and Mrs. McWilliams was hostess.

Regina De Carlo Weds In Ukrainian Church

A wedding of interest took place recently in St. George's Ukrainian Catholic Church, Oshawa, when Regina Mary De Carlo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas De Carlo, of Peterborough, became the bride of Frederick Alexander Zakarow, of Oshawa. Rev. C. J. Preymus officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Frederick De Carlo, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white triple sheer, with lace yolk and lace insets, a sweetheart neckline, and tight sleeves coming to a point over each hand. Her long veil and train of white tulle was gathered to a halo of matching material, and caught with orange blossoms and white sweet peas. Her only ornament was a gold locket, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Rose De Carlo was her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Mary Zakarow, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in floor-length blue and peach gowns, with lace bodices and twin-set skirts. They wore matching shoulder-length veils held with flower caps, and carried nosegays of red roses and spring flowers.

Henry Kobernich, of Oshawa was best man, and S. Estesitto was the usher.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the home of the groom. The party later travelled to Peterborough, for a dinner and reception at the home of the bride. Later, the young couple left by rail for Toronto and points west, the bride travelling in a white tailored suit, blue blouse and accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Zakarow will make their home at 22 Anission street, Oshawa.

Army Auxiliary Visits Families

Twenty-six visits, during a two-weeks' period, to relatives of soldiers who had been killed or wounded, were reported at the regular meeting of the Peterborough Active Army Auxiliary, in the Armouries on Wednesday afternoon. Seventeen lots of cigarettes were sent to wounded soldiers in hospital, and a total of 19 airgraphs were written to casualties. One parcel was sent to a wounded soldiers who had no next-of-kin.

Mrs. A. W. Turner, president of the 57th Regiment Chapter, I.O.D.E., briefly addressed the meeting, and spoke of the tag day, June 17, for Christmas parcels for soldiers, which is being conducted by the Auxiliary with the aid and cooperation of the I.O.D.E. Chapters throughout the city. Other reports included the wool report, showing that 137 articles had been sent to boys overseas, with a number still on hand. Mrs. James Turnbull, for the salvage, said that collection would be continued during the summer months. Members who were next-of-kin of soldiers were asked to send a forwarding address to Ottawa, when they went on holideys in the summer.

The final meeting of the season will take the form of a picnic on Wednesday June 28, at the cottage of the president, Mrs. J. A. Dewart and members and their children are invited.

R.C.A.F. GIRLS SET THE STYLE—The smart hats and uniforms of Canada's Air Women are being copied by Britain's stylists and milliners are featuring hats for civilians that are practically identical. An English girl is shown discussing with a Canadian W.D. officer the similarity of the R.C.A.F. model and one of the most popular styles worn in Great Britain this summer. The civilian version comes in various colors but the shape is exactly like the Canadian Air Force service hat. (RCAF Photo)

Camp-fire Meals Need Not Be Limited to Certain Foods

By MARY MOORE

Just because smoke and earth and ants get on my steak my enjoyment of camp-fire meals does not fail.

I'm gearing my youngsters to cooking our camp-fire meals so I can sit down on the side lines one of these years; and also we're going to have a fireplace in our garden, so we try cooking anything we have on hand outside.

The reason I say this is because my mind promptly turned to steak or hamburgs or wieners or sausages or bacon and eggs for hikes, and outdoor cooking does not need to be limited to these things.

Marianne and Peter said, "Let's go over in the woods for supper Mum". My first silent reaction was that we couldn't do it because I was having liver and a neighbor had borrowed our camp-fire frying pan. Out of these difficulties arose the best kabobs I've ever eaten.

Liver And Bacon Kabobs.

Luckily the liver was not sliced—it was from baby beef. I cut it in squares of about 1¼ inches, and ¾-inch thick After the youngsters had found, peeled and pointed some hardwood sticks they impaled alternate pieces of liver and squares of bacon on them—until their meal looked long enough to suit their appetites!—and then toasted them over the glowing parts of the fire.

(For a big hike with adults where sociability and getting acquainted is desirable the type of barbecue heads the list—for you can't very well squat by the fire along with everyone else and maintain any dignity or exclusiveness!) The bacon fat basted the liver and flavored it; a shake of salt and pepper, and a few drops of catsup were the accompaniment. I'm hungry all over again just telling you what to do.

Kabob Combinations.

Note: All these may be baked on skewers in oven at home and are nearly as good.

Try steak, onion and bacon; steak, bacon and mushrooms; lamb, bacon and lamb kidneys; lamb kidneys, mushrooms and bacon; smoked ham and apple slices; tenderloin, thin slices salt pork and onion.

Pork Chops.

Loin chops are the best of pork, and may be either pan or coal broiled with equally good results, although most of us favor the hot embers. Pork chops should be not over an inch thick, as they must be well done always. Sear them well when first put over the fire, then allow to cook slowly for about 25 minutes. Thinly sliced apples, fried in the pork fat, or apples baked by the camp fire are excellent with broiled pork.

Swiss Steak Al Fresco.

Three-quarter inch slice of steak from round is best for this old classic. Mix a teaspoon of salt, with ¼ teaspoon pepper and half cup of flour, then pound with either proper pounder or edge of saucer into the surfaces of the meat. Fry in fat or butter, add some finely chopped onion as meat cooks. Pour over enough water or tomato soup or canned tomatoes to cover meat and simmer about 1 hour pulled over to side of fire. Keep covered during cooking, adding water if and when necessary.

I'll expand on the wonders of roasted corn in August.

WAR STIMULATES JEALOUSY

Pin-up Pictures Cause Wives to Reveal Doubts of Faithfulness of Mates in Service.

CONSIDERING that every wife represents her husband's taste in women, and that he picked her out from all the balance of her sex because she was his heart's desire, it would seem that wives should be practically immune to jealousy. For all women know that while they have to take what they can get in marriage men can take their choice, and so when one gives up his bachelor freedom and undertakes the support of a woman it is because he wants her above everything else in the world.

And when you add to this the fact that a man's egotism throws a glamor about his wife because she is his wife, just as he feels that his gun or his automobile is superior to others of the same make, you would think that the least of the average wife's troubles would be the danger of losing her husband.

But such is not the case. Jealousy seems to descend like a curse on many wives the minute they leave the altar and thereafter they are Sister Annie on the watch-tower, keeping tab on every female that crosses their husband's paths. They may be married to men so unattractive that no other woman would have them on a bet, or to men who haven't a romantic bone in their bodies, or to men whose feet are too tired at night to wander from their own fireplaces. It doesn't matter. The wives can see a husband-snatcher in a Grandma or a girl baby in a perambulator.

Just now when women have plenty of real troubles to worry over, you would think that they might park their green spectacles until after the war is over and, at least, give their husbands the benefit of the doubt so far as being faithful to them is concerned. But, on the contrary, it has raised jealousy to a new high, and far more wives are breaking their hearts with anxiety over the girls their husbands may meet in U.S.O.'s and canteens than they are by their being captured by the Japs or the Germans.

Lately this jealousy has extended even to the pin-up pictures which it is the current fad for soldiers to collect, and I get many tearful letters from wives who think that this shows that their husbands have ceased to love them, or else they would not want to gaze upon the likenesses of any but their own Marias. And what are they going to do about it, and isn't this war awful? Boo-hoo. Boo-hoo! And something told them that they would lose their husbands if they went away. Boo-hoo.

And if this isn't a waste of good, hot, seething jealousy, what is? For, in the first place, the wives have no proof that married men are collecting pin-up pictures. Mostly it is the boys who do it. And inasmuch as the pictures are mostly cut from newspapers and magazines and are of cinema stars and starlets and professional models whom few of the men have ever seen, or expect to see, is seems about as harmless a diversion as could be devised. And it is silly for the wives and sweethearts to make an issue of it and add further to their grief and that of their husbands and sweethearts by getting all hot and bothered over it.

What a pity that women have never found out that jealousy kills love quicker than anything else, and that the strongest hold that a woman ever has on a man is her faith in him!

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: This is to thank you very much indeed for your letter dating from middle of April. I should have replied earlier but just after receiving your letter I was out on a trip to Vancouver Island. My first airplane journey; I am very much impressed with air transport I must say. It took me 4 hours to fly out to Vancouver from here and 4 days back by rail as I couldn't get a seat on the plane.

Now I have a culinary request to make of you. Can you please suggest an easy recipe, one of those put quickly together which would make a shortcake. That is to say I do not care for biscuit shortcake but would like a cake base. A recipe which would fill one of those oblong pans 14x8 inches generously, then when cut in two and fruit piled between would make a gorgeous desert all summer long. I would so much like to have a recipe which I knew was just the right amount for that pan and would make a cake, and fruit dessert. Needless to say a recipe which is easy on the rations would be preferred.

ANSWER: I will tell you what I do for a quick cake; I think you have the same idea as possesses me most of the time: speed; but good flavor and nutrition.

Quick All Purpose Cake

Two and one-half cups sifted cake flour (pastry flour will do), 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ to 2-3 cup sugar (this amount of sugar is variable because you can sweeten the accompanying fruit with saccharin when fruit is used and cake may be less sweet), 1 beaten egg, 7-8 cup milk, ¼ cup melted or soft shortening or cooking oil, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Combine all other ingredients; If shortening is not soft enough lumps should be pressed out on side of bowl before other liquids are added. Combine the two mixtures and stir until smooth. Pour into greased pan 14x8 or 8x8x2½ inches. Bake at 365 deg. Fahr. for about 25 minutes. This may be varied by making in the form of cupcakes when it would be baked at 375 for 20 minutes. I usually use buttered paper to line the cake pan—it insures a quick and clean cut surface when turned out. This cake is best when used up within 24 hours.

QUESTION: We have our own bees and honey, and I am feeling the need of a new cookie recipe. If it is convenient to send me an oatmeal cookie recipe sweetened with honey—not sugar I would be most grateful to you;—so would my family. I always read your page and depend on it for new ideas every week. Thanks for other favors.

ANSWER: I am sure you are welcome, and hope you like HONEY OATMEAL COOKIES. One and one-half cups sifted flour, 1 cup quick cooking rolled oats, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ cup shortening, 1 cup honey, grated rind 1 lemon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 eggs. Mix and sift flour salt, baking powder and soda, then add the rolled oats to them. Blend together shortening, and honey. Add grated lemon rind, nutmeg, and well beaten eggs. Then add flour, salt, baking powder and soda. Beat well. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes.

HISTORIC CITY

The foundations of the Italian city of Terracina date to 500 B.C.

HOME SEWN MENAGERIE—The best things often come in little packages . . . in this case, both the five-year-old sister above, and the cotton cloth kittens and bunnies appliqued on her wash dress. One can get a wide variety of animals, flowers, and other design motifs in ready-cut shapes at the stores, ready for hand sewing onto a hardy but perhaps uninteresting dress. Grownups like many of the applique designs for their dresses, too.—By Prunella Wood.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

When blossoms perfume the air, and weddings are in the wind, as everyone knows they are in this month of June, the bride-elect keeps looking at the fashions, and also reading about them. If you read about a bridal dress you are more likely to obtain something more outstanding in the way of a dress that suits your own figure than if you go into a store and buy one, for as a rule there is more than one alike. I saw such a pretty frock the other day that had been made. It was a snowy drift of marquisette-over-satin, with self-looping open-work medallions, two on the front of the skirt and two forming the shoulders and cap sleeves. The dress was one piece, the small waist line being formed of small pin tucks and the skirt was floor length. The veil worn with this dress fell from a headdress of white lilacs and the veil is the same length as the skirt. Another headdress that I think would look even smarter than the flowers would be made of the same medallions of satin as are on the skirt, the cap effect formed of these medallions and worn well back of the curls or pompadour. If you care for a face veil, only have it shoulder length, with the floor length at back. This dress and veil is ideal for the more youthful bride, but for a bride of more mature years, the satin in ivory shade is the ideal gown for her. This can be made with either a short train or a longer one. For a church wedding the longer train is nicer, with the veil falling to the end of the train. Another lovely material, which is called Faconne Rayon, is nice for either house, church or garden wedding. It is a fabric used for southern weddings. Then there is the chenille rayon taffeta. This is a plain taffeta silk, in white, with daisies of the chenille appliqued all over it. This same material may be used for the attendants as it comes in all the rainbow shades. With these colored dresses are worn smart turban hats, made of the same material, worn well off the face, but without veils. A headdress of daisies like the ones appliqued on the dress, is pretty, and with this either a waist length or shoulder length veil is shown. Another smart material is rayon jacquard. It's a very fascinating material in which the design is woven right into the goods. It also can be had in clear white or in the rainbow shades so that attendants can wear the same material and design as the bride. If you are going to be among the June brides, I hope you will get some useful hints from my column today, and if you read it carefully I'm sure you will.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cowey, 6 Bruce Street, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Olive May, to Private Asger Andreas (Andy) Nielson, R.C.A.S.C., Camp Borden, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. Y. Nielsen, Viborg, Denmark.

IN MEMORIAM

DUNCAN—In loving memory of our dearly beloved son, Edward A. Duncan, who passed away, one year ago to-day, June 15th.

Brighter, fairer, far than living
With no trace of woe nor pain
Robed in everlasting beauty
We shall see thee once again.

—Ever remembered by Father and mother, sisters Mary and Margaret and brother Arthur.

HEWITT—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George F. Hewitt who passed away June 15, 1941.

As a wonderful husband and father
we still think of you
There wasn't a thing too big or too small,
That you wouldn't try to do for us both
It is sad but it is true I wonder why
That the best are always the first to die.
We have lost but Heaven has gained
The best husband and father the world ever contained.

—Sadly missed by his wife, Marjorie and daughter Glenna.

Sentence Deferred On 4 Arson Charges

HAMILTON, June 15 — (CP) — Douglas Dunsmoor, 25, appeared in police court today for sentence on three charges of arson to which he pleaded guilty last week. He was remanded eight days by Magistrate H. A. Burbidge after his counsel, E. D. Hickey asked that sentence be deferred until after hearing of a charge of murder laid against the bespectacled dairy employee in connection with the Moose Temple fire May 24 in which 10 persons died.

Indecision

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 —(AP).— Edward Smalley, 10, who fled from a hospital where he was to have undergone a delicate eye operation, came back yesterday but staged a sit-down strike in front of the hospital. Police finally carried him inside. He now is reconciled to having the operation, scheduled for tomorrow.

C.M.A. Elects J. C. Macfarlane

TORONTO, June 15.—(CP).—J. C. Macfarlane of Toronto, vice-president of the Canadian General Electric Company Limited, Wednesday was elected president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the closing session of the 73rd annual meeting. He succeeds F. P. L. Lane of Montreal.

J. C. MACFARLANE

J. C. Macfarlane was born at Ashton, Ont, in 1889, the son of Rev. A. H. Macfarlane, Presbyterian minister. He was educated at the High School, Carleton Place, and in 1908 entered Queen's University with the Mowat Scholarship in mathematics and physics. He took his Master of Arts degree in 1912, winning the John A. Macdonald prize in political science. Proceeding to Osgoode Hall, he was called to the bar in 1915 and after practising for three years with the firm of Kerr, Davidson, Paterson and Macfarlane, was appointed general counsel and solicitor for the Canadian General Electric Company, Ltd., specializing in corporation, commercial and patent law. He was made a King's Counsel in 1933 and in 1941 was appointed Vice-President of the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd.

Mr. Macfarlane's connection with the C.M.A. dates back to 1920 when, as a young lawyer of 31, he was elected to the responsible post of Chairman of the Legislation Committee, a position he held for five years. Ever since, his connection with the Association has been continuous and close. He has served on the Executive Council and has acted as counsel for the Association before the Trade Mark Committee in 1932 and the Radio Committee in 1933. More recently he has represented the Association on the Special Consulting Committee to the Minister of Labour. Last year he was elected First Vice-President of the Association.

J. F. Livesay Dies At 69 Former CP Chief

CLARKSON, Ont., June 15—(CP). —J. F. B. Livesay, 69, who retired in 1939 after 20 years as general manager of The Canadian Press, died today as he was preparing to get up for the day. He had been active in his country garden this spring.

Since his retirement June 30, 1939, he had lived quietly at his home, Woodlot, 20 miles west of Toronto, in a house he designed himself and built with day labor in the depression period. In the summer of 1942 he started writing a book of his newspaper reminiscences which was not completed at his death.

Mr. Livesay, who came to Canada from his native Isle of Wight, England, in 1895, was named manager of the newly-formed Western Associated Press in 1907, the pioneer cooperative news-gathering and distributing association in Canada. In 1917, the W.A.P. merged with three eastern Canada associations in the formation of The Canadian Press, serving Canada's daily newspapers from coast to coast.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately announced but Mr. Livesay years ago joked about having arranged a burial plot in nearby Erindale Churchyard.

Famous Family.

John Frederick Blight Livesay was born in Ventnor, Isle of Wight, January 23, 1875, son of John G. Livesay, F.R.I.B.A., of a family of architects and artists, the most notable being Richard Livesay, the Court painter to George III. His mother, Sophia Henrietta Bligh, was granddaughter of Thomas Cherburgh Bligh, nephew of the first Earl of Darnley, who married his cousin Theodosia, daughter of the third Earl. On her mother's side she was niece of Sir Melville Parker, Bart., of Cooksville, Ont, a naval baronetcy dating back to the Battle of Cape St. Vincent in 1797. This family settled in Canada in 1841, and it was to his great-uncle that Mr. Livesay went in 1895, farming some years at Cooksville and then lumbering and mining in Northern Ontario.

From his boyhood, Fred Livesay had a literary turn, his first newspaper story covering a wreck off the Isle of Wight contributed to the London Times when he was 16. During his early years in Canada he wrote for the London Daily Mail, Outlook, and other English periodicals, as well as for the Toronto Globe and Toronto World. In 1903, after harvesting and threshing the previous year in Western Canada, he entered daily newspaper work first on the Winnipeg Tribune and then on the Winnipeg Telegram. For the Telegram he covered in 1905 the Provincial Rights campaign in the newly-established Province of Saskatchewan and at the end of that year he joined the Regina tSandard as editor, this being the first daily paper in Saskatchewan, owned by the late J. K. McInnis.

In August, 1907, he was appointed manager in Winnipeg of the newly-formed Western Associated Press, whose pioneer founders were E. H. Macklin and the late John W. Dafoe of the Manitoba Free Press, the late R. L. Richardson of the Winnipeg Tribune and M. E. Nichols of the Winnipeg Telegram, who became its first president, to be succeeded by Mr. Macklin on moving to Montreal in 1913.

Need Apparent

During the First Great War, the need of a National News Association made itself felt and in 1916-17 Mr. Livesay was closely associated with Mr. Macklin in the establishment of The Canadian Press, as it is known today. This was made possible at that time only by a grant from the government of Sir Robert Borden of $50,000 a year, a subsidy long since abandoned.

The new Association became national in character by absorbing the W.A.P., the morning and evening paper section of The Canadian Press Limited, established in 1911, and the Eastern Press Association of the Maritime publishers, established in 1909. Under the name Canadian Press Limited it started functioning as a national news gathering and distributing organization on Sept. 1, 1917, allied with the Associated Press of New York and Reuters of London.

Presbyterians Defer Naming Principal

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP). — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada yesterday deferred for one year appointment of a successor to Rev. Thomas Eakin, whose resignation as principal of Knox College in Toronto was accepted last night. A recommendation from the College Board of Management that Rev. George S. Hendry of Bridge-of-Allan, Scotland, be appointed was defeated.

The Assembly decided that during the year every effort would be made to find a suitable man.

A resolution of appreciation to Dr. Eakin for his 20 years' service as head of the College was ordered by the Assembly.

Byron Nelson of Toledo is installed as favorite for the $13,333 Red Cross golf tournament of 72 holes which opens to-day at New Rochelle, N.Y., although he could do no better than sixth in last week's competition at Philadelphia 15 strokes back of winner Sammy Byrd of Detroit. Leading shotmakers, including Byrd, Craig Wood, Harold (Jug) McSpaden and Sgt. E. J. Harrison are all in the current contest which will conclude Sunday. The leading pro will take down $2,666.65 in War Bonds.

The St. Louis Browns last night gave Outfielder Frank Demaree, 35, his unconditional release. He had been with the club since early spring.

An 11-inning inter-county senior baseball struggle at Galt last night resulted in a 2-1 victory for the Terriers over Stratford Nationals, with Pitcher Ted Bissett hurling seven-hit ball and fanning 11 visitors in the whole session. Gooding drove in the winning run.

H. C. Hatch of Toronto is shipping five horses, including Acara, winner of the King's Plate, to run in the $5,000 Canadian Derby July 1 and the Winnipeg Futurity at Polo Park, it was announced last night by R. J. Speers, managing director of the Winnipeg Jockey Club.

Ted Atkinson, Toronto jockey, again had a busy day at Aqueduct Park when he booted home five winners in yesterday's eight-race card, including Burg-El-Arab in the featured $7,500 Tremont Stakes.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

With a nice entry of around 45 pairs from Belleville, Campbellford, Havelock, Cannington, Lindsay, Toronto Granites, Whitby, Port Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough our Lawn Bowling Club was forced to "call off" its first open tournament of the 1944 season.

The rain that came early yesterday morning and continued all day put the greens in such a condition that the committee had no other alternative.

And looking over our records we find that this is not the first time that our doubles tournament has been washed out. In the last six years we have been forced to cancel this particular tournament three times.

There was one bright spot, however, that helped a lot. Many of the outside clubs phoned around noon, and when they were told that the prospects of a tournament were not very good, why they just said "thank you" and stayed at home. It saved them a trip and, maybe, they will come for our men's rink tournament on Monday, July 3.

Our next big attraction is the ladies' rink tournament on Wednesday, June 21. This is the high light in the ladies' schedule and they are already making preparations for this big event.

Now, just keep in mind the mixed tournament tomorrow night. 7:30 p.m. is the hour and be on time. We are expecting a record crowd.

Peterboro Normal School Results

The Minister of Education announces the examination results of the teacher training courses given at the Normal School at Peterborough. Candidates who failed or who received Second Class certificates will receive statements giving their marks and the conditions under which they may complete their standing. Extramural candidates will be informed by letter of the results.

Owing to the shortage of teachers, a student who failed on the Normal School examinations and is required to return to Normal School from January to June in order to qualify for a teacher's certificate may, on the recommendation of the local inspector concerned, be engaged by a School Board, which, after due advertisement has been unable to obtain the services of a fully qualified teacher, and may be granted temporary standing for that purpose for the year 1944-45.

The following has been granted provisional standing as a teacher from September, 1944 to June, 1946:

Irene Margaret Shannon.

First Class Certificate Interim:

Alberta Leone Anderson, Eileen Ethel Armstrong, Helen Isobel Baird, Martha Elizabeth Belch, Wilma Leona Bryden, Elleda Marjorie Annetta Buck, Mary Constance Buckham, Evelyn Bernadette Callaghan, Agnes Eleanor Campbell, Mary Elizabeth Card, Mayme Helen Cathcart, Marie Elizabeth Chapelle, Rita Celina Chapelle, Mabel Elizabeth Chapman, Gladys Doreen Corneil, Margaret June Crosby.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

22.—Reading of Leads

NO PHASE of bridge presents a bigger contrast between what is done by average players and fine ones than what is called "card-reading." That means the ability of a player to figure out facts about the unseen hands, based on what he has learned from the bidding, the opening lead and the cards he has already seen. The most skillful play often depends on what can be learned by such inferences.

Often a great deal of information may be obtained from your partner's opening lead. Suppose he has led a low card, which you can read as almost certainly his fourth-best from a suit of four or more cards. If it is the lowest he could possibly hold in the suit, because you see all lower ones in your own hand and the dummy, you know he had exactly four. That would then tell you exactly how many cards the declarer has in the suit.

Looking for the lower cards after such a lead is what is called "the rule of fourth-best." If one of the lower cards is not in sight, your partner may have held five, and if two are missing, he may have had six. As those cards appear on later tricks, you get the exact count. But you immediately have a partial count of both his and the declarer's holding, and then gradually make it more exact.

Another important measure, after a fourth-best lead, is what is called "the rule of eleven." This helps you locate the high cards in the suit. Suppose your partner led the 6. Subtract 6 from 11. The result, 5, is the number of cards, higher than his lead, which are in the other three hands. If you see two of them in dummy and have two of them yourself, you know the declarer has only one card which can beat the 6.

There is nothing mysterious about that magic 11, which is easy to explain. Since the cards in a suit extend from the 2 upward, the jack is the 11, the queen is the 12, the king the 13 and the ace is really the 14. When your partner leads his fourth-best, subtract its number from 14 to find out how many higher ones are in the deck. Then subtract 3 because he has three of them, and the answer is the number which the other hands have. Since you are going to subtract 3 each time from the difference between his card and 14, why not merely subtract the 3 from 14 in the first place to short-cut the process. In other words, deducting his card from 11 does the job in one operation instead of two.

Now, for example, suppose he leads a 5. You see the K-J-4 in the dummy and hold the Q-7-2 yourself. By the rule of fourth-best, your partner may have a five-card suit because the 3 is not in view. By the rule of eleven, 5 from 11 leaves six cards higher than his 5 in the other three hands. You see four of them, so you know the declarer has exactly two cards which can beat the 5.

If your partner leads an honor against No Trump, you know he has an "honor combination" of at least three of the top six cards, with at least two of them touching. If he has opened a jack, you know he has not the queen, because if he did that would have been his lead instead, as the top of the touchers. You know he has the 10, and one other card as good as the 9 or better, which must be the ace, king or 9. You may see some of these, and know perhaps exactly just what he held.

If against a suit contract your partner leads a king, you know he has the ace or queen, in sequence with it. If he leads a queen, he has the jack but not the king. If he leads a jack, he has the 10 but not the queen. If he leads a card below honor rank, it is almost surely from a suit containing no honors, and is fourth-best from a suit of four or more, the top of three cards or two, or a singleton.

There will be times when your partner violates the custom as to the card which sheuld be led from a suit, and therefore will fool you while trying to fool the declarer, but with good players the cases for doing that are rare.

9 Canadians Stage Grand Assault

By CHARLES LYNCH
Reuters War Correspondent

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE, June 15—(CP-Reuters)—A modern "charge of the light brigade" was staged by a Canadian infantry company supported by tanks in an assault which saw nine men battle savagely through to the objective.

The attack was aimed at a village thought to be a German strongpoint.

When the tanks and infantry were in the middle of a wheatfield near the objective, German guns and machine-gun emplacements hidden in the wheat opened up on them. Fire poured in from right, left and centre.

The nine men led by a Canadian lieutenant fought their way through the hail of fire and found themselves on the outskirts of the village. The lieutenant, who had a bullet wound in his leg, turned to his men and said, "Are you game to go in and clean it up?"

From here on Sergeant Sam Scrutton of Toronto tells the story:

"We were game because he was leading us. He headed along a lane picking Jerries out of split trenches beside the road as we went. We must have killed about 50 of them.

Nazis Scared

"We walked right through the town shooting Jerries wherever we found them. I don't know why they didn't shoot us. I guess they were scared.

"When we reached the other end of the town one of our tanks opened up on us. I guess he didn't think any of our infantry had got that far after the business in the wheat field.

"Then the Jerries started mortaring us so we jumped into a big bomb crater beside the road. The lieutenant went over to the tank which had fired at us and shouted at them to give us a lift but the tank commander, whose head was sticking out of the turret, was dead.

"While he was yelling up at the tank the lieutenant got his second wound—another bullet in the leg. He managed to stagger back into the crater.

"We decided to make a run for it and jumped up out of the crater. The lieutenant had just reached the road when he got his third wound—a piece of shrapnel in the back. He fell but was still conscious.

Got 5 More

"As we walked along we killed five more Jerries in slit trenches. Just then another of our tanks straggled along and we all piled aboard—two of us lying across the lieutenant to keep him from getting wounded again.

"We were fired at when we crossed the wheatfield again, and going down a road the Jerries were throwing grenades which kept exploding right behind us. Finally we got to a place where there wasn't any firing and the tank captain said he couldn't take us any further.

"The five of us who were not wounded jumped down. The lieutenant stayed on and the tank took him to a field dressing station. We hear he's going to be okay."

The five who walked back were Sergeant Scrutton, Cpl. Alfred Jackson, Brantford, Ont., Rfmn. Bill Davies and Fred Simonds, both of Toronto, and Rfmn. K. McCrimmon, of Prince Rupert, B.C.

Englishman Objects—Can't Get Gasoline For Boat

BY ALAN RANDALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 15 — (CP) — By and large the British people accept the bureaucratic manner in which warfare must seemingly be conducted with good grace. Occasionally, though, the restrictions become "a bit awkward" and that is how Mr. Stephen Gunyon came in to the news.

Had there not been a great many more people who owned 30-foot motor boats at the time he probably would have been in the news before, about Dunkerque time. After all, he placed his boat at the disposal of the Admiralty to rescue soldiers from the French beaches but there were so many others doing just the same thing th t individual names got lost in the shuffle.

Mr. Gunyon's boat came back from Dunkerque and was tied up, still under Admiralty registry, and now she is starting to rot from inactivity. Mr. Gunyon decided something should be done about it so he wrote his Regional Gasoline Controller and asked for one gallon of gas to take his boat to the slipway for repairs.

The reply came back "you should have your boat towed by another vessel proceeding in the same direction."

No gas.

So Mr. Gunyon wrote again, explaining, "the only motor which has passed here in the past few months was proceeding in the opposite direction. I expect a reasonable reply, not a facetious suggestion."

Again the Controller replied, no gas, adding: "When it is suggested you might arrange to have the launch towed this did not imply that the means of towing was limited to water craft."

So Mr. Gunyon wrote again: "I understand your term 'towed by another vessel' to mean what it said: "Viz. 'towed by another vessel.'"

So there, for the present rests the matter of the boat and gas and Mr. Gunyon, the man who finally rose in mild protest against unbending restriction.

Felt So Tired; Irritable Until She Took Syntona

"Am Now So Much Better That Even My Work Seems Easier," Says Grateful Woman; Also Relieved Dizzy Spells and Backache, She Declares.

MRS. ELEANOR BOYD

"I would like to tell every person suffering as I did about the good results I got by taking Syntona," said Mrs. Eleanor Boyd, 710 York Street, London, Ontario, in a recent report:

"A few weeks ago I was feeling so tired and irritable all the time that I didn't know what to do. I had a nagging pain across my back and used to get so terribly dizzy at times. My tongue was coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth.

"I decided to try Syntona after a good friend of ours recommended it so highly and it has given me such good results that I am glad to tell others about it. Since I've been taking this medicine the dizziness and backache do not trouble me, my tongue has cleared up, and I haven't that bad taste in my mouth. My appetite has improved. I enjoy more sound, restful sleep, and whereas I used to be tired and irritable, I now feel so much better that even my work seems easier."

Let this great formula of Nature's Herbs and Roots help you as it has so many others. Syntona acts on stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. It aids in the elimination of excess acids and poisonous waste matter from the system and promotes better assimilation of food for increased strength and energy.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

FAST PILOTLESS PLANES RAID BRITAIN

American Forces 11 Miles From Beaches On West Coast Of The Cherbourg Peninsula

British Units Engaged In Heavy Fighting Two Miles South Of Caumont; 300,000 Nazi Troops In Normandy

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 16—(CP).—British armor, thrusting two miles south of the village of Caumont, engaged in heavy fighting with German tanks, while American forces pushed to within 2½ miles of St. Sauveur in the drive to isolate the German forces at Cherbourg, Allied Headquarters announced late today.

In the British - Canadian sector of the line, eastward from Caumont — which is 14 miles south of Bayeux—tank battles continued, headquarters said. They were fiercest around Tilly Sur Seulles, 11 miles west of German-held Caen and in the Caen sector itself.

Earlier reports indicated fighting had slackened somewhat in the Caumont area, but the lull evidently was only tempcrary.

There was no official word from Allied sources about the situation on the bridgehead across the Orne River, held by the British 6th Air-Borne Division, which includes Canadian paratroopers.

Sluice Dams Blown Up

But the German High Command claimed the Allied line had been penetrated in that zone. Later the German DNB Agency asserted German Pioneer Corps troops had blown up the scuice dams at Caen, and claimed this rendered the small port of Oustreham, on the Orne River Estuary, useless to the Allies for landing operations.

Oustreham was one of the points were Chanadian 3rd Division troops went ashore on D-day.

The British thrust south of Caumont marked the deepest penetration inland anywhere on the 100-mile front. Here the depth of the bridgehead was 20 miles .

Daylight Swoop By Canadians Rips Boulogne

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press War Correspondent

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 16—(AP)—The Allied aerial offensive against continental targets swept on today after R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers delivered a heavy high-altitude pre-dusk precision attack yesterday plastering 12,000 pound bombs on Nazi E-boat, R-boat and minesweeper pens at Boulogne.

The R.A.F. had staged a large-scale daylight raid on Le Havre Wednesday, but yesterday's action marked first Canadian participation in major daylight bombing attack since the Canadian bomber group's formation 18 months ago.

Meanwhile it was announced that the Germans, in a desperate gesture against Allied air superiority, had begun hurling pilotless bomb-carrying aircraft aganist Britain.

R.A.F. bombers struck at the Nazis' big ammunition dump in Rennes Forest last night.

As the aerial assault in support of the Normandy invasion rolled on this morning, the German radio reported hostile aircraft approaching the Austrian provinces of Carinthia and Styria.

U.S. Bombers Raid Shipping

CHUNGKING, June 16 — (AP) — American bombers damaged three freighters at the mouth of the Yangtze near Shanghai, and sank one and damaged another off Hong Kong, Allied headquarters announced today.

The 14th Air Force also provided steady support of Chinese ground forces battling to save Changsha, struck at railroad freight yards at Wuchang across the Yangtze from Hankow, and attacked Japanese installations in the Yellow River area.

The Chinese High Command said last night the Changsha garrison had been placed in great danger by Japanese crossing of the Liuyang River, last line of defence before the beseiged city.

A Chinese comeback against the Japanese for control of the Lunghai railroad in Honan some 400 miles to the north was announced meanwhile by the Chinese High Command, which reported recapture of Lingap, 37 miles east of Tungkawan.

In Yunnan, the Japanese apparently are making strong efforts to regain the Burma road town of Lungling. The Chinese command admitted the enemy had fought back into Hsiangta, a key point 11 miles southeast of Lungling, and also was making strong attacks to the north.

It's A Lie?

ORLANDO, Fla., June 16—(AP). — Kenneth Sullivan, 17, and Paul Morris, 16, of Winter Park went fishing in a tiny home-made boat barely big enough to hold the two of them. Morris hooked an 11-pound bass but discovered there wasn't room in the boat for him, Sullivan and the fish. Sullivan obligingly jumped overboard and swam ashore while Morris brought the bass back in the boat.

Reds Pierce Finns' Strongest Line

MOSCOW, June 16 — (AP). — The Red Army has smashed its way through Finland's "new Mannerheim Line," one of the last barriers on the way to the important seaport of Viipuri, it was reported to-day.

A Red Star dispatch said the new Mannerheim Line was a tremendous fortifications, with four lines of walls made of one-shaped stone and anti-tank blocks almost two yards high, before which lay an anti-tank minefield 20 yards wide and strewn with German mines.

A great gap has been cut in this line, and in some places Soviet tanks and artillery, as well as infantry, are considerably beyond it, the dispatch said

Maj. Konstantin Shvankov, Red Star correspondent and the first newsman to go through the new line, said that behind the tank blocks the Finns had built an elaborate system of trenches and dugouts with steel and concrete platforms for anti-tank rifles, machine-guns and mortars.

The trenches are connected with bullet and bomb-proof shelters about 50 yards away. These had steel and concrete covering on the sides, with room inside for 15 soldiers.

Terni Falls To Speeding Allied Units

Enemy Resistance Disorganized; 4 Towns Captured

ROME, June 16 — (AP). — The sweeping Allied advance up the Italian peninsula continues, and the 5th and 8th Armies have taken at least four important towns, it was announced to-day.

Biggest of the seized towns was Terni, 45 miles north of Rome on Highway No. 3, which fell to 8th Army forces. Also occupied were Todi, 19 airline miles north-west of Terni, Narni, seven miles south-west of Terni, and Aquapendente, seven miles north of Lake Bolsena's northern shore.

Organized enemy resistance has collapsed, and it appeared the Germans would not make a stand until the Pisa-Rimini line was reached.

The Allied communique said the rapid advance continued "all along the front." In the Adriatic sector it said the Germans have withdrawn and "only slender contact has been maintained."

Todi, a road junction on Highway 70 between Terni and Orvieto, fell late yesterday to 8th Army forces, the communique said

Terni is an important industrial and communications centre where Highway No. 3, which runs north from Rome, intersects Highway 79.

Gain 10 Miles.

Eighth Army troops also have advanced 10 miles north of the big town of Orvieto, Gen. Alexanders Headquarters announced.

Among the smaller places mopped up in the swift thrust northwestward across Italy was the village of Massa Martana, 16 miles north of Terni.

Aquapendente on Highway No. 2 fell to 5th Army troops, operating on the left half of the Allied line.

The communique also announced leading elements of the 5th Army are nearing the big town of Grosseto in a coastal plain region 23 miles north of Orbetello. Grosseto lies on Highway No. 1, which runs up the Italian west coast.

Fighter-bombers strafed five enemy airfields in the vicinity of Avignon in Southern France yesterday, destroying parked planes and hangars, and hitting locomotives and tank cars on nearby rail lines.

Heavy bombers were idle, but mediums continued to hammer the communications in Northern Italy. Seven enemy planes were shot down and 18 Allied aircraft were lost

Fifth Army troops advancing up the Tyrrhenian coast against increasing artillery fire and emolitions pushed eight miles beyond Orbetello and neared Scansano in their push towards Grossetto which is almost 100 miles northwest of Rome.

Inland the drive past lake Bolsena was carrying forward toward Proceno, three miles beyond Acquapendente.

Radio-controlled Missiles Explode on Reaching Target

By LEWIS HAWKINS—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 16—(AP).—Flame-spitting pilotless planes drove into southern England today and last night in the Germans' first "secret weapon" reaction to the invasion of France. These craft, exploding on the ground or close to it, caused deaths and considerable damage at scattered points and sent anti-aircraft guns barking extensively in daylight for the first time since the early blitz days of 1940. Descriptions of the weapon varied considerably but all agreed that these self-destroying aircraft flew at terrific speed in a straight line, were marked by bright lights, and shot flames from their exhausts — suggesting they might be jet or rocket-propelled.

The lights presumably were to aid in radio control, probably from piloted planes at a great distance.

The German communique said only that southern England and the Greater London area were attacked with novel weapons and "super heavy" explosives were dropped.

A special note broadcast after the communique of the High Command and "there is hardly one German who will not receieve this news with greatest satisfaction. The feelings of hatred and a burning wish for retaliation which dominate the German people have been kindled by our enemies in their terror crimes."

Explode On Landing.

The Ministry of Home Security ordered civilians to stay away from the pilotless aircraft, which explode five to 15 seconds after landing.

One correspondent telephoned this word picture of the pilotless craft:

"The planes have a disinctive, rhythmic note, giving the effect of a pulsating, low throb. They are much smaller than a Spitfire but their appearance is much the same.

"They really are midget planes. At night they show a distinct yellow glow at the rear and in the light of searchlights streams of thick smoke can be seen being ejected from them.

"Many of them have been observed in daylight and on several occasions R.A.F. fighters, with total disregard of danger, have dived into the ack-ack fire around them in attempts to make a kill."

As the day wore on alerts and all clears alternated over southern England and guns cracked intermittently, but business went on without interruption.

"The pilotless planes appeared to be painted dark brown or black," an eyewitness report said, "and smoke issued from them in small, thick puffs, attuned to the throb which can be heard. They streak across the sky at great speed."

From one place in Southern England came a report that during the night and again today various districts were automatically fired on by machine-guns.

In one place late today property was damaged and within two minutes rescue squads were digging for victims. They were assisted by civilians who forced a human chain and passed buckets or rubble from hand to hand. Two nurses and a number of patients were injured when a hospital was hit.

At another place a soldier on leave was lifted out of his bath by blast and found himself in a sink.

Home Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons to-day that these radio-controlled planes were first used Tuesday night, and came over again last night and today.

While he was speaking, Southern England shook to light and heavy anti-aircraft guns and rockets barking out at these raiders coming over sporadically.

More enemy raiders were seen crossing the southern English coast at intervals this morning, with anti-aircraft guns opening up on them and R.A.F. fighters going up to meet them.

Reports did not indicate whether these were more of the pilotless planes but presumably they were.

The Nazis thus were striking against the flow of Allied strength into the successful bridgehead in France, hoping to divert it.

Mr. Morrisson referred to the pilotless planes as "missiles," indicating they were designed to crash against

Super-Planes Escape Japs Cripple Steel Production

By C. A. FARNSWORTH—Associated Press Correspondent

UNITED STATES SUPERFORTRESS BASE IN WESTERN CHINA, June 16 (AP).—American B-29's, the new Superfortress, struck a terrific body blow at Japan's war industry and may have knocked out a fifth of the empire's steel production in yesterday's raid on Yawata, the Pittsburgh of Japan.

The world's most powerful planes made the longest bombing flight in history and left trains of demolition bombs bursting in the Imperial iron and steel works at Yawata in northern Kyushu.

"This is but the beginning of our organized destruction of the Japanese industrial empire," commented Brig.-Gen. Kenneth B. Wolfe, who was chiefly responsible for the production of the B-29.

This first task force of the mighty B-29 Superfortresses lost no planes to enemy action in yesterday's raid that hit industrial targets at Yawata, Japan, it was announced today.

Two planes, however, were lost through accidents, the War Department said in the second communique of yesterday's historic aerial assault against the Japanese mainland — made from these bases.

The Imperial Works, largest in the Japanese empire, is credited with 20 per cent of Japanese steel production.

Yesterday's mission was a combined psychological and strategical stroke at the maximum power of the long-secret 20th bomber command.

Strongly Defended.

The raid came on the heels of Japanese Premier Hideko Tojo's

Banking Motion Defeated 18-4

OTTAWA, June 16 —(CP)—By a vote of 18-4, the Commons Banking and Commerce Committee today rejected a motion calling for disclosure of the inner reserves of the chartered banks of Canada.

The vote climaxed weeks of debate on the proposal, sponsored by Arthur Slaght (L-Parry Sound) and supported on the vote by G. G. McGeer (L-Vancouver Burrard), John Blackmore, Social Credit Leader, and E. E. Perley (PC-Qu'Appelle).

Norman Jaques (SC-Wetaskiwin) and J. W. Noseworthy (CCF-York South) announced they would have voted for the motion but they were paired respectively with Hughes Cleaver (L-Halton- and Bruce McNevin (L-Victoria).

Mr. Slaght's motion for disclosure of the inner reserves would have called for a statement of the aggregate general contingency reserves of the 10 banks to the committee.

As the committee got down to detailed discussion of the new Bank Act after disposal of the motion it heard a proposal that the bank charters which expire July 1 be renewed for two years only instead of the usual 10.

REGINA, June 16 — (CP). — The first C.C.F. Government in history boomed into power on a landslide vote in Saskatchewan yesterday under the leadership of Thomas Clement Douglas, 40-year-old former Baptist minister who resigned a seat in Parliament for what turned out to be the Premiership of this Prairie Province.

The vote left no more than a corporal's guard of the Liberal administration headed since 1935 by Premier W. J. Patterson. Early to-day 43 C.C.F. members and four Liberals had been conceded election. C.C.F. candidates led in two of the four doubtful seats and Liberal candidates in the others. The 52nd seat—Cumberland —will be decided on June 24.

The one-sided verdict of Saskatchewan voters was accomplished by the C.C.F. with only slightly more than half the total ballots cast.

Led From Start.

The election trend was unmistakeable from the early returns that showed Mr. Douglas' followers piling up sizeable margins over the Liberals, and over the Progressive Conservative and various Independent candidates who failed to return a single member.

Soon, as concessions began to come in, the overwhelming proportions of the C.C.F. victory were apparent.

Premier Patterson was not certain of his Cannington seat. He

Canadian Front Just Too Quiet

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN THIRD DIVISION IN FRANCE, June 16—(CP-Cable)—The Canadian troops last night took advantage of a lull on their sector of the front to catch up on the many hours of missed sleep. Yesterday was a warm sunny day and there was little fighting.

The lieutenant-colonel commanding one battalion in a forward area was able to take a brief sunbath and during one period of battle silence he remarked: "Our fellows figure it's just too quiet today. Maybe it is it."

While the infantry did little beyond patrolling, the artillery was active and carried out counter-battery engagements with German artillery of which is increasing.

In some parts of the front counter-battery duels went on all day. As soon as our guns fired their salvoes the Germans replied, sometimes with the same number of shells.

Wednesday night there was patrolling all along the Canadian front. The patrols found the Germans working hard to strengthen their positions.

The movements of enemy vehicles also appeared fairly heavy.

Shells from the Germans' six-barrelled electrically-fired mortars were among those falling in our lines today.

Bq THORBURN WIANT—Associated Press War Correspondent

ABOARD A SUPERFORTESS OVER YAWATA, Japan, June 15 (Delayed)—(AP).—We are only ten minutes from Yawata, "the Pittsburgh of Japan." This is no propaganda raid. This marks the beginning of a military plan to hit the Japanese where it hurts the most. We are in the forefront of scores of Superfortresses, concentrating tonight on Japan's biggest steel and coke works. One-fifth of Japan's entire steel output is produced there.

Our Superfortress is piloted by Lt.-Col. Warren Wilkinson, 26, of Lincolnton, N.C., and is running smoother than a watch.

This Superfortress is longer than a Pullman, carries nearly as much gasoline as a railroad tank car, and each of its four engines is more powerful than a locomotive.

By the time we return, we will have established a world's record for long-distance flying.

Ack-Ack Faials.

The Japs bragged over the radio weeks ago that they knew Superfortresses were coming from western China and they were prepared for us.

But now we are only five minutes from the Imperial Iron and Steel Works and searchlights are frantically sweeping the sky. Ack-ack guns are winking like little mirrors on a night club dancer's costume, but the bursts are far from our position at this altitude. There are no signs of enemy aircraft.

Torpedo Boats Damage Convoy

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

A BRITISH PORT, June 16—(CP Cable).—A newly-formed Canadian motor torpedo boat flotilla in its first encounter with the enemy severly damaged a German convoy in a searing two-minute action off the French coast. There were a few minor Canadian casualties and some damage to two MTBs.

The date of the early-morning interception of the heavily-escorted convoy was not announced but it was quite recently on a clear night in a calm sea. The MTBs slipped into the outer ring of escort craft before the Germans made contact.

The leading Canadian vessel, under command of Lieut. John Collins, RC.N.V.R., Toronto, and carrying the flotilla leader, Lt.-Cmdr. J. R. H. Kirkpatrick, D.S.O., R.C.N.V.R., Kitchener, Ont., silenced the first enemy ship with gunfire. A second was silenced by a blaze of fire from a boat commanded by Lieut. Bert Morrow, Vancouver, who received minor shrapnel wounds in the left arm.

The action developed into a gun duel in the brilliant light of enemy star shells. Before withdrawing under cover of a smoke screen, a MTB commanded by Lieut. Oliver Mabee fired torpedoes into the heart of the convoy. The results were indiscernible.

"We don't know if we sank any German ships but we do know we silenced two of them effectively," said Kirkpatrick.

W. Ross Strike Named To Post

TORONTO, June 16.—(CP.)—W. Ross Strike, barrister of Bowmanville, Ont., to-day was appointed to the Ontario Hydro Power Commission by the Ontario Government, Premier George Drew announced. Mr. Strike is president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association composed of municipal electric officials who were assured some time ago by Mr. Drew that they would have representation on the Hydro Commission.

Mr. Strike becomes the third member of the commission, the others being Dr. T. H. Hogg, chairman, and chief Engineer of Hydro and Hon. G. H. Challies of Morrisburg, Ontario, minister without portfolio.

Mr. Drew said: "It is the government's desire to tie in more effectively with the Hydro Commission work of the municipalities who have a substantial ownership in the enterprise."

Mr. Strike has for many years been actively identified with Hydro both through the Bowmanville Commission and the Eastern Ontario section of the O.M.E.A. He was elected president of the O.M.E.A. at their meeting this year.

Dunsmoor Goes To Trial

Blamed For Firing Moose Hall

HAMILTON, June 16 —(CP)— Douglas A. Dunsmoor, 25, today was committed for trial before Magistrate H. A. Burbidge on a charge of murder laid in connection with the death of Mrs. Dorothy Martin. Mrs. Martin was one of 10 people who died as a result of fire early May 24 in a hall were employees of a Hamilton dairy were holding a dance.

Dunsmoor is on remand for sentence on charge of arson in connection with three other fires in Hamilton.

Dr. M. G. Brown, medical superintendent of Hamilton General Hospital, stated Mrs. Martin died of shock and extensive burns.

Roy Martin, husband of the dead woman, testified he smelled smoke in the dance hall about 11 o'clock as the party was dancing a Paul Jones. He went to the stairs and saw smoke and flame, he said. Rushing back to the dance floor he found his wife choking from the effects of smoke. He tore down window hangings, wrapped them around her face and led her to an open window. At that point the surge of dancers pressing towards the window to escape the fast-spreading flames tore him away from his wife and hurled him through the window onto the ground.

Conboy Elected President

Many Cities Seek Financial Aid

Aboard S.S. St. Lawrence at Three Rivers, Que., June 16 (CP)—Mayor F. J. Conboy of Toronto today was elected president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities at the end of the five-day conference-cruise of the Federation of the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers.

Mayor J. W. Cornett of Vancouver, Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg, R. T. Forbes of Fredericton, vice-presidents; Mayor Lucien Borne of Quebec, honorary treasurer; Mayor John W. Fry of Edmonton, honorary secretary.

Sixteen other mayors and aldermen from all parts of the Dominion were also elected to the national executive of the federation.

The election took place shortly before the SS. St. Lawrence docked here where delegates with their wives were tendered an official reception by civic authorities.

Further resolutions and motions were adopted by delegates before formal adjournment. Most of them asked the Dominion Government to take immediate measures to relieve the financial burden of municipalities in various ways.

The federation decided to hold next year's annual meeting in Toronto.

Good Progress Being Made In Marianas

PEARL HARBOR, June 16 — (AP). — American troops advanced against Japanese tanks, artillery and soldiers to-day 1,500 miles south-east of Tokyo at Saipan in the Marianas— potential base for the B-29s which raided Japan on Thursday.

Covered by battleship guns and rocket-firing carrier planes, the invaders secured beachheads on Wednesday, moving in from behind Saipan, 3,800 miles southeast of Pearl Harbor.

They were placed in reports covering action through Thursday within five miles of Garapan, Saipan's major town of 1,000 population.

"In general, fighting is heavy, but good progress is being made against well - organized defences," Admiral Nimitz announced last night.

Battleships and cruisers, opening up with their guns after carrier planes knocked out Japan's southern Marianas air force Saturday and Sunday, silenced most of the Saipan coastal batteries and anti-aircraft positions.

Shells of the warships and rockets fired by planes and infantry landing craft effectively curtained the troops moving ashore.

"Initial reports indicate our casualties are moderate," Admiral Nimitz said. Tokyo radio claimed, without confirmation, the invaders sustained 1,800 casualties and lost 40 landing barges.

(To-day's Japanese communique heard in New York, said an invasion force of "about one division" now is "directing its main strength in the Woleai sector.")

A Flat Section.

Saipan is relatively flat, adaptable for the Superfortresses which loosed their destruction Thursday on Japan's industrial areas.

But the same flatness prompted the invasion commander, Vice-Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner, to expect opposition for the first time in the Pacific amphibious campaigns by mobile artillery. He warned that lightning victories in the Marshalls may not be duplicated at Saipan.

If the landings are successful, they promise to leave the enemy's once proud base of Truk as well as uncounted thousands of Japanese troops hanging helplessly on the dead ends of a severed lifeline.

According to the best military estimates the grand scheme of Pacific conquest of which the Saipan assault is a major part calls for a series of huge jumps to the coast of China, by the forces of General MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz.

The Saipan attack carried the Nimitz forces from their forward position on Eniwetok Island in the Marshalls across more than 1,000 miles of ocean to the Mariana group.

Banking Motion

The proposal, sponsored by Mr. Perley, met with opposition from Finance Minister Ilsley who said the charters should be renewed for 10 years in order that the banks and the public can know their position and make plans for the big tasks of reconstruction ahead.

Mr. Ilsley said it was obvious the committee could not complete its work by July 1 but a temporary extension of the bank charters could be accomplished by Act of Parliament or by an order in council under the War Measures Act.

The government, he said was proposing important changes and reforms in the Bank Act, especially in relation to agriculture. The committee should work through July and August if necessary in order to put the banking laws in a position where the banks and the public would know on what they could rely for for some years to come

Heated Clashes.

Heated clashes occurred just before the vote as Mr. Slaght criticised Mr. Ilsley for making the issue a matter of confidence in the government. The minister denied his statements had that effect.

"The members have been bludgeoned into line," interrupted Mr. Blackmore.

Mr. Fraser demanded the statement be withdrawn, declaring "I have not been whipped into line and you or nobody else can whip me into line."

Chairman W. H. Moore (L-Ontario) said all members knew Mr. Blackstone's statement was not in accordance with the facts and suggested the matter be dropped in order to get on with the business.

After disposing of the Slaght motion the committee got down to a clause by clause discussion of the new Bank Act, which was referred to it by the House. A number of the 165 clauses in the bill which were non-contentious were quickly approved.

Allied Raiders Bomb Korea

NEW YORK, June 16 — (AP).— The Japanese Domei News Agency said to-day in a broadcast reported by the United States Federal Communications Commission that several enemy planes had raided Korea (Chosen), Asiatic mainland area immediately opposite Japan.

The broadcast, transmitted to occupied East Asia areas, said the planes hit in Southern Korea. It quoted an announcement issued by the Japanese army in Keijo (Seoul) that "we suffered no losses."

The Japanese report did not identify the nationality of the raiders.

The reported Korea raid came on the heels of an attack on Japan itself by American B-29 Super-Fortresses.

declaration that the Japanese themselves were preparing a surprise. Japanase stations were broadcasting English versions of the Premier's declaration and playing pirated American swing music when Wolfe's raider pack came in.

The first target in Japan by the new weapon was one of the most strongly defended in the Japanese home islands.

The Superfortresses flew from a network of bases laboriously carved from western China plains by 450,000 conscript and contract Chinese laborers—men, women and children.

Except for the Doolittle token raid this was the first time Japan has felt the brunt of real air power.

(Roy Porter, a former Associated Press correspondent who was one of the 11 war correspondents witnessing the raid, having gone as a representative of the radio network, said the Superfortresses, nicknamed dragon flies by the pilot, left glowing masses of wreckage in the coke ovens and open hearth furnaces of the Yawata steel mills on the northern shore fo Kyushu, Japan's southernmost home island.

It is separated from Honshu, the island on which Tokyo is situated, by the narrow Shimonoseki-Mojo strait under which a railroad tunnel has been built in recent years.

(A lucky bomb hit choking up this tunnel would put a serious crimp in the movement of materials and products to and from this industrial center.

had a plurality over C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative candidates, but his margin was so small that—as in a few other close contests—the votes cast by Saskatchewan servicemen and servicewomen serving in their home province may be enough to swing the tide against him. These votes will be counted June 19.

Seven of Mr. Patterson's cabinet minister sought re-election. Five were defeated. Highways Minister Proctor was re-elected in Moosomin and Maj. E. M. Culliton minister without portfolio, ran second to a C.C.F. candidate in Gravelbourg but may possibly win out on the basis of the soldier vote.

The extent of the C.C.F. victory is indicated by the Legislative standing at dissolution: Liberals 33, C.C.F. 10, Social Credit 2, Unity (National Reform) 2, vacant 5. At the 1938 election the Liberals elected 38, the C.C.F. 10, Social Credit two and Unity two.

At 6 a.m. E.D.T. to-day — with 2,769 of 3,140 polls reported — a compilation by The Canadian Press showed the C.C.F. had obtained 192,491 of 366,023 votes cast, or about 52 per cent. The Liberals had 129,524, Progressive Conservatives 41,483, and various other candidates 2,525.

Equals Sweep in 1934.

In the last election in 1938 the total vote was 440,273 with the Liberals receiving 200,370, the C.C.F. 82,568, the Conservatives 52,366 and others 104,969.

Yesterday's victory was paralleled in Saskatchewan only by the Liberal sweep of 1934 when they elected 50 members to the Legislature which then had 55 seats instead of the present 52.

The Legislative seats again will be raised to 55 when Saskatchewan service men and service women serving outside the province elect three members-at-large later. The arrangement for this balloting have not been completed. One service member will be elected for Canada outside Saskatchewan and Newfoundland; one for the United Kingdom including the invasion forces in France; and one for service personel in the Mediterranean theatre.

Since 1905 when Saskatchewan became a province there have been six Liberal administrations. The Conservatives have never formed a government alone but the one other Saskatchewan administration before yesterday's voting was a coalition headed by a Conservative—Dr. J. T. M. Anderson—between 1929 and 1934.

Mr. Douglas, who has been a bright star in the C.C.F. parliament since he entered the political field in 1934, termed the victory of his party "a victory for the people of Saskatchewan as a whole."

"The election victory", he said in a post-election statement, "was the result of team work and co-operation on the part of thousands of workers and I want to thank them for their hard work. The same co-operation will be necessary to attack the economic and social problems that will face us as a government."

Fresh from the federal political arena at Ottawa, Mr. Douglas said the election result was an indication of western Canada's feeling in respect to federal agriculture, manpower and post-war construction policies.

A New Chapter

Mr. Ramsay, the Progressive Conservative leader, said that with election of a C.C.F. government Saskatchewan starts "a new chapter in its history."

"Great problems lie ahead and we must face them as a people without allowing constantly-present factors of disunity to deter us from building a United Canada," he added.

Mr. Douglas, the new Premier, was born in Scotland but came to Canada 34 years ago at the age of six. He has gathered experience the hard way, sometimes earning his living and his education by manual labor. He is an able debater and has a sharp wit which he uses as necessary in his clashes with political opponents.

He was elected C.C.F. provincial leader at a convention last year.

It was estimated that more than 40 candidates lost their deposits, the majority of them Progressive Conservatives.

During the campaign it was estimated that women represented 52 per cent. of the voters. Spokesmen for all the major parties noted the

Bonin Islands Under Attack

NEW YORK, June 16—(AP)—A Tokyo broadcast said today an "enemy task force" had attacked the Bonin islands southeast of the Japanese mainland Thursday afternoon.

This group stands midway between Japan and the Marianas, where American forces have effected a landing.

The Tokyo broadcast, directed to Japanese areas, was reported to the United States Office of War Information by Federal Communications Commission monitors.

Tokyo said the raiders attacked the islands of Chichi Jima and Iwo Jima.

There was no immediate Allied confirmation of such a raid.

The Tokyo broadcast quoted the Japanese communique as reporting "our loss was very slight." It was said 17 Allied planes had been shot down.

their objectives rather than drop bombs.

A Secret Weapon

He indicated these planes were not expected to return home. He said he had "not had full reports on the number of pilotless aircraft destroyed before they could explode" last night.

The German pilotless planes roared across the night skies and well into daylight with an odd rumbling sound under a heavy layer of cloud.

Today blitz-hardened Britons took their tin hats to work for the first time since 1941 as Hitler's move placed them once more in the front line with troops fighting across the Channel.

Thunderous barrages echoed on both sides of the Channel as the battle of the bridgehead moved into one with the new battle of Britain.

Mr. Morrison explained to parliament that to refrain from giving the Germans an accurate check on the effectiveness of this new weapon, in the future no information would be released on raids against Southern England—an area south of a line from the wash to the Bristol channel—except for the bare facts of attacks made in this general region.

He said the Germans sent a small number of unmanned planes against Britain early Tuesday, and increased the number last night and this morning. The first attack was inconsiderable, though a few casualties were caused.

Mr. Morrison's statement confirmed the first half of a warning Mr. Churchill made last Feb. 22, saying, "There is no doubt the Germans are preparing on the French shore new means of attack on this country either by pilotless aircraft or possibly rockets or both."

A section along the Pas de Calais coast has been pounded almost incessantly by British and American Air Forces since late last year in attacks generally believed to have been aimed at installations for launching or controlling rockets or pilotless planes.

The Germans already have used in this war a radio-controlled glider-bomb, mainly against ships, guiding it visually by aircraft which released it at great height, usually several miles from the target.

Radio-controlled airplanes have been used by several nations before the war, mainly as targets for gunners. Their control always has been on a visual basis. The Germans may have evolved some automatic device to set the course before the take-off or to control the plane remotely.

Used For Training

TORONTO, June 16—(CP).—The first of four Halifax bombers intended for the training of flight engineers landed at Malton Airport late yesterday. The plane left England on Tuesday and arrived at Dorval Airport yesterday, flying on to Malton this afternoon. The bomber will proceed to No. 14 S.F.T.S. at Aylmer, Ont.

Japan Claims Damage Light After Big Raid

WASHINGTON, June 16 — (AP) — The mightiest bombers in history cast shadows of destruction over Japan today, with the enemy trying to cover up an obvious uncertainty as to when and where these superfortresses will strike again.

After a long silence on yesterday's raid which the United States War Department announced tersely came to Japan from somewhere in the China-India-Burma theatre, the Tokyo radio finally acknowledged that industrial areas of Moji and Shimonoseki were hit.

Then early today the enemy radio tried to put a better face on things.

It said:—

1. That the superfortresses' approach was detected two hours offshore. 2. That seven of them were shot down and three damaged; 3. That Japanese Air Forces and ground installations suffered little damage. 4. That fires which started in several places were put out.

The unconfirmed Japanese version placed the scenes of admitted damage within 500 miles of Tokyo. Moji is on Kyushu Island and Shimonoseki is on Honshu Island.

Not Confirmed

A statement by Representative Joseph Starnes (Dem., Ala.) to the House of Representatives that great destruction had been wrought on Tokyo by the Big B-29 bombers went unconfirmed at the war department.

But whether Tokyo was hit or not this time, the ultimate fate of the enemy's capital and his lesser centres of war-making was implicit in the description of the B-29 as a bomber of unequalled power and speed and range. Not until yesterday had the secret of her tremendous potentialities been disclosed.

On the island of Spain—1,500 miles southeast of Tokyo—American forces are storming ashore. Once the Island is taken, it will be a small matter for the B-29s to fly a devastating shuttle across Japan to China, dropping their massive bombs and fierce incendiaries on the way.

The superfortress production program started while the bomber itself was a drawing board dream.

Before the initial plane flew for the first time, tremendous plants were being constucted, an accelerated testing effort was going on, supply and transportation organizations were established, battle strattions were established, battle strategy was developed, and a new Air Force of radical design was created.

Mannerheim Line impassable for the Red Army," Shvankov wrote.

The main break-through was in the region of Kuuterselkae with the new Mannerheim Line running from the southwest to the northeast, deep in swamps and forests.

A quarter-mile away from the trenches the Finns had three additional ranks of tank blocks built around steel shelters.

Red Star said the Soviets smashed the line at the Gulf of Finland coast and also captured an important highway crossing.

The new line was broken by artillery and concentrated pounding by bombers.

Dispatches said the Finns defended the second line much more fiercely than the original line.

The Finns will be battling shortly to hold the Russians back from Viipuri itself. The Red Army is not under-estimating the battle which it faces. The struggle for the second Mannerheim Line is far harder than the fight for the first line, in which the surprise element aided the Soviets.

Simonov reported "it is an interesting note that according to the testimony of captives" who told the Russians about the new Mannerheim Line "that construction began on the day when Finnish representatives in Sweden raised the question of peace negotiations with us. On the very day that (Dr. Juho K.) Paasikivi took off for Moscow (Field Marshal) Mannerheim went to Kivennapa to inspect the line."

This information caused new and immedate indignation in Moscow.

Bombs Hit Jap

At least one of the Superfortresses beat us to the target because we see several bomb bursts.

Wilkinson shouts into the interphone "it's all yours" and Capt. William C. Goldstein, of Indianapolis, and Lieut. Glenn Berkthiser of Alburquerque, N.M., prepare to drop their bombs.

The target is now only seconds away, but those seconds are like hours because the sky is filled with searchlights and ack-ack.

Dead On Target

"There they go smack into their damned steel works," yells Goldstein.

Our giant plane, relieved of its explosive load, noses upward.

Wilkinson sharply turns and dives in the direction of home. We look back on a firebug's dream. Flames are shooting at least 2,000 feet high from the two huge fires. Several smaller fires are blazing up rapidly.

Sixty miles from Yawata our fires and those started by the Superfortresses following up are plainly visible.

Japan's vital steel works is being reduced to a huge rubbish. It will take the Japanese months to recover from this blow.

Allied Headquarters

The Americans advanced along a 10-mile front, despite stubborn German resistance, and were within 11 miles of the beaches on the west coast of the peninsula.

Fighting continued in the streets of Montebourg, 16 miles southeast of Cherbourg, one of the most bitterly-contested towns on the peninsula.

Weather Is Bad

Meanwhile headquarters reported the worst weather over the battlefields since D-Day with a 20-mile an hour northwest wind blowing into the beaches—the only place the Allies now hold for the reinforcements and supply of their invasion armies by sea.

Despite the weather, Allied warships continued to support the Normandy land fighting. The American Battleships Texas and Nevada and Cruiser Augusta were reported shelling German positions on the Cherbourg peninsula.

British warships have been smashing at installations in the big port of Le Havre, to the northeast of the Allied bridgehead.

A late dispatch from Gen. Eisenhower's advanced command post said it was estimated 300,000 German troops had been thrown against the Normandy beachhead.

This dispatch said four German divisions had been badly mauled in battle, including the 709th, 711th and 352nd.

So far the presence in the beachhead of nine Allied divisions has been officially released—three British, five American and one Canadian.

The German communique said the Nazis drove the Allies back south-east and southwest of Carentan, but admitted Allied gains west and north of Ste. Mere Eglise. It claimed also, that a wedge had been driven into the Allied bridgehead east of the Orne River.

On the Cherbourg peninsula American forces took Quineville on the east coast and advanced a mile west from it to reach the Senope River.

The American thrust farther south, aimed at cutting the last German communications with the endangered key port of Cherbourg, reached to within three miles of the key road junction of St. Sauveur and within six miles of another vital communications centre, Le Haye du Puits.

Pushed westward from Ste. Mere Eglise, one American column reached Regneville, three miles from St. Sauveur, where the main Paris - Caen - Bayeux - Cherbourg highway meets another highway to Cherbourg running near the west coast of the peninsula.

A few miles farther south, American forces engaged German armor and infantry in fierce fighting six miles east of Le Haye Du Puits, on the west coast highway. Capture of this town would sever all roads on the bitterly-contested peninsula.

The Germans threw reserves into the battle in this sector and bitter fighting was in progress, with the front line fluctuating back and forth at frequent intervals.

These were the only advances registered along the front. Allied communique No. 21 issued today said there were no major changes.

For the first time since the battle of the beachhead started, conservative German reports from the sectors where fighting was taking place jibed generally with announcements of the Allied supreme command.

Generals in Front Line

Field dispatches said mobile fighting in the spearheads of the American sector found generals in the front line with their troops. American columns pushing forward sometimes were cut off and had to fight their way back into contact with tre main forces.

Allied tactical air forces flew 3,000 sorties in 200 missions yesterday in support of the ground forces in Normandy. British, Canadian and American heavy bombers brought their 24-hour total to more than 5,000 sorties.

Weather hampered air operations somewhat, but unloading of troops and supplies on the beachhead continued at full blast, and supreme headquarters declared the striking power of Gen. Montgomery's forces "is growing daily."

Photographs of Le Havre after a raid of R.A.F. Lancasters Wednesday night showed the German E-boats, which had been lurking there to attack the flanks of the ceaseless trans-channel convoys, had disappeared. Before the raid 10 E-boats and motor torpedo boats had been seen in the harbor.

After the air attack Allied battleships and cruisers gave the German-held port a brisk pounding.

Nears Climax

Ross Munro, chief C.P. war correspondent in the field, said the campaign in that region was "sweeping to its first great climax" and reported big battles "which would bring large armored formations into combat . . . might be approaching rapidly."

Today's communique said there was some further progress west of Port L'Amme, where American forces were last reported holding firm in the face of rising enemy pressure to relieve the Cherbourg drive.

Quineville Falls

Quineville, small coastal town on the far right flank of the beachhead, fell to the Americans. Headquarters described this territorial gain as "a valuable new outlet from the beaches."

In the area of Carentan, key point in the line, the Americans had fought their way across districts flooded by the Germans and were on firm land in the area of the village of Baupte. The Germans themselves admitted the Americans were at Pretot, three miles beyond Baupte and barely six miles from La Haye du Puits. Here the enemy launched stiff armored counter-attacks.

The German-controlled Paris radio declared German counter-attacks had brought them back to the walls of Carentan, but there was no Allied confirmation of this.

Activity was boiling up in the areas around Caumont and Villers-Bocage at the point of the Allies deepest penetration inland, and Big British and Canadian four-engine Lancasters, with their fighter escort, hit the French channel port of Boulogne first at 10:30 p.m. (4:30 p.m. EDT) yesterday—just before dusk.

14 Bombers Lost

Other British heavy bombers, continuing the attack into the night, hit railway centres at Valenciennes and Lens and a fuel dump at Chattelerault. Fourteen bombers—including three R.C.A.F. were missing from all these operations while Allied night Intruder planes destroyed four enemy aircraft and damaged others over France.

The evening and night operations also saw a Mosquito force hit unspecified targets in western Germany. These blows were a thunderous follow-up to yesterday's daylight operations which included attacks by an armada of 1,300 United States heavy bombers.

In addition to the American heavy bomber blows, Supreme Headquarters announced that 3,000 sorties were made by Allied planes yesterday in direct support of the ground operations in Normandy. Many of these were flown by planes based in France.

The daylight sweeps yesterday ranged over France from the Normandy battlefields as far south as Bordeaux. Out of these mighty operations three heavy bombers, one medium and four fighters were missing, headquarters announced, and at least 24 German planes were shot down.

Escorted by nearly 750 fighters, the great fleet of American heavies made their deepest penetration of France since the invasion started and dropped an estimated 3,250 tons of bombs.

Sgt. Galley Wounded On Same Day As Pal

W. T. Cranfield of the London Bureau of the Toronto Telegram, has been checking hospitals with casualty patients back from France. On one visit he met Sgt. Lawrence Galley son of Mrs. Stella Galley, 178 Douro street, and heard a strange story of the friendship of two buddies.

"Sergeant Van Volkenburg, of Kemptville, and Sergeant Lawrence Galley became buddies when they joined the Canadian infantry in 1940 and came to England at the same time. They managed to get posted to the same unit. "D"-Day found them still together, both having been promoted to the rank of sergeant in meantime. They even crossed to France in the same craft.

"We lost all sight of each other when we hit the beach," said Van Volkenburg, "but after I had been caught in the back of the neck by some shrapnel, I found I was to go back to England. About the first person I saw when I got to the boat was Lawrence, who also had been wounded, but in the arm. Now we are in the next bed to each other."

As their injuries are slight, the two friends hope to keep up their record and get their discharge from hospital and rejoin thier unit on the same day.

there was a prospect that Gen. Montgomery might be ready to renew his drive here.

Confidence that the bridgehead was now secure was voiced officially at Allied headquarters. "We are now entering the build-up phase," it was announced last night.

Wearing to Huns

This meant the forces which went ashore with "assault equipment" to carry through the first few days of fighting and allow only limited penetration inland now were being bolstered with "light equipment" to last them until they are up to full offensive supply.

Despite unconfirmed reports that the Germans had started demolition of Cherbourg port facilities, there was no tangible evidence that the Nazis had started a withdrawal from the menaced tip of the peninsula.

Best estimates were that the Germans had committed 20 divisions, between 200,000 and 300,000 men, including four armored divisions, to the beachhead battle.

"The Germans are dancing to our tune," said the Allied command, "counter-attacking whenever they can to try to stop up breaks in their line. We hope they are wearing themselves out.

"The weather is very good and our beaches are developing well. The landing is reaching a constant crescendo."

egy was developed, and a new Air Force of radical design was created.

Portions of the plane were tested by building them on a reduced scale to fit other aircraft, such as the B-17 Flying Fortress and the Douglas A-20 Havoc. More than 8,000 hours of wind tunnel work was crowded into a few months by using equipment in various jarts of the country. Thousands of engineers aided in the rush design work. The testing program was the greatest in aviation history.

Omemee Score Lashes Lindsay

OMEMEE, June 16 — (ENS) — Omemee Creamery broke into the winners column by defeating Lindsay Knights of Columbus 11-2, in a Town League game here Thursday.

Stephenson pitched the entire game for Omemee and allowed only eight scattered hits: He helped win his own game by getting two timely hits. Lucas started for the K of C, but was chased from the box after the O's had scored 7 runs. Brigden for Lindsay replaced Lucas in the middle of the fourth frame but the Creamery boys had no difficulty in hitting his deliveries, getting 8 hits and a walk in 2⅓ innings and scoring four runs. The win for Omemee puts them in third place, with the Live Wires leading the league, K of C second and Lindsay Arsenal in cellar position.

Crawford with four singles, Weir with three doubles and Bradley with two hits and a walk, led the Omemee Creamery in batting. For the K of C, Williams, Father Kay and S. Shine got two hits each.

Berry Ceiling Prices Changed

OTTAWA, June 16.—(CP). —The Prices Board announced last night that changes have been made in a new order governing price ceilings for strawberries to adjust the ceiling for late-producing areas.

Zone No. 2 in the order, which originally included Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, has been extended to include Northern and Eastern Quebec, Northern Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and the Kooteny area of British Columbia.

In Zone 2 the ceiling price to wholesale distributors will be 27 cents a quart box and 14½ cents a pint up to June 24. After that date the price will drop to 22 cents a quart and 12 cents a pint, remaining at that level until July 15, when ceiling prices revert to those of the period before June 24.

The board's announcement said the changes were made to give the late-producing districts the advantage of the normal price increase that takes place late in the season. The order applies only to sales of fresh fruit for market purposes and not to sales to processors.

Other than the redistribution of the late-producing areas there are no changes for Zone 1, which takes in Southern Ontario and Southern Quebec, and Zone 3, which takes in those parts of Canada not included in Zones 1 and 2.

Wholesalers may sell on the basis of their cost any strawberries they may have on hand or in transit at the time of the price change so as to allow growers the ceiling prices right up to the date of price change.

Cattle Prices Up 25 Cents, Calves Strong

TORONTO, June 16.— (CP). — Cattle prices were 25 cents higher in active trade on the livestock market here this week. Veal calves were strong with sheep, lambs and hogs steady.

The quality of the cattle supply was high with stall feds predominating. Demand for better quality beef cattle was keen and several shipments were made to out-of-town points. Choice weighty steers were $13-$13.50 with other steers downward to $11.50. Top butcher steers brought $12-$12.50. Best heifers were $12 with a few at $12.25. Fed yearlings sold at $12 to $13.50. Butcher cows sold at $8 to $10 with bulls from $7.50-$10. Light stockers and stock calves sold at $9-$11.50. Good springers sold at $130-$150 each with milkers mostly $130 downward.

Veal calves were a shade stronger on a light run. Choice vealers were $13.50-$14 with a few at $14.50. Common to medium calves sold $5-$7 cwt.

Spring lamb prices held steady at $16-$16.50 cwt. under an increased supply. Some lambs, weighing less than 60 lb. were sent back to the country. Yearlings were $8 to $13 cwt. Sheep were unchanged at $2-$6 according to quality.

Hogs were unchanged at $17.55-$17.65 for grade A off trucks at the yards or local packing plants Sows were $13 dressed. A few cars of western hogs were in the supply

BANCROFT, June 16—(ENS). — Word has been received of the first invasion casualty from Bancroft. Bdr. Stuart Black, serving in an anti-tank unit, has been seriously wounded according to a telegram sent to his wife in Turriff, nine miles from here.

Bdr. Black enlisted in the summer of 1940 and has been stationed overseas almost four years. He is the son of Mr and Mrs. Laurie Black of Turriff and prior to joining the army, he worked in the pulpwood industry at Bancroft. A brother, Tpr. Murray Black, is stationed with the Canadian Armoured Corps overseas.

Service Men's Problems Engage House

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP)—More suggestions on what should be done to help reestablish and rehabilitate service personnel into civilian life were heard yesterday in the Commons as members of all parties joined in urging that the best of treatment be given the veterans of this and other wars.

The suggestions were advanced during continued debate on a bill establishing a veteran's affairs department to handle all matters concerning ex-service personnel. All members agreed that the bill was a step in the right direction, but expressed belief that it alone would not solve all problems.

Col. A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal) a veteran of the First Great War who has served in various capacities during this war, urged that better pensions be provided for disabled veterans.

Almost everyone in the forces wanted to return to a job. The men felt that industry as well as the government should give them preference as far as work was concerned.

Members of the forces had placed the responsibility of making proper provisions for their return upon the shoulders of members of parliament and upon the people of the country.

Col. Brooks said the post-war perior was not uppermost in the minds of the fighting forces.

"I do know that what is uppermost in the minds of the men of the forces at the present time is the winning of the war," he said. "Another matter which is giving them considerable thought is the question of reinforcements, of whether or not well trained men will be available to give them sufficient backing in the great task which they are undertaking."

Another man in uniform, Maj. Leslie Mutch (L-Winnipeg South) saiad that veterans should be thoroughly informed of what training opportunities were available. They also should be informed on how many positions were available in the trades for which they were to be trained.

Owe a Debt.

The people of Canada owed a debt to every man on active service, no matter on what impulse he went active.

The House gave first reading to a bill amending the criminal code. The minimum penalty for theft from a post office would be done away with, while the maximum penalty for defrauding the government in the handling of military goods would be increased. A third change would substitute the Superior Court for the Court of King's Bench in hearing appeals from summary convictions.

J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F.-York South) said the country did not want to hear that the nation had not enough money to provide her returning fighting forces with all the necessities of life Money had been found for the needs of war and could be found for the needs

Counties Council Wants To Drop Post War Levy Set This Week

COBOURG, June 16 — (ENS) — Northumberland and Durham Counties' Council did an about face on the decision made earlier in the session to levy a rate of one mill for post war purposes. The Finance committee Thursday revoked their previous recommendation of the one mill levy by recommending that the by-law passed for the purpose of making the levy, be rescinded at the November session.

Reeve W. Cole of Hamilton township declared that it was poor business to put through a by-law and in the next breath decide to rescind it. Reeve W. Smith of Murray township suggested that it not be rescinded until next November as some municipalities had already set their rate.

At a meeting of the finance committee Thursday morning, Deputy-Reeve Eugene Sanders of Port Hope expressed opposition to the post war levy. He pointed out that there had not been due notice given to the various municipalities of the county council's intention to pass the by-law with the result that the municipalities had, had no opportunity of allowing for the extra cost in their estimates. In the case of Port Hope, the extra cost would be $2,600 and in Cobourg's case, the cost would be around $3,400, which would create a deficit for the year. Post war reserve was all right, he declared, but not when suddenly thrust upon the municipalities with no opportunity to estimate for it. Some municipalities had set up their own post war reserve funds. Port Hope's plans were of a size which would necessitate the raising of debentures.

"If you are going to establish such a fund, let the municipalities know about it at the January session to give them time to put it in their estimates," suggested Deputy-Reeve Sanders.

Committee Reports

The Schools committee recommended that the resolution regarding the appointment of a County School Nurse be referred to the November session.

The Legislative and By-Laws committee recommended that the resolution from Perth County Council regarding post-war planning for creating employment for men be endorsed. That the resolutions received from Grey county council and Lincoln county council regarding a suitable gas category for members of county councils be endorsed, and that the resolution received from Simcoe county council regarding additional financial aid by the Provincial Government to Children's Aid Societies.

The Agricultural committee recommended that the resolution from the County of Grey regarding ceiling prices on butter, cheese and hogs be endorsed. The following resolution submitted by the Ontario Agricultural Council was endorsed; Better availability of Hydro to farms in Ontario; That the Provincial and Dominion Governments consider incorporating on their post-war planning, a scheme whereby Provincial and Dominion Government support of at least 50% of the outlay be extended to School Boards for remodeling and rebuilding elementary and Secondary School Buildings where the project is initiated by local authority and approved by the Provincial Department of Education; That the Department of Education be asked to change the High School curiculum in order to have Agriculture, Vocational and business methods taught in the High Schools in the Counties in Ontario; That the Ontario Government be requested to set aside a certain period of time in the School day for religious instruction.

They also recommended that a grant of $100 each be made toward Junior work in Northumberland and in Durham Counties; A grant of $40 be made to Quinte District Seed Growers Association; That one representative from each County be appointed to the Committee of Agriculture, and that a grant of $100 each to Durham Ploughman's Association and Northumberland Cheesemaker's Association be made.

The finance committee recommended that a petition be sent to the Bankers Association requesting all Banks to cash Municipal cheques at par and on the same basis as Provincial and Federal Government cheques are cashed.

They also recommendeed that this Council go on record as protesting to the appointment of two extra turnkeys at the Counites gaol at the salary of $100 per month by the Provincial Government. The salaries of these two men will be paid under protest.

It was recommended that no action be taken on the communication from the Kingston Tuberculosis Association regarding the proposed new Sanatorium and that liability for the maintenance of Gordon Mainprize at Queen Elizabeth Hospital for Incurables be denied. This patient's parents have been residents of town of Trenton for the past two years.

A levy of 1 mill be made this year for post-war expenditures in addition to the General County Rate, was recommended and that the budget presented by the Counties' Treasurer be accepted and a rate of 7 mills be struck for General Purposes.

We recommend payment of the following committee pay sheets: — C. R. Carveth, Air Fields Committee, $26.50; C. R. Carveth, attending O. E. A. at Toronto $20.05; N. L. Flindall, Air Field Committee, $19.50; D. Glenn, Commissioner County Gaol, $6.00; N. Green, Children's Aid Society, $16.50; A. W. Heaslip, Reforestation Committee, $24.90; J. W. Heckbert, Children's Aid Society, $60.30; G. J. McCubbin, Reforestation Committee, $32.25; J. L. Moncrief, Air Fields Committee, $27.45; R. T. Love, Special County Property, $18.90; S. Little, Special Property, $23.40.

It was recommended that the members of the County Council receive the regular five days pay together with mileage for attendance at this session of the County Council and that Messrs. Bickle and Ross receive their pay for attendance.

Grants Made

The council recommended that the salary of the Matron at the Counties' Gaol be increased 15% and the following grants be made in 1944: Canadian Red Cross Society $2,500; Navy League of Canada $2,000; Chinese War Relief $2,000; Russian War Relief $2,000; Agricultural Representative, (Durham) $500; Agricultural Representative, (Durham) Junior Work $100; Agricultural Representative, (Northumberland) $500; Agricultural Representative, (Northum) Junior Work $100; Ontario Agricultural Council $50; Northumberland Cheesemaker's Association $100; Durham Ploughman's Association $100; Quinte Seed Fair $30; The Agricultural Societies of the United Counties $1,500; Women's Institute, E. N., $25; Women's Institute, W. D., $25; Women's Institute, E. D., $25; Women's Institute, W. D., $25; Northumberland Trustees and Ratepayers $25; Durham Trustees and Ratepayers $25; Town of Campbellford $50; Village of Hastings $50; Township of Alnwick $20; Township of Hamilton $20; Township of Brighton $10; Ontario Conservation and Reforestation $25; Salvation Army $500; Kinsmen Club Milk for Britain Fund $50; Canadian National Institute for the Blind $600; Cobourg General Hospital $800; Bowmanville Hospital $800; Port Hope Hospital $800.

A recommendation that grants to the three Teachers Institutes be deferred was made and that By-law No. 1475 calling for a levy of one mill on the Equalized Assessments for Post-War Expenditures passed June 14th 1944 be rescinded.

Need Radios

Report of the Board of Management, which was given by Deputy-Reeve E. Sanders revealed that there were on June 1 at the Counties Home, 104 inmates of which two were paying their own way and 40 were old age pensioners. The radios used at the Counties Home were worn out and new ones could not be located for purchase. Donations of radios would be gratefully received. Average cost a week for each patient was $4.95 and daily cost was seventy-one cents.

Report of Reeve J. L. Moncrief of Port Hope, chairman of the special committee on air fields, gave a summary of the meetings held in that connection since the appointment of the committee at the January session. The committee suggested that municipality study its air field prospects and that the counties include air fields in its post war planning.

Council wound up its session by deciding to reverse its decision of the day before in regard to purchase of a stone crusher and accordingly authorized the Road Commission to purchase one at a cost not to exceed $20,000.

JOHN F. W. BOYCE

WARKWORTH, June 16 (ENS) — Funeral service for the late John Franklin Webb Boyce was held Wednesday in St. Paul's United Church. Rev. J. R. R. Cooper who conducted the service chose for his text Matthew 24: 44." He also read "Crossing The Bar," a favorite hymn. Rev. F. A. Ball assisting with the service read the lesson Matthew: 24 and offered prayer.

During the service Mrs. Fred Ward sang "God Understands" and Warren and Ambrose Atkinson sang: "The Touch Of His Hand On Mine."

Mr. Boyce who was in his seventy-seventh year died suddenly Sunday morning, June 11, at the Blood Donors Clinic, Belleville where he had taken a number of donors.

In 1930 he married Mrs. Charlotte Gaetz who predeceased him about five years ago. Following his superannuation about ten years ago they came to Toronto. The past four years he has lived in Warkworth and during that time he took a special interest in the work of the Red Cross.

Among the beautiful floral tributes was one from the Percy Branch of the Red Cross and a spray from the Belleville Blood Donors Clinic.

Honorary pall bearers were W. Cunningham; P. S. Ewing, G. A. Dawe, R. Walker, Major A. M. Shook and W. Humphries.

Pall bearers: W. Shaw, J. M. Greenly, R. B. Nelson, J. Covert, W. H. Henry and R. R. Mallory.

Flower bearers: Elwood Greenly, D. S. Thompson, J. A. Greenly, Grant Allen, J. W. Mowat and F. J. Dingman

Suryiving are two brothers and two sisters, Dr. George, Iron Mountain, Mich., Charles, Miss Emma Boyce, and Mrs. O. B. Hopkins, Warkworth. Interment was in Warkworth cemetery.

Those from a distance attending the funeral were Major A. M. Shook and W. Humphries, Toronto, Don Douglas, Chatham and Mr. and Stewart Hardy, Marmora.

Ready For Trip

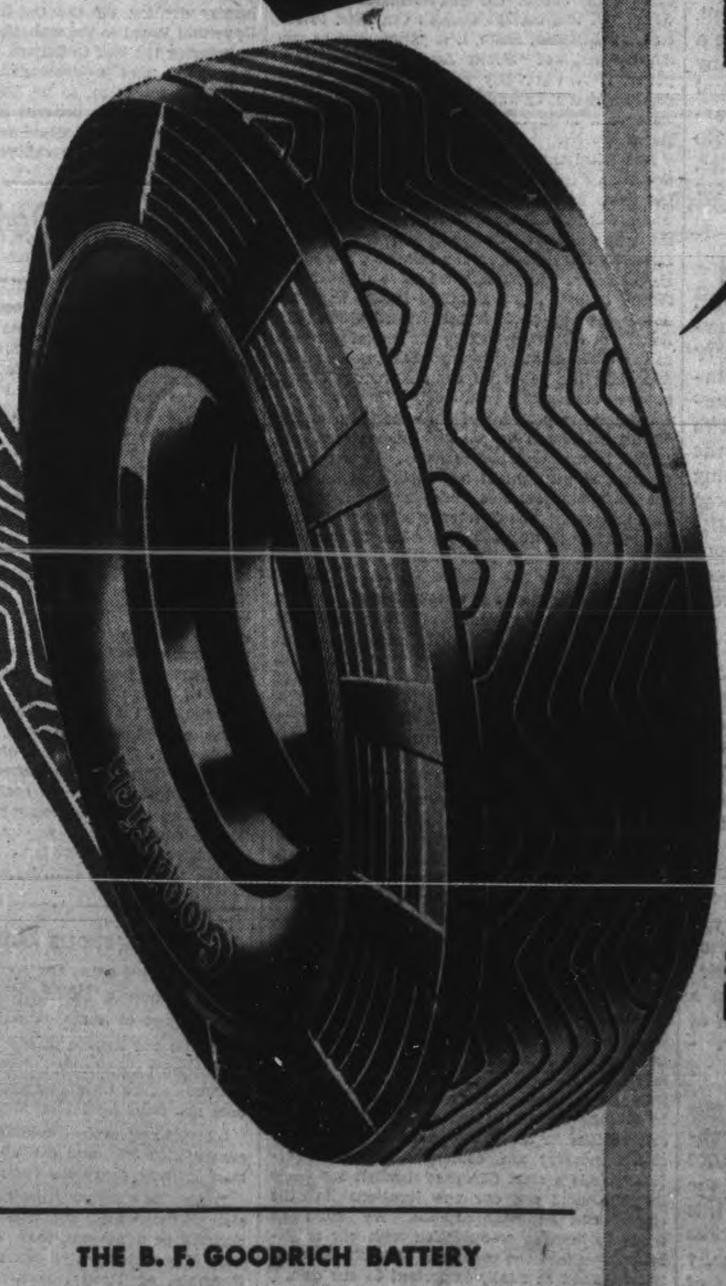
HI-FLEX CORD!


B. F. Goodrich tire engineers again drew from their long experience in tire construction to make Pre-War Mileage available in the new B. F. Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Tire.
Knowing that Hi-Flex Cord—previously used only in B. F. Goodrich truck tires—had extra strength and elasticity, they used it to build a stronger, bruise-resisting, cooler-running synthetic rubber tire for passenger cars.
With Hi-Flex Cord and Ply-Weld construction, plus the long-wearing, road-tested Lifesaver Tread, the new B. F. Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Tires for passenger cars are fully capable of giving you the long mileage you enjoyed before the war.
Today, extra tire mileage is as important to your country as it is to you. Help to conserve Canada's vital rubber supply. Drive within legal speed limits, keep your tires properly inflated, and have them inspected regularly by a capable tire service man—your B. F. Goodrich dealer.

Praise From Russia

In matters of war praise from Russia is praise indeed, and Marshal Stalin's generous compliment to General Eisenhower and his forces will be deeply appreciated by every man on the invasion front. The Russian leader can judge the difficulty of invading Europe, if anyone can. Russians met German troops when the latter were at their best, and the difficulties which our forces encounter in Normandy are nothing to what they would have been if they were fighting the German elite troops who now lie buried in the soil of Russia. Let us not overpraise Russia, nor underpraise her: the plain fact is that the Russians took the temper out of the Nazi sword and made possible the splendid success which our troops have enjoyed so far in France.

The German army is still large and still formidable; it is still reckoned to have more than 200 divisions. But they are not the divisions of 1940 and 1941. They have been formed and reformed many times since then, and the German forces whom our men have met in Normandy have included such strange fish as women snipers and Japanese infantry. Women make good snipers—the Russians proved that—and the Japs are formidable fighters, as we know. But the Wehrmacht would have scorned women and Japs in its great days. The Wehrmacht cannot replace the elite fighters who fell in all those disastrous campaigns which reached a culmination of futility at Stalingrad.

Germany is still such a strong foe that only a concerted Allied attack from several sides can bring her down to defeat. Now, as we attack from the west, Russia strikes at Finland, to dispose of that satellite and to clear the path for a shrewd blow at Germany herself. Whether the Russians will go through northern Finland to Norway, or whether they will strike directly at Germany we shall not know until they do it. Whatever their move, we know that they will make it joyously and triumphantly, as our own men are fighting in France, and as the Russians fought during the latter part of the campaign on their own soil. And why should they not be joyous? Are they not on the direct road to victory?

Russia and the other United Nations have not always been in perfect trust and agreement; there is still suspicion on both sides, but it grows less with every passing month. We predict that after this war little of that suspicion will remain. The Russians and the Anglo-American nations have made great promises to each other, and those promises have been kept; they have fought the same foe, and they have felt a full and unstinting admiration for each other's qualities as fighters. These things make for respect, and respect is a good foundation for friendship.

J. F. B. Livesay

Canadian newspapermen and his many friends and business associates in Great Britain and the U.S. have heard with sorrow of the death of J. F. B. Livesay, the former General Manager of the Canadian Press. Mr. Livesay was with that Canadian co-operative news gathering agency from its early days, and as its permanent head he took the chief part in organizing and shaping it. When he retired in 1939 he saw that the organization which absorbed so much of his life and energy was well-founded on principles which would endure, and he was content to leave it.

To a great degree the Canadian Press was J. F. B. Livesay's life; his prime interest was public affairs, as their facts were recorded and their atmosphere preserved in the newspapers. But he had many hobbies, and in gardening and photography especially he possessed far more than amateur skill. As a retreat from the tension and bustle of his daily work he created a remarkable home for himself at Clarkson; there, on the site of a former woodlot, he made what he called 'an English garden in a Canadian setting', and its unusual beauty spoke of the skill and affection with which it had been designed and cared for. He was also a keen collector of Chinese pottery and had a small collection of choice pieces. Like many newspaper men he was fond of serious reading which lay quite outside the scope of his daily work, and his interest in the works of the American novelist, Henry James, led him to a position of some authority in that field. He also had an interesting collection of first editions of James' books.

J. F. B. Livesay was an enthusiast, a man of supple and comprehensive mind, and a man of culture; he will live long in the memory of all who knew him.

Good Times For The Theatre

These are good times for the theatre—though not in Canada. It has been many years since there was anything in the nature of a living theatre in this Dominion except in Toronto and Montreal. Nevertheless the affection for the theatre lingers in the hearts of many Canadians, and they keep themselves informed of what is doing in New York and London much as poor children learn what is going on in a bakery by peeping through the window. The Ottawa Journal comments on the close of the theatrical season in New York in these words:

"Hollywood is reported to have paid fancy prices for some of the season's crop, so that Ottawa may yet see some of them in more or less recognizable form.

"It would be nice, however, we think, if we did not have to depend on Hollywood (good as Hollywood is) or on the Sunday papers for our theatre. Road shows find their way to Toronto and Montreal, but this august Capital is off the path, perhaps largely because we haven't a theatre to put them in. Add to post-war Ottawa plans: a civic auditorium of some kind that could house an orchestra and play host to first-class theatre.

We hope that this dream will come true; a capital which has neither a theatre nor an orchestra is pretty much a one-horse establishment. We doubt very much whether a Canadian theatre would ever be granted any aid by a Canadian Government. In England it is different; plays and entertainments of a certain type are let off the Entertainments Tax, and as Congreve's brilliant Love For Love is one such play it may be seen that the rule is applied very generously; the Congreve play has run for almost a year to crowded houses, and is particularly amusing to the American troops, who do not see such acting, or such plays, at home. The British Government subsidizes good theatrical work throughout the United Kingdom to the tune of £20,000 every year, with the result that Macbeth and The Merchant of Venice are played by good companies in the most obscure Welsh villages, as well as in the big cities. The British Government thinks that it is important to amuse people, and to amuse them well. It will be many years we think, before a Canadian Government entertains any such extraordinary idea. Our political psychology is still of the frontier variety; Parliament can spare time to haggle over the price of strawberries, but has never a thought or a penny for the arts.

Life In Death

We were impressed by a picture which appeared in this paper recently, showing General Sir Bernard Montgomery inspecting a wrecked building in the invasion area of France; he was accompanied by a number of officers, and two small French boys. Now where did the boys come from? What were they doing with the great Montgomery? The boys are closer to him than any of the officers, and their demeanour is nonchalant, as though invasions, wrecked buildings, battle and sudden death were everyday occurrences.

Nature has a supreme contempt for our wars. And sometimes Nature makes herself manifest through human beings, though in most of us Nature has been carefully suppressed, and a hodge-podge of superstitions and conventionalities substituted for her dictates. But in boys the voice of Nature is still strong. When a battle comes, they rush to watch it; when a great general arrives, they crowd to his side. As flowers suddenly rear their heads on a battlefield, so boys are likely to pop up in any scene of destruction, climbing over the ruins, and admiring the heroes at close quarters. In a scene of death, they are the promise of life.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Princeton University's director of public opinion research says that 27,000,000 adult Americans don't know that the Japs took the Philippines. Although this is everybody's war many ardent patriots take slight interest in what is actually happening. Just one of the defects of democracy.

When there is any doubt about the outcome of a battle the Germans lie vigorously about it, but when they are definitely winning or losing they tell the truth. The truthful note in their communiques from Normandy show us how they have sized up the situation there.

An Opportunity For Canada

(By BRUCE HUTCHISON)

ONE of the little-noted but fundamental economic decisions of our time is that the vast, neglected continent of South America must be industrialized. To this decision the government and business leaders of the United States have fully subscribed and they are preparing to carry it out after the war. Now Canada is invited to take part in the Inter-American Development Commissions, which will work for the development of industry and the creation of markets throughout South America. Canada cannot afford to reject the invitation.

Until recent times the accepted theory of United States business was that the development of industry in foreign countries would not aid but would damage American business. If foreigners produced the goods that the United States produced then, it was argued, foreign countries would reduce their imports from American factories. The same theory was generally accepted also in Canada and in most large exporting countries.

The fallacy of this reasoning has long been clear to economists, is demonstrated by actual experience and confirmed beyond doubt by the figures of world trade. These show that industrialized countries are the heaviest importers of goods. Even though they make more goods themselves than they could make before they were industralized, they always want still more than they can make. The living standard of their people rises with increased production at home, their purchasing power increases and their people demand and can afford foreign goods. That is why the greatest volume of trade in the world moves between industralized countries—across the Canadian-United States border, for example.

At a recent conference between business leaders from 21 South American nations and from the United States, held in New York, these facts were frankly recognized. Not only businessmen from the United States but officials of the Washington government declared that the industrialization of South America would open huge new markets for American goods.

NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER, head of the Washington government bureau which has been seeking to improve relations between the United States and South America, outlined the essential facts as follows:

"It is becoming ever clearer that the best method by which we can promote a sustained and healthy expansion of foreign trade is to aid undeveloped regions build up sound industries of their own....The evidence is unmistakable that the United States would be wise to encourage industrial development not only in her own undeveloped regions but in other nations as well. We have learned that when we help other peoples build healthy industries we have them as better customers for America."

Speaking as one of the chief businessmen of the United States, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, strongly endorsed these views, as did Senator Walter F. George, chairman of the U.S. Senate finance committee.

The decision of the United States to aid South America in its industrial development, rather than to regard it as a backward area to be exploited as a cheap and easy market, will rapidly alter the trade currents of the western hemisphere. South America is one of the richest areas in natural resources in the world and it can become one of the largest markets in the world. Of this market Canada can hope to secure a substantial share, if it participates in the development of South America's purchasing power, if it vigorously presses the sale of its goods, and if it is willing to accept payment, at least to a large extent, in South American goods.

It is vital that our government, businessmen and labour leaders should hold always in mind the basic facts of Canada's economy — facts which will not change whatever form of government we establish. Our prosperity is built on a relatively few exports from a relatively few highly-specialized industries. We have created the second highest living standard in the world by developing our peculiar resources, which are limited in variety, by selling our special products in the world at the lowest possible price, and by importing the goods we cannot produce except at high, uneconomic cost.

Roughly, 75 per cent of our exports go to the United States and Britain, but these are not sufficient to maintain our economy. It is the remaining 25 per cent of our exports which spell the difference between prosperity and depression in Canada, the difference between full employment and unemployment. The 25 per cent is, in fact, the jam on our bread.

THESE vital exports go to countries all over the world and each item is relatively small. If we could increase the existing exports to each of our small customers the total difference would be enormous and would assure the prosperity of our great industries. Indeed, to maintain anything like our present wartime standard of living and employment, to cushion the readjustments of peace, we must expand these markets, since many of the artificial markets of wartime, as the government has lately warned us, will disappear.

South America offers us great opportunities of trade. In 1939 we exported only $16 million dollars worth of goods to that continent, only 1.8 per cent of our total exports, and we imported from it $21 millions. Our sales to South America were roughly a third of our exports to the continent of Europe, which totalled $57.9 millions in that year. Obviously if the total imports of South America can be raised even by a small fraction, and the purchasing power of its people increased by a few dollars a month per capita, we can hope to sell there many times our former exports.

Canada should certainly accept the invitation to join the United States and the South American nations in the development of South American industry and commerce. We have already made a start ourselves through our trade commissioners and our new legations in the chief South American capitals. We must go much further, in co-operation with our neighbours, now that the prosperity of South America is recognized as vitally important to our own.

REALLY MEAN

There was no doubt about it—the theatrical magnate was angry.

"Don't ever mention the name of that low-down double-crossing twister of a leading lady!" he said.

"I had no idea she was that sort," replied his friend.

"Why, that girl's so mean, she not only pulls the wool over your eyes, but it's 90 per cent cotton!"

What Price A Bull?

(LONDON FREE PRESS)

AT the Ontario Agricultural College, at Guelph, last week, a crowd of 700 members of the Ontario Shorthorn Club greeted with cheers and considerable enthusiasm the appearance of a compact young bull, Uppermill Royal, recently imported from Scotland at a cost of $18,400. The money has been supplied by private funds so that the question of use of public funds was not involved. The problem was simply one of the relationship between the price of a single animal and the results to be obtained.

Senator Duncan Marshall, who some years back ran into criticism from certain quarters when he brought to the O.A.C. Millhills Ransom for which he had paid $15,000, insisted then, and still insists that it is not the price of a bull which should be thought of but the price of "education for the farmer and breeder." To him it seems a fair assumption that sums of this nature are mere fleabites compared with the possible benefits to the thousands of Ontario farmers. Prof. R. G. Knox, head of the animal husbandry division of the O.A.C., in introducing Uppermill Royal to the club, stated that his aim in bringing the bull to Canada was to mate him with O.A.C. females—descendants of old Ransom—thereby producing, so he hoped, a few world champion sires. He believed the blood lines of the two imported bulls would mesh into a perfect blend of championship calibre. He admitted however, that the axiom of all breeders "you can never tell anything about a bull until you see his calves" would apply in this case and in all cases. We must wait two years to see what this choice animal from Perthshire is actually worth to the Shorthorn world.

Buying a high-quality, well-bred bull is on a par with other forms of research work, and should be encouraged, if only as a gamble with improvement and progress. Industry, and the National Research Council, spend large sums in trying out this and that new method in the hope of reaching industrial, medical or some other form of efficiency. The same rule applies with farming. The O.A.C. corresponds to the laboratory of industry or the Research Council. It is quite as justified in experimenting with animals, grains and pastures as the Council is in the affairs of industry.

If the Ontario farmer is to get his share of our post-war export trade it can only be by selling quality products. Anything that can be done to raise the quality level is a sound investment, not only for the farmer but for the nation. It is not what you pay for a bull, but what that bull is worth years later in progeny, and in the educational value of his stock. Seeing is believing. Seeing bigger prices for high quality products is usualy an incentive to improving one's own products.

A Defence Of The Senate

(LETHBRIDGE HERALD)

CONSERVATIVES have frequently complained that the Government does not give the Senate enough to do. But now a Conservative morning paper which suggests that the Senators "protest against the policy which keeps them idle", alleged that "according to men in a position to know, there is hardly a member of the Upper House who ever takes the trouble to examine a bill."—Toronto Star.

The Senate, because its Hansard isn't wasting paper with long-winded speeches, is under pretty steady criticism from elements that try to create the impression that it doesn't do anything at all. In the little paragraph in the Star, where the statement is made that there "is hardly a member of the Upper House who ever takes the trouble to examine a bill" there is evidence that ignorance characterizes much of the criticism of the Senate. Legislation, whether it is in the form of a public or private bill, gets closer scrutiny in the Senate than anywhere else. Many a measure that has come over from the House of Commons has often been so much revamped that it hardly looked like the orginal, and all because a Senate committee checked it closely and found weaknesses in it. Actually the Senate does much of its important work in committee—where there is no Hansard, and few, if any, reporters to record its doings there and consequently the public forms the opinion that the Senate is a valueless body.

Undoubtedly the Senate could work more than it does, but the fault lies with the other House of Parliament and not the Senate. Unless legislation is passed from the lower to the upper chamber fairly steadily there is nothing for the Senate to do, for no government measure starts off in the Senate. For over three months now the House of Commons has been talking, talking, talking on war appropriations, and practically all other legislation is blocked until that measure gets through. In relation to it the Senate hasn't been idle, for it has studied the appropriations in a cross-questioning of the War Ministers before its Finance Committee. If a legislative body is judged by the amount of space debate occupies in Hansard then the Senate isn't to be compared with the House of Commons. In one place many members seem to talk for the purpose of seeing what they said in print; in the other they don't waste time talking to the galleries—and to Hansard; they conduct business expeditiously, but never neglect to give close study to every measure submitted to it. The Senate appears a waste of money to some critics, and wholly because there is a waste of time in the other House.

Dangerous Doctrines

British newspapers, and some Canadian, seem disturbed over a statement by Mr. Churchill with respect to Spain. Churchill said:

"We do not include in our program of world renovation any forcible action against any government whose internal form of administration does not come up to our ideas".

Liberals and radical writers are especially incensed with this, and the Winnipeg Free Press calls it "very dangerous doctrine indeed".

It may be dangerous doctrine in certain special circumstances, but wouldn't the opposite doctrine be dangerous, too? It is easy to argue that if governments in Spain, or Bulgaria, or Romania, or Turkey, started doing things in those countries that we didn't like, we ought to interfere. But supposing the Government or administration that set out to do things we didn't like, which didn't "come up to our ideas," happened to be in Russia, would we interfere there, too? We might; but then again we might not; and if we didn't, all our fine theory would amount to is that we stood prepared to bully the weak, but not the strong.

That, a dishonest, opportunist policy, would hardly be calculated to keep peace. — Ottawa Journal.

An Ambassador's Reward

The earldom which the King has been pleased to bestow on his Ambassador at Washington is a recognition of the sincerity and devotion with which Lord Halifax has applied himself to the most difficult task in British diplomacy and the success which has crowned his efforts.

The death of Philip Kerr, the Marquess of Lothian, at an anxious moment in the war, before British and American relations were cemented by the common purpose which binds them today, left the crucial Washington post vacant in the midst of the most delicate negotiations, and posed the problem of finding the man fitted to succeed him.

It need not be pretended that the choice of Lord Halifax was hailed in Washington or by the American press. Even that section of the press most likely to be friendly to any British envoy was guarded, although it expressed gratification that the Washington post was regarded as important enough to warrant the dispatch of the Foreign Secretary to fill it.

Lord Lothian's tenure of Lutyens' handsome Embassy had brought to an end an era of diplomacy long out of touch with the realities of the day, and at which Washington had long chafed. It was feared that the appointment of the man who had been Viceroy of India, Leader of the House of Lords and Lord Privy Seal portended a return to the more traditional usages of diplomacy. And his recent close connections with Neville Chamberlain were hard to down in those critical days.

That Lord Halifax has downed them no one will deny today. His profound sincerity and the depths of his convictions have impressed themselves wherever he has appeared throughout the United States. The responsibilities of his Washington career have taken their anxious toll of him, and the war has laid its hand [illegible] upon his family. Throughout the most difficult personal crises Lord Halifax has unflinchingly pursued his duty to his country, and he has well merited the respect of America and the high reward of the nation he serves.

A Bible Message

And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years: and let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also. And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth, and to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good.

And the evening and the morning were the fourth day. (Gen. 1: 14-19.)

The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation. (Ps. 24: 1-5.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Gerard was Aunt Matilda's favorite nephew and she was planning to send him a birthday gift.

"What did you give him last year?" asked her companion.

"A cheque," said Auntie, "and, poor boy, he told me he couldn't find words with which to thank me."

"And what are you giving him this year?"

"A dictionary!"

A man and woman were talking about letter writing.

"Ah," said the man, "you women can never write a letter without a postscript."

"Oh, yes, we can," she replied. "I will write one to you and let you see."

A few days later the man received a letter from her, and at the end was written:

"P.S.—What did I tell you?"

The evacuees were billeted on the top floor of a hotel. Coming out of their bedroom they searched everywhere for a staircase, but could find nothing but a dark lift shaft. The gate was open, so Liz stepped forward. Her friend peered down into the darkness.

"You all right, Liz?" she called.

"Yus," came a feeble reply. "But mind the first step; it ain't 'alf a steep 'un!"

"What is the most useful creature in the world to mankind?" asked the teacher.

"A hen, sir!" replied Freddie.

"A hen," echoed the teacher. "How do you make that out"

"We can eat it before it is born, and after it is dead!" exclaimed the boy.

Letter To The Editor

RUSH HOURS IN STORES

Sir,—Following the letter written to you, signed Co-operation, which you published in tonight's paper, I would like to add that not only is it hard for the war worker to shop between 4.30 and 5.30 p.m., but at noon between 12.00 and 12.30 p.m. as well. We factory workers are at work before stores open in the morning, and as a result have to shop on the way home at noon or after work.

I think housewives, even though they are busy with families, should make an effort to do their shopping during the in-between hours of the morning and afternoon. It would not only help we workers but would relieve storekeepers as well.—Yours,

RUSHED FACTORY WORKER.

Princess Seeks Girl Guides' Cooking Badge

NEW YORK, June 16 (CP)—Britain's Royal family is experiencing mealtime difficulties these days because 14-year-old Princess Margaret Rose is working for her Girl Guide's cooking badge, Mrs. John Corbett of Kingston, Ont., deputy commissioner of the Girl Guides of Canada, reported today.

Mrs. Corbett, recently returned from a three-months visit to Britain, told in an interview of visiting the Queen who remarked that in addition to the usual wartime difficulties with rationed foods, the Royal family had to eat the Princess' practice meals.

Mrs. Corbett is visiting New York in connection with a two-day semi-annual meeting of the Western Hemisphere committee of the Girl Guides, opening today, which will be attended by Girl Scout and Girl Guide representatives from Canada, the United States and Brazil.

Discussing her visit with Queen Elizabeth, Mrs. Corbett said she spent a half hour alone with the Queen in her private sitting room in Buckingham Palace, discussing Girl Guide and Girl Scout activities. The Queen, she said, was "awfully interested in our work throughout the hemisphere."

Queen Is Patron

The Queen is patron of the British Girl Guides and 18-year-old Princess Elizabeth is a vice-patron and a Sea Ranger, the organization for older girls. Princess Margaret Rose is an ordinary Girl Guide who up until the time Mrs. Corbett left London, had not received her cook's badge.

While abroad, Mrs. Corbett conferred with youth leaders of many coupntries, some of them now under Axis domination, and studied Girl Guide plans for aiding in the rehabilitation of Europe. She said the Girl Guide and Girl Scout programs for the countries of Europe will have to be simplified because "we will be dealing with children who have forgotten how to play, with children who have grown up too soon."

The program in Europe in the post-war period will have to provide mental rest and relaxation and in some cases mental cures, she said.

While in England, Mrs. Corbett spent some time with her husband, a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian artillery.

Shell-fire Demolishes Chateau Headquarters Of Newspapermen

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIANS IN FRANCE, June 16—(CP Cable)—Canadian war correspondents and officers and men of the public relations unit of the Canadian 3rd Division on the Normandy beachhead were heavily shelled for 20 minutes Tuesday by German 88-MM. guns and driven from the old chateau which had been press headquarters for less than 48 hours.

The chateau was set on fire by the shells pounding into it and most of our kit was lost. By a miracle, none of our unit was seriously wounded.

Several of our men were treated for slight shrapnel wounds, another for shell shock and a correspondent injured his foot leaping from a second storey window.

This incident climaxed a hectic week of bombing, shelling and sniping in the beachhead and it was the narrowest escape any of us has had in France.

Lose 2 Typewriters.

We now are trying to get a new kit together and the loss of two typewriters, which to a war correspondent are what Bren guns are to fighting soldiers, was one of the worst blows of all.

We had moved into the chateau last Sunday. It was set in a grove of trees only a few miles behind the Canadian front and it appeared to be a comparatively quiet base from which to work.

Some of us were catching up on our sleep late in the morning and others were waiting for lunch when a couple of shells burst a few hundred yards away. There had been a fair amount of shelling at various places in which we had been, and nobody was alarmed.

Then one shell crumped in the trees nearby. I jumped out of the blankets, pulled on a few bits of clothing over my pyjamas and ran out of range and a shell hit the chateau right in the centre and set fire outside the hall.

Gasoline tins on the ground were set ablaze and in a minute the building was flaming and smoking. In a shower of debris and plaster those of us on the ground floor raced for slit trenches among the trees as a salvo from at least three guns crashed into the grove.

Jumped From Window.

Charlie Lynch from Halifax, of Reuters News Agency, Joe Willicombe of International News Service, and Capt. Bill Cornforth of Quebec City, who had been up all night watching the bombing of the city of Caen by heavy R.A.F. planes, were asleep on the second floor when the shell hit. Matthew Halton of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was working there too. They had to jump 15 feet from window, but were able to get some of their kit out.

Willcombe injured his left foot in the jump and is hobbling around now on a crutch.

L. S. B. Shapiro of Montreal, of North American Newspaper Alliance, came downstairs, heading for a slit trench as flames swept up the staircase. Ralph Allen of the Toronto Globe and Mail was on the ground floor when the first shell hit and made it to a foxhole all right.

It was a bad 20 minutes during which at least a shell a minute landed around us.

Took Pictures.

Every officer of the Press Relations unit who was there conducted himself admirably. Other ranks included Pte. Elgin Monk, London, Ont., our game little cook, and Pte. Dave Farrow, North Bay, Ont.

Members of the Canadian Army film unit there included Lieut. Don Grant, Windsor, Ont. Those of them who had cameras with them during the shelling took pictures.

William Stewart, another C.P. war correspondent, from Rivere du Loup, Que., Marcel Ouimet of C BC, and Ronald Clark of the British United Press, were away from the camp at the time.

They returned to discover we were gone and the chateau shattered and on fire.

Stewart, Clark, Shapiro and I, who had our kit in the room which was hardest hit, were cleaned out.

I lost my cherished binoculars, my credentials, and our files, and the rest of our kit, which we had worked on for so long before sailing to France was blown to bits or burned.

We are going around the beachhead now like a group of blitz victims, pinching ourselves to make sure we are still alive. The front line really moved in on our press headquarters.

Lt. Astor Missing

LONDON, June 16 — (CP) — Lieut. Gavin Astor, 26, son of Col. J. J. Astor, owner of the London Times, is reported missing in action. No details as to the front on which he was serving were disclosed. He is a nephew of Lady Astor.

Citizenship Heads I.O.D.E. Endeavors

PORT ARTHUR, June 16—(CP)—Mrs. J. S. Delahaye of Kingston, Ont., convener of citizenship, told the National Council of Women here to day that training in the ideals and practice of good citizenship is one of the chief functions of the council.

Mrs. F. W. Bates of Regina, in her report on the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, said the I.O.D.E. had 940 Chapters with a membership of 34,000 and that $935,286 had been spent this year on war work. Civilian relief was also sent to Britain.

Mrs. G. E. Lewis of Toronto gave the report of the National Council of the Y.W.C.A. The work of the organization of King's Daughters and Sons was outlined by Mrs. R. S. Logan of Montreal.

Nurse Shortage Outlined To W.I.

MARMORA, June 16 — (ENS) — The home of Mrs M. Kouri was used for the monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute when, in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. Green, the chair was taken by Past President Mrs H. W. Sabine. The attendance numbered 19. It was decided to donate $10 to the Salvation Army for the purchase of material to be later made into articles for overseas. The report of the Sick Committee was given by Mrs. P. Gordon. The guest speaker of the evening was Miss Edith Young, superintendent of Nursing at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

Miss Young gave an address on the nursing profession, describing the methods followed at the hospital she represented and the present day requirements of those entering the profession. She mentioned the recently adopted eight-hour day and six-day week, and said that plans were under way for students to have more recreational facilities. She said that her visits to the various branches of the Women's Institute had proven interesting and she hoped as a result there would be daughters of members and others who would make application to take up the course.

Mesdames H. W. Sabine and J. Gordenier reported on the district annual recently held at Wellman's Corners. A contest was put on by Mrs. H. W. Sabine, with honors going to Mrs. P. Gray.

Council Stops Wood Pile For Coming Year

LAKEFIELD, June 16—(ENS)—With prospects of considerable supply of wood available throughout the country, this fall and winter, Lakefield council at a session this week decided against stocking its woodyard for the citizens' emergency use.

Clerk E. H. Northey reported of 104 cords purchased last year only six were left. However, Property Commissioner Grant stated that in cleaning up the park he had his men cut out some 13 cords which will be used in the Town Hall so that together with the 6 cords left in the woodyard it is unlikely any will have to be purchased for the municipal building.

Harry Drummond in a letter stated he was making a further appeal on his assessment and along with his letter was one from A. B. Gray, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, stating that Mr. Drummond had complained to him. Mr. Gray wondered if Mr. Drummond couldn't be allowed additional time on his appeal. The clerk was instructed to answer the Deputy Minister to the effect that Mr. Drummond had been allowed the customary time and was under no discrimination whatsoever.

Fix Up Park.

William Watson was again hired to look after the park at $50 a month and has already repaired and painted the tables. Plank tops were ordered to repair two of the park docks and a book will be supplied for the registration of all guests.

Ernest Graham and Patrick Collins hired to repair the badly leaking drain in Memorial Hall for the sum of $80, completed the job satisfactorily. W. C. Grant reported and said that while the guarantee was only for one year, the job should last for five, unless ruined by the chopping out of ice during the early spring months.

Chief Garnet Samis reported his busiest month with three traffic and two other court cases, and a series of juvenile crimes involving five youths settled.

Twenty-five copies of the auditor's report were ordered. Two men will be hired to burn and level the dump which has become almost unusable owing to the careless dumping of refuse on the driveway.

Present at the meeting were Reeve Gordon Scriver, Councillors George Charlton, George Graham, W. C. Grant, Reg Doubt and Clerk E. H. Northey.

Accounts were passed as follows: Chief Samis, half salary, $51.20; Hydro-Electric, hall, $13.12; streets, $134.03; E. H. Northey, stationery, $10.25; N. A. Moore, library lumber, $1.28; street labor, $81.25; Wm. Northey, May salary, $50; council sessional allowance, $60; W. J. Charlton, road rent, 1943, $10; N. A. Moore, lumber, roads, $42.86; street labor, $26.60; Stuart Peel, hall lawn, $8.05; Percy Hockaday, grading, $10; Central Garage, grader repairs, $5.25; Lakefield News, advertising and printing, $15.35; Hydro-Electric, hall, $9.22; streets, $135.30; Charles Hemsley, pipe for streets; S. J. Charlton, Lloyd's insurance, $125.25; Graham and Collins, hall roof, $80; Peterborough Welding Works, welding grader $1.75; Chief Samis, car expense, $15; Stan Richardson, gravel, streets, $187.90 — total, $2,667.91.

Pearl Harbor Defences Were Incomplete On Dec. 7

WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—The colonel in charge and the German-born contractor of defences at Pearl Harbor were criticized by the House of Representatives Military Committee for delays which, the report said, left the installations incomplete and the way open for the Japanese.

While the work fell behind, the committee said yesterday, Col. Theodore Wyman, Jr., of the army engineers, accepted lavish entertainment from the contractor, Hans Wilhelm Rohl, in parties that involved liquor "by the case" and "cheap, commercial party girls."

It said the colonel was at Rohl's home in Hawaii when the Japanese struck Pearl Harbor, and that he rushed to his office "in civilian clothes and in a drunken condition."

A Bit Unusual.

"How did it so happen," the committee asked "that after nearly 30 years without taking the steps necessary to becoming a citizen, although meantime enjoying the fruits of government contracts, he (Rohl) suddenly began using every possible effort to become naturalized in order that he might be permitted to go to Hawaii just a little less than three months before the attack on Pearl Harbor?"

Rohl was naturalized in September and the Japanese hit Pearl Harbor in December.

Referring to the award to Rohl's company of some $125,000,000 in contracts which included work in Hawaii and construction of a Far Eastern air route by way of Christmas Island, Canton, Nandi, New Caledonia and Australia, the committee commented:

"It is exceedingly difficult...to to comprehend how, at so crucial a time and when the necessity for the utmost secrecy and highest efficiency was paramount...a man known to be a German alien was selected and actually put in charge of the planning, specifications and performance of the contract....

"It is not simply a matter of conjecture...that had the permanent aircraft warning stations (at Pearl Harbor) been operating on Dec. 7, 1941, the approach of the Japanese planes would have been detected."

In Los Angeles, where he still is in business, Rohl issued a statement through his attorney saying that an official report May 17, 1944, by Lieut.-Gen. Richardson, commanding at Pearl Harbor, "completely exonerates me."

Westclox Seconds Nose Out Quakers

Westclox Seconds won one of the closest battles of the season in the Girls' Softball League last night when the Baby Bens nosed out the Quakers 5 to 3 in a battle that was in doubt until the final inning.

A. McIvor on the hill top for the Westclox kept the Quaker hits well scattered and fanned nine of the losers while Gertrude Masters for the Quakers also pitched effectively and struck out five.

Westclox won the game with a three-run rally in the third after the Quakers had broken out in front with a run in the second. During the last six innings the two clubs could score only two runs each so that the one big frame settled the argument. It was a well-played game and run off in good time with both teams showing some good fielding.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Bob Hendry, chairman of the Friday night tuornaments tells us that he expects 32 rinks out this evening. That being the case we suggest to all to be out on time, 7:30 p.m.

The ladies' games committee has asked us to print the following rule regarding their schedule games: "If a skip is absent, the vice-skip must skip the ring, but she choose a skip to play vice."

We wish to correct an error regarding the ladies' open tournament. It is dated for Wednesday, June 28, and not June 31 as reported last night.

As yet we have no entry for the singles competition in the local provincial play offs. We have two for the doubles and two for the rinks.

George Gimblett, Judge S. Smoke, C. Williamson and S. Williams are playing at the Boulevard Lawn Bowling Club, Toronto, on Saturday.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Girls' Softball League will have the stage to itself tonight as there is no game scheduled in the Men's loop. The postponed game between Soldiers and St. Peter's would have been shifted to tonight were it not for the fact that the Military Training Centre team requested at the beginning of the season that they should not be listed for Friday night games, owing to week-end leaves. So that leaves the softball picture so far as tonight is concerned entirely up to the girls and the game carded for this evening at the Bowl should be an interesting battle all the way. It brings together the fast-travelling Brinton outfit and the much-improved Johnson Motors and will give a good line on the chances of the two clubs to come through and win the intermediate title. Brintons won the intermediate honors last season and in 1943 and are back for this campaign with another smart team. The Outboard Marine squad have been playing good ball and are confident of handing the carpet-makers a surprise when they clash tonight. Helen Mark will likely do the pitching for the Johnson team while Doris Walker will probably get the call from the Brintons.

* * * * * *

The Brinton team will be back tomorrow night for their second game in two evenings when they will meet the powerful Aircraft team in a postponed game. The two were to have met a week ago last Wednesday but the fixture was called off for the time being because of the service of intercession and has now been staged for Saturday evening. It should be a hummer. Brintons gave the leading Westclox a real scare when they met them earlier in the season and in fact were not beaten until the final inning and they hope to make it even hotter for the Aircraft girls when they meet at the Bowl Saturday evening. Marg Selkirk may be on the firing line for the Aircrafters with Marg Smith or Helen Mark doing the gunning for the intermediate champs. This will be the first Saturday evening game of the season in the girls' league and it should attract a real crowd of fans.

League Tightens Up

It looks as if there may be quite a battle yet for playoff positions in the City Softball League. While Switchgear have got first place pretty well sewed up and Plazas look reasonably sure to grab off the second slot it begins to appear as if there may be a red-hot tussle down the stretch for the third and fourth positions between St. Peter's, the Soldiers and the U.E.W. team. The Military Training Centre has shown a marked improvement in recent games and now the Union outfit who made a ten-strike in landing Pitcher McPherson of Millbrook may have dug up the ace to put them in a playoff position. With the big slow baller pitching for them the Union crowd have given both the leading Switchgear and the second-place Plazas a real argument in this week's games and they are liable to start in on some of the other clubs and pick off a few wins on the form they have shown in their last two starts. All of which adds materially to the interest in the league.

* * * * * *

"When Ruth left the game he had amassed more home runs in a life total than any other slugger in the game," says Bill Westwick in the Ottawa Journal. "One record after the other continues to fall in the passing years, but it will probably be a long time before anyone surpasses the lifetime total of 714 homers chalked up by Ruth. The odd individual player has challanged his seasonal mark of 60, and Jimmy Foxx, closest in that respect, might have gone on to equal or pass the Bambino's lifetime record. Foxx, who passed the 500 mark, made his most dangerous seasonal bid in 1932 with 58 four-masters. Big, with imposing power, he pushed on as a potential challenger until sinus trouble forced him out of the game. With the passing of Foxx from the baseball scene, only Mel Ott remains in the home run running. He's passed the 400 mark and is belting them out with astonishing consistency this season, but there's little chance of him ever passing or equalling Ruth's mark. Hank Greenberg, the former Detroit powerhouse, might have moved up to around the second slot but for the war. Greenberg had collected 247 circuit wallops when he moved into the army. Joe DiMaggio was another who might eventually have become a contender. DiMaggio figured to have nine or ten good years left when the army drafted him. DiMag might come back to challenge some records and set a few in other departments, but the odds are all against him ever menacing the homer mark. Greenberg is past the 30 mark and his baseball future is a question mark. Foxx is gone and the amazing Mel Ott won't be around long enough as an active player to make up the gap."

Nine For The Sox

Those Boston Red Sox are certainly stepping high, wide and handsome. Yesterday Joe Cronin's team, hot as anything in either loop right now hung up their ninth win in succession when they triumphed over the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 1 and climbed to within half a game of the league leadership. Tex Hughson ace of the Boston pitching staff held the A's to six well scattered blows in registering his ninth win of the season as against only two defeats. Judging by the way in which both Hughson and the Red Sox are going just now the Boston right-hander seems headed for a record pitching season. Meanwhile in the National League yesterday another gentleman who is pitching mighty fine ball and getting very little to show for it in the win column proceeded to demonstrate once more that most of his luck is of the wrong kind. He was Tomas Delacruz, former International League star who held the Pirates to four hits and yet was beaten by the only run of the game scored by the Corsairs in the ninth frame. Max Butcher pitched for the winners and the Cincinnati club got eight hits but could not drive a single run over the counting station.

* * * * * *

Washington Senators made it three out of four from the slipping New York Yanks last night when Mickey Haefner held the New Yorkers to seven scattered hits and the Senators nosed out the Yanks 3 to 2 with Rookie Joe Page assuming the loss. Cleveland evened the series with the Detroit Tigers when they came home in front in a marathon game, slipping the winning run over in the 13th inning when Hockett doubled and Paul O'Dea singled in the million dollar marker. Dizzy Trout went the full distance for the Bengals only to be beaten on end while relief hurler Heving got credit for the Cleveland win. In the National League the Giants climbed to a third-place tie with the Cincinnati Reds by walloping the Dodgers 9 to 2. Harold Gregg was in a Santa Claus mood for the Bums issuing eleven bases on balls and Manager Mel Ott of the Giants helped in his downfall by clipping his 17th homer of the season to go still further in front in the home run parade.

League Leaders Defeat Union Entry

One big inning enabled the Switchgear to roll up their eighth win of the season in a City League battle at Riverside Park last night when they triumphed over the hapless U.E.W. Club 6 to 2.

Manager Chambers' unbeaten league leaders after being held off the score sheet for four innings by Mac McPherson, the new slowball pitcher of the Union team, bunched hits and got the benefit of a couple of breaks in the fifth inning to score five runs and that was ample margin, with Freddy Elliott coming through with another nice pitching effort, after a rather shaky start.

Elliott was touched for five hits and a pair of runs in the first two innings but he put the brakes on effectively after that, allowing only three scattered singles and nary a run in the last seven innings.

McPherson pitched good ball for the losers and outside that one bad frame had the hard-hitting Switchgear effectively controlled, but as in the Plaza game, slow fielding of bunts was a factor in his downfall.

There was a lot of nice fielding during the engagement. Murduff in left field for the U.E.W. had a nice running catch that robbed Jack Ashmore of a possible homer, Quigley at short made a one-handed grab of a low liner and went up for another to start a double play and Platt made some fine plays at second. For the winners Jack Playford roamed far and wide in centre field to pull down nine flies for a season's record and Holmes and Tompkins at short and third fielded snappily.

Switchgear went out in order in the first couple of innings but U.E.W. after wasting two hits in the first inning came back in the second to score twice. With one away Patterson got a life when Ashmore missed Tompkins' throw. Jackson flied out but McPherson singled to centre and Platt to the same field to fill the bases and Quigley blasted a hot shot through Holmes to send in Patterson and McPherson. Girard rolled to Ashmore for the third out.

Only two Switchgear players, Tompkins and McNabb, both on bunts, got on the bases in the first four frames but finally the winners broke through in the fifth, although at that the side might easily have been retired without a run. Brockley started it when he tapped weakly to the box and McPherson fell in trying to field the ball and then threw wide to first to put the runner on second. Holmes drove a fly to left and Murduff was slow going back for the smash and it finally got away from him for a homer, scoring Brockley in front of the hitter and sewing up the game. McNabb was out on a bunt but Elliott

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jockey Ted Atkinson of Toronto rode two more winners at Aqueduct racetrack, New York, yesterday. On Wednesday he had five winners, and altogether this week he's had 12 winning mounts.

Atkinson figures he rode 124 winners before yesterday's program, when a crowd of more than 18,000 placed $1,987,563 through the mutuel machines.

Brooklyn Dodgers released five players yesterday and announced resignation of Ed Staples, assistant to President Branch Rickey. Outfielders Lloyd Waner and John Cooney were given unconditional release; infielder Pat Akenman was sent to Montreal, rookie pitcher Jack Franklin to Montreal and infielder Gil English to Indianapolis.

LAC. Ab Morton of Galt, representing R.C.A.F. No. 1 Manning Depot, won the mile run at the garrison track and field meet at Toronto, finishing in 4:55 with PS. G. Wilson, Toronto Navy, placing second.

JOHN KATAN, big and grim wrestler from Palermo, Ont., who teams up with his chum Bunny Dunlop against the team of Frank Sexton and Toar Morgan next Tuesday in the unprecedented four-man fracas at the Brock St. Arena.

The regular Tag Team Wrestling rules have been voided for this special occasion, and the four big grapplers will all be allowed in the ring all at the same time. Never before have the fans here seen such didoes as are assured for Tuesday night with all restrictions removed and all four mat behemoths in action at once. About the only condition left in is the two out of three falls and the fact that there will be absolutely no time limit. Dunlop and Katan are determined to avenge their defeat by disqualification last week, but Sexton and Toar Morgan make a team that are nearly impossible to beat."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

—By J. R. Scott

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 16 — (CP). — It never seems to fail, but when you write that something is the oldest, youngest, biggest, smallest, and so on, in the country, something always pops up to go it one better. Thats what happened in the case of this corner's comment on the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club, which claims to be the oldest in Canada and held its 50th anniversary on June 10.

Now an old-time tennis fan crops up in Winnipeg to say that the 'Peg club has been in operation at least since 1885—nine years before the apparent formation of the Toronto club — and possibly longer. The Manitoba lawn tennis championships were held in 1885, so the club probably was formed before that.

The same fan says it is his opinion that the Victoria Tennis Club is the oldest in Canada. The first tourney was held there in 1883, and records show the club was formed in April, 1886. That apparently makes it one year younger than the Winnipeg outfit.

The whole thing may cause as much research as the hockey Hall of Fame did.

Versatile virtuoso:

Lou Adelman, former star football centre from Winnipeg and eminent shower room basso, has blossomed forth as a song writer, reports Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning. Lou fathered a little ditty called "Waiting," that was sung by Miss Gwen Bradshaw over a national network.

Herb adds: "From all reports Mr. Adelman's 'Waiting' was a pretty good effort for a start, with a very sorrowful message about the young ladies waiting for their young gents to return from overseas."

Lou also has dramatic abilities, as he proved earlier this spring at a Winnipeg press club meeting. He was just wasting his time at football.

All bets off:

Next thing we know the bookies will be forming a "society for the prevention of cruelty to and misunderstanding of downtrodden bookmakers." They've been getting a bit of a kicking around recently in Toronto and Vancouver. One unfortunate had a wing broken at Toronto's Dufferin Park the other day when he was forcibly "ejected" from the premises. In Vancouved the coppers are carrying the war right to the enemy's home grounds, as they stand guard in pool rooms, cigar stores, and other Joe's places where the bookies operate during race meetings. It's getting so now you have to pay your way into the track so you can lose an honest dollar.

Red Sox Take 9th Straight Defeat A's 5-1

By The Associated Press

Boston Red Sox joined St. Louis Browns in running the longest winning streak of the season when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 5-1, yesterday for their ninth straight victory.

Tex Hughson, Red Sox ace righthander, gained his ninth victory to bring his team to within half a game of the league leading Brownies. Hughson thus ties Hal Newhouser of the Tigers for the most victories in the American League. He allowed the Athletics six hits.

The New York Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 9-2 at night to move into a tie with the Cincinati Reds for third place. Mel Ott smashed his 17th homer in the first inning with two on.

Washington made it three out of four over the New York Yankees, with Mickey Haefner outpitching Joe Page 3-2.

Rookie Paul O'Dea's single in the 11th inning scored Oris Hockett to give Cleveland a 3-2 win over Detroit.

Pittsburg defeated Cincinnati 1-0, scoring the lone run in the ninth on Bob Elliott's single scoring Jeep Handley.

The Philadelphia Phillies came from behind twice to win from the Boston Braves, 5-4. Ford Mullen's single with two out scored Jimmy Wasdell, who had doubled to start the eighth.

Invasion Fails To Halt Historic Races

By ALLAN NICKELSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEWMARKET, England, June 16—(CP)—Hycilla, owned by William Woodward, won the Oaks classic today at odds of 8 to 1.

Monsoon and Kannabis were second and third in the mile-and-a-half test for three-year-old fillies. The co-favorites Tudor Maid and Picture Play were out of the money.

Britain's fifth wartime racing season reaches its climax tomorrow with the running of the Derby over Newmarket's historic downs. About 20 are expected to start.

Although it appeared for a while that invasion tenseness would reduce attendance drastically, hundreds of regular race-goers arrived yesterday from London and other centres and accommodation and meals were at a premium.

A Rich Event.

Saturday's Derby will be the richest of any in wartime. The winner will get $27,000 with $3,175 for second and $1,580 for third.

Surprisingly, a filly will start the Derby as the favorite. She is Lord Derby's Garden Path who at a meeting of the big bookmakers in London yesterday was made the choice at odds of 5 to 1.

Harry Wragg home on leave from the Italian front, will ride Garden Path, while Ken Mullins will be up on Growing Confidence, owned by Major David Wills and second favorite at 11 to 2.

Third choice among the bettors is Mustang, due to run in the Derby under the colors of trainer-owned Fred Darling but purchased only yesterday by Mrs. Philip Hill, wife of the British financier and newcomer to racing.

Mustang rose rapidly in betting favor only in the last few days, partly because the name caught the fancy of an air-minded public—the Mustang is a noted United States fighter plane—and because he will be ridden by Britain's perennial jockey champion Gordon Richards.

Many a sentimental bob will be wagered on the only Royal entry, the King's Fair Flint, who will start around 100 to 8.

Davis Beaten In Two Rounds By Armstrong

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, June 16 — (AP) — Henry Armystrong still is one of the best fighters in the business. The former triple champion demonstrated it last night by flattening Al (Bummy) Davis—one-round victor over Lightweight champion Bob Montgomery—in less than two rounds at Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of 16,084 (gross gate $58,822) screamed as Hammerin' Henry from Los Angeles battered the Brooklyn bad boy to the canvas four times, twice in the first round, before Referee Frank Fullam stopped it after 69 seconds of the second stanza. It went into the records as a technical knockout although Davis was stretched full length, flat on his face.

From the start, Armstrong, a master at infighting, pinned Davis against the ropes.

Weaving and ducking, Armstrong kept throwing lefts and rights to Davis' head and body for the first two minutes. Then, unexpectedly, he stepped clear and socked a hard left to the pit of Davis' stomach. Bummy's knees sagged.

A crushing left and right crumpled Davis to the floor. He got up at eight, legs shaking, and was knocked though the ropes. He just managed to get back inside the ring as the bell rang. Many thought he had been counted out.

In the second round Davis went down for a count of four, bounced up and got knocked down again. He started to get up at two, but exhausted fell flat on his face as Fullam called a halt.

"I felt pretty sharp", explained Armstrong later. Both he and Davis weighed 141¾ pounds for the scheduled 10-rounder.

Syracuse Chiefs In The Cellar

By The Associated Press

Syracuse Chiefs finally hit the bottom of the International league standings last night, losing to Montreal 6-2, for their 19th setback in the last 24 games.

They are now tied with Newark Bears, each having won 18 games and lost 28.

Jim Konstanty, winner of eight games, second high in the loop, dropped his sixth decision, largely because of six Chief errors, which gave the Royals five unearned runs.

The league leading Jersey City Giants divided a pair of games with the Rochester Red Wings, the Birds winning the first 2-0 and the Li'l Giants taking the second 4-0. Veteran Bill Trotter outpitched Jersey's Andy Hansen in the opener. Ken Brondell, making his first start after being sent on option by the parent New York Giants, limited the Red Wings to four hits in the nightcap

With Jimmy Gruzdis making four hits, including a home run, the Toronto Maple Leafs trounced the Baltimore Orioles, 14-4, to spoil the Bird's chances of going into first place. Al Jarlett won his ninth game of the year to take honors in that department.

McGeer Stymied Discussing Bank Reserves

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP)—G. G. McGeer (L-Vancouver Burrard) at a meeting yesterday of the Commons Banking Committee made new demands for an early vote on the question of disclosure of inner reserves of the chartered banks.

When W. H. Moore (L-Ontario), chairman, remarked it was the 20th sitting of the committee, Mr. McGeer said the time had been well spent. It would never be possible to say in the future there was no opposition in the banking committee to hidden reserves. He said majorities had the right to rule, but minorities had the right to argue.

Mr. Moore replied: "Every opportunity has been given to the small minority to express its views and will be as long as I am chairman. But the majority has rights and it is the clear wish of the majority to get on with our business."

Out-of-Date

Mr. McGeer said continuation of inner reserves was as out-of-date as the gold standard which now had been completely abandoned. They had done nothing to prevent trade cycles of boom and depression.

The Vancouver member was interrupted frequently as he went on and George McIlraith (L-Ottawa West) said surely a point would arise where the committee could control its own procedure and check repetitious arguments not related to the question of disclosure of inner reserves.

Mr. McGeer said at the appropriate time he proposed to offer an amendment to provide a government guarantee of all bank deposits up to $5,000. He said the existence of inner reserves enables banks to take risks in supporting boom periods, knowing they could sustain losses in a depression. If they had no inner reserves they would have to clamp down on booms.

J. W. Noseworthy (CCF-York South) said there were more important issues, and too much time was devoted to inner reserves. Refusal of the committee to order disclosure of inner reserves would do more to undermine confidence in the banking system than would disclosure.

2 French Squadrons

NEW YORK, June 16 — (CP) — Two R.A.F. Squadrons, consisting entirely of French pilots, "crossed the Channel and made perfect landings" on a newly-built Allied landing strip in Normandy at dawn, the BBC reported yesterday.

R.C.A.F. MAN SHOT DOWN, JOINS PARATROOPERS—Shot down over France, FO. Robinson of Montreal hid in the woods and joined Canadian paratroopers who were among the first to land in France. Their dealings with the Hun were successful, as witness the captured German pistol held by the paratrooper. This picture was taken by Sgt. Dave Reynolds of Toronto, who jumped with the Canadian paratroops on D-Day and made his way back to the beach with his pictures.

Ontario Unit Completes Difficult Task

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, June 16—(CP)—It was their first action, in many ways. It had been everything that a reconnaissance regiment could ask for in a country like Italy. Casualties had been light. Mobility had been maintained and the advance from the Hitler Line and the Malfa River went on.

Maj. A. A. Hugman of Montreal and his officers and men of a squadron of an Ontario Recce regiment had time now after one siege of 72 hours without respite to think and talk about the things that had happened. With the Major were Capt. J. D. Crashley, Oakville, Ont., of another squadron Capt. Charles X. Baker, Toronto and Lieut. G. M. Browm, Brantford, Ont.

Their regiment was in on the advance from the start. In the first day they knocked out two machine-gun posts one heavy mortar post, killed at least 12 Germans and captured at least 50. After crossing the Melfa, Maj. Hugman's three troops filled a valuable role in keeping liaison with infantry battalions on their right and on their left and spying out positions which would stem the establishment of a bridgehead.

That night their recce tanks were withdrawn back across the Melfa in an operation that took 3½ hours under heavy shelling and mortar fire enhanced by bombs from enemy aircraft.

The Melfa recrossed, their advance began again next day. Since then they have tackled jobs like spying out enemy artillery posts for Canadian artillery, routing Germans from their scattered outposts, participating in the advance. They have moved generally across country which, with its high grain and thickly-leafed trees, is far more partial to a defender than an attacker.

One crew remembered four hectic hours near Pofi when they worked under shell and mortar fire to get a tank back in commission. Its track had come off in the mud. The crew included Tr. William Campbell, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

They were with a troop under Lieut. D. J. Chant, Belleville, Ont., which in the first day captured four prisoners, killed six and wounded six of a group of German infantry, and knocked out a mortar position.

When their officer didn't come back from a recce on foot, Sgt. Bill Gardiner, Galt, Ont., and Tr. Stan Uppington, Woodbridge, Ont., went to look for him, came under machine-gun fire from a nest of Germans and retired.

D-DAY BRINGS THREE B.C. FRIENDS TOGETHER—It took the world's greatest sea-borne invasion to bring these three British Columbia friends together. Before the war they worked in the same factory in Trail, B.C. Gunner Alex Williamson of a Canadian artillery regiment, Right, was hit in the army by a sniper's bullet before his assault craft reached the French beachhead. Brought off again, he was transferred to the Royal Canadian Navy destroyer, H.M.C.S. Algonquin, which was joining in the bombardment of the beach. After the battle had died away, Williamson was visited in sick bay by his two friends from Trail. They are, Left, Engineroom Artificer John Dawson, of Kimberley, B.C., and Stoker George Foster, of Nelson, B.C. The picture, taken on D-Day, just off the French coast, was flown to Canada by bomber.

New Exhaustion Disease Hits Workers

CHICAGO, June 16—(AP)—A new exhaustion disease, interesting to everyone who is putting out extra war effort, was reported to the American Medical Association yesterday by Dr. J. M. Nelson of Los Angeles.

The worker gets so tired he is likely to collapse. It comes on suddenly an exhaustion so deep that a person cannot continue any activity for the moment.

That, however, is only the beginning. Muscles waste, become tender and painful and there may be temporary paralysis and loss of weight.

Months of complete rest are required for recovery. And if, before recovery, the patient is not careful to keep from overdoing, the peculiar disease may descend upon him again.

One case was a bus driver, who spent his spare time in a warehouse stacking heavy sacks. In May 1943 the disease hit him. It was February this year before he was able to open and close his hands. At the same time he began to regain weight.

Another type was an active executive, who spent his spare time in lodge work. At a picnic, while playing baseball, he collapsed and was down for months.

War emotions needed watching. Not everyone is able to stand emotions normally, a fact brought out in a study by Doctors Martin G. Vorhause and S. Zachary Orgel of New York City. They found that emotionally immature persons when under emotional strain develop physical disorders, such as abdominal pain, colitis, nausea, stomach pains, constipation and some other diseases not ordinarily associated with emotions.

Believes Allies Face Test In Rommel Line

By LARRY ALLEN

NEW YORK, June 16—(CP)—The world may know soon how long the war in Europe may last. For Germany's High Command says the supreme test will come when the Allied armies hit the "Rommel Reception Line."

That's the name given to the great bastion upon which Nazi Germany bases her hopes of repulsing or holding the Allied invaders.

It's the "Second Atlantic Wall."

As I got the picture from Germans and from the German press while in a German prison camp, this is a powerful chain of "command forts" stretching from Ghent in Belgium to Rennes, due south of Cherbourg. This was the area in which the Germans expected attack, but at Rennes the line presumably connects with Brittany peninsula defences.

I cannot say positively that it was not propaganda, although it did not fit the usual pattern of campaigns to boost home morale or confuse the Allies, but here is how the Germans described the line:

It is composed of vast underground, heavily fortified defences, bristling with thousands of heavy guns and mazes of anti-tank traps.

The line at no point is less than 30 miles and no more than 60 miles inland from the Atlantic coast.

It runs from Ghent to Arras, Beauvais, thence slightly west of Paris along the Seine river, thence southward to Argenton and finally Rennes as the southernmost end.

Inspected by Rommel

A few weeks before the Allies stormed the "fortress of Europe" General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel thoroughly inspected the "Second Atlantic Wall."

He told German newspapermen: "Here the enemy shall not pass. This will be the supreme and crucial test. Every one of these positions must be and will be defended to the last man."

Rommel, ace master of defence for Nazi Germany and nicknamed "the desert fox" because of his brilliant exploits in North Africa, is supported in this view by Western Commander General Field Marshal von Rundstedt.

Even Reichminister for Propaganda Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, writing in his newspaper, Das Reich, last month, finally admitted that "we cannot stop the enemy from landing but we can and we will stop him after he has landed."

Germany's "Second Atlantic Wall" with much accent upon its alleged invincibility, has been topline news in German newspapers ever since the last of April.

Separate School Board Desperate

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP)—The suggestion that Ottawa Separate School Board "might as well fold up" was made as trustees decided last night not to entertain tenders received for the erection of the new Canadian Martyrs' School on Graham avenue but to refer the matter to the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs.

The Board decided not to consider before its July meeting a letter of resignation from Trustee N. A. Reny of Rideau Ward. Trustee Henri Rheaume said he would resign if no financial relief were afforded the Board by next month.

Trustees have protested an increase of 1.98 mills in the Separate School tax rate in Ottawa ordered by the Municipal Affairs Department.

Trustee Leo Durnan said the situation facing the Board has reached such a stage that "we will have to come to a showdown. We should tell the government that we can't keep on with the present working arrangement and that if there isn't some change we will have to close up our whole system of Separate Schools."

"If we were to leave the education of our children to the public school and if the public school ratepayers knew how much their tax rate would have to go up there would be a mighty howl," Mr. Durnan said.

John Bracken Visiting Ridings In Ontario

OTTAWA, June 16—(CP)—John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, will visit Montreal today to fulfill a number of appointments, and will leave for Toronto in the evening, it was announced last night.

Friday he will visit Stratford, Ont., and on Saturday Alliston and Guelph. At Alliston he will attend an agricutural meeting and in the evening wil attend a reunion of graduates of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Monday Mr. Bracken will attend the South Wellington Progressive Conservative Association's nominating convention, and later will visit Sharbot Lake, Ont., to attend the annual meeting of the Frontenac-Addington Progressive Conservative Association.

British Have Edge

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP).—Navy Secretary James Forrestal reported yesterday that the United States' naval task force engaged in the invasion of France included more than 1,300 warships of all types. (Actual number of Royal Navy craft invoved has not been give but the proportion of warships in the invasion armada was three British to one American and the overall proportion, including landing craft, was three British to two American).

EASY WAY TO TREAT SORE, PAINFUL PILES

Here is the chance for every person in Canada suffering from sore, itching, painful piles to try a simple home remedy with promise of a reliable firm to refund the cost of the treatment if you are not satisfied with the results.

Simply go to McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and get a bottle of Hem-Roid and use as directed. Hem-Roid is an internal treatment, easy and pleasant to use and pleasing results are quickly noticed. NOTE: The sponsor of this notice is a reliable firm doing business in Canada for over 20 years. If you are troubled with sore, itching, painful piles, Hem-Roid must help you quickly or the small purchase price will be gladly refunded.—(Advt.)

ALLIES DRIVE INLAND IN FRANCE—Fighting their way across the Cherbourg peninsula, Allied troops captured Carentan (1), a few miles from Cherbourg, great French port. Nazi reports now say they have recaptured the town. Another thrust threatens St. Lo (2), chief enemy communications centre on the peninsula. British and Canadians are moving on Caen (3), capture of which will give them control of a road and railroad. Activity of the French underground in and around Paris has caused the Germans to call for increased "protection forces" by the occupying forces.

Gestapo Chief Faces French Firing Squad

GENEVA, June 16 — (CP-Reuters)—The Swiss newspaper, the Lausanne Gazette, reports that a Gestapo chief named Maj.-Gen. Werner has been captured, sentenced to death and executed by French Partisans near Pontarlier.

The paper saiad all but one of the officers accompanying the German Gestapo chief were killed by machine-gun fire at the time of the capture. One officer escaped.

Subsequently, the paper said, a courtmartial offered to release Werner if he gave a written pledge to free all imprisoned Partisans in the Cote d'Or district.

He refused and was executed, the poper said.

Forbidden also is the operation of an elevator by anyone under 18. The Associations suggest that employers communicate with the Chief Inspector of Factories in all cases where there is any doubt about employing young people.

Lord Davies, Pioneer In Fight Against T.B. Dies In Wales

LLANDINAM, Montgomeryshire, Wales, June 16 (CP-Cable) — Lord Davies, Welsh coal magnate, worker for peace and a pioneer in the fight against tuberculosis died today. He was 64 years old and had suffered cancer of the lung for a considerable time.

The former David Davies, he was created the first Baron Davies in 1932, taking as his title Baron Davies of Llandinam, his birthplace.

Often Visited Canada

Lord Davies had a great fondness for Canada, which he visited on many occasions. When a young man he travelled there extensively and was the only British M.F.H. who ever brought a pack of hounds across the Atlantic to hunt Coyotes on the Canadian prairies.

In the summer of 1940 Lady Davies went to Toronto with her four children, remaining until last April when, on account of the serious illness of her husband, she returned to Wales.

Her two sons, Edward and Islwyn, ho had been at school in Toronto, previously left for England, one to join the Royal Navy and the other the R.A.F.

A daughter, Mary, joined the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service and went to Britain with a detachment in 1943. With another daughter, Jean, she had studied at a Toronto Ladies' College (Havergal).

Lord Davies represented Montgomeryshire as a Liberal from 1906 until 1929 and in 1916 became private secretary to another great Welshman, David Lloyd George. Acceptance of that post interrupted his service in the Great War where he commanded the 14th Battalion of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers.

Lord Davies was a Master of Arts of Cambridge University, president of the National Library of Wales and a prominent member of the council of the University Colleges of Wales. In addition to acting as chairman of a great number of large coal mining companies, he was a director of the Great Western Railway and the Midland Bank.

He was president of the King Edward VII Welsh National Memorial Association, which did so much to reduce the ravages of tuberculosis in Wales.

Probably he was best known for his work in connection with the League of Nations Union of which he was chairman. Also, he was the founder and chairman of the new Commonwealth Society, an offshoot of the League of Nations, which advocated strongly an international police force for preserving the peace of Europe.

In connection with these activities, he was the author of several books—"The Problem of the Twentieth Century," "Nearing Abyss," "Foundations of Victory," published in 1941 and a 1942 book "Facing the Future."

Lord Davies had large estates in both Wales and Scotland. He resided at Plas Danim, Llandinam, where he died.

His heir is Hon. David Davies.

Bottle Hurling Brings Charge

Evidence that the accused had thrown a bottle and broken a number of glasses in the beverage room of the Hotel Champlain was given by D. A. McGillis, proprietor of that hotel, when Oscar Dugan, Bridgenorth was charged in police court today with having created a disturbance.

McGillis said that Dugan who had been ordered some time ago to remain out of the Hotel Champlain had caused quite a commotion. He testified that after the bottle episode Dugan had left the hotel and gone to the Louis Cafe Witness followed him there and held him until police arrived.

Dugan declared that most of the trouble had been caused by a companion of his who was at the same table. "He is always being taken for me" said the accused.

However Magistrate R. B. Baxter registered a conviction against Dugan and fined him $5 and $2.50 costs.

He had previously pleaded guilty to having been drunk and on that charge was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

John R. Payne pleaded guilty to a drunk charge. "There is no use pleading not guilty when you're guilty" he said. A fine of $10 and $2.50 costs was imposed.

Walter McGrath, charged with illegal consumption of liquor pleaded not guilty and secured an adjournment until next week.

Youth Is Charged With Missing Drill

After a number of adjournments police court sat until nearly 7 o'clock Thursday evening trying to dispose of a charge against R. L. McIntosh of failing to attend a drill of the Prince of Wales Rangers, Reserve. This was the first of some nine similar charges against the accused.

He was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair while the prosecution was conducted by Major V. M. Eastwood of the Prince of Wales Rangers. Most of the evidence during the afternoon was supplied by staff non-coms and officers of the unit and the case for the prosecution had not been completed when the court arose.

The cases were adjourned until Saturday morning by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C.

Wm. S. Johnson Named C.C.F. Candidate

Nominated by acclamation at their convention in the Co-Op Hall last night, William S. Johnson, 33 Sophia street, was the choice of the local Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation as their candidate in the next federal election.

With Bert E. Leavens, C.C.F. member of the Legislature for the provincial riding of Toronto-Woodbine, presiding, Mr. Johnson was nominated by Dr. Lorna Cotton Thomas. The convention arrangements omitted seconders.

Three other members were proposed, but each declined, in turn, Bruce Johnston, C.C.F. candidate in the provincial elections last August; Dr. Lorna Cotton Thomas and William C. Grant.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Johnson was greeted with a ringing salute of the old chorus "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" as he walked from a seat in the last row of the auditorium to the little platform at the front.

"I appreciate this honor very much," he said. "It is good to see so many of you out this warm evening. Your presence shows an increasing interest in the C.C.F. We have come a long way in the last few years, but we are still only at the beginning of our movement. There was more need for the C.C.F. than at the present time; there is so much to do and so few to do it.

Don't Branch Off

I believe we can take this riding if we all get into the fight. I would like to voice my agreement with the statement of Mr. Leavens that we keep the philosophy of the C.C.F. straight and pure, and don't branch away in any of various direction. We are being criticized on all sides these days by influences that are unfriendly to us. You hear it on the radio, you read it in the press, from the banks and trust companies . . . "

"Don't forget that exterminator fellow in Toronto," some one in the audience interjected.

"If we take no notice of them we can win," Mr. Johnson continued. "We have a job to do in Peterborough West, and at this point I would like to say that as citizens of Peterborough we should get into more things for the benefit of this community.

"Look over the various civic committees and tell me how many of our C.C.F. members you find on them? How many labor people are there; how many of the great number of the working men and women of this city? I could name some of these committees. One of them is the city planning committee. There is not a C.C.F. member or labor man in its membership. There is none on the Board of Health and so on all the way down the list. We are interested in these things.

Long Way To Go

If we get into power in Ottawa

Seek One Mill From Funds Of City Trust

Annual transfer to the city treasury from the sinking fund surplus of the City Trust Commission of a sum equal to one mill in the tax rate, in addition to continuing present assistance to the ratepayers, was the substance of a resolution by the finance committee of the city council following their meeting Thursday afternoon with the members of the Commission.

The present assistance extended to the ratepayers by the Commission through the agency of the council is by the practical bookkeeping expedient of meeting the annual demand of the Commission on the council, for sinking fund requirements, from the Commission's own funds. It become a cross-entry in the accounting of the City Trust, but it is a real assistance to the council to the extent that they are relieved of the duty of including that corresponding amount in their own tax demands on the ratepayers.

One mill on the tax rate is equivalent to $25,000.

Friendly Discussion

The finance of the Commission were discussed in a cordial atmosphere Thursday afternoon. The attention of the joint meeting was directed particularly to the digest and report on the prospects of the City Trust finance as prepared by Edward Humpage, city auditor. The same subject was mentioned by Alderman Ovens last winter, and one of those who mentioned it at the civic nominations was William Tinker, a candidate, who pointed out that the increasing surplus of the City Trust was substantially accumulating and that at the maturity of the debentures a large sum would be available for the citizens of that time, about 1951. He suggested that it would be more equitable and fair to the present-day ratepayers if deductions could be made annual from the Trust's surplus for the benefit of the present-day ratepayers.

The finance committee Thursday proposed that a joint application be made by the Commission and the Council to the Ontario Municipal Board to authorize the tax relief proposal in the committee's resolution.

Small Demand

Ratepayers perhaps generally know that for some years, since the agitation by former alderman G. N. Gordon, K.C., for some distribution of Trust surplus, the Commission has not been asking the Council for the amount it is permitted to demand from the ratepayers, through the taxes, for the purpose of meeting annual interest charges on debentures. The Commission has been taking that amount from its surplus (instead of getting it from the Council, and that means from the taxpayers each year through the tax rate), and the proposal of the finance committee indicates agreement of Trust and Council opinion, that the assets of the Commission are ample for the continuing of that assistance from the Commission, plus the proposed mill in the tax rate. That extension of relief to the taxpayers would have to be sanctioned by the Ontario Municipal Board.

Four Failures For Women

PORT ARTHUR, June 16—(CP).—Women have had four failures since the war, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams of Winnipeg told a dinner meeting of the National Council of Women here last night.

They had failed in politics and women's citizenship, she said. They had also failed in their attitudes toward women and in organization.

"If women are to meet future demands they must have a wide and accurate knowledge and be experts in their work."

Women could not be complacent if they hoped for a changed world in the days of reconstruction. They must measure up and make their contribution.

Resolutions were passed dealing with the clothing allowance for men and women in the armed services and urging the same basic pay for women in the services as men in non-combatant areas and that men's pay be increased in combatant areas.

The council urged that after the war the National Research Council be used to extend their research work to aid upkeep of homes and commended setting up of nursery schools under the education system.

Battery To Hold Outdoor Scheme

Its first all-day training outing will be held by the 4th (R) Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery on Sunday at the Rifle Ranges on the Old Norwood Road. The Battery will parade at 9.30 a.m., and in the event of warm weather personnel will come equipped with sun helmets, coveralls, full skeleton web and haversack. Provision has been made to serve the Battery members with a hot meal at the noon hour.

The first part of the morning will be taken up with rifle shooting on the ranges; and later on, competitive gun and instrument drill will be held with the 3.7" guns by picked gun detachments. Keenness and competitive spirit are being fostered in the Battery's drill assignments due to new equipment which has been recently received, particularly the drill ammunition with fuzes which faithfully reproduces all the actions of live ammunition with actually firing.

Several softball teams have been picked from among Battery members to participate in a sports period after the lunch hour.

Lt. Jack Couper Reported Missing Overseas

One of the most popular employees of the Quaker Oats Company, Lieut. Jack Stanley Couper, who has been serving overseas since October, 1942, has now been reported missing on active service.

Lieut. Couper, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Couper, 247 Engleburn avenue, enlisted with the Prince of Wales Rangers (AF) in March, 1942. In a short time he transferred to an Eastern Ontario unit and went overseas. The young soldier was formerly employed in the Purchasing Department of the Quaker Oats Company and he received his education at King George School and the Collegiate. He was married to an English girl, last August, and his father is city tax collector.

LIEUT. J. S. COUPER

Peterboro Padre Badly Wounded

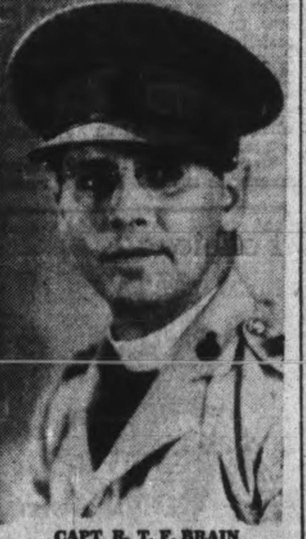
Capt. R. T. F. Brain is the first Peterborough officer serving with the 3rd Division in France to be reported a casualty. His name appeared with those of several other chaplains on "D-Day" as advancing inland with the troops, and his wife has now been notified that he is seriously wounded. No information was available as to the nature of his injuries.

The first Peterborough chaplain to be wounded, Capt. Brain was formerly Curate at St. John's Anglican Church here until he enlisted in 1940. He went overseas in 1941 and his cheery letters to Peterborough families about their loved ones overseas, have shown the active interest he took in his work. When his men advanced, although he didn't carry a gun, he was there in the thick of the fighting, according to reports.



CAPT. R. T. F. BRAIN

A further report which arrived today gives a definite description of the injury from which Capt. Brain is suffering. The telegram stated that he had received a bomb fragment in the left leg and further particulars will follow.

Master Plan

LONDON, June 16—(CP)—Martin Hallensleben, chief military correspondent of the German DNB agency, said last night: "General Montgomery's master plan, which is distinctly modelled on the Japanese operations against Singapore, is to make Cherbourg and Le Havre fall into his lap by encircling them or taking them in the rear from inland. He has not been able to stick to his timetable."

SERIOUSLY WOUNDED—Bdr. Stuart Black, whose wife lives in Turriff, nine miles from Bancroft, has been seriously wounded in fighting in France. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Black, also of Turriff.

200 Children Attend County Council

A suggestion that a joint committee comprising both city council and county council members cooperate in arriving at some definite policy in regard to the much-debated question of a park for Peterborough County was made this morning by Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore in the sitting of the county council. He said that among its postwar projects the Federal government would undoubtedly be setting aside money for expenditure on national parks, and that therefore it behooved Peterborough County to see that it got its share in any such distribution.

Mr. Gifford's remark followed on a general discussion of the Provincial Park proposal by Fred Marshall at a sitting which was attended by nearly 200 county school pupils, the guests of the county council for the day. An element of formality was added to the opening of the session when the Warden appeared in robes to take his place and everyone in the council chambers stood at his entrance. All members of the council were introduced to the children, and present also was E. A. Peck, county solicitor.

The park problem has been in the forefront of council business this June session, Roy Brown, former warden, having addressed members on the negative side of the question Thursday afternoon. This morning's short session also saw the adoption of the reports of the standing committees for Legal and Legislative matters and Education. It is the intention of the county to inform the Board of Education that it will not pay for the students in the Wartime Housing who attended the Collegiate in 1943.

Council adjourned early in order that the Reeves might have an opportunity to visit the various offices in the Court House, with the children from their areas, and explain to them the workings of the routine business. This afternoon, following lunch in Victoria Park, the children will be initiated in the mysteries of court procedure by His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke; and will return to their homes with the Council members. It was not expected that any business would be transacted by the council this afternoon.

Obituary

MRS. EMILY ANN JUNKIN

The funeral service for the late Mrs. Emily Ann Junkin of Lakefield was held this week from St. John the Baptist Anglican Church with Rev. S. A. R. Wood officiating. Interment was made in Hillside Cemetery.

Daughter of Hugh James Montgomery and Mary Jane Armstrong, she was born in Lakefield 66 years ago. The late Mrs. Junkin passed away in Nicholls Hospital following an illness of six weeks.

Pall bearers were Eldon Jewell, Clayton Montgomery, William Watson, William Webbdale, David Montgomery and Roland Montgomery.

STATIONED OVERSEAS—Pte. Earl F. Ketchen, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ketchen, Havelock, is serving overseas. He enlisted at Kingston in July, 1943, and prior to that had worked on his father's farm near Havelock.

Could Help Fund By Using Stall At Market

Quite some time ago the city council made the free use of a stall at the Saturday markets available to the management of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, for the purpose of assisting in raising money to relieve the distress of air raid victims in Britain, and as far as has been possible, it has been utilized to considerable good purpose.

Leading the way in what is hoped may be a fairly consistent use during the months that lie ahead, the secretary of the fund has been managing its operation for some weeks now with the help of two senior girls from each of the public schools in rotation, and today's appeal on behalf of the fund would try to emphasize that the stall can be reserved for use of any individual or group who would undertake to assist the cause in this manner, and as such offers them a little assist in doing something really worthwhile on behalf or the war effort.

An invitation is extended to all who could undertake to do something in this very practical way to assist the cause, and the secretary would invite enquiries and reservations at an early convenience to those concerned.

Last Saturday's Market

A true and trusty friend of the cause undertook to supply and operate the stall last Saturday in the person of John E. Parker of Norwood, who was assisted by his daughter Dorothy, following in the steps of her late mother, whose record of achievement on behalf of many war efforts is a matter of glorious memory.

In this they had the assistance of Mrs. Dave Nixon of Norwood, who donated two dozen eggs, and Miss Parker of Norwood who gave a basket of asparagus, and altogether they raised the sum of $5.00 which is listed in today's receipts. The efforts of this one family alone has now reached the wonderful total of $1.160.59 in money raised to assist the needs of those for whom the fund is operating.

Then another gift which in a way might be credited to the market stall efforts is listed under the name of "Plants" receipt No. 3658, because its donor had every intention of giving some plants for sale to help the fund, and then unforeseen circumstances prevented his bringing them in time, so he gave the money instead, which is just as good in every sense of the deed.

Extra Cent a Day

Just one cent a day put away by people who have a true enough zeal to give some help for the cause has resulted in each individual giving at the rate of $4.00 a year, in addition to other contributions made to this same cause over a period of three and a half years. It first originated with three ladies, who since then have been joined by three other people, and now once every three months their combined gift has been listed under the name of "The extra cent a day, by E.A.L.M. and W.", another such appearing in this day's list, and to show just how much this could really do if everyone in a 25,000 populated centre did exactly the same thing, it would result in about $100,000 being contributed in one year, and at only one cent each a day for each person.

FO. Dean Kelly Shot In Leg

Flying Officer Eric Dean Kelly suffered a gun shot wound in his left thigh at 8:55 p.m. June 9 "as the result of air operations" his mother, Mrs. T. N. D. Kelly was officialy informed today from Ottawa in further news of her son's injury which was reported several days ago.

"He was placed on the seriously ill list on June 10," the R.C.A.F. casualty officer at Ottawa wrote Mrs. Kelly. "I hasten to relieve your anxiety in regard to his care, and you may rest assured that he will receive the best medical attention."

From the fact that Flying Officer Kelly was pilot of a fighter plane, Mrs. Kelly said it seemed obvious that he was able to return to an air field in England.

WOUNDED IN ITALY — Pte. Donald M Caban, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Caban, 543 Park Street, is in a hospital in Italy suffering from leg and hip wounds, received in May. According to word received by his parents, Pte. Caban will be hospitalized for at least two months more. He was serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the unit his brother, Victor, was killed with in Sicily. Another brother is also fighting in Italy.

9.5 Mill Slash In Monaghan Suburban Taxes

Suburban ratepayers of North Monaghan are about to take wing from the old municipal nest, which they convinced themselves they had outgrown, with a tax rate for 1944 that 9.5 mills less than last year.

Bruce Johnston, township clerk, explained to the Examiner today that this substantial reduction "was brought about by surpluses from last year, $3,000 in the treasury of the School Board of that area, the section comprising May's and Confederation Schools, and $18,000 to the credit of the municipality. Of that sum $5,000 was in cash and the rest in outstanding taxes."

And the township has received from the Department of Highways $3,000 as the subsidy on its road work last year.

Some ratepayer is quoted as having remarked: "We might not have been so keen about annexation if we knew this reduction was coming."

However, a main reason for annexation to the city was the realization that increasing costs of necessary municipal services were becoming too heavy for the township council.

Two Women Convicted Fined $25 And Costs

Convictions were registered by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court Thursday afternoon on Barbara Young and Mrs. R. Hills two of the women arrested in company with three Chinese on the early morning of June 8, on charges under the prostitution clause of the vagrancy act.

Magistrate Langley imposed a fine of $25 and costs or 20 days in jail on both cases.

Judgement was reserved until next week in a similar charge against Rita Charron, a Toronto girl, who was arrested at the same time as the others.

Her associates of the Bank fo Montreal presented her with a lovely entree dish.

Mr. Glasgow also received a wedding gift from his associates of the Bank of Commerce, in the form of a tri-lite floor lamp.

Reta M. Robertson Is Wed at Home

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Robertson, 380 Belmont avenue, when their daughter, Reta Robertson, became the bride of Lawrence Glasgow, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Glasgow, Londonderry, Ireland. Rev. E. W. Rowland, of Mark Street United Church officiated, and the bride's sister, Mrs. G. A. Hunter, of Port Perry, played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded sheer, with long sleeves, and graceful skirt, gathered to a fitted bodice. Her floor-length veil of white embroidered net was gathered to her head, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and sweet peas. The couple were unattended.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Glasgow left by motor for a honeymoon trip to the Muskoka district, the bride travelling in a pink silk crepe dress, blue coat, white accessories, and a corsage of white sweet peas.

Marion J. Pirie Wed in Toronto

HAVELOCK, June 16 (ENS) — A wedding of much local interest was solemnized recently in Victoria Presbyterian Church, West Toronto, when a double ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. C. J. McKay, whereby Marion Jacqueline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Pirie, formerly of Havelock became the bride of Albert Hume Greenhalgh son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Greenhalgh of Duncan, B.C. The altar was decorated with standards of palms and white lilies.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organza with embossed flowers, sweetheart neckline, and fingertip veil of net, caught to a sweetheart halo of old lace. Her bouquet was of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Minnie Peake of Toronto was maid of honor, wearing a peach organdy gown, with matching frilled halo and carrying a nosegay of snap dragons and forget-me-nots. The bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Hutchinson of Havelock, cousin of the bride and Wren Elizabeth Greenhalgh, H.M.C.S., York, sister of the groom. They wore matching styled gowns of orchid and apple green organdy, with frilled halos to match, and carried nosegays of snap dragons and forget-me-nots.

The groom was attended by Frederick Clarke, R.C.N.V.R., of St. Hyacinthe, Que., and the ushers were William Ball, R.C.N.V.R., St. Hyacinthe, Que., and Herbert Thompson, R.C.A.F., Oshawa. During the signing of the register, Mrs. H. Steis sang "O Promise Me."

At the reception which followed, the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of prairie rose with navy blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore aqua blue, with brown accessories, and a corsage of baby pink roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a yellow gold locket, to the bride's attendants, yellow gold identification discs; to the best man a white gold disc and to his mother a double insignia of the R.C.N.V.R., and W.R.C.N.S.

The young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Quebec, the bride travelling in a chartreuse green dressmaker suit and hat to match, with tan and white accessories and corsage of red roses.

Cavanagh and Mrs. F. Chambers, Mrs. C. Bacon.

Importance of Empire Ties Outlined at L.C.W. Meeting

The spiritual and material ties which bind together the British Commonwealth of Nations were discussed by Mrs. W. C. Steinkraus, addressing the regular meeting of the Local Council of Women in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon, under the topic, "The British Empire." The great colonial policy of the Commonwealth was stressed by the speaker as one of the most important ties. The aid given to nations striving to rise from illiteracy, the religious help, the schools and hospitals built; and the great navy, helping to speed trade to other countries and bring life to new colonies all served to bind the nations together, she said.

England's great writers and thinkers, whose ideas on religion, philosophy and other subjects have formed the opinions of a great part of the world, also provide common bond. In a more material sense, the speaker continued, a vast cable system, linking every nation of the Commonwealth served to bind them even closer together, and the use of radio has, if possible, strengthened that bond.

Mrs. Steinkraus gave a brief outline of the early history of England, explaining that it was a combination of many races, and had absorbed the customs and manners of each. Always a sea-faring nation, she went on, England's sailors became more bold in their search for new lands and adventure, after Columbus' discovery of America. Since England is just an island, her navy is her life, and has plied the seven seas for centuries, bringing trade to the mother country, she continued.

Early Struggle.

The speaker treated each nation in the Commonwealth separately. After discussing England's early history, she turned to Canada, and spoke of the struggle between the British and the French, for possession of this rich land. South Africa, she explained, like Canada, was largely gained through colonization, and she mentioned the great work of David Livingstone in Africa. She also spoke of Winston Churchill and his adventures in South Africa during the Boer War, and paid tribute to the efforts of the prime minister of South Africa, and commander-in-chief of her forces, Jan Christiaan Smuts.

In the speaker's opinion, the trouble in India was caused because its people were having a great "awakening," and because of the greater educational and industrial opportunities, wanted to govern themselves. She compared the colonial policy of the Commonwealth to a mother, teaching a small child to walk. She sets a goal to be reached, and when the child is steady enough to stand and walk, she gives it to him. Other countries briefly discussed were Australia and New Zealand, Hong Kong, Egypt, and various island possessions.

In conclusion, Mrs. Steinkraus told of the letter which had prompted her to take the British Commonwealth of Nations as her topic. It told of a young airman's explanation for his coolness and courage even under fire, that he had not forgotten how to pray. She said that she thought that this war presented a challenge to every woman, to prepare her children for the problems of to-day by giving them a full knowledge of the value of prayer. "Each must be his brother's keeper," she said, "and no nation is sufficient unto itself. All must be prepared to meet the demands of the times, and the power of faith and prayer cannot be too highly stressed." She closed by reading Rudyard Kipling's poem, "Lest We Forget."

Canning Hints.

Miss Gertrude Gerlach, of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, gave a brief outline of the recommendations for canning of the Department and explained the separate steps essential for successful canning. They were: Test and check equipment; cleanliness, good quality foods; working quickly; packing sealers neatly; proper adjustment of tops; processing the complete length of time; danger of opening jars after processing and of tightening jars after they have been cooled; and proper storing.

Miss Gerlach passed around small cards, which members filled out. These cards will be sent to the publicity department of the Department of Agriculture, and as soon as the new bulletin "Wartime Canning," come out, a copy will be sent to every person who filled out a card.

Mrs. A. H. Radford, guest soloist, sang "Come to the Fair," accompanying herself on the piano.

During the business period, it was decided to hold a picnic for Peterborough's war brides, on July 20, the date of the regular meeting. Arrangements were left in the hands of a special committee, which is to decide the place for the picnic. The telephone committee will inform all members of the time and place. Mrs. J. C. Larmer, first vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. W. H. Morton, who was attending the convention of the National Council of Women. Mrs. B. F. McNeely and Mrs. W. G. McLaren were hostesses.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON
(Society Editor of The Examiner)

BRIGHT CLEAN FLOORS

Housewives who are house cleaning, and who deplore the state of kitchen, bedroom, living room, or hall floors often overlook the varied possibilities offered by linoleum. Decorators, now that hardwood is difficult to get, are beginning to realize the decorative qualities of linoleum, and its added value of long wear, smart appearance, and the comparatively little care it requires.

Smart, "different" designs adaptable to every type of room are making their appearance. Women who are pushing furniture out of the way to make room for extra beds for war workers, are finding a great help in the protection and brightness offered by such rugs.

Here are two handy tips to remember, to protect linoleum and repair it. Dull, dingy floors, which are often the bane of the housewife's existence, can be overcome if a few cubes of starch are added to washing suds. When the floor drys, it has an excellent polish. To the average housewife, the finish given by a coating and polishing of wax is particularly helpful, since it lessens the number of washings needed, and thus saves wear and tear on herself, and the flooring too. To repair cracks or small chipped places in linoleum, melt a wax crayon into them, using a color to match the surface.

Better Care

With the younger and gayer cottons which are popular this summer, the pretty prints and bright colored rayons, and cool, crisp, frilly blouses, special care must be taken to insure longer wear. For the prints, cottons, and rayons, just a little more time and pains taken in laundering and ironing is sufficient Since wartime fabrics cannot usually be guaranteed as fully as before, whenever in doubt as to the washability of a dress, it is generally wiser to have it cleaned, to avoid the possibility of ruining the garment.

However, most light, white blouses can be tubbed, and come out looking just as fresh and new as ever. In warm, humid weather, especially, frills have a tendency to droop, and lose their crisp look. This necessitates more frequent washings to keep them neat. Here's the best plan for that "extra" care which must be given to much-washed articles.

Wash the blouse in the same manner as any fine cotton garment is washed, that is, in rich suds and in not too hot water. Squeeze the garment in the water, then rinse soap out well, put bluing in the last rinse, giving it a quick stir, then dropping in the shaken-out washed pieces. This last precaution is necessary since garments rolled into a ball, or tightly twisted, won't blue evenly.

When ironing frilled blouses, do the ruffles first, then the remainder of the garment. If the ruffle is detachable, it may not be necessary to hang it up to dry, if the moisture is first removed with a Turkish towel. This is a handy thing to remember, if in a hurry to launder a special dicky to fit in a tailored suit. Eyelet embroidery should be lightly but evenly dampened, and ironed right side down, over a pad of Turkish towels. In this way, the embroidery is not flattened.

White rayons should never be bleached, and it is really not necessary to bleach them to keep them white, if care is taken. Unlike silk wool or cotton, white rayon does not yellow or turn gray from sun or washing, and even after repeated dippings, it re-appears fresh, and ready for duty. For the girl who has an exciting black gown for "special" occasions, but does not feel that one garment justifies the purchase of filmy black lingerie, here's a little hint to save money. Attack ready-made black straps, or straps made from black ribbon which can be bought in any store, to an ordinary slip or brassiere. Thus only black straps show under the sheer black dress. The same idea may be followed and a yard or two of black lace or net can be sewn to the bottom of a slip, for street-length black frocks.

Pastry Tricks

To bake a pastry shell, turn a pie plate upside down, and put the crust on the outside, making a heavy edge by cutting the crust larger than is needed and crimping with the fingers, or building a rim of narrow strips of pastry previously dipped in cold water. Finally, prick the crust all over before slipping in the oven, to allow steam to escape and avoid the danger of crust "blostering" during baking.

In order to avoid a soggy undercrust, when baking a deep custard pie, try putting the pie into a hot oven for the first 15 minutes, and then reducing the temperature for the custard to bake. To bake the crust more quickly than the custard, the greatest heat should come from the lower part of the oven. Always be sure that the pie has baked sufficiently to have the undercrust done, and avoid the disappointment of a disinterested-looking bottom crust spoiling an otherwise perfectly cooked custard pie.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

We are today going to give you some recipes I am sure will appeal to you in the hot weather. I know some people say, oh we don't want a hot dinner and see how they will take to it. This first recipe I am going to give you today is not expensive, but good. Try it and see if you do not think I am right.

Pot Roast

5 lbs. chuck beef, salt and pepper, flour, butter, water, carrots. Season meat and dredge with flour. Brown meat in hot butter, either in heavy pot or Dutch oven, add a small amount of water. Cover and cook slowly either in the oven or in Dutch even on top of stove, at a simmering temperature. After 2½ hours, add the carrots. Thicken the broth with flour. Put on a platter and surround with potatoes, boiled with the skins on. This served with a tasty dessert will make a real meal and one that will be enjoyed by all.

Lemon Pudding

Part 1: 1 large lemon, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups water, 1 tablespoon butter. Part 2: 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg ½ cup milk, ½ cup pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Boil the juice and rind of lemon with sugar, water and butter in part one to form a sauce. Cream butter, sugar, add well beaten egg. Add the flour and baking powder sifted together, alternately with the milk. Beat thoroughly. Pour boiling syrup in a baking dish and add batter. Put in oven immediately and bake half an hour. The syrup serves as a sauce.

Pineapple Pudding

½ can pineapple in cubes, 2 eggs, 1¾ cups flour, ¾ cup sugar, 1-3 cup butter, 1 tablespoon milk, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Beat butter and sugar to a cream, add well beaten yolks of eggs and milk Then sift in the flour and baking powder which have been mixed thoroughly, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Turn into a well buttered tube tin and bake in a moderate oven half an hour. Drain the syrup from the pineapple put into a pan and heat. Thicken slightly with 1 teaspoon of cornstarch dissolved with cold water. Add the cubes and let simmer five minutes. Turn out the pudding, fill the hollow centre with the pineapple. Serve with whipped cream. This can also be made by using fresh pineapple cut in cubes.

ONCE the invisible barrier of "B.O." shut her off from happiness. It came between her and popularity. Yet today she is admired and sought after. She learned to take a simple precaution—a daily bath with Lifebuoy.

Because Lifebuoy is especially made to stop "B.O.", it gives lasting, all-over protection. And its fresh, invigorating scent vanishes almost instantly. It disappears before you're even dressed!

Use Lifebuoy for the complexion, too! Its rich, velvety lather is extra mild, extra gentle. Tests prove that Lifebuoy is actually milder than many so-called beauty soaps!

Church Rejects Joint Publishing Plan

TORONTO, June 16—(CP)— The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada yesterday rejected a proposal of Rev. N. A. McEachern of Toronto that Presbyterians, Baptists and United Churches co-operate in publication of Sunday School lessons.

Rev. A. C. Cochrane of Port Credit, Ont., said he preferred the purchase of lessons from the United States rather than accept the work of any "joint committee."

The Assembly ordered a New Statement of Faith of the Church in Canada to be prepared by a committee of seven. It will be sent to Presbyteries throughout Canada and will be discussed at the 1945 Assembly.

An amendment to the Board of Education report recommended that endowed lectureships be established in the two Presbyterian colleges in Canada—Knox in Toronto and Presbyterian College in Montreal — to bring outstanding world figures to lecture on church history. The amendment was approved.

Last night the Assembly decided to continue negotiations with McGill University of Montreal for the establishment of a joint faculty of divinity to replace the Anglican, United Church and Presbyterian Colleges in that city. Developments will be reported to next year's Assembly which will reach a decision.

He is chatting here with Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the Imperial General Staff.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

TO MARRY OR NOT QUESTION

Heart Alone Must Decide Whether To Accept Proposal of Man of Small Means

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am an attractive woman of 35 and have had several opportunities to marry, but always to men who did not make enough money to support a wife and possibly a family, consequently making it necessary for the wife to work outside the home. I have turned these offers down as I saw my Mother slave herself into an early grave, my Father being one of the men who are never able to make a living.

What would you advise me to do? Shall I continue to go on as I am at present, working, self-sufficient, with no financial worries, but lonely and unloved? Or shall I marry one of these poor suitors and struggle and work with him the rest of my life, probably being denied the joys of motherhood due to financial conditions? Would the love and companionship of a husband compensate me for the sacrifices and hardships that I would be called upon to make?

WAITING.

Love Final Appeal in Marriage

ANSWER—The lot of the bachelor girl with a good job is a comparatively easy one because, if she has only herself to support, she can have most of the comforts and luxuries of life; whereas the fate of the wife of the man who has no faculty for getting along, as the phrase goes, is one of unending drudgery and anxiety, especially if she has children. So it is no wonder that the modern young woman thinks long and carefully before she swaps a mahogany desk in an office for a cooking stove in a kitchen.

But her own heart must solve the problem for her. She must decide whether she loves a man well enough to share the hardships of poverty for his sake; whether his companionship will compensate her for her not being able to have any other diversion than his society; whether his love will clothe her in royal raiment.

Also, the girl should take into consideration the type of man the poor suitor is before she says YES or NO. If he is the shiftless sort, she should hesitate a long time before marrying him, because few women can stay in love with a man whom they cease to respect. On the other hand, no matter how small a salary a man may be earning, if he is of the up-and-coming type, he is a good bet. He will get there and his wife will have the time of her life helping him on his way.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am 24 years old. Have been married five years and have three children. My husband is very good to me, but I am in love with a man who has obtained a divorce from his wife because he is in love with me, and he demands that I divorce my husband so I can marry him. He is in the army and in his letters he says that if I don't tell my husband about us that he will tell him when he comes on his furlough. I have been going with this man for three years without my husband knowing about it.

Would you advise me to stay with my husband for the children's sake, or to divorce him and marry the man I love?

UNDECIDED

"Femme Fatal" Ruins Good Home

ANSWER—What a mess of your own life and of other peoples' lives to have made in so short a time! To be only 24 years old and to have been married hand had 3 children and broken up another woman's home and taken her husband from her, and to have been unfaithful to your own good husband, certainly constitutes a record. You must be what the story-writers call a "femme fatal."

As for whether you shall divorce your husband, it seems to me that is up to him. Probably he will not be anxious to keep a wife he can trust so little and who loves another man.

DEAR MISS DIX—My wife is continually yelling and swearing at me and the children and it is getting us down. The doctor says it is owing to her mental condition. What should I do?

PUZZLED HUSBAND

ANSWER—Send her to some sanatorium where she can have proper treatment. Such cases are often cured.

Central School Students Given Picnic

Games, races, a booth with soft drinks, hot-dogs and chocolate bars, and a tasty lunch of sandwiches, cake and chocolate milk, filled the afternoon for children and their parents Thursday when Central Public School held its annual picnic in Victoria Park. A large number of races were conducted, with prizes being credits for purchases at the booth, so that competition was keen. George Ball, assisted by C. A. Bullock and Miss Agnes Stout, conducted the senior races, and the junior teachers took charge of the races of their classes. Mrs. T. Martin, social convener, was in charge of the booth, assisted by members of Central Home and School Association.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, June 17

CONFLICTING indications are to be read from this day's astral aspects, with some of progress and several setbacks or sudden upheavals of deep rooted significance. There may be danger of extravagance, excesses, impulses and temperamental indulgences, which may be likely to place in jeopardy certain openings for worthwhile progress. New and clever propositions having merit are well aspected, and ingenuity and novelty may carry over threatening situations. Good nature and restraint may obviate difficulties. The social and romantic elements, with celebrations, are propitiously indicated. Good fortune and happiness await personal prudence and discretion.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of progress and opportunity for success and individual happiness, if they will decide to refrain from predispositions to extravagance, or impetuous and erratic indulgences. With emotions and temper under curb and with much discretion and sagacity there should be indications of good fortune and some surprising success. Be prudent with change.

A child born on this day may be impulsive and perhaps erratic, but should be talented and on the whole sociable, artistic and successful.

Commute Sentence

MONTREAL, June 16—(CP)—The death sentence imposed on 15-year-old Fernand Clermont for the murder of Detective Henry Farmer of the Montreal police force has been commuted to life imprisonment, according to word received here last night from E. S. Coleman, Under Secretary of State.

An Unlucky Step

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, June 16 (AP)—John MacVane, NBC war correspondent landed with the first wave of assault troops on the beachhead and came safely through all mortar, machinegun and shell fire without a scratch. But he stepped in a hole and fractured an ankle two days after landing.

600 Killed

LONDON, June 16—(CP)—Aneta, Netherlands News Agency, said last night that some 600 German soldiers were killed and the Nazis Atlantic Wall defences at Ijmuiden, in occupied Holland, were blasted apart during an Allied daylight air raid on the port, 17 miles north of Amsterdam, April 26.

Needs Example

LONDON, Ont., June 16—(CP)—The Catholic laity today is called to a sublime missionary vocation, Hon. John J. Hearne of Ottawa, High Commissioner for Eire, last night told the banquet of the annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada. Mr. Hearne said that never before had the world been so greatly in need of an authentic pattern of life.

He little thought when leaving home,
He would no more return:
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
We only know he passed away
And never said good-bye
We have only your memory, dear Stanley
To remember our whole lives through
But the sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.
—Always remembered by wife.

MAGEE—In loving memory of my Daddy, who was killed by a truck June 16, 1943.

Would Amend Section On Mail Thefts

OTTAWA, June 16 (CP) — The Commons Thursday gave first reading to a bill making three amendments to the Criminal Code.

One of the changes proposed in the bill, introduced by Justice Minister St. Laurent, would increase the maximum penalty for persons convicted of defrauding the Government in the handling of military supplies. Under the present code the maximum penalty for such offense was two years and a fine of $5,000. The amendment to the code would make the maximum penalty seven years and a fine of $50,000.

Another amendment would do away with the three-year minimum sentence for theft of an article from a postoffice. Mr. St. Laurent said this step was being taken because it was difficult to get a conviction with such a minimum sentence in force.

Mr. St. Laurent said it was often difficult to obtain a conviction when the minimum penalty called for, three years' incarceration. The bill proposed to remove the word "minimum" from the clause dealing with such thefts.

The third amendment would substitute the Superior Court for the Court of King's Bench in hearing appeals from summary convictions.

Mr. St. Laurent said the Court of King's Bench sat rarely in rural areas, and an appeal often was dropped because of delay in obtaining a hearing. The Superior Court would be able to deal with the appeals more expeditiously.

singled to centre and after Carpenter had fouled out Tompkins doubled to right on a short fly just out of Patterson's reach. Elliott went to third on the play and both runners scored on Playford's slashing single to right. Playford stole second and scored the fifth run of the inning when Mowry's grass-cutter went through Platt. Ashmore rolled to Platt for the third out.

Switchgear made it 6 to 2 in the seventh when they got the last run of the game. Playford doubled to center on a high short fly and moved to third on Mowry's bunt. Ashmore singled to drive in the run but was out trying to stretch the hit into a double and Brockley struck out.

U.E.W. were shut out in the last seven innings. They only threatened seriously once and that was in the sixth when Isaac was safe when Ashmore failed to touch first on Tompkins' throw and after Patterson had lined to Carpenter Jackson singled to left. Holmes made a fine play on McPherson's hard hit roller to force Isaac at third and Platt flied out. After that Elliott was boss of the job for the balance of the game.

Rescue 3 Airmen

LUNENBURG, N.S., June 16. — Rescue of three British airmen adrift in a rubber raft on the fishing banks off Nova Scotia was disclosed yesterday by the crew of the 60-foot fishing schooner Kasagra. Capt. Atwood Parks said his vessel picked up the airmen—members of the R.A.F.—on May 5, a few hours after their plane had crashed into the sea.

J. F. Pouliot (L-Temiscouta) said the new department was the "old wagon with a new coat of paint and with the old driver in the seat." It offered no assurance that the legitimate grievances of the returned men would be corrected.

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver South) said the new department should be in a position to advise returning men what jobs were available. The bill setting up the department did not give the department the power to deal wih pensions.

we have got to carry on from there. We are only starting when we arrive there. But, we have to go further to extend an intelligent interpretation of the policies of the C.C.F. in this country.

I am no speaker, but I would like to say to you that if I am elected in the next federal elections, my time will be your time. I will go down there and join that gallant group that has been carrying on since 1932, working 16 to 18 hours a day. I have respect for oratory, but I know that you do not judge a member of Parliament by the speeches he makes but by the work he does on the committees, and by the number of committees he is on.

I am asking everybody to get into this thing. You all know it is just as much your affair as it is mine. I expect that the results from Saskatchewan tonight will show that the people of that province realize what the C.C.F. means to their future and how it can become the centre of their activities more and more as it is given the opportunity."

The business of the meeting was despatched at the outset with A. Birkhof as chairman, and its agenda was accepted as submitted.

Was Successful.

Mr. Leavens, introduced by W. C. Grant, said he was happy to be one of the large group of successful candidates in the Provincial elections last year, and added that he felt confident the results from Saskatchewan were going to make him happier when the evening returns from the Western province were received.

The C.C.F. had reached a crucial stage in its development up to the present, Mr. Leavens said, and this year was likely to make history in the organization, carrying it on to new heights or descending the way to oblivion, depending on the sincerity and energy of the members.

"Our membership is one of the greatest missionary movements for a new social order this country has ever seen, but we can't sit at home and wish for it to succeed; we have got to get out and work for it. Success does not depend on executives and officers, but on every individual member who subscribes to the C.C.F. philosophy and platform.

"We are active in Ontario to-day and we hope we have reached the stage where we can put into the field sufficient organizers to do the job that has to be done."

Mr. Leavens briefly recalled the pioneering days of the C.C.F., "when we had to depend on the collections we received at meetings here and there when we were starting out without any means to spread our new organization with its philosophy which was then not understood and not popular. We have laid the foundation of one of the greatest political parties that ever rose up from the people in this country, and I don't use that phrase in the sense of comparison with the old political parties we have known to this time.

"I hope that we keep our philosophy straight; that we don't give a little here and there, and soft-pedal when we come to the pinches, and in short that we don't become a vote-catching party. Let us hope we have a victory in Saskatchewan to-night, as I believe we will, and that it does not turn our heads."

Mr. Leavens said that all the powers and interests of reaction were arrayed against the C.C.F.

All in One Camp.

"They are all in one camp, trying to defeat us. It would be easy at this stage to slip back a bit. Don't let us do it. We have struggled eleven years for our philosophy, and we can't afford to change one jot or tittle of it. We have 17,000 memebrs on our rolls in this province, and I hope that by next year we will have 30,000, and that they will be true members of the C.C.F.

"There has never been in this country a labor party or social democratic party that has had the phenomenal rise of the C.C.F. Be true to your party by going out and getting others to join it with you."

William S. Johnson.

The new C.C.F. candidate, William S. Johnson, is a married man, living on Sophia Street, father of two boys and a girl. One son is married, the other is attending school, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson is with the Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Mr. Johnson has been employed as a machinist at Genelco Limited for the last four years. Previously he had worked under E. R. Wilson of the Peterborough Machine and Lubricating Company for fourteen years, and before that with the Dominion Dustless Sweeper Company, also as a machinist.

He was born at Rothbury, Northumberland, England, in 1886, where his father was a schoolmaster. He learned his trade as a machinist with the Clarke-Chapman Company at Gateshead-on-Tyne, manufacturers of generating sets, searchlights, pumps, boilers, etc. In 1912 Mr. Johnson came to Canada and has long been established as a citizen of Peterborough.

W. S. Johnson has been a member of Peterborough C.C.F. from its inception, is its president this year, re-elected to that position for several terms. In the last war he was with the Canadian General Electric Company's contingent on the Pacific Coast for four years and a half, operating searchlights and generating equipment in the harbor defences of Esquimalt.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LEARN BRIDGE FAST

23—Play of Third Hand

THERE ARE two old maxims dating from the game of Whist, in which no bidding was done, no dummy was exposed, and in which a player had very little information at the beginning of play about the other hands. One of those maxims was "second hand low, third hand high"; the other was "don't finesse against your partner." You will find plenty of bridge players who quote those as rules for their play. In the long run, however, you will be better off to completely disregard them as not applicable to bridge except where common sense tells you to follow them.

The common sense of third hand play to an opening lead is usually to try to win the trick -unless you have a good reason not to. One good reason may be that your partner's card looks like a winner. Another may be that there is some honor in the dummy which you may later capture by not using your high card. An example of the first is if your partner led a king and you hold the ace. You may wish to play low and let him win. An example of the second is if your partner led a 6 and you see the K-8-3 in the dummy while holding the A-J-4 yourself. Ordinarily you should play the J. Declarer probably will take it with the Q, but then you can later kill the K. If you, however use the A on the first trick, the declarer probably can get tricks with the Q and K.

When trying to win a trick with a card which is in a sequence, the customary practice is to use the bottom card of the sequence. Thus, if your partner leads a 7 and you hold the K-Q-J, play the J. If you use the K he would think you did not have any lower ones in sequence with it, whereas use of the J, perhaps overtaken by declarer's A, will at least let your partner know you may possibly hold the higher ones.

If you are not using a card which is high enough to possibly influence the winning of the trick —maybe by only forcing a higher card from declarer — and are merely following suit with a card which cannot affect the winning of the trick, you have an opportunity to convey information to your partner by what is called "signaling." If you play some card which he can recognize as being higher than the lowest you hold, he will treat it as an "encouraging" card, indicating a desire on your part to have him lead the suit again. If you play your lowest card, you are giving a negative signal, indicating that you have no particular desire for him to repeat the suit, and therefore by indirection implying that you might prefer the lead of some other suit when it is next his turn to lead.

Some misinformed players may, with good intentions, say that "a card as high as the 7 or higher" is encouraging and "a card lower than a 7" is discouraging. That is plumb wrong. Suppose you hold the 10-9-8 of his suit and want him to shift. Your lowest card, the 8, would constitute an effort to discourage him. Suppose you hold the A-5-4-2 and want him to lead the suit again, but don't want to waste your ace. Your only way to give him an encouraging card is with your 5. The thing that counts is whether he can read the card as probably your lowest or higher than your lowest.

If you get a chance to play twice on leads of a suit, then your signal becomes unmistakable. Playing a higher card the first time and a lower the next time is called by several names: a "high-low," an "echo" or a "come-on." The completion of the signal by playing the lower card is an imperative request to repeat the suit, and the reverse, a low card followed by a higher one, indicates lack of desire for its repetition.

There are rare cases when the size of your spot card indicates something else. If the dummy's holding—such as perhaps a singleton when there is a suit contract—makes it clear that your partner is certain to shift suits next, your card indicates which suit you wish him to select. A high card from you then indicates preference for the higher-ranking side suit, such as diamonds instead of clubs, whereas a low one denotes preference for the lower suit, such as clubs instead of diamonds.

Village Council Orders Tile Bought

MILLBROOK, June 16—(ENS)—Millbrook municipal council met this week, Reeve H. D. Bigelow presiding and all members present. The communications included a letter from the Workmen's Compensation Board notifying council that all municipalities will be put on a compensation basis from January 1, 1945.

Notice was also received from J. H. Hall advising council to buy the necesary cement tile now. On motion of Harrington-Ball the first letter was filed, and on motion of Harrington-Powell it was decided that cement tiling needed will be ordered immediately.

The auditor's report for 1943 was read, and on motion of Ball-Olan, it was received and 100 copies were ordered printed.

Councillor M. W. Ball, relief officer, made report of relief dispensed during May, 1944, amounting to $19.70; this report was received, on motion of Ball-Olan, and the accounts ordered paid. The firemen reported practice with equipment all in good order. Councillor Powell reported $10 received in rents during May, and the following accounts were presented and ordered paid on motion of Ball-Powell:

Hydro: street lights $61.12, halls $2.25, Red Cross room $1.50 for total of $64.87; Telephone company, $4.72; H. Whyte, caretaker $9, extra work $6.60, $15.60; Mrs. H. Whyte, caretaker, $9; J. J. # Ottawa Announce Prices On Home Canned Goods

OTTAWA, June 16 — (CP) — The Prices Board Wednesday announced an order, effective Thursday, setting maximum prices for sales of tomatoes, corn, beans and tomato juice produced by home canners, and said "several thousand" home canners, most of them in Quebec, are affected by the order, which establishes unform prices for all sections of Canada in line with the ceiling for industrial canners.

The new regulations apply to all canners with a yearly output of less than 10,000 pounds, and specify maximum prices for sales to wholesale distributors, retailers, restaurants, hotels, hospitals, institutions or camps and consumers. The prices were not specified in tonight's announcement.

In sales to consumers the price for standard quality tomatoes, corn and beans is one cent per tin less than for fancy or choice quality, with a further one-cent-a-tin reduction on any product below standard quality.

There is a one-cent consumer price spread between fancy or choice tomato juice and tomato juice of lower quality.

Robot Plane Take-off Base In Pas de Calais Area Pounded By Bomber Fleet

Synthetic Oil Plant At Duisburg And Targets In Berlin Hard Hit In Night R.A.F. Swoop

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR—Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 17—(AP).—About 1,000 R.A.F. heavy bombers smashed last night at enemy installations in the Pas de Calais area of France, from where the Germans are believed to be launching their pilotless planes, while other British formations hammered a synthetic oil plant near Duisburg and targets in Berlin.

R.C.A.F. heavyweights flew with the R.A.F. night raiders, shading in the attacks on a synthetic oil works at Sterkrade in the Ruhr and on the Pas de Calais installations

Thirty-three bombers were lost, of which two were Canadian, the Air Ministry said.

The night blow against Pas de Calais came a few hours after United States heavy bombers in the last hours of daylight yesterday pounded these same installations.

Despite day and night thrusts at that portion of the French coast nearest to England—an area battered repeatedly before the invasion—the Germans kept their mysterious robot planes hurtling across the Channel last night in a continuation of attacks kept up yesterday and the previous night. Damage and casualties were caused in several places in England.

Support Troops

Although miserable flying weather once more hampered the air support of the invasion armies yesterday, Supreme Headquarters said 2,500 sorties were flown by Allied air units—about 1,000 of them by American heavy bombers and their escort in the twilight smash at the Pas de Calais.

The night attack on Berlin was made by Mosquitos, while British Lancasters and Halifaxes continued the Allied campaign aimed at drying up Hitler's war machine by dumping tons of explosives on the Fischer Tropsch synthetic oil plant at Sterkrade, about five miles north of Duisburg. It was the second time this week the R.A.F. has been over Germany in strength.

The fleet of American heavy bombers also hit three Nazi air bases in the vicinity of Paris and Laon, 80 miles northeast of Pas de Calais. One bombers and four escorting fighters failed to return. One German plane was shot down.

American fighters also bombed and shot up railroads and truck convoys south of the beachhead.

The fighters demonstrated a new technique by dumping their auxiliary fuel tanks half full of gasoline on targets and then strating fires with incendiary bullets. In this manner enemy transport was destroyed, freight and tank cars were left burning and a number of ammunition cars were exploded.

A Heavy Toll.

Fighter pilots reported destroying or damaging about 500 railway cars, 11 locomotives 21 trucks, 10 tanks, one military building, 54 tank cars, an armored car, a gun emplacement, a flak tower and a power transmitter yesterday.

R.A.F. bomber crews said opposition in the Ruhr area last night was as strong as ever.

The Nazi fighters dropped what appeared to be a new type of flare over the path of the British bombers and numerous combats ensued.

One Halifax pilot said the flares used by the enemy fighters burst fairly high with a yellow light which lasted five or six seconds.

"Then it dropped like a stone for about 3,000 feet," he said. "Then once more it burst into an intense yellow light which again lasted for several seconds. After that it started falling once more and finally glowed orange and red before going

Peterboro Boys Fight Bravely On French Front

The bravery of Peterborough and district men serving in Eastern Ontario units on the invasion front has been cited by war correspondent Ralph Allen in a copyright story in the Globe and Mail. Although under heavy fire, disregarding their own safety, some of them selflessly risked death and capture so that their buddies would have their chance.

In the first comprehensive story given of the terrific fighting which Canadian units have been undergoing in France, outstanding work done by Major Neil Gemmell, formerly of the Quaker Oats staff. H./Capt. R. T. F. Brain, who carried on in spite of his own wounds, Ptes. F. R. Wheeler and R. G. Campbell of Campbellford, stretcher bearers, has been vividly related.

Constant Shellfire

At 1 o'clock in the morning of D-plus-one-day, our troops came under shellfire. They were under steady shellfire all that night and all the next day and all the next night again. And, though the fire was diminished now they still come under it now and then, a week after the full force of the battle has spent itself.

Multiple mortars shelled them

Viipuri Capture Expected Soon

MOSCOW, June 17 — (CP) — The Finns are blowing up all the bridges on two highways leading to Viipuri on the Karelian Isthmus, seeking to hold the Red Army's entry into the city, front dispatches said today.

But Soviet capture of the city appeared inevitable. The rumble of Russian big guns already was echoing strongly in its streets.

"As the offensive develops the battles assume a more violent character," said Red Star Correspondent Grigory Ivanov. "All attempts to stop the offensive are failing."

With more than 100 newly-captured populated points behind them the Russians with strong artillery and bomber support hurled an impressive weight of tanks, tommy-gunners and infantry in massive waves across the Karelian Isthmus.

Compulsory evacuation of the Finnish city of Viipuri toward which the Russians are driving with a great weight of men and armor now is in progress, Helsinki dispatches reported today.

Refugees also are streaming from other Karelian towns under long-standing plans, dispatches said.

In an attempt to throw every available man into the struggle to stop the Soviets, the Finns were reported by the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter to have moved all troops eastward from (Aland) Islands in the Gulf of Bothnia.

CANUCKS TAKE A GUN INTO ACTION IN FRANCE—The ubiquitous Universal carrier has proved its worth in the fighting in France. Not only is it used to move men from place to place but it is also used as here, to pull six-pounder guns into action. Note the title "Taxi" on the side of this Canadian-manned carrier.

Canadians in Fierce Battles

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, June 17—(CP Cable).—The Canadian 3rd Infantry Division, commanded by Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller of Kelowna, B.C., with Canadian tanks followed up the gallant assault on the coast of Normandy by penetrating inland through more German anti-invasion defences, capturing a score of towns, throwing back a series of fierce German counter-attacks and finally consolidating firmly on the perimeter of the defences of Caen, vital communications hub six miles inland up the Orne River.

This involved six days of hard fighting and in the last five days there has been a comparative lull on this sector as the Germans went on the defensive and the Canadians prepared for the next phase of this operation. These Canadians, fighting their first battles after long training in England, did everything expected of them and showed their mettle particularly in the stern test on the beaches and in turning back heavy blows from enemy armor and infantry in the inland battleground.

The outstanding feat in this 11-day campaign has been the work of the western infantry brigade with western tanks. It reached its objectives 10 miles inland, across the Caen-Bayeux road, on D-day and stuck there despite every enemy attempt to repulse the invaders; at Courseulles, on the west flank of the divisional front, and in storming the coastal defences on either side of the inlet at the mouth of the river Seulles.

These troops went through beach obstacles, broke through barbed wire and fought their way into concrete emplacements and trench systems where the Germans fought to the end. Tanks came in with them and infantry and armor swarmed through the stone streets of Courseulles where elaborate German headquarters were cleaned out.

Street Fighting

Street fighting raged for more than an hour at Courseulles as infantry and tanks worked their way up to market square with machine-guns, rifles and grenades. The town was clouded with smoke from the pre-landing bombardment and the battle ashore and enemy dead were sprawled on every street.

As they got into this farmland near Caen, German tanks and infantry came out to meet them in

Fighters Combatting Robots Some Casualties Reported

By JAMES F. KING—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 17—(AP).—Germany's new explosive robot planes, dispatched across the English Channel in weather that sharply reduced Allied air activity, struck blindly in parts of southern England in intermittent attacks through the night and morning hours today.

Several persons were killed and a number injured when one of the fire-spitting projectiles made a direct hit on a nurses' home at a hospital. Rescuers said they thought a number of persons were buried.

4 Are Trapped.

Another wrecked a shop, trapping four people for six hours in the cellar. Firemen had to fight flames before rescue squads could start digging, and when the four were released water in the cellar almost reached their necks.

Fast German night fighter-bombers also rumbled through the English skies, ducking in and out of the clouds and dropping flares in apparent attempt to confuse British defences, but rockets from ack-ack batteries plunged steadily upward, and a number of the pilotless craft were reported crashed.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE, June 17 (AP) — The American Army had 3,283 killed and 12,600 wounded in opening the western front in Normandy, Lt.-Gen. Bradley, U.S. Field Commander, said today.

The total of 15,,883 casualties was for the first 11 days of the campaign, and included reports up to midnight last night, Bradley said.

He paid high tribute to the courage of the soldiers in establishing the beachhead on the European continent.

Bradley said casualties on the central beachhead, where the American 1st Division and elements of the 29th Division landed, had run

Germans Fleeing From Cherbourg

A U.S. FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, July 17.—(AP).—An American fighter pilot said to-day he believed German troops are attempting to eavacuated the Cherbourg peninsula to escape the trap being closed around them by American troops.

Capt. James Barnhardt of Rutherford College, N.C., said he saw German trucks and staff cars moving southward over the narrowing strip between the advancing Americans and the west coast of the peninsula.

"I think they want to get out of there, but our troops are moving in fast," he said.

Lieut. Walter Turniers, Highlands, N.J., said the Germans were not moving any more equipment toward Caen.

Fires which have been burning for days in Caen, Carentan and St. Lo have at last gone out, he reported.

Imphal Campaign Proceeds Apace

KANDY, Ceylon, June 17 (CP) — A headquarters spokesman in reviewing the military situation in India's east border region predicted today the Japanese would be cleared from the Kohima-Imphal road in a matter of weeks and that the Allies in a subsequent action would throw the enemy back east of the Chindwin river.

The situation in the Imphal Plain was described as reasonably satisfactory. The air supply of Allied forces there is steady.

Many Japanese battalions were said to have been cut down to one fifth their normal strength in recent fighting.

Enemy reinforcements were observed south of Bishenpur, 18 miles southwest of Imphal, where a separate campaign is described as likely to throw the Japanese southward.

The Japanese are reinforcing their garrisons in the Mogaung-Myitkyina area in North Burma but in doing so they have had to walk in as the railway is not usable.

French Troops Invade Elba Island

ROME, June 17 (AP) — Allied headquarters announced today that French forces have landed on the island of Elba off the west coast of Italy.

The landing detachment was from French army "B" commanded by Maj.-Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny.

The communique said the "momentum of the Allied advance in Italy was maintained," and added that in the Adriatic sector Allied troops made contact with Italian Partisans who held Teramo, near the coast.

The Allies were reported 12 miles north of Orvieto and its airfield. The communique confirmed the taking of Grosseto by 5th Army troops, who advanced all along the front.

Allied planes destroyed 70 enemy planes yesterday, while 12 Allied heavy bombers and nine other Allied planes were missing. In all the Mediterranean Allied Air Force flew 2,300 sorties.

Five oil refineries in the Vienna area and one in Bratislava, capital of the puppet government of Slovakia, were hit. Targets in Yugoslavia also were attacked.

Two Landings

A D.N.B. broadcast dispatch, recorded by The Associated Press, said landings were made at both the southern and northern ends of the Islands.

"Fighting is still going on," D.N.B. said.

D.N.B. said one landing was made just west of Portoferraio, the island's major city.

For months the Allies have controlled the island of Corsica, some 40 miles to the west of Elba.

The dispatch said that "at 3 o'clock this morning the enemy landed with 60 landing craft in the south of the island of Elba.

"A short while later the enemy made several air attacks and at the same time further landings from the sea were made in the north of the island, west of Porto Cerraio, and on the south eastern coast of Elba.

Teramo, where the contact with the Partisans was established, is 16 miles from the Adriatic coast and 33 airline miles north-west of Pescara.

Bad Weather, Rough Seas Hampering Unloading; Postpone Full-Scale Attack

Allied Armor, Infantry Punches Out Several Local Gains Now 20 Miles Beyond French Coast

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 17—(CP).—British troops on the Allied bridgehead east of the Orne River repulsed two strong German counter-attacks and the American thrust across the Cherbourg peninsula moved slowly closer to the enemy's last land link with Cherbourg, headquarters reports said today.

Meanwhile bad weather and rough seas hampered unloading of ships and other operations and made it unlikely the Allies would attempt to mount a full-scale attack until the weather improves and they can use their air superiority to the full.

Today's SHAEF communique reported only slight activity along the 100-mile beachhead front, although the German attacks east of the Orne River were described as heavy and "extremely costly" to the enemy.

These attacks were aimed at penetrating Allied positions at Breville and Escoville, respectively eight and six miles northeast of Caen.

In the centre of the Normandy bridgehead, British armor and infantry punched out local advances despite heavy opposition between Caumont and Tilly sur Seulles. South of Caumont British units have thrust inland more than 20 miles—the deepest penetration anywhere.

Sidney Mason, Reuter correspondent at SHAEF, said Tilly, east of Caumont and southwest of Caen, was in German hands again. Earlier in the week British armor thrust into the village.

Cherbourg Menaced

The American advance across the Normandy peninsula threatened to turn the port of Cherbourg into another German Sevastopol.

The last rail link was severed by units which were in possession of St. Sauveur le Vicmote, 18 miles south of Cherbourg, and were consolidating their hold on it.

South of that point, other American forces were four miles from the Nazis' last main communications junction, La Haye du Puits, and had it under artillery fire. Its capture would sever all land routes to Cherbourg.

In these attacks Field Marshal Erwin Rommel used tanks and infantry in efforts to penetrate British positions at Breville and Escoville.

American forces which captured St. Sauver yesterday, after heavy fighting, were busily digging in and getting set for an expected heavy German counter-attack. The advance farther west in this sector appeared likely to be slow since the country is marshy and hilly in spots and lends itself readily to defence.

The area west of recaptured Montebourg, 16 miles south of the port of Cherbourg, was still a battleground.

It appeared both sides were building up reserve forces for big efforts likely to come when the weather improves.

The Allied naval command report no E-boat activity during the night, but it was not known whether this was due to German losses in recent air and navy attacks against their bases or rough water in the Channel.

Retake Montebourg

The American forces in the Cherbourg peninsula recaptured Montebourg, 14 miles south of the port of Cherbourg. Another American column penetrated to three miles from Carentan in the southernmost drive across the peninsula.

The next 36 hours or so may be decisive in the bitter fight for the peninsula and the city at its tip, control of which would give the Allies one of France's best ports to fed the invasion.

The Germans faced a hard decision—whether to counter-attack with everything available against threats to split the peninsula, or

King George Visits Troops On French Front

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, June 17 (CP)—The King landed on these Normandy beaches yesterday only 10 days after the Allied invasion of western Europe opened.

He crossed the channel on the cruiser H.M.S. Arethusa, lunched with General Montgomery, Allied ground commander, and before he returned conferred the C.B.E. upon Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller of Kelowna, B.C., commander of the Canadian 3rd Division

When he stepped ashore on a beach just west of Courselles, the King heard shells screaming overhead from the cruiser Hawkins, firing at a target 10 miles inland. It was the first time in this war the King had witnessed actual firing at enemy positions.

Accompanying His Majesty were Admiral Cunningham, First Sea Lord; Admiral Ramsay, Chief of Allied Naval operations for the invasion; Air Chief Marshal Portal, Marshal of the R.A.F.; Lt.-Gen Sir Hastings Ismay, Capt. Sir Harold Campbell of the Royal Navy, and Sir Alan Lascalles, the King's private secretary.

Landing from a "duck"—amphibious landing craft—His Majesty was greeted by Montgomery. No ceremony was observed, as the landing craft continued to unload its cargo of men, munitions and armored vehicles.

Nor was the scene as the King slipped the O.B.E. ribbon over Keller's head one of ceremony. On a lawn shaded by a grove of trees, as Spitfires patrolled overhead,

U-Boat Warfare Starts Again

HALIFAX, June 17 —(CP)— Resurgence of U-boat warfare close to the Canadian Atlantic coast last March was revealed last night when authorities permitted disclosure of the sinking of the Nova Scotia steamship Watuka just off this province.

The 25-year-old vessel, one of the best-known ships along the Atlantic seaboard, went down March 22, with the loss of one man after being struck by two torpedoes, according to crewmen, as she neared Halifax with a cargo of coal from Louisburg, N.S.

Twenty-five others escaped, most of them piling into a leaking lifeboat that soon was awash and a little jolly boat which sank just before Canadian minesweeper Anticosti picked up the survivors an hour after the 1,621-ton Watuka had plunged under.

Three explosions racked the little collier, crew members said, as two torpedoes ripped into the vessel in the pre-dawn dark and the second enemy torpedo touched off the Watuka's own ammunition for her defensive gun. She sank in less than five minutes.

Alcohol Drinking Kills 8

Several Others Admitted To Hospital

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 17 (CP)—Death of five men in hospital today brought the toll of fatalities from drinking methyl alcohol here in the last two days to eight. A ninth man, it is reported, may also have died from the same cause.

The alcohol, part of a shipment going overseas for the Canadian Red Cross, was said by authorities to have disappeared from a shed on the waterfront at West Saint John early yesterday. All the victims were stevedores except one, an Indian crew member of a freighter, who died yesterday.

Eight men were known to have died from alcohol poisoning. Another man died yesterday, apparently from the same cause, but it has not been definitely established that alcohol brought on his death.

Several other men were admitted to hospital after drinking the poison liquor. The condition of one of these was described as serious today.

Robot Plane Take-off Base In Pas de Calais Area Pounded By Bomber Fleet

Synthetic Oil Plant At Duisburg And Targets In Berlin Hard Hit In Night R.A.F. Swoop

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR—Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 17—(AP).—About 1,000 R.A.F. heavy bombers smashed last night at enemy installations in the Pas de Calais area of France, from where the Germans are believed to be launching their pilotless planes, while other British formations hammered a synthetic oil plant near Duisburg and targets in Berlin.

R.C.A.F. heavyweights flew with the R.A.F. night raiders, shading in the attacks on a synthetic oil works at Sterkrade in the Ruhr and on the Pas de Calais installations

Thirty-three bombers were lost, of which two were Canadian, the Air Ministry said.

The night blow against Pas de Calais came a few hours after United States heavy bombers in the last hours of daylight yesterday pounded these same installations.

Despite day and night thrusts at that portion of the French coast nearest to England—an area battered repeatedly before the invasion—the Germans kept their mysterious robot planes hurtling across the Channel last night in a continuation of attacks kept up yesterday and the previous night. Damage and casualties were caused in several places in England.

Support Troops

Although miserable flying weather once more hampered the air support of the invasion armies yesterday, Supreme Headquarters said 2,500 sorties were flown by Allied air units—about 1,000 of them by American heavy bombers and their escort in the twilight smash at the Pas de Calais.

The night attack on Berlin was made by Mosquitos, while British Lancasters and Halifaxes continued the Allied campaign aimed at drying up Hitler's war machine by dumping tons of explosives on the Fischer Tropsch synthetic oil plant at Sterkrade, about five miles north of Duisburg. It was the second time this week the R.A.F. has been over Germany in strength.

The fleet of American heavy bombers also hit three Nazi air bases in the vicinity of Paris and Laon, 80 miles northeast of Pas de Calais. One bombers and four escorting fighters failed to return. One German plane was shot down.

American fighters also bombed and shot up railroads and truck convoys south of the beachhead.

The fighters demonstrated a new technique by dumping their auxiliary fuel tanks half full of gasoline on targets and then strafing fires with incendiary bullets. In this manner enemy transport was destroyed, freight and tank cars were left burning and a number of ammunition cars were exploded.

A Heavy Toll.

Fighter pilots reported destroying or damaging about 500 railway cars, 11 locomotives 21 trucks, 10 tanks, one military building, 54 tank cars, an armored car, a gun emplacement, a flak tower and a power transmitter yesterday.

R.A.F. bomber crews said opposition in the Ruhr area last night was as strong as ever.

The Nazi fighters dropped what appeared to be a new type of flare over the path of the British bombers and numerous combats ensued.

One Halifax pilot said the flares used by the enemy fighters burst fairly high with a yellow light which lasted five or six seconds.

"Then it dropped like a stone for about 3,000 feet," he said. "Then once more it burst into an intense yellow light which again lasted for several seconds. After that it started falling once more and finally glowed orange and red before going

Peterboro Boys Fight Bravely On French Front

The bravery of Peterborough and district men serving in Eastern Ontario units on the invasion front has been cited by war correspondent Ralph Allen in a copyright story in the Globe and Mail. Although under heavy fire, disregarding their own safety, some of them selflessly risked death and capture so that their buddies would have their chance.

In the first comprehensive story given of the terrific fighting which Canadian units have been undergoing in France, outstanding work done by Major Neil Gemmell, formerly of the Quaker Oats staff. H./Capt. R. T. F. Brain, who carried on in spite of his own wounds, Ptes. F. R. Wheeler and R. G. Campbell of Campbellford, stretcher bearers, has been vividly related.

Constant Shellfire

At 1 o'clock in the morning of D-plus-one-day, our troops came under shellfire. They were under steady shellfire all that night and all the next day and all the next night again. And, though the fire was diminished now they still come under it now and then, a week after the full force of the battle has spent itself.

Viipuri Capture Expected Soon

MOSCOW, June 17 — (CP) — The Finns are blowing up all the bridges on two highways leading to Viipuri on the Karelian Isthmus, seeking to hold the Red Army's entry into the city, front dispatches said today.

But Soviet capture of the city appeared inevitable. The rumble of Russian big guns already was echoing strongly in its streets.

"As the offensive develops the battles assume a more violent character," said Red Star Correspondent Grigory Ivanov. "All attempts to stop the offensive are failing."

With more than 100 newly-captured populated points behind them the Russians with strong artillery and bomber support hurled an impressive weight of tanks, tommy-gunners and infantry in massive waves across the Karelian Isthmus.

Compulsory evacuation of the Finnish city of Viipuri toward which the Russians are driving with a great weight of men and armor now is in progress, Helsinki dispatches reported today.

Refugees also are streaming from other Karelian towns under long-standing plans, dispatches said.

In an attempt to throw every available man into the struggle to stop the Soviets, the Finns were reported by the Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter to have moved all troops eastward from (Aland) Islands in the Gulf of Bothnia.

Mr. Beaubien addressed a dinner meeting of the Toronto branch of the Engineering Institute. The Branch will meet today, when discussion will centre on a protest against engineers in the new corps.

"The engineers role in war is very important and we feel they should be given an opportunity to serve in a corps of their own," he declared. "As a matter of fact, it is an offence to use the word engineer if you are not an engineer, but the government is using the prestige of

Allied Armor, Infantry Punches Out Several Local Gains Now 20 Miles Beyond French Coast

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 17—(CP).—British troops on the Allied bridgehead east of the Orne River repulsed two strong German counter-attacks and the American thrust across the Cherbourg peninsula moved slowly closer to the enemy's last land link with Cherbourg, headquarters reports said today.

Meanwhile bad weather and rough seas hampered unloading of ships and other operations and made it unlikely the Allies would attempt to mount a full-scale attack until the weather improves and they can use their air superiority to the full.

Today's SHAEF communique reported only slight activity along the 100-mile beachhead front, although the German attacks east of the Orne River were described as heavy and "extremely costly" to the enemy.

These attacks were aimed at penetrating Allied positions at Breville and Escoville, respectively eight and six miles northeast of Caen.

In the centre of the Normandy bridgehead, British armor and infantry punched out local advances despite heavy opposition between Caumont and Tilly sur Seulles. South of Caumont British units have thrust inland more than 20 miles—the deepest penetration anywhere.

Sidney Mason, Reuter correspondent at SHAEF, said Tilly, east of Caumont and southwest of Caen, was in German hands again. Earlier in the week British armor thrust into the village.

Cherbourg Menaced

The American advance across the Normandy peninsula threatened to turn the port of Cherbourg into another German Sevastopol.

The last rail link was severed by units which were in possession of St. Sauveur le Vicmote, 18 miles south of Cherbourg, and were consolidating their hold on it.

South of that point, other American forces were four miles from the Nazis' last main communications junction, La Haye du Puits, and had it under artillery fire. Its capture would sever all land routes to Cherbourg.

In these attacks Field Marshal Erwin Rommel used tanks and infantry in efforts to penetrate British positions at Breville and Escoville.

American forces which captured St. Sauver yesterday, after heavy fighting, were busily digging in and getting set for an expected heavy German counter-attack. The advance farther west in this sector appeared likely to be slow since the country is marshy and hilly in spots and lends itself readily to defence.

The area west of recaptured Montebourg, 16 miles south of the port of Cherbourg, was still a battleground.

It appeared both sides were building up reserve forces for big efforts likely to come when the weather improves.

The Allied naval command report no E-boat activity during the night, but it was not known whether this was due to German losses in recent air and navy attacks against their bases or rough water in the Channel.

Retake Montebourg

The American forces in the Cherbourg peninsula recaptured Montebourg, 14 miles south of the port of Cherbourg. Another American column penetrated to three miles from Carentan in the southernmost drive across the peninsula.

The next 36 hours or so may be decisive in the bitter fight for the peninsula and the city at its tip, control of which would give the Allies one of France's best ports to fed the invasion.

The Germans faced a hard decision — whether to counter-attack with everything available against threats to split the peninsula, or

King George Visits Troops On French Front

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, June 17 (CP)—The King landed on these Normandy beaches yesterday only 10 days after the Allied invasion of western Europe opened.

He crossed the channel on the cruiser H.M.S. Arethusa, lunched with General Montgomery, Allied ground commander, and before he returned conferred the C.B.E. upon Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller of Kelowna, B.C., commander of the Canadian 3rd Division

When he stepped ashore on a beach just west of Courselles, the King heard shells screaming overhead from the cruiser Hawkins, firing at a target 10 miles inland. It was the first time in this war the King had witnessed actual firing at enemy positions.

Accompanying His Majesty were Admiral Cunningham, First Sea Lord; Admiral Ramsay, Chief of Allied Naval operations for the invasion; Air Chief Marshal Portal, Marshal of the R.A.F.; Lt.-Gen Sir Hastings Ismay, Capt. Sir Harold Campbell of the Royal Navy, and Sir Alan Lascalles, the King's private secretary.

Landing from a "duck"—amphibious landing craft—His Majesty was greeted by Montgomery. No ceremony was observed, as the landing craft continued to unload its cargo of men, munitions and armored vehicles.

Nor was the scene as the King slipped the O.B.E. ribbon over Keller's head one of ceremony. On a lawn shaded by a grove of trees, as Spitfires patrolled overhead,

U-Boat Warfare Starts Again

HALIFAX, June 17 —(CP)— Resurgence of U-boat warfare close to the Canadian Atlantic coast last March was revealed last night when authorities permitted disclosure of the sinking of the Nova Scotia steamship Watuka just off this province.

The 25-year-old vessel, one of the best-known ships along the Atlantic seaboard, went down March 22, with the loss of one man after being struck by two torpedoes, according to crewmen, as she neared Halifax with a cargo of coal from Louisburg, N.S.

Twenty-five others escaped, most of them piling into a leaking lifeboat that soon was awash and a little jolly boat which sank just before Canadian minesweeper Anticosti picked up the survivors an hour after the 1,621-ton Watuka had plunged under.

Three explosions racked the little collier, crew members said, as two torpedoes ripped into the vessel in the pre-dawn dark and the second enemy torpedo touched off the Watuka's own ammunition for her defensive gun. She sank in less than five minutes.

Alcohol Drinking Kills 8

Several Others Admitted To Hospital

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 17 (CP) —Death of five men in hospital today brought the toll of fatalities from drinking methyl alcohol here in the last two days to eight. A ninth man, it is reported, may also have died from the same cause.

The alcohol, part of a shipment going overseas for the Canadian Red Cross, was said by authorities to have disappeared from a shed on the waterfront at West Saint John early yesterday. All the victims were stevedores except one, an Indian crew member of a freighter, who died yesterday.

Eight men were known to have died from alcohol poisoning. Another man died yesterday, apparently from the same cause, but it has not been definitely established that alcohol brought on his death.

Several other men were admitted to hospital after drinking the poison liquor. The condition of one of these was described as serious today.

Pte. J. Bolster Killed In Invasion

COBOURG June 17.—(ENS). —Pte. John Bolster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bolster, whose wife Ethel Bolster resides in Brantford, is the first Cobourg boy to lose his life in the invasion of France.

He is 29 years of age and was born in Cobourg and received his education here. During his collegiate days he was an outstanding athlete. At the time of his enlistment in May of last year, he was assistant-manager of Zeller's store in Peterborough. He went overseas in September of 1943 and transferred to another unit. He is survived by his widow, who was Ethel Curley of Brantford; his parents and three sister, Mrs. F. Franklin of Cobourg, Mrs. L. Chabot and Marguerite Bolster of the nursing staff of Kingston General Hospital.

Sixty-five to 75 miles up the peninsula from Grosseto captured by the 5th, is Pisa, the west anchor of the Pisa-Florence-Rimini line at which the Germans may take a stand against the Alied Armies, the the naval base of Livorno, and the city of Florence. Grosseto, with its airport facilities, is expected to be of immediate value for air attack on German prepared positions in the Northern Apennines whose whose foothils come down to these cities.

Elba is just off the west coast of Italy, seven miles from Piombino, nearest mainland point. It is about 19 miles long, 6½ miles wide, and has an area of 140 square miles. The highest elevation is Monte Capanne, 3,340 feet.

INVASION ZONE WIDENS IN NORMANDY—The battle of Normandy, now in its first stages following the invasion of the French coast, continues to add up successes for the Allied forces while in the background the war arena in western France stretches back from the coast about 100 miles where the "Inland Atlantic Wall" of the enemy (1) is said to stretch through Le Mans to points above Paris. On the Cherbourg peninsula (2), which the invaders seek to cut, and possibly drive on Cherbourg itself, the Allies have cut across main roads; continue to take more points near their beachheads, have captured Carenten, and threaten Caen. Reconnaissance planes bring back reports that Germans are trying to rush supplies and men (3) toward the coast battle zone.

higher than anticipated, but that casualties in the Peninsula area to the west had been lower than anticipated.

The General disclosed that since D-day there had been two critical periods when the Germans might have created a serious situation by an attack in force.

The first period, he said, was when the American troops fighting their way ashore in the central beachhead were encountering a reinforced Nazi Division. This was where the 1st Division and supporting elements fought a savage beach battle.

The second critical time was when American forces were trying to make their junction of beachheads secure north of Carentan. This was a soft spot at the time because it was a junction point between the American 7th Corps on the Cherbourg Peninsula and the 5th Corps on the central beachhead.

The General declared he thought the enemy now had lost his chance to drive the Allies back into the sea and that the beachhead now was secure.

Since their landings, American troops have captured and evacuated 8,500 prisoners, Bradley said.

Bradley estimated the number of German divisions in France to be between 60 and 70, with 16 divisions or elements fighting against the entire Normandy bridgehead.

The General said the enemy would be unable to move all his divisions in France into the Normandy front because defences must be manned in other parts of the country, and garrisons have to maintain control of the civilian population.

LADDERS TO SCALE FRENCH CLIFFS—U.S. Army Rangers show how they captured a Nazi shore battery emplaced on a cliff overlooking the sea, a feat which helped greatly in the success of the landing on the French coast on D-Day. A long ladder was strung up the side of the cliff enabling them to take the gun crew by surprise, and wipe them out before they could bring their guns to bear.

Five British officers and two British N.C.O.'s also were decorated.

Friendly Talk

After the investiture, His Majesty chatted briefly with Keller before his return to the front, congratulating him, and asking about the 3rd Division's part in the invasion and the casualties Canadians had suffered.

Keller told him the casualty figures were lower than had been expected.

The King visited French villages which had been in German hands only days previously, and men, women and children gathered to wave and cheer.

Later in the day he went back aboard the Arethusa and returned to Britain.

Last night the King sent this message to Allied Supreme Commander Gen. Eisenhower:

"To-day I have visited the beaches of Normandy, which will be forever famous.

"All that I saw on the journey and on the soil of France has moved me deeply. I have come home feeling an intense admiration for all those who planned and organized so vast a project, and for the gallant and successful execution of it in all its varied phases, by every one of those now engaged in this great battle."

Cobourg Flier Reported Missing

COBOURG, June 17.—(ENS). —Flying Officer Leo O'Grady of Cobourg, is missing after air operations overseas. His wife resides in Toronto and his mother, Mrs. Michael O'Grady lives in Cobourg.

Member of the Leaside Squadron of the R.C.A.F. he headed his class as an air gunner and was later commissioned, going overseas in October of last year, about three months after graduation. He was born in Cobourg and worked at the Cobourg Dyeing Co. and at the branch in Toronto. He has three sisters, Mrs. W. Doge, Mrs. Clarence Bevan of Cobourg, Mrs. R. Ware of Preston and a brother, Tom, in Batavia, NY.

OBITUARIES

ROY RAPER.

MILLBROOK, June 17.—(ENS). —The sudden death of Roy Raper, formerly of Millbrook, occurred in Toronto Thursday when he was stricken with a heart attack. For more than ten years he had been connected with Robert Simpson's and was floor manager. He was 54 years old.

Born and brought up in Millbrook, he was the elder son of Benjamin Raper and the late Elizabeth Tebb. He was the proprietor of a funeral parlour in Millbrook before leaving the community more than 20 years ago when he went to Toronto and was employed with the Dodds and Bates Funeral Home before joining Simpson's some 15 years ago. Mr. Raper was a member of the United church and in Millbrook a member of Millbrook Lodge, I.O.O.F. No. 308.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, formerly Flossie Mullen, daughter of the late Mr and Mrs. William Mullen, of Millbrook; his father in Millbrook; 2 sons, Leon overseas with the R.C.A.F. and Maxwell at home, and one daughter, Mrs. James Hammett Dorothy) of Toronto. A brother, Arnold, is in Toronto, and two sisters also remain, Mrs. Arthur Fallis (Irene) of Millbrook and Mrs. Robert Bateson (Mabel) of Campbellford.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3.30 p.m. from the Dodds and Bates Funeral Home, Queen Street West, Toronto. Interment Park Lawn cemetery.

MRS. LULU O. CARR

An extended illness caused by a heart condition resulted in the death this morning of Mrs. Lulu Olive Carr, at the home of her nephew, Arthur Hancock, in the second concession of Smith township.

Mrs. Carr was born at Newtonville sixty-five years ago, daughter of Thomas Hancock and his wife Sarah Cooper. Her husband, Robert Carr, predeceased her three years ago. She had been a resident of the city and district for forty-four years.

Mrs. Carr is survived by her brother, Clement H. Hancock, Ottawa, and Clifford Hancock of Smith. She was a member of George Street United church.

The funeral will take place Monday at 1.30 p.m. from the Nisbett funeral home, Charlotte street, to Little Lake cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

and the 80-millimetre guns and bigger stuff, 17 and 20-millimetre mediums and heavies. Three times the spearhead battalion met weapons straight from Mars, rocket emplacements built on high platforms, one on a high treetop and one in a church steeple firing 24 rockets to a volley.

They captured one rocket position intact and their artillery knocked another out.

The vanguard force of the spearhead battalion was surrounded in Authie at the extreme tip of the advance. An officer stood in the square of the town and emptied his revolver into an encircling phalanx of Huns, then grabbed the weapons of the men who had fallen around him and emptied them in turn until, still apparently unhurt, he was engulfed in the vortex of grey. The commander of the vanguard, gave the order to withdraw and then, with his batman feeding him ammunition, he lay in the street behind a Bren gun to cover the retirement until long after his own last chance of getting out had vanished. They were believed prisoners of war.

The battalion's earlier platoon, pushing deep into enemy positions, was hammered from close range by an 80-millimetre gun. At the head of a little procession a tank was coming up the road. Through the dust of the tank the platoon commander, Capt. E. C. Gray of Amherst, N.S., could catch only a hazy and unsatisfactory view of what was going on ahead. He dismounted and his carrier ran up ahead of the tank. He worked his way to the barbed wire barricade protecting the gun position and knocked out the German 88 with a hand grenade.

Soldiers Dig In

The advance battalion formed its hub and as it was still digging in a strong force of German infantry stormed the high wall overlooking its position and laced it with heavy crossfire of machine guns. Major C. K. Kennedy of Truro, N.S., and his company held the tenuous position together until pinpoint fire from our artillery broke up and dispersed the German assault.

The leading battalion fell back on its supporting unit a mile away in the town. Together, two regiments repulsed four successive night attacks and as the stormy action entered the third day the force of the German offensive had exhausted itself and the Canadians' job was done.

Besides trenches, where men rest in constant vigil, there is much to talk about now between bursts of ranging guns. Dramatic things like the defense hastily organized under Major F. W. Lander of Kingston, Major F. L. Fisher of Kingston, Major Archie MacDonald, Alexander, Ont., Major Neil Gemmell, Peterborough, and the battalion's colonel, as the leading battalion fell back on the supporting unit and the two made their stand together. Incredible things like two women snipers dressed in German uniforms the troops captured on their way into the battle sector.

Save Badly Wounded

And small things, too. Not things that make exciting newspaper stories, but the kind of things that show how well a unit's trained and how well it can adapt itself to the deadly impact of swift events. Like the four stretcher-bearers who gave first-aid to two terribly wounded men, one with both legs blown off, and worked so fast and effectively that both men lived, though neither saw further medical aid until hours later. The stretcher-bearers were Pte. F. R. Wheeler of Campbellford and Pte. G. R. Campbell, also of Campbellford; Pte. G. S. O. Rock of Ottawa, and Pte G. R. Bergeron of Cornwall.

Other little things. Like the way Sgts. Tom Plumridge, Kingston, and Bob Smith, Port Hope, helped hold a carrier platoon together and extricate it from an artillery trap. Like the faithfulness of Padre Capt. R. T. F. Brain, Peterborough, who, though wounded himself in the leg, attended other wounded for 24 hours until he was evacuated to England with the casualties. Like the work of the signallers under fire—Lieut. Hugh Hall, Toronto; Cpl. John Hanlon, Kingston, and K. E. Mitton, Trenton. The last went out one night to lay wire as a private and did such an outstanding job he came back a corporal. Things like the way a mortar platoon took itself over when its commander and three sergeants were killed by a single shell. Cpl. P. A. Vandeloes of Kirkfield, Ont., reported his platoon ready to fire before the colonel could withdraw it for reorganization. Things like the way forward observation officers from the artillery controlled vital help from our field guns in a mounting series of crises. One of them was Capt. Ikey Buchanan, New Glasgow, already holder of the Military Cross and Bar from the North African and Italian campaigns. Another was Hugh (Bummer) Stirling of Sarnia, former oll-Canadian football star.

SUPERMEN—KINDERGARTEN CLASS—These 'teen-aged German "supermen" do not seem particularly put out at having their brief military careers terminated so suddenly, by the Allied Liberators of France. They were among the first prisoners taken.

withdraw and leave forces massed in the north to shift for themselves.

Allied officers expected a typical bitter German counter-attack on St. Saveur.

Perhaps the most dangerous threat to the German position was the American drive against La Haye du Puits. That town, six miles from the western coast of the peninsula, is on the highway which is the last main road link to the north.

Front dispatches said Americans had gained two miles from Pretot and stood only four miles from La Haye du Puits.

In any case, the peninsula was all but cut in two, for American artillery was within range of the highway beyond St. Saveur, which is 18 miles south of Cherbourg itself.

Street Fighting

Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead described the fighting entry of American troops into St. Saveur at noon Friday. It marked a three-mile gain from Reigneville across the Douve river.

Whitehead, who entered the town with American patrols, told of bitter house-to-house fighting by fanatical young Nazi soldiers.

Strategically, the American threat to the peninsula was a 30-mile arc from Quineville on the east coast, southwest through Montebourg and St. Saveur and then southeast to the Carentan area.

The U.S. battleships Texas, Nevada and Arkansas aided the drive by bombarding German positions ahead of the Americans in the Carentan and Isigny areas, last night's communique No. 22 reported.

Southeastwards from the peninsula battle front Allied forces had a strong hold on Caumont, their deepest penetration into France but patrols had reported heavy enemy concentrations in the wooded hills south of that point.

people of southern England flocked into bomb shelters, most of which were jammed throughout the night.

Fighter pilots are expected to lead the defence against the robots. Hits may not always explode the craft, but fliers are reported able to bring them down where they would do the least harm.

Morale High

While everyone is speculating about the robots, this much seems to be agreed—that they have high speed and a bright red light tail, spit flames from their exhaust, fly on a straight low course, and hum rythmically like a motorboat.

Morning newspapers asserted that if Hitler had hoped to disrupt British morale and weaken Britain's will to war he had failed utterly.

"The British people will not demand protection at home to the detriment of the major task abroad" declared the London Daily Express.

"Each smoking missile that comes through the air over here is one piece of German output the less to be used against the armies fighting for the liberation of Europe," the London Daily Herald said. "Anyway our men in Normandy are facing much worse. We do not complain at the fact that once again civilian Britain stands in the front line — and this time we share some of the trials of an army on the offensive, an army marching to victory."

Millbrook Flier Reported Missing

MILLBROOK, June 17 — (ENS) —A second son of Mrs. H. R. Armstrong of Millbrook, FO. Arthur T. Armstrong, has been reported missing following air operations overseas. His brother, WO1 Herbert Roderick Armstrong is now a prisoner of war in Germany.

Although coming from Millbrook, FO. Armstrong worked for quite a time in the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Toronto. From here he went to Hamilton and at the time of his enlistment in January, 1942, he was working in Creighton Mines. The young airman went overseas in December, 1942.

Beside the brother in Germany FO. Armstrong has another brother, Major Gordon Armstrong, and a sister, Miss Mary Armstrong lives in Peterborough.

strength. On the third day ashore a column of Canadian tanks and infantry bumped into a German tank force near Authrie, three miles northwest of the outskirts of Caen, and there developed a slugging match in which tank losses were considerable on both sides. The Germans withdrew first and then the Canadians fell back to better positions on the slopes.

Use 88-mm. Guns

For the next few days and night German battle groups of armor and infantry with mobile 88-mm. artillery bashed at the 3rd Division all along its front and also hit at a British division on the flank. But the enemy failed to break the line although it was touch and go several times.

The division had not much transport with it on the assault but Keller skilfully manoeuvred his brigades about the front, parrying German thrusts here, hitting the enemy there and keeping the initiative as the strength of the formation built up.

Canadian artillery fired tons of shells in support of the infantry and tanks and tough tank crews ranged along the front. On the beaches Canadian engineers showed courage and skill clearing beach obstacles under fire and enabling landing craft to come in the wake of assault infantry and tanks.

Every unit in the division and all its tanks were in action in those first days and several times the entire Canadian force was engaged at once.

The first week of fighting and constant threat of German attack that might break through was the most hectic I have ever witnessed. Fighting flared all along the Canadian front and day and night attacks were launched against the division. Behind forward positions sniper hunts went on in the woods and towns clear back to the beaches. Few roads were really safe to travel and dispatch riders made their rounds to the front in armored cars instead of on motor bikes.

But the first 11 days are over and the Canadians are ready for the next move as Montgomery faces Rommel.

the engineering profession in its new corps—without engineers.

"No other profession would tolerate such a situation," he went on. "What would the average citizen think if the Government created a medical corps without doctors or a dental corps without dentists?

Denies Scarcity

"It is claimed by Ottawa there is a scarcity of engineers in Canada. The scarcity as such has been created by the Government itself, who offer the engineer no opportunity to serve."

The new corps, he maintained, was patterned after the Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers group in Britain, but "British regulations provide that every officer in that group must be an engineer. One of the arguments at Ottawa is that men at the head of the corps were not doing engineering work," he said. "But while the man at the top of the National Research Foundation is not an engineer, he has to know engineering to do the work."

He said Canadian engineers had developed mechanics higher than they had ever been before. "We make everything in less time and at lower cost," he said. "For instance one gun barrel used to take 137 man hours and we now turn it out in 37. Our steel is better and our guns last twice as long. Engineers have continued to be useful intermediaries between labor and management."

He believed members of the profession had been "too prone to stay back when they should come out and take part in public affairs."

Great Prophet Speaks To the Modern Minister

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Behold, an Angel touched Elijah and said unto him: Arise and eat. And he did eat and drink and laid him down again.—I Kings 19:5.

A fascinating word picture, which is the everlasting charm of some of the Old Testament Scriptures. The Jews were master story tellers. Beautiful stories centred around their great leaders, such as Moses and Elijah, the two great outstanding character of the Old Testament Church.

You remember how on Mount Carmel, the country side black with people, Elijah prayed and fire came down from heaven and consumed the sacrifice on the altar. On that day Elijah, as every prophet or preacher knows in his own experience, passed through a tremendous emotional strain.

He watched the dancing false prophets and restrained the impulse to join them. His hatred of idolatry could only be satisfied by the slaughter of the false prophets. Later in the day he pours out his soul in earnest prayer for rain. In answer there arise a cloud the size of a man's hand, signalling the coming hurricane. Being a man of the desert he is deeply moved and yields to the impulse to run before the King's chariot.

Zeal, hatred, enthusiasm and the frenzy of victory are all found in the character of this great prophet. He is truly a man of God but he is also truly a man of the people.

Next day comes the reaction when he hears the threat of Jezebel. One day he is the strong man of Israel; the next day he is a fugitive from the wrath of the Queen. Let us humbly strive to understand the mind of the prophet and not misjudge him. It is the reaction from emotionalism. This story is written for our instruction.

You see the desert bred man travelling at the tireless pace of the Indian of this country. He goes into the wilderness of Arabah, the wildest portion of that wild country. He casts himself down under a juniper tree and prays for death. How natural. Have you never had the same desire after an emotional strain of earnest preaching?

But the Lord is gracious and full of compassion for his servant the prophet. He sends him sleep for the restoration of body, mind and spirit. Later the angel awakens him and orders him to eat and drink. He does not feel like eating. He is too tired. But he obeys and goes to sleep again. Once more he awakes and eats and drinks. Then he goes on his long journey to Monnt Horeb. In the loneliness of the Mount of the Lord he has time to think and review the events on Mount Carmel. He is to learn the very important lesson that his feelings must not dominate him.

Truly he is a prophet. At times he is filled with the Spirit of the Lord. It takes a form of emotionalism, which has its grave dangers. It has its moods and feelings. Every eloquent minister of Christ knows this.

We have the lesson in a beautiful word picture: "Behold, the Lord passed by and a great and strong wind rent the mountains and brake in pieces the rocks before the Lord; and after the wind an earthquake and after the earthquake a fire. But the Lord was not in the wind, nor in the earthquake nor in the fire."

On Mount Carmel he passed through a whirlwind of feeling as the false gods were broken in pieces. In the earthquake of hatred he put to death the false prophets. Later his soul was on fire as he prayed for rain and in his zeal he ran before the King's chariot and exhausted his physical strength. Now he reviews the events of that day and finds in very truth the Lord was not in it; neither in the wind, the earthquake or in the fire.

Then came the still small Voice. It is quiet, unemotional but real. It is the Voice of the Lord speaking to him, his unworthy servant. The Lord said: "GO." It is an appeal to his will and to his obedience.

The D DAY has started. In these emotional times let us strive to be quiet. Let us listen to the still small Voice of God calling us to prayer to do His will. Then only will we calmly face these terrible days.

WHY ART THOU CAST DOWN, O MY SOUL: AND WHY ART THOU DISQUIETED WITHIN ME? HOPE THOU IN GOD FOR I SHALL YET PRAISE HIM, WHO IS THE HEALTH OF MY COUNTENANCE AND MY GOD.

Perseverence Is Stressed By Paul in Last Captivity

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 18 is II Timothy, the Golden Text being II Tim. 2:3. "Suffer hardship with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus.")

The second epistle, or letter, to Timothy was probably the last written by Palt. Shortly after this he was brought before the Roman emperor, Nero, and suffered martyrdom.

Timothy, you will remember, was the young man whom Paul referred to as his son, and for whom he seems to have had a special affection. His father was a Greek, his mother and grandmother Jewesses and Christians. He must have been a very sweet fine character. He accompanied Paul on many missionary journeys.

Paul was now, for the second time a prisoner in Rome. After his first arrest he was allowed to live in a house of his own, to receive his friends, to preach. He was liberated after that, and visited several churches. Then he was rearrested and incarcerated in prison, evidently in chains. It was dangerous now to visit him, and many deserted him.

In the early part of his letter to Timothy he tells him that "All they which are in Asia be turned away from me," and gives the names of two. However, he writes, "The Lord give mercy unto the house of Onesiphorus, for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain. But when he was in Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me."

Main Theme of Letter

The main theme of Paul's letter to Timothy, however, was to assure him of his love and tell him to "stir up the gift of God which is in thee. . . . For God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power and of love, and of a sound mind."

He urges him not to be ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, "nor of me his prisoner." . . . "Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus."

No finer picture was ever given concerning the ideal young minister of God. Timothy was advised to "endure hardship, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." Not to tangle himself with the affairs of this life. "Study to shew thyself approved under God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

"But shun profane and vain babblings; for they will increase unto more ungodliness."

"Flee also youthful lusts; but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart. But foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes.

"And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient."

As an old man who is at the close of a long, hard life, Paul refers to the hardships he has suffered, the persecutions, afflictions that came to him, and reminds Timothy that "all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecutions." He urges him to "continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them."

Preach the Word

"Preach the word, be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine."

Timothy must have received this letter with tears and deep sorrow, for Paul tells him that "the time of my departure is at hand"—meaning his death.

"I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course. I have kept the faith." He asks that Timothy came to him quickly for "only Luke is with me." He asks for a cloak that he left "at Troas with Carpus" be brought to him, as winter is coming on, and he asks Timothy to come to him before the cold weather sets in.

Men deserted him, Paul relates, but "The Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear . . . And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto His heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen." He concludes with salutations to friends. Thus died a noble courageous man, a good soldier.

Today is Father's Day. We could not study a more timely lesson on this day. For an ideal father would be like this man Paul—true to what he believed right: courageous, tender, loving, one who "fights a good fight" finishes his course and keeps the faith. Let us dedicate this day to Good Fathers everywhere. Let us show them how much we love and honor them. This is an especially poignant commemoration, as so many young and older fathers are now serving on the battlefronts of the world, "fighting the good fight" to bring Liberty and Peace.

The population of India numbers 338,119,000.

JOURNALIST DEAD—Fred Williams, dean of Canadian journalists, died in Toronto in his 82nd year. Mr Williams, who up to the time of his death wrote the historical column "Looking Back on Canada," started his newspaper career at 19. His most notable "scoop" was his report of the death of Sir John A. Macdonald in 1891.

B.I. Prepares For Picnic

HAVELOCK, June 17 (ENS) — The legislative grant of $3 was received by the Belmont Institute, and it was decided to invest it in an educational book, to be placed in their Library. The President, Mrs. George Hartin, presided and the roll call was responded to by naming a recent hero or heroine. The next meeting will be in the form of a picnic for children's day, and Misses Wilma Ashby and Florence Ellis were to look after arrangements and prizes for sports.

Mrs. William Anderson was convener of the program, and Mrs. Wm. Smith gave a comic reading "When The Train Comes In." An all-day quilting party will be held in the hall on June 29, with a pot-luck dinner served at noon.

Church Unity

SACKVILLE, N.B., June 17—(CP)—Rt. Rev. J. R. P. Sclater, moderator of the United Church of Canada, yesterday told the Maritime Conference of the church that the formation of a Canadian Council of Churches, closely linked with church federations in the United States and Britain, would aid considerably in bringing about church unity in Canada.

Priest Ordained

QUEBEC, June 17—(CP)—Rev. Jean Baptiste Geortes, first Haitian priest to be ordained in Canada, was consecrated here last night. Cardinal Villeneuve officiated.

TOLLED TOO LATE—This bell formed part of the Nazi warning system along the Normandy coast, but the Hun had little opportunity to toll it. Inscribed on the bell is the name of the maker, "Jean Pierre, Rotterdam."

Rev. Earle Baker to Occupy Knox United Pulpit Sunday

Rev. A. Earle Baker, minister of the historic Davenport Road United church, Toronto, will be the guest speaker at the Anniversary and Flower Sunday observance at Knox United church on Sunday.

As a boy of ten and eleven years Mr. Baker delivered the Examiner while attending Central School. Miss Mary Nicholls was his teacher. At that time he was a member of St. John's Sunday School.

Mr. Baker saw service during the last war both as a commissioned and non-commissioned officer. He is honorary chaplain of the Parkdale Ex-Servicemen's Club and Post 49 of the Canadian Legion. For the past three years he has been chaplain of the United Empire Loyalist Association, Toronto Branch.

Mr. Baker is widely know for his children's stories broadcast in morning devotions over C.B.C.

Among the faces yet fresh in his garden of memory are: Fred and Arthur Hall, the Thornton Boys, Charlie Kingdon, Bill and Hubert Eastwood, Bill Munro, Bill (Nick) Watson, Kathleen Burnett, Katie O'Leary, Mary Gibson, Miss Perry, teacher of St. John's, and others. Mr. Baker will be afforded an opportunity to meet old friends at the close of the evening service on Sunday. The Rev. H. J. Mahoney, minister of Knox church will occupy the Davenport pulpit on Sunday.

Baptist Federation

TORONTO, June 17—(CP)—Formation of a Baptist Federation of Canada was favored yesterday in a report submitted to the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec by the All-Canada committee, appointed last year to consider some form of national organization which would enable Baptists across the Dominion to co-operate effectively on a national scale. Dr. S. J. Farmer, Toronto, was elected president of the convention.

A Good Soldier of Christ Jesus

Scripture—II Corinthians 4:1-5:21

Scripture—II Timothy

Timothy, beloved of Paul to whom he referred as his son, gets a letter from Paul who wrote it while he was in prison in Rome.

When Onesiphorus was in Rome, Paul wrote, he was not ashamed that Paul was in chains, but sought him out and visited him in prison.

"Preach the word," Paul writes Timothy in his letter; "be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine."

Before Paul's last trial before Nero, he wrote, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. GOLDEN TEXT—II Timothy 2:3.

Pink Dawn In Saskatchewan

The brilliant C.C.F. victory in Saskatchewan will no doubt be looked upon by the adherents of that party throughout the Dominion as the first glorious flush of pink which proclaims the dawn of socialist power in Canada. And they may be right. The reasons for the C.C.F. victory are not obscure and an examination of them is instructive.

First of all, the C.C.F. worked hard at its campaigning and the Liberal party did not. For weeks beforehand reports came from Saskatchewan that the electorate were apathetic and lethargic; perhaps it would have been more accurate to say that the campaigners of the old parties were apathetic and lethargic. Elections are not won by drab appeals, half-heartedly put forward. The C.C.F. went into action with all the skill and ammunition it could muster, and it won the election more completely than its leaders had dared to hope in their most optimistic moments. The Liberal party failed to learn the lesson which was apparent in the Ontario election last year; at that time the party, led by Mr. Nixon, made a weak and colourless appeal to the voters, and was soundly beaten; apparently the Saskatchewan Liberals made an equally feeble bid for support and suffered a similar ignominy. An examination of the voting figures tells the tale: the Liberals simply did not turn out to support their candidates, and the C.C.F. almost trebled its support. The Liberals depended on a 'solid vote'; when will parties learn that no vote is ever 'solid' unless it is carefully tended? As for the lack of success among the Bracken Conservatives, it must be concluded that the Saskatchewan farmers have not forgotten the days of R. B. Bennett, when a farm delegation which made its way to Ottawa was refused even a half-hour conference with that great tribune of the people. Farmers have long memories.

When one party has been in power for a long time there is always a desire for change merely for the sake of change, and the C.C.F. worked on that feeling with great skill. This desire for change is particularly strong in time of war; the thinking of a great part of the electorate is neither deep nor logical, and the feeling that a change of government will somehow lessen the burdens and restrictions of wartime is strong. The Liberal party, both in the Dominion and in the province, has done well by the farmers of Saskatchewan, but the C.C.F. has promised even greater benefits. The Liberals must not moan about man's ingratitude; they should have taken pains to see that past benefits were not forgotten.

As far the Dominion implications of the election are concerned, the C.C.F. will naturally wish to represent their victory as a great awakening of the people, and the forerunner of inevitable Federal victory. They have watered down their socialism to catch a farmer vote; they will have no trouble in watering it down still further for federal consumption. If they campaign as adroitly in the Dominion contest as they have done in Saskatchewan, and if their opponents muddle and neglect their affairs, they may form the next government at Ottawa and speak for Canada at the Peace Conference. The C.C.F. has always accused the old parties of treating politics as a game, and they themselves seem to have learned that game very thoroughly; perhaps the old parties should brush up their technique.

Your Invasion Map

Today the Examiner publishes a map of the coast of France and the Low Countries which we hope will be of use to our readers for some time to come. At present reports of the fighting are naturally concentrated on the Normandy peninsula, but General Eisenhower has said that other attacks will be made on the West Wall of Europe, and when those attacks come we expect that our map will include the new fighting fronts.

It is impossible to follow the news intelligently these days without a map. It is also a fact that the map of the French coast which is to be found in home and school atlases is too small and too scant in detail to give more than a very vague idea of the nature of the country in which fighting is going on. The map which we print today is as complete as a map can be which is reproduced on newsprint; it shows all the principal settlements, the nature of the coastline, and the distances of the points of fighting from bases in England; it also gives topographical details of shorelines which will explain many points about the nature of our attacks; some information is given, also, about tides, currents and winds.

We suggest that you may wish to cut this map out of the paper tonight, and put it in a convenient but safe place—perhaps in a folder for protection — so that it will be handy every night when you read the news. A glance at a map will solve many difficulties and keep the picture of the fighting clear in your mind.

It Doesn't Make Sense

A very interesting article called "The Bad Shape of Things To Come", written by Mr. E. A. Beder, appears in the June issue of the Canadian Forum, a paper much admired by Leftists, and particularly by the better-educated element of the C.C.F. We quote Mr. Beder's opinion of the present war:

"The outstanding characteristic of this war is its reactionary nature. Hitler's new world order turns out to be only the old wage slavery in sharper form; Churchill shows he is concerned wholly with the maintenance of the British Empire; Roosevelt announces that he has abandoned the New Deal; and Stalin's pronouncements are only clear to the extent that he is careful not to mention the word socialism to the warring or defeated nations. By contrast, World War One was inspiring and revolutionary. Our newspaper columnists and radio commentators deluge us with prophecies on the imminence of world revolution, but alas, their vistas are no better founded than the Wilsonian dreams of 'a war to end war'. Shortages and rationing, stalk every land, but liberal illusions remain in ready supply.

"The Second World War most emphatically does not make sense. It is wholly without meaning and on its termination it will be found that none of the problems which called for solution prior to its outbreak has been solved...".

Apparently Mr. Beder thinks that this war does not make sense because it does not appear to be advancing the particular kind of revolution which he wants. Now no war makes sense when looked at in an entirely objective manner, for resort to force to settle a dispute is an abdication of sense. But none of us can look at this war in a wholly objective manner; we had to fight or be trampled underfoot; it makes sense to fight for existence, and national honour, and international decency. Our men who are abroad fighting, and their parents and their wives at home see this matter in a more realistic light than Mr. Beder and they will reject his opinion with contempt.

There is a neurotic strain in the Beder outburst. He dismisses the war as a failure because it does not seem likely to bring about a number of small changes in governmental systems which he thinks desirable. His conception of a world revolution is an upheaval which furthers the ambitions of the C.C.F.; anything else fails to make sense. But the world revolution of which this war is a part may be far greater than anything which Mr. Beder, peeping at the world through his C.C.F. lens, can imagine. The upheaval which we now refer to as the Renaissance was also incomprehensible to the doctrinaires of the period.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Several contemporaries have remarked on the extreme youth of the C.C.F. Yes, but a healthy infant can make a lot of trouble for its elders.

---

Several commentators on the Saskatchewan election think that the words 'disinterested' and 'uninterested' are interchangable. For these slovenly fellows, a bang over the head with a dictionary!

---

At a Chicago convention the American medical association was told that a digestive disease of unknown origin was sweeping the world. Don't confuse this with the sinking feeling which is sweeping Germany.

---

Premier Drew says that at least 60 Ontario centres should have air ports ready for post-war deevlopment. Is Peterborough going to be among the 60? Not if we don't come out of our present trance.

---

A clergyman has suggested that downtown Toronto be made a missionary area. We mention this so that you will not be surprised if an earnest-looking party is handing out tracts and flannel nightshirts on the corner of King and Yonge, next time you visit the big city.

Diary Of A Sun-burned Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Half-wittedly permitted myself to fall asleep in the sun this afternoon, and awoke two hours later, cooked to a turn and with a headache which caused my skull to expand and contract like an emotional movie-star's bosom. Passed the remainder of the day in nausea and shame, for I am always warning other people about the danger of too much exposure to the sun. How I wish that I could incorporate in the conduct of my own life some of the rich wisdom which I lavish on my friends in the form of advice. How healthy I should be! How rich I should become! But no: having warned everyone within earshot to keep out of the sun unless protected by oil, a hat and a stop-watch I dozed off in full glare, and fried myself on both sides.... Passed the evening thinking austere thoughts, as I always do when sick at the stomach. Query: are Puritans in a perpetual state of queasiness, and does that account for their outlook on life?

MONDAY: Several envious fellows have spoken to me about my determination not to have a Victory Garden this year. They would follow my example, but their wives are fond of gardening and will not let them. So far as I have been able to observe, many wives are Executive Gardeners; that is to say, they are good at planning a garden if somebody else will dig it and plant it and take care of it. They are scrupulously neat in their gardens, and are quick to detect weeds which their husbands must pull up. As my own enthusiasm for gardening is limited, and as I harbour no Executive Gardener in my household, I can let the whole matter slide.... Gardens have a painful effect on poets. Is there a more loathesome, mystically and trancendentally repulsive poem in our language than that of T. E. Browne, which begins, "A garden is a lovesome thing, God wot?" If so, I have not heard it. Browne, who was an Eminent Victorian, wrote the thing while under the influence of hashish, which he used to boil and eat like spinach. A strange vice, with horrible results.

TUESDAY: A phone-call at 4 a.m. informed me that the Invasion had begun, so I seated myself by my radio in the posture immortalized by the His Master's Voice terrier and remained there until six. Ate an immense breakfast and to my office, worrying profoundly and uselessly, but the news which came in was so good that I soon ceased to worry, mentally transferring my burden of care to the whole of the German press; I did my best worrying four years ago, and I have never been the same worrier since....Like most people, I think, I felt curiously upborne and strengthened by the news that the great attempt was being made at last....During the course of the day I was urged to pray for victory by H.M. the King, President Roosevelt, Fibber McGee and Molly and a number of other popular figures who struck a religious note; to me, the humblest of God's creatures, some of these notes were unpleasantly off-key, for they seemed to suggest that God was our secret weapon; there was a decidedly Old Testament suggestion that Jehovah was a God of Battles.

WEDNESDAY: Relaxed this evening by going to see "The Uninvited," which I had already seen in another town; on both occasions yahoos in the audience made it impossible to follow some parts of the picture by shrieking and whistling in feigned terror. May a spirit of evil parch the lips and wring the throats of every one of them....A prominent parson, speaking today, said that he hoped to live to see the day of victory; as he is about 50 I hope so too. Such an observation is rare in these days, but our grandparents all suffered under the flattering delusion that the Angel of Death was itching to carry them away. As a child I knew an old lady who made a habit of adding "If I'm spared," to any statement of intention; "I'll buy some red wool next week if I'm spared," she would say, with funereal relish; as she grew older she came to regard her sparing as an hourly matter; at last a day came when she was not spared. Probably Death felt that such an old terror would be invaluable in assisting him at the deathbeds of drunkards, card-players and other evil livers.... Will continue this tomorrow, if I'm spared.

THURSDAY: Was spared.... Reading the "Sunday Times" today I came across a reference by Ernest Newman to "those of us who feel that the eighteenth century was really the last civilized epoch in European history as a whole." It tickles me to encounter a point of view which regards the French Revolution, the American Revolution, the Unification of Italy and the Industrial Revolution as evidences of decay. Obviously Newman prefers a society in which a small group of people are genuinely and deeply cultivated to our present society, in which practically everybody is half-educated and in which a half-educated taste demands satisfaction. Personally I cannot form an opinion; our mechanical skill nowadays is astounding, we are constantly devising new ways of saving lives, we perpetually advocate new ways of sparing people from the terrors of poverty, but we seem to have worse wars and more misery, discontent and stupidity than any other period since the Middle Ages. Certainly as periods of civilization go, this one will appear to future ages as a pretty poor specimen.

FRIDAY: Was talking to a girl today who has just left school and has got herself a job in a factory; she will tend a number of machines, and for this work she will get a sufficient wage and a cost-of-living bonus of 50 cents a week. "Did you ever hear anything so silly?" she asked me; "who ever heard of anybody living on 50 cents?" That sounds as though I made it up, but I solemnly swear with my hand on my War Bonds that I did not....I often wonder if the Government realizes how misunderstood some of its economic policies are? How many people who get it really understand the cost-of-living bonus? Sometimes I think that the Government is very remote from the people. Government officials meet labour leaders, who are usually men of more than average intelligence, but do they ever meet the real workers, the bemused millions who don't know what the score is, and are not sufficiently interested to find out?

SATURDAY: Gave some thought to the problem of men's shorts; I mean underpants, and not the wrinkled khaki breech-clouts worn by the forces. Nowadays men's shorts no longer have buttons on them; they are fastened by dome-fasteners; once they have gone through a washing-machine, the fasteners are splayed, and will hardly hold. As men's shorts now have no elastic in the waistband, they must be held up by their own tightness of fit, and in consequence they are extremely uncomfortable. A man who lets himself go in a hearty laugh ruptures the domes of his shorts, and is likely to feel them descending inside his trousers....This small matter is further evidence that we live in a period of degeneration. Buttoned shorts and hand laundries agreed perfectly. Then came the washing machine, with its marvellous capacity to rip off buttons. But still the technocrats were not satisfied, so they put domes on shorts to make them even easier for the washing machines to destroy. Modern Man is in the grip of the Machine, a victim of his own mechanical cunning. The solemn hour is not far distant when the Machine will take complete charge.

HEADLONG REINFORCEMENTS —By Thomas

Enforcing the Peace

(By CHESTER A. BLOOM)

WASHINGTON: The ranking minority (Republican) leader in the U.S. house foreign affairs committee has put a tentative stamp of approval on Prime Minister Churchill's advocacy of immediate enforcement of world peace by Britain, the United States and Russia. He is Charles A. Eaton, veteran congressman from New Jersey.

Mr. Eaton's views are very important. If the Republicans won the next election, he undoubtedly would be the chairman of the powerful house foreign affairs committee. More immediately important, he is now engaged with two Republican national convention at Chicago.

His associates in this task are Senators Warren R. Austin, Vermont, and Arthur H. Vandenburg, Michigan. Senator Austin, like Mr. Eaton, is an active advocate of world organization to preserve peace, backed by force. Senator Vandenburg in the past has appeared somewhat dubious on the point of U.S. participation in actual policing of the world.

Representative Eaton, however, takes no starry-eyed view of a coming millennium of peace. It may take a hundred years, he told your correspondent, before world peace is properly enforced. There will have to be built up, bit by bit, a structure of world law and a court established by all the nations to enforce the law; behind that court must be the necessary force to punish offenders.

The world cannot wait, however; it must be realistic unless civilization is to be totally destroyed. For that reason, he was in accord with the views expressed by Mr. Churchill: that the three great victorious powers—Britain, the United States and Russia—must take the responsibility of enforcing peace on the world with their armed might immediately after the war. Eventually, China's power should be used, and all the peaceful nations of the world take a share in a world assembly. But the primary responsibility for peace would rest on the big four.

Mr. Eaton said that no doubt there were difficult problems to be dealt with. It was quite possible that, at first, some regional division of peace enforcement duty might be made. The United States, Canada and the Latin American states might be held primarily responsible for preserving peace in the western hemisphere. The United States also might have to take some share with Britain, China and Russia in enforcing peace in the Far East.

In Europe, he thought, it might be possible for the primary policing for peace to rest with Britain and Russia. He was confident that all these four nations wanted peace. Many years ago, he had said that the world would either follow America into democracy or Russia into communism. But the war, it appeared, had modified all ideas—the United States had approached to some socialistic practices and Russia had certainly abandoned the idea of world communism for extreme Russian nationalism. This is what the Germans had achieved by attacking Russia.

The new world would have to abandon many old notions and prejudices and start out with a clean slate. But a start has to be made unless civilization is to be totally destroyed.

Incidentally, Mr. Eaton, though having served his New Jersey district for two decades in the American Congress, was born and raised as a boy at Pugwash, Cumberland county, Nova Scotia. He has been a long and ardent worker for closer relations between the two countries. From the very beginning of the war, he stood for help to Britain and backed all war measures of the administration, regardless of politics. By his associates, Mr. Eaton is regarded as one of the most sound men in Congress, level-headed and possessed of sound judgment. His views carry great weight.

Peace and Power

The Anglo-American Guarantee of Security given to France after the last war broke down because America refused to ratify the Treaty of Versailles. Thereafter France tried to buttress herself in Eastern Europe. This system led inevitably to balancing treaties and alliances. The keystone of the arch was the Treaty of Locarno, which was to guarantee peace for ever. Britain and France entered it in all good faith. But all the same it was a phoney treaty because the German signatory, Dr. Stresemann, was phoney too. Locarno was but one piece in the jigsaw of treaties and alliances which helped to blind Britain to the peril of German rearmament. The statesmen erected this crazy structure "within the framework" of the League. They did not see that had the League been effective the Post system would have been unnecessary. Let us hope the lesson has been learned. It is that a successful foreign policy can only be based upon realities the greatest of which is armed strength. —London Daily Mail.

Mr. Fraser and the W.I.B.

On Tuesday last, in the House of Commons, the member for Peterborough West, Mr. Gordon Fraser, had a good deal to say about the Wartime Information Board. He was extremely critical of its publications, and made the sweeping assertion that they were nothing but a waste of material. Mr. Fraser used the word "bunk" on more than one occasion, and favored the House with some statements which were later corrected by members with more information on the subject.

This sort of criticism will invariably defeat its own purpose. A blanket indictment is seldom worth the breath that formulates it, for people of ordinary intelligence immediately realize that wholesale accusation is about the weakest form of generality. It usually denotes ignorance of the matter under discussion.

Admittedly, there are publications of the Wartime Information Board which are of little use to all the people receiving them. On the other hand, many of these publications are exceedingly useful, and are valued by the recipients. It is virtually impossible for W.I.B. to be completely selective in its releases, but people who are acquainted with the good work the board is doing are well aware that most of Mr. Fraser's statments were without foundation.

The Wartime Information Board numbers among its members and employees many practical journalists. They are honest and able men who would strenuously refuse to co-operate in the dissemination of "bunk." They are men who are doing their utmost within their own sphere for the war effort, and who have contributed effectively to a better appreciation of Canada's war effort. They deserve something better than destructive criticism of the kind indulged in by Mr. Fraser.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

A Tribute to the Press

A fine tribute to the work of the press in gathering and publishing the news of the invasion has been paid by Prime Minister Winston Churchill. Speaking recently in the House of Commons he announced that he did not intend to make a detailed statement on the operations in France, as all the points of interest had been fully covered by "the excellent reports furnished by our able and upright press".

Certainly the invasion has provided the press with the greatest task and responsibility in its history. All the skills and organization gradually formed in the experience of generations are now being brought to bear to meet the great opportunity. With this testing in prospect, there has been careful planning and preparation, and now that invasion is under way, the news is being brought out within the full scope permitted by censorship.

But scarcely less important than the facts presented is the manner of their presentation. The war-reporting of our own day is following the traditions of direct and human observation early developed in the Crimea by William Howard Russell, the enterprising correspondent of the London Times, who was one of the first to report history in the making with all the vividness and human detail of the eye-witness.

To those engaged in this adventurous service belong the dangers and chances and hardships of war. But they have their reward in their success and achievement. And in the tribute of Prime Minister Churchill they have the recognition of a man who was once a war correspondent himself, and who is now, of all men, in a position to judge the accuracy and completeness of their efforts.—Montreal Gazette.

A Bible Message

And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven. And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God saw that it was good. And God blessed them, saying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let fowl multiply in the earth.

And the evening and the morning were the fifth day. (Gen. 1: 20-23.)

Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is now their God? But our God is in the heavens: he hath done whatsoever he hath pleased. (Ps. 115: 1-3.)

For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him. (I Cor. 8: 5, 6.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Mose was walking along a country road at midnight when he was overtaken by Sam, who had been running at a great pace.

"Fo' heaven's sake, Sam," he said, "what's wrong?"

"Ah just seen a ghost!" gasped Sam.

"A real ghost? Lawdy, I bet it gave you a start!"

"Brudder," said Sam, "believe me, Ah didn't need no start!"

A woman was out shopping when she saw a queue lined up along the pavement. Determined to get anything that was going, she joined on the end. After a while she asked her neighbour, "What have they got here?"

"'Tales of Hoffman,'" was the reply.

"Oh, well," she said, "they'll make a nice change for supper."

An Army officer, noted for his imperturbability, was in the back of a motor-car which fell over a low cliff.

Miraculously, nobody was hurt, but as the car came to rest in the water a dispassionate voice was heard from the rear seat: "How frightfully Gadarene."

"I have known you so long, doctor," said the patient at the end of a visit by the doctor, "that I do not intend to insult you by paying your bill. But what I will do is to arrange a handsome legacy for you in my will."

"That's very kind, indeed, of you, Mr. Smith," said the doctor. "Er—just allow me to look at that prescription again. There is a slight alteration which I would like to make in it!"

A woman on board ship saw a man sitting in a deck chair. Approaching him, she said in a cheery tone of voice. "You are just the man we are looking for; all the married people are going to play bridge."

The man looked up at her and meekly replied: "You're mistaken, madam, I'm not married; I'm seasick."

Land Values

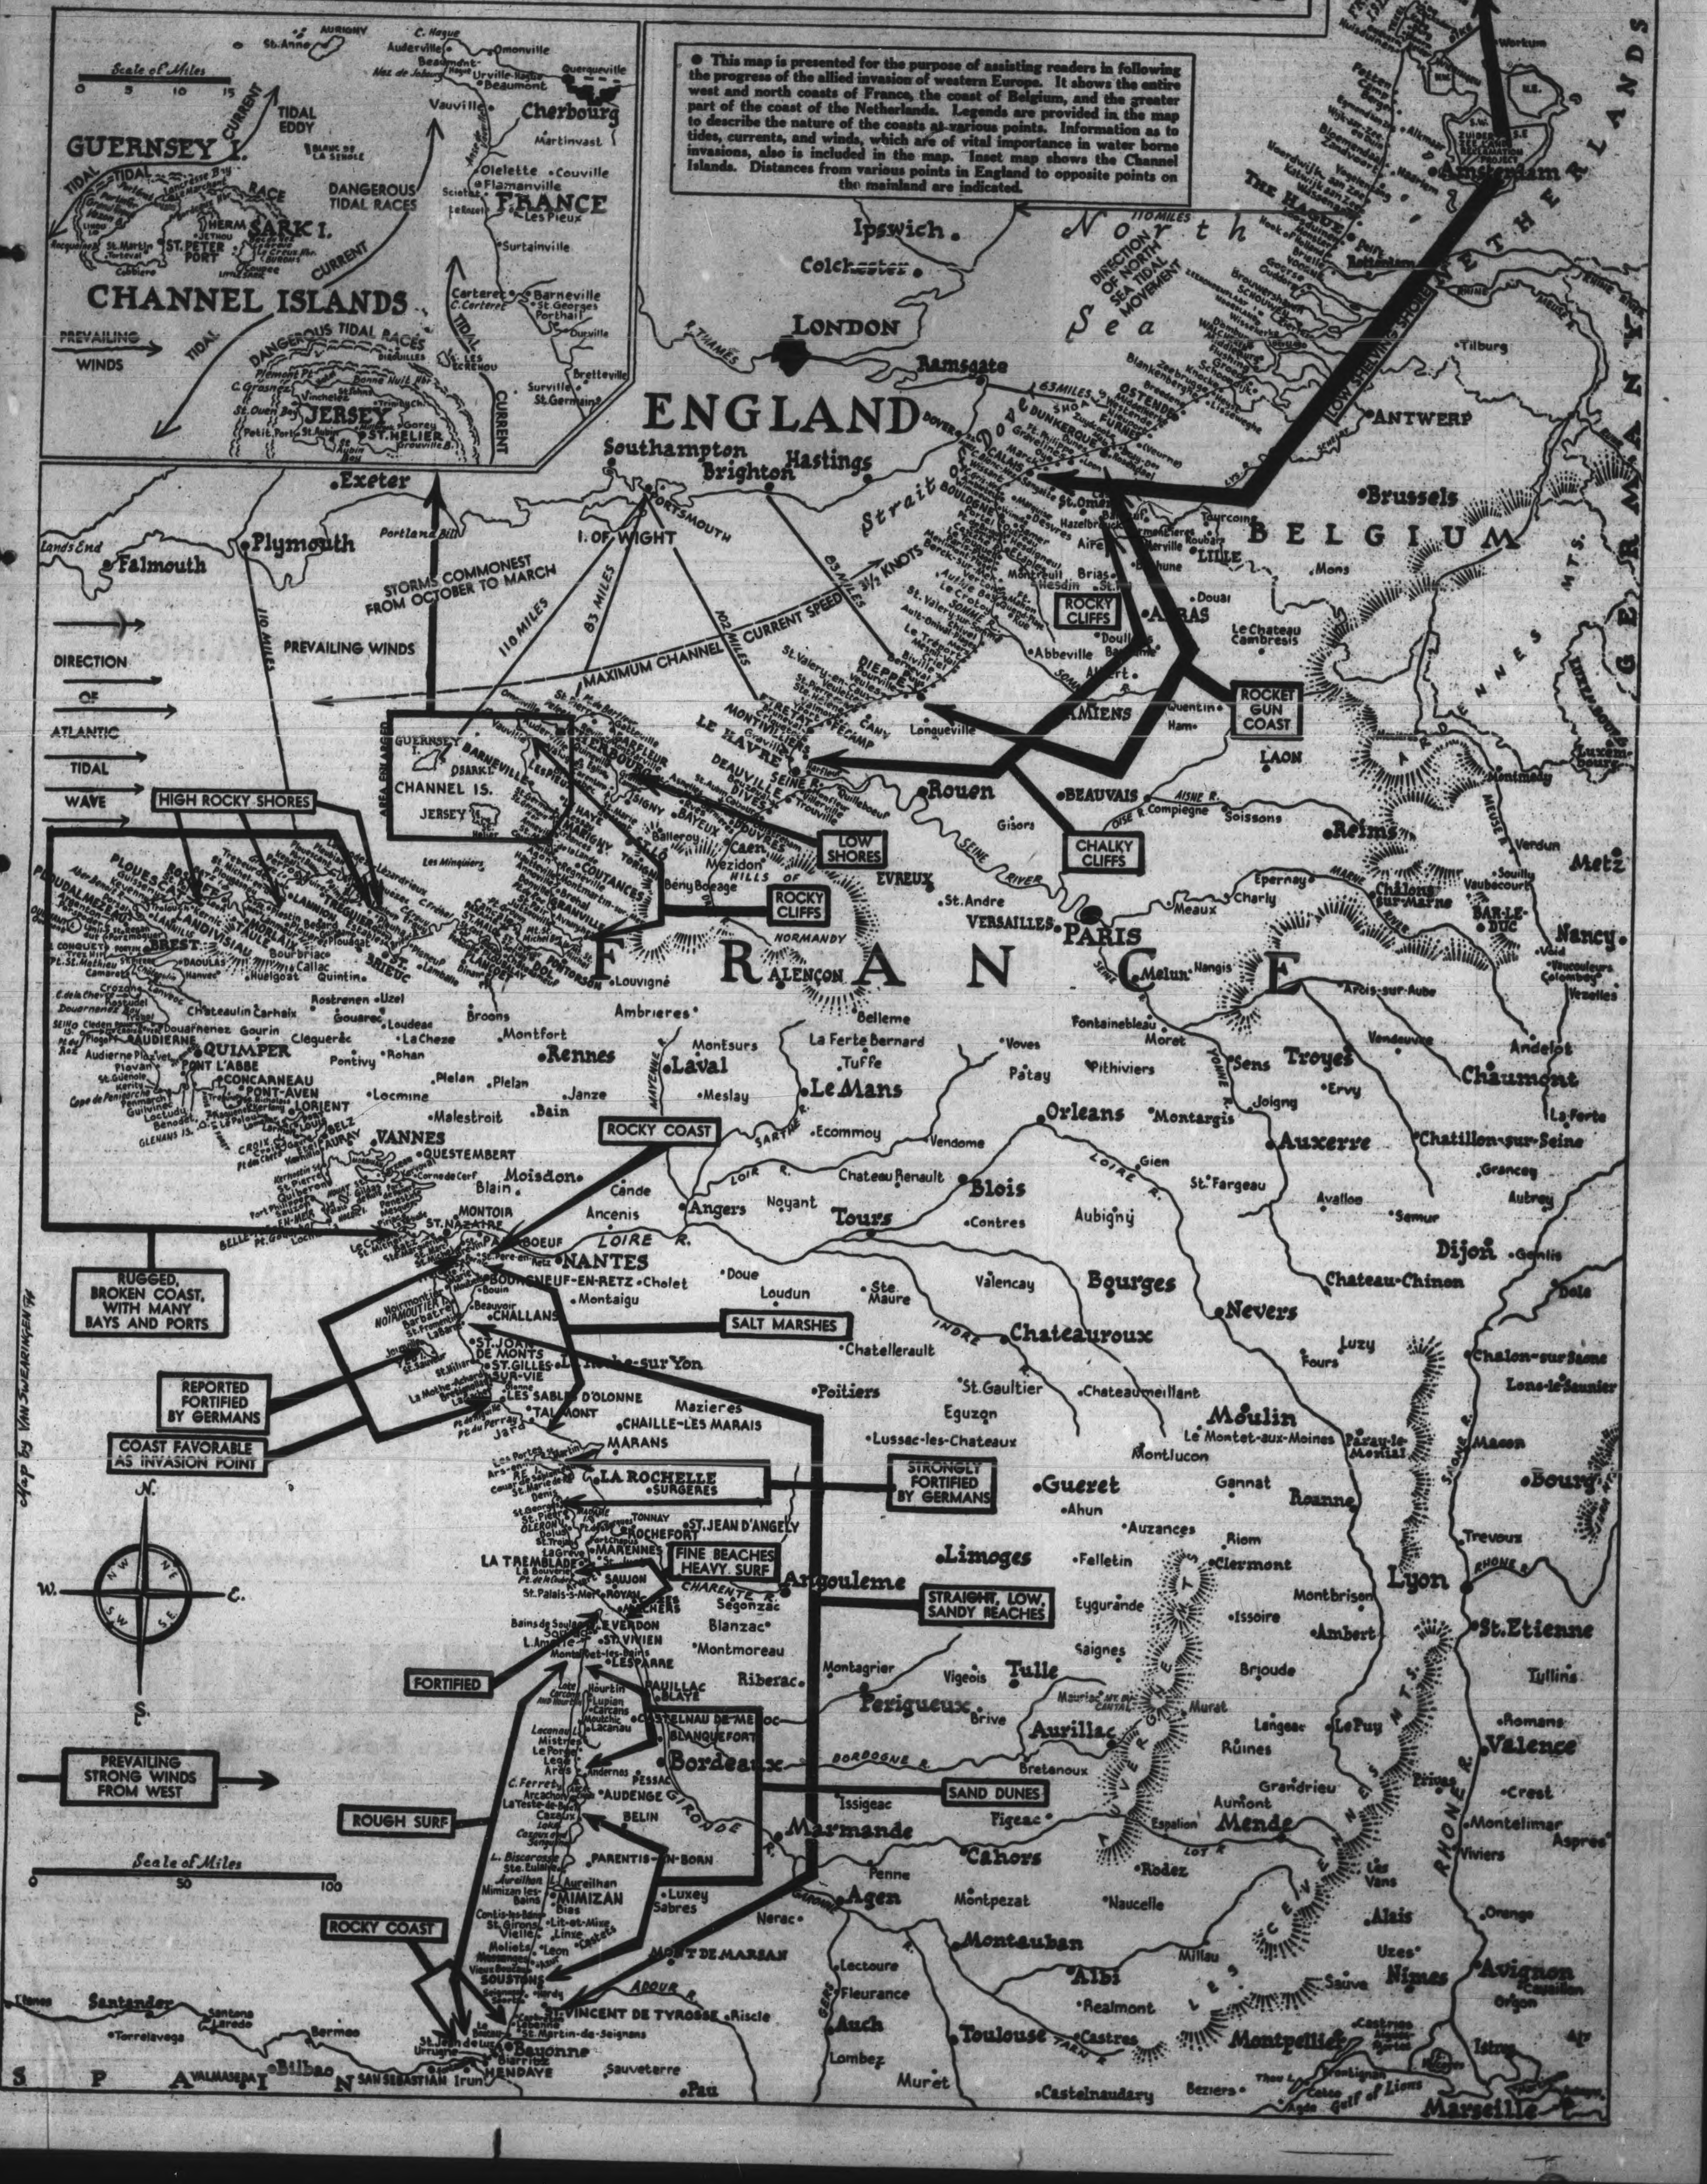
If there is a land boom in this war, it is going to be in eastern provinces. In the last war the West experienced a farm land boom as a result of $2.26 wheat, 16-cent beef and 23-cent hogs. It took us two decades or more to recover from the effects of that boom.

Recently published official figures show that, whereas Alberta land averaged $24 in value in 1910, $32 in 1920 just after the Great War, the figures dropped to $15 an acre in the depression thirties, climbed to $17 an acre in 1942 and to $18 in 1943. Present Saskatchewan price stands at $15 as against $32 in 1920, while Manitoba, $39 in 1920, was $19 in 1943.

On the other hand, Ontario and Quebec land values show a much greater increase from the depression days. Ontario and Quebec land values averaged $70 per acre in 1920, after the last war. They dropped to $41 and $42 in 1935 in the depression, and have since jumped to $58 and $56, respectively. The average price of farm land was $48 across Canada in 1920, dropped to $24 in 1935, and is now back to $29.—Lethbridge Herald.

Invasion Coasts of France and Low Countries



FRANK SEXTON the magnificent wrestler from Columbus, Ohio, and his teammate Toar Morgan meet the team of Bunny Dunlop and John Katan in an all-out four-man team match at the Brock Arena next Tuesday. There will be no restrictions such as exist in a Tag Team bout. All four of the mat giants will be allowed in the ring at the same time and for as long as they can stand it. It will be for two out of three falls and no time limit. Sexton is aching to get his turn at the villainous pair and promises that he and Toar Morgan will produce some new moves and thrills that will out-top even last week's sensational turmoil. Whipper Billy Watson came out of that one with torn rib muscles and Dunlop still complains bitterly about the fact that the opposition both jumped on his back at the same time. Morgan and Sexton are busy on some brand new dodges.

All Saints' Beat Murray St. 10-2

With McDougall pitching his best ball of the season, All Saints defeated Murray Street 10 to 2 Thursday night to eliminate the Baptists from the playoff picture in the juvenile section of the Church Softball League. Murray Street errors and some timely hitting by the Saints in the second and third frames when the winners scored nine of their 10 runs were responsible for the big score.

McDougall for All Saints pitched very effectively, striking out ten and only one of the last 14 batters to face him reached first base. All Saints now meet St. Paul's on Wednesday, June 21, in the semi-finals.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

The first Saturday night girls' game of the season will be staged at the Bowl this evening when Brintons and Aircraft will meet in a postponed fixture that should provide plenty of thrills for the week-end crowd. Brintons, twice intermediate champs, and always a good fighting outfit would love to take a fall out of the swing-skirted Aircrafters and they will do their utmost tonight to head off the outfit coached by Dave Wilson. On the other hand Aircraft need the win to keep on the heels of their old rivals, the Westclox, so that they will be trying all the way. In fact this seems like a game in which anything can happen. Brintons threw a big scare into the Westclockers earlier in the season and only a characteristic Big Ben rally in the later stages of the pastime prevented one of the season's biggest upsets. If they can play back to the form shown on that occasion the carpet-makers will prove formidable opposition for Aircraft tonight. There has been no definite announcement as to pitchers but it will be either Marg Selkirk or Norma Strickland for Aircraft.

The City Softball League starts out on its last week of the second round Monday night with a battle between St. Peter's and Plazas that should be crammed full of interest. With a lively fight developing for playoff positions every game from now on is important and both of Monday night's participants are eager for a victory. The Saints may need one to keep in front of the Soldiers and U.E.W. in the final struggle for third and fourth position while on the other hand the Plazas require a victory to make sure of their grip on second slot. Either Dave Wilson or Frank Stokoe will do the twirling for the champs while the always trying Gene Reynolds wil be on the mound for St. Peter's. Both teams will be at full strength and the game should prove one of the better arguments of the season. It will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp and should attract a real crowd. Incidentally the St. Peter's club is going to be busy next week for on Tuesday night the Saints are billed to meet the U.E.W. and a postponed game with the Military Training Centre will also be run off next week, making three games in four nights for the St. Peter's outfit.

Reviving Lacrosse

Writing from No. 1 Bombing and Gunnery School of the R.C.A.F. at Jarvis, where he is stationed, F.-S. Doug Miller, former Peterborough lacrosse player and executive informed this column that there is a movement on foot to revive lacrosse among the youth of this city. At a recent meeting a committee composed of Doug Miller chairman and Vert Reynolds and Harry Tudhope as members was formed to look after the interests of lacrosse and the lacrosse box here. It was decided at that meeting to put the lacrosse bowl in shape and to organize a juvenile league, comprising four teams, each to be managed by a former senior player. "The lacrosse club," writes Doug Miller, "is anxious to form this league as it should create a lot of interest and help provide players for the future. We will endeavor to have the league organized and in operation by July 1 so that the younger boys will have something to do when school is over." The writer points out that a good percentage of former members are on active service and that judging from their letters they are "quite anxious to get home and take up the game where they left off."

* * * * * *

F.-S. Miller says that the committee is endeavoring to secure lacrosse sticks, nets and a couple of sets of sweater to equip the team but that some difficulty is expected in finding enough sticks to go around. In that connection the suggestion is made that there must be dozens of lacrosse sitcks in Peterborough homes for which the former owners have no particular use at the present time and that a donation of a few of these lacrosse tools will be a material aid in reviving the game in Peterborough. In addition it will be necessary to renew the lease of the lacrosse box which runs out this year and this column understands that the matter is being taken up with the city council in the expectation of securing a renewal of the lease. Peterborough lacrosse enthusiasts have reason to expect consideration for such a request for the bowl was built by the players themselves, something that has never been done in Peterborough by any other sports organization, the lacrosse men claim.

Tip Tops Coming

Peterborough softball fans will be glad to learn that the Toronto Tip Tops, one of Canada's greatest softball teams will play in Peterborough on the evening of Friday, July 14 in a benefit game for Kinsmen's Milk for Britain Fund. The arrangement will be the same as last season when the Tip Top visit was the outstanding sporting event of the summer and drew a huge crowd to Riverside Park. The fast Toronto club will meet an all-star Peterborough team, with Cam Ecclestone, ace pitcher on the mound for the Petes and big Susie Turner doing the tossing for the Tip Tops. The Queen City stars are coming at their own expense, anxious to help a worthwhile fund and the entire proceeds of the game will go to supply milk for British children. Last season's game drew a gate of $400 for the fund and there is every reason to expect that the attendance at the game of July 14 will be equally as good. The strongest possible Peterborough team will be chosen and with Ecclestone doing the gunning for them the Petes should give the classy Toronto outfit a good battle. Make it a date to be at Riverside Park on the night of Friday, June 14.

The Church Softball League playoffs are reaching the last stages. In the juvenile semi-finals St. Paul's will meet All Saints Wednesday June 21 at the King Edward grounds and on George Street will clash with Trinity on Thursday evening at the Oval. Games will go nine innings and start at 7 o'clock sharp. The winners of these two games will meet in the final series, a best-of-three affair with the first game at the Oval on Monday, June 26, the second game at King Edward and the third if necessary at the Oval on June 29. In the bantam section St. John's will play All Saints tonight at 7 o'clock at the Oval and the winner of this game will cash with Knox in a best-of-three series, the first game at the Oval June 19, the second at Queen Mary School June 21 and the third if necessary at King Edward School on June 22. These games will start at 7 o'clock. It has been decided that if any game should be rained out it will be advanced to the next set date as called for in the final playoffs. This applies both to the juvenile and the bantam sections.

Johnson Motors Defeat Brinton Girls

Johnson Motors pulled the surprise ending of the season in their Girls' League game with Brintons at the Bowl on Friday night by scoring 12 runs in the last inning to come from far behind to beat the intermediate champs 15 to 11.

Brintons were leading 11 to 3, when the Outboard Marine crew went to bat in the first of the ninth and the Johnson team looked to have about as much chance as the old political parties in Saskatchewan. Then the fireworks started, and before the bewildered Carpetmakers could get the side out the Outboards had sent an even dozen runs over the plate on a combination of six hits, including a circuit clout by Vera Mitchell, three bases on balls, and five gorgeous errors. Half way through the inning Phyllis Corrigan, who had pitched good ball against the ultimate winners all the way through until that fatal blowup was succeeded by Helen English. The runmaking went on, however, until the Outboards had wiped out an eight-run deficit and opened up a four-run margin.

Brintons went out in order in their half, and the team that did not look to have a chance had grabbed off the verdict.

Brintons took an early lead. Johnson Motors started a new pitcher in the person of Maxine Munson, a Western girl, who was hit fairly hard in the first and was the victim of some slow fielding, with the result that Brintons scored four runs. They came back in the second with four more, and Helen Mark went to the mound and stopped the scoring effectively until the seventh when Jean Vass homered with two on to run the Brinton total up to 11.

Outboards had managed to send in two runs in the fourth and picked up another in the eighth, with the result they went to bat for the last time holding the small end of an 11 to 3 score. Then came the big inning that blew the Brintons right out of the park.

There were some nice fielding plays. Thelma Batley at third for Brintons made two fine running catches of foul flies and Barbara Phillips in left for the Johnson team also contributed a running grab of a high fly.

Hitting of Jean Vass featured.

Ocean Swell Takes Derby

NEWMARKET, Eng., June 17 —(CP)—Ocean Swell, a lowly regarded outsider owned by Lord Rosebery, won England's fifth war time derby today at odds of 28 to 1 in an exciting finish with Tehran and Happy Landing who finished second and third.

The Aga Khan's Tehran started at 8-1 and Walter Hutchinson's Happy Landing at 22-1. Major David Will's favorite, Growing Confidence, which started at 9-2, ran out of the money.

Ocean Swell, a bay colt by Blue Peter out of Jiffy, with W. Nevett up, took the lead less than a half-mile from home in Britain's top classic for three-year-olds, and stood off Tehran's blazing finish to win by a neck.

Happy Landing was also closing fast at the finish, showing by a head. Time was 2:31.

Garden Path—winner of the 2,000 guineas and the only filly in the field of 20—was pre-race favorite, being quoted as low as 6-1 in call-overs this week, but failed in the stretch and finished 10th, just in front of Growing Confidence.

Tehran with E. Smith aboard and Happy Landing ridden by R. A. Jones were lying fifth and sixth behind Rameses, Orestes and Garden Path when Ocean Swell moved into the lead, but they swirled past tiring horses in the stretch to stage a finishing drive to catch the winner that brought a rolling roar of excitement from the crowd of more than 10,000.

Victory in this fifth war-time Derby—the race normally is run at Epsom Downs—brought Lord Roseberry a purse of about $23,600.

Tehran paid 2-1 to place and Happy Landing returned a little better than 5-1 to show.

SWIM WONDER TO GO INTO NAVY — Alan Ford, the Yale swim wonder, talk of the sports world, will go in for submarine service when he begins advanced navy training. The 20-year-old, record-breaking natator selected that branch of the service, naturally, because he has been under water so often that he hopes to continue "living" there.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We promised the bowlers that we would keep them informed as to the standing of scheduled groups. So here is the first report.

Men's Section

Group No. 1, T. McMillan, 8 pts.
Group No. 2, W. Jeffries, 8 pts.
Group No. 3, G. Sorenson, 6 pts.
Group No. 4, J. McDonald, 5 pts.

Ladies Section

Group No. 1—Mrs. H. Graham and Mrs. P. Moore, each 8 pts.
Group No. 2, Mrs. W. Hepburn, 7 pts.

We don't know if it was the nice weather or if it was the new system adopted by the committee for handling these Friday night tournaments or a little of both, but whatever it was the response was wonderful.

The bowlers came from all parts of the city and even the odd one motored in from Lakefield. It was a glorious sight. And to handle such a crowd is no small task and we offer congratulations to "Bob" Hendry and the members of his committee. They made the draw for the 22 mixed rinks in 15 minutes and the games were under way by 7.45 p.m. The promptness is something that has been lacking in our weekly tournaments for some time and it looks as if the committee has got something this time. And best of all was the fact that there was not one late bowler. All were on hand at the appointed hour.

And although the heavy rain that came around 10 o'clock forced the bowlers to withdraw, yet they completed two games and that constitutes a tournament.

The winning rinks were skipped by P. Moore, H. Darling and R. Burns. Each received a parcel of groceries. The usual 'Saturday night' mixed will be held this evening.

Candini Halts Win Streak Of Boston Team

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer.

Boston's nine-game winning streak which had lifted the Red Sox from sixth place to within a half-game of the American League lead, was halted abruptly by Milo Candini, Washington's in-and-out right-hander, last night.

Candini blanked the Sox 4-0 with five hits in pitching his first complete game of the season. Stan Spence drove in the first two Senator runs in the opening inning with a single to tie Don Gutteridge for the lead in that department with 13 each. Washington's victory vaulted them into the first division, one percentage point ahead of the New York Yankees.

The league-leading St. Louis Browns scored a decisive 14-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Milt Byrnes and Mark Christman each drove in three runs.

The Yankees started a long home stand with a victory over the tail-end Philadelphia Athletics 6-1. A five-run sixth inning enabled Hank Borowy to hang up his eighth win of the year.

Fireman Gordon Matlzberger rescued Orval Grove in the ninth when he fanned Manager Lou Boudreau with the bases full and two out, to give the Chicago White Sox a 3-1 win over the Cleveland Indians.

Brooklyn took a close one from the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4, with the aid of a four-run outburst in the sixth inning.

The Cincinnati Reds clubbed four Chicago pitchers for 13 hits, including homers by Frank McCormick and Eric Tipton, to defeat the Cubs 10-5.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 17 — (CP) — From all accounts the "golfers" are having one of the most successful seasons for a long time, and the old Scottish game is enjoying a sizable boom. All over the country people are turning to the game who would never have approached the links before the war.

Rex (Kitchener record) McInnes points out that the war-caused labor shortage that gave good-paying jobs to plenty of youngsters has helped out tremendously to popularize the game. Formerly, golf was a rich man's pastime, and the common herd couldn't get money enough together to buy the expensive equipment and pay club fees.

Sometimes the old members can't even get near the greens for all the newcomers monopolizing things. And in the tournaments the newer members are beginning to strut some very mean stuff the last year or so.

McInnes predicts that golf will have gained more ground comparatively than any other sport when the war ends, and that's a fairly safe assumption considering the talent masquerading in the big leagues as hockey and baseball players these days.

Report around Montreal is that senior lacrosse will be highly conspicuous by its absence this year, through no fault of Boxla supporters. The senior league had all details worked out for the season. each club was given a $100 grant by the Quebec lacrosse Association, and everything was all set to go May 28. Then it was discovered the Lachine arena wasn't available until July 11, so the league decided to wait. Now it turns out the arena has been taken over by a movie company, so that put the blitz on everything.

Incidentally:

Tom White, smooth soldier pitcher with Ottawa Cartage Baseball team, is putting a little too much on the ball for the boys these days. He twirled a no-hitter earlier this summer and then came through with a one-hitter in Windsor the other day. One opposing batter got a single but not another man reached first base all days . . Contributor is writing a great comeback story on western racetracks. The horse was quite a star several years ago, but then slumped and they said he was all through. This year he came back in his own and has been winning regularly to boost his winnings to $14,000, a good figure for those small western purses.

"Spike" Larabie Covers Convoy Lanes

A NEWFOUNDLAND PORT, June 17—Ottawa's "Spike" Larabie, one of the "scoringest" hockey players developed in Eastern Canada in recent years, has applied for Combined Operations.

He's now Able Seaman Edward Larabie, 24, R.C.N.V.R., already a veteran of several years in the North Atlantic convoy lanes.

Larabie broke into hockey with Ottawa Tech in 1935. Playing for Rideau Juniors in the Ottawa City League and for LaSalles in the city's senior loop, he was top point-scorer two seasons in a row. He moved to Granby, Que., and had a sensational season with Granby Red Sox in the Canadian-American Amateur Senior League before turning pro with Springfield Indians in the International League.

The young southpaw was with the Indians only a few weeks, and shaping up splendidly, when a leg fracture put him in hospital for three months. Reinstated as an amateur, he went to Lachine, Que., for the tail end of the season. Next year he moved to Nova Scotia and enjoyed two brilliant seasons with Glace Bay Miners in the Cape Breton Senior League. Manager of the club was Hon. Angus Macdonald, who later became Canada's wartime Naval Minister.

Westwood Trims Visiting Team

WESTWOOD, June 17—(ENS)—An interesting game of softball was played at the Westwood ball park this week, when Westwood trimmed Mathers Corners by a score of 18 to 9.

Two home runs for the Westwood team were hit by Murray Fife. There were several passed balls on both sides at second base because of the condition of the field around the sack.

Cliff Erwin was umpire behind the bat and Rendol Dickson on the bases.

Line ups:

Mathers Corners: N. MacFarland, c; T. Mather, p; P. Adamson, 1b; B. Doris, 2b; B. McIntyre, 3b; B. Nelson, ss; B. Cowie lf; D. Manley, cf; D. McFarland, rf.

Westwood: M. Fife c; R. Renwick, p; P. Elmhirst, 1b; W. Graham, 2b; R. Hope, 3b; B. Warr ss; W. Warr, lf; D. Elmhurst, cf; J. McColl, rf.

Whitehill Hurls For The Bisons

By the Associated Press.

Earl Whitehill, the old major league pitcher, is back on the mound, hurling for Buffalo of the International League.

The former Senator, Tiger, and Cub star relieved Pitcher Jack Tising in the ninth and halted a Newark rally by disposing of the last two batters to ensure the Bisons of a clean sweep of a twin bill last night, 4-0 and 4-3.

The double victory enabled Buffalo to regain first place in the standings.

Rochester tumbled Jersey City out of first into third place by taking a close game, 5-4, the winning run coming in the ninth.

Baltimore came from behind to defeat Toronto, 5-4, and move to within half a game behind Buffalo. A homer by Felix Mackewicz tied the score in the seventh and an error, a hit, a walk and a long fly by Howie Moss scored the winning run in the eighth.

Jean Pierre Roy, recently acquired from Rochester, unfurled a two-hitter to defeat the Syracuse Chiefs 4-1. Elmer Durrett led the Royals' attack with two doubles, and drove in a run, besides scoring another.

Institute Names New Conveners

MOUNT PLEASANT, June 17—(ENS)—At the meeting of the Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. M Handley this week, with the president, Mrs. H. Tully presiding, the following conveners of standing committee were appointed: Agriculture, Mrs. Alex. Tully; Citizenship, Mrs. T. C. Morden; Historical Research, Mrs. G. Shield; Home Economics Mrs. Thomas Graham; Social Welfare, Mrs. H. Tully; Publicity, Mrs. Ira Lowe and Mrs. W. Best; War Work, Mrs. H. Gardiner and Mrs. E. Lawson.

Mrs. T. E. Morden was captain of the winning team on the roll-call contest held during the past year. Mrs. M. Best and Mrs. E. Lawson were chosen as captains for the coming year.

Letters of thanks were read from five of the boys overseas receiving cigarettes and chocolates, expressing their sincere appreciation, each one writing cheerful letters. They were Pte. Joe Pollard, LAC. Stan. Johnston, Pte. J. J. Edgerton, Sgm. V. Nelson and Lieut. Blake.

The president asked all members to save their paper and magazines for a salvage collection. A euchre will be held in the W.I. hall on June 19, when the draw will be made on the knitted afghan.

The hostess served refreshments, and Mrs. H. Tully and Mrs. M. Jones assisted with the lunch. The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ira Lowe on July 5, with Mrs. Morden and Mrs. M. Jones as program committee, and Mrs. G. Shield and Mrs. A. Tully as lunch committee.

Sister Elizabeth Kenny Defends Her Treatment

CHICAGO, June 17—(CP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny said here yesterday that a report to the American Medical Association, charging that the public and many doctors had been misled by publicity about her infantile paralysis treatment, relieved her "of a lot of responsibilities."

"I think I shall restrict my interest entirely to the institute," she added, referring to the Elizabeth Kenny Institute, Inc., Minneapolis.

Sister Kenny discussed the report at a press conference and asserted:

"First of all, the gentlemen who presented the report do not know the disease nor the treatment as I know it. If you will read the statement by Basil O'Connor (president, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc.) in my book (The Kenny Concept of Infantile Paralysis and Its Treatment) you will see that in alluding to my work he said:

"'This forward step is not a new treatment for the disease as previously conceived, but presents an entirely new concept and a satisfactory treatment for this concept.' Mr. O'Connor also said: '...Those who work in the laboratories with problems on histopathology, anatomy, and physiology claim that the major concept is reasonable and national.'

"Furthermore, in a foreword to the book, Dr. Frank R. Ober, president of the American Orthopedic Association, said: 'Sister Kenny puts great emphasis on muscle spasm in the affected muscles. One does not find mention of muscle spasm in the textbooks, but there is no doubt that is present and is a great factor in the production of early deformities unless relieved.... It is my personal belief that this book should be perused and used by all interested in the welfare of those who are afflicted with poliomyelitis'."

Baptist Minister Is Welcomed

NORWOOD, June 17—(ENS)—A service of welcome was held in the Baptist church this week for Rev. and Mrs. Homer and family. Prayer was led by Rev. R. E. Lemon of the Anglican Church. He mentioned the congregation, the minister and the boys overseas. He then welcomed the minister and his wife.

Jackie Stackhouse sang a song on the books of the Bible. After reading "Life's Game of Ball" by Mrs. William Gallaher, Rev. E. E. Prigsley of the United Church gave an address. He spoke of the fellowship between churches being hopeful and helpful and mentioned how the ministers at conference stressed the necessity of all churches being more closely interwoven than they have ever been before. "In ourselves we are nothing, in Jesus Christ we are everything," he declared. The life of every church is shared by one another. Jean and Aileen Stackhouse sang two solos and a duet "Oh, My Redeemer, What a Friend You Are To Me", was sung by Rev. and Mrs. Homer.

A social time was spent over the lunch and a four-tiered birthday cake was brought in as it was the minister's birthday.

Young People's Union Has Ice Cream Social

PLAINVILLE, June 17—(ENS)—Although a month earlier than former years, the annual ice cream social sponsored by the Plainville Young People's Union, was well attended.

A short worship service conducted by several of the members commenced the evening followed by a short program. Misses Marie and Loreen Timlin of Coldsprings, accompanied by their mother, sang duets; Misses Margaret and Marion McKinlay, with their sister, Miss Doreen McKinley, accompanying, sang a patriotic duet; William Cameron with Miss Evelyn Brisbin at the piano, also sang a solo, 'You Can Smile When You Can't Say a Word.' Six young people from Bethesda (Harwood), presented a one-act play, 'Utter Relaxation.' After a sing-song, ice cream was served.

WALLACE BROS. SHOWS ARRIVE HERE MONDAY

Ottawa Quarters Not Surprised

OTTAWA, June 17—(CP)—The C.C.F. victory in Saskatchewan caused no great surprise in political circles in the capital.

Members of Dominion political parties generally were prepared for a turnover in government. A few Saskatchewan members who took part in the campaign returned to Ottawa yesterday with fairly accurate predictions.

There was no immediate comment from Liberal and Progressive Conservative quarters but Stanley Knowles, Acting C.C.F. House leader, said the Federal C.C.F. group of 10 was "delighted"

"The result is a tribute to the people of the province," he said. "The new C.C.F. government will be a people's government in the fullest sense, for it has been elected as the result of strenuous effort and keen interest in their own affairs on the part of many thousands of people."

Tourists Spend 89 Millions

OTTAWA, June 17 — (CP) — Travellers from other countries spent an estimated $89,500,000 in Canada in 1943 against $81,900,000 in 1942 and $111,000,000 in 1941, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Expenditure by Canadians on travel outside of the Dominion last year totalled $37,200,000 against $27,700,000 and $21,000,000.

"There were particularly pronounced wartime influences upon travel in 1943 and in 1942," the bureau said. "In both years the outstanding change in travel between the United States and Canada was the contraction in the automobile traffic with accompanying growth in the volume of travel by train.

"In 1943, however, increases in the expenditures of persons travelling by train exceeded the declines in the outlays of automobile travellers with the result that the total expenditures on travel in both directions between the United States and Canada were higher in 1943 than in 1942."

Majority from United States

Expenditures in Canada of travellers from the United States are estimated at $87,000,000 on 1943, compared with $79,000,000 and $107,000,000.

Movements of civilians to Northwestern Canada in connection with United States Government activities consisted a large part of the increased rail movement.

"A considerable part of the increased rail movement, however, occurred in Eastern and Central Canada and was doubtless due to principally to the substitution of rail for automobile transportation," the bureau added.

Expenditures in Canada of travellers from overseas countries were estimated at about $2,500,000 compared with about $2,900,000 in 1942 and $4,000,000 in 1941. The expenditures of travellers from Newfoundland are included in these amounts.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Rupert of Campbellford are visiting friends in Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hardy attended the funeral of the late Frank Boyce at Warkworth on Wednesday.

Recent guests were Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong and baby daughter of Peterborough with friends here.

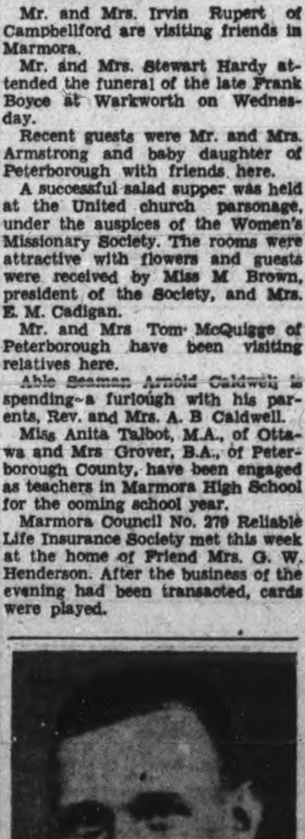
A successful salad supper was held at the United church parsonage, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. The rooms were attractive with flowers and guests were received by Miss M Brown, president of the Society, and Mrs. E. M. Cadigan.

Mr. and Mrs Tom McQuigge of Peterborough have been visiting relatives here.

Able Seaman Arnold Caldwell is spending a furlough with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. B Caldwell.

Miss Anita Talbot, M.A., of Ottawa and Mrs Grover, B.A., of Peterborough County, have been engaged as teachers in Marmora High School for the coming school year.

Marmora Council No. 279 Reliable Life Insurance Society met this week at the home of Friend Mrs. G. W. Henderson. After the business of the evening had been transacted, cards were played.



STATIONED OVERSEAS—Cpl. Jack G. Smith of Bethany is the son of George W. Smith, who was discharged after three months in the Army because of ill health. Cpl. Smith enlisted June 5, 1940, and went overseas in March, 1941. A brother, Pte. Gordon H. Smith enlisted in March 1941 with the R.C.O.C.

Christian Zeal Growing In Europe

HAVELOCK, June 17—(ENS)—"The Churches in Captivity in Europe" was the theme studied at the Women's Missionary meeting of the United church at the home of Mrs. S. J. W. Clarke on Thursday afternoon.

Throughout Europe and in part of Asia the Christian church is suffering severe persecution. Its members are in prison camps, working in underground movements, suffering all manner of ills and in constant danger of their lives, it was revealed. Groups of such people are taking an active part in government policy, or in criticism of it, and the fact that it is the part of opposition does not detract from its activity or vitality.

"After the war European Christians will have a different faith from ours; their Christianity has been tried in the flame. They know its value, and will not be able to understand what it means to them, because our lives have been so different."

This was the message given by Mrs. J. Cochrane and assisted by Mrs. C. Gall, with incidents from Holland; Mrs. J. Freeman from Germany, and Mrs. F. Rodgers facts from Norway.

The president, Mrs G. Chiles, had charge of the devotional period, taking for the topic "The Lift Through Fellowship in Christ." The report of the Mission Band was given by Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson, and it was decided to have the afternoon tea early in September. Mrs. Harry Peters volunteered to complete the year as Associate Helpers and Strangers' secretary. The basket picnic will be held at Trent River on June 28, with transportation to be arranged. A donation and greetings were received from Mrs. (Rev.) M. Wilson of Regina, Sask. Mrs. C Gall sang a solo 'Have You Been in the Garden With Jesus,' accompanied by Mrs. H. Watson at the piano.

Veteran Writer F. Williams Dies

TORONTO, June 17—(CP)—Frederick George Hilary Williams, an active Canadian newspaperman for 62 years, died today at his home, aged 81.

Son of Charles Williams, an English war correspondent, Mr. Williams came to Canada in 1882 and joined the staff of the Montreal Herald. He worked for the Montreal Gazette, the Montreal Star, Toronto News, Ottawa Free Press, Montreal Daily Mail, Victoria Colonist and Vancouver Sun before he turned to free-lance writing in 1918. Since then he had been widely known for articles in many Canadian newspapers on historical topics.

For 25 years he was a member of the Parliamentary Press Gallery [illegible] Ottawa and was intimately acquainted with Sir John A. MacDonald, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Charles Tupper and other leading statesmen.

It was Mr. Williams who gave the first word Jan. 6, 1891, on the death of Sir John. Members of the press gallery had organized a continuous watch at the statesman's home and Mr. Williams was on duty alone when he died. He often described this scoop as "lucky."

Sink Red Cross Ship

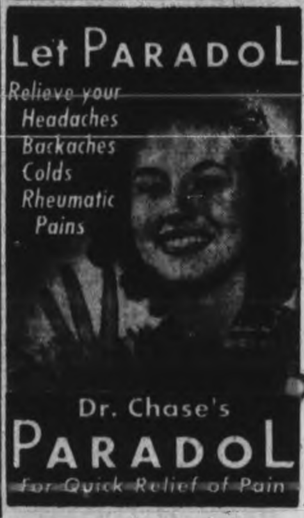
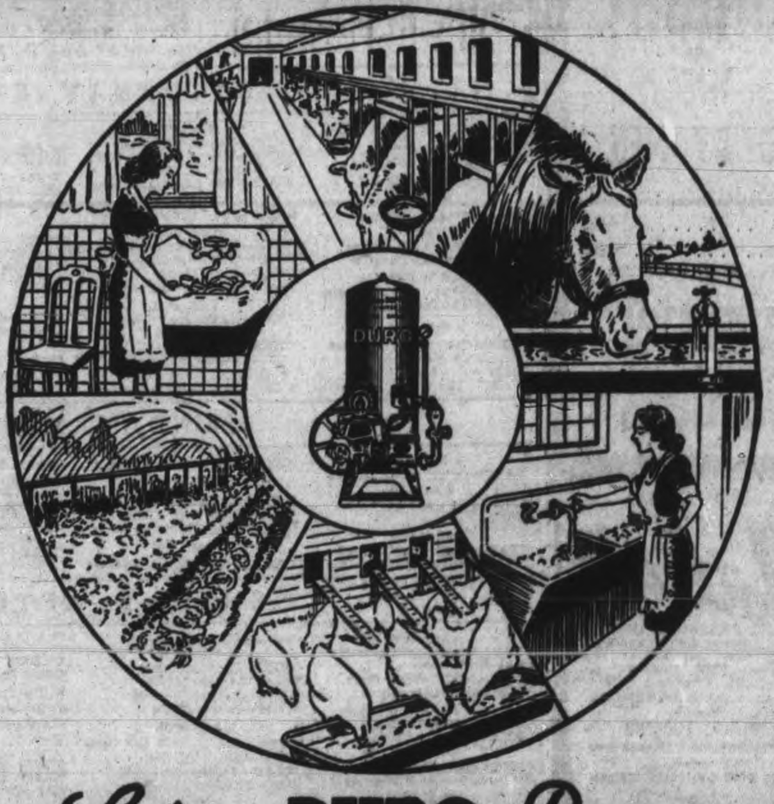
ANKARA, June 17 — (AP) — A Swedish Red Cross ship carrying relief supplies for the Greek population in the Aegean Islands was torpedoed by an unidentified submarine June 13 just outside Turkish territorial waters, while proceeding from the Island of Cos to Leros, semi-official Turkish sources reported Thursday. The crew of 2[illegible] was saved. The Swedish Legation said the ship was possibly the S.S. Sjina.





Let a DURO Pump be Your Hired Man

RUNNING WATER UNDER PRESSURE SPEEDS FARM PRODUCTION

THE Dominion Government has authorized increased production of farm machinery and equipment which includes Duro Pumping Systems.

We are doing our utmost to produce more Duro Pumping Systems. However, the greatest part of our production is still required for the Armed Forces. We are also handicapped by shortages of materials and labour and it is impossible to produce all the Duro Pumps required.

If running water under pressure will increase your production of farm products, see your Duro Dealer near you. He will gladly assist you in completing the necessary application form which has to be approved by your W. P. & T. B. Rationing Officer.

Be sure to order a Pumping System large enough to take care of your needs. The cost is only a trifle more and you will be well repaid.

Main Street Topics

RANGER RECRUITS

John C. Hayes, 229 Princess street and Robert W. Gray, 151 Stewart street, are the latest recruits to join the 2nd (R) Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers.

EARLY VEGETABLES

A week later than a year ago, Charles Gatoum of Belleville presented a sample of new potatoes to the "Intelligencer" Thursday, and with them peas and carrots for table use.

FOUR GO ACTIVE

Four men, two of them from Peterborough, have joined the ranks of the Canadian Active Army, recruiting headquarters at the Armouries announced today. They are Oscar Standish, 315 Elias avenue; R. W. Sheppard, R.R. No. 5, Peterborough; C. F. Rupert, Havelock, and Robert M. Hamilton of Gelert.

OUT ON RECOMMENDATION

Children who passed their entrance examinations by recommendation brought to a close their days in the public schools on Friday. In a number of the schools a short farewell ceremony was held with the pupils lining up in the halls in two lines as those who were leaving paraded out.

LINDSAY SAILOR RESCUED

Augustine Gerster of Lindsay, was one of a group of Canadian seamen rescued recently following the sinking of their small freighter. The boat sank in the Gulf of Mexico and the men were adrift for 43 hours before they were picked up by an air-sea rescue launch and landed at Biloxi, Miss.

WIN CERTIFICATES

The winners of the five dollar war savings certificates drawn at the Canadian Legion bingo on Friday night in aid of the bomber fund are as follows: Janet Pickles, 520 Braidwood Ave.; Paul Banks, 338 Rubidge St.; Ralph Alcock, 68 Orpington Rd.; Eleanor Watson, 305 Mark St.; Nellie Siddall, 290 Lake St.

AIRMAN GRADUATES

G. E. Hartshorn, Peterborough, has graduated and won his sparks at No. 4 Wireless School, Guelph.

TO ADDRESS ROTARY

H. A. Gadd, superintendent of the Porcelain and Plastics division of the Canadian General Electric Company will be the speaker at Monday's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotarian Club.

GET SOME PAY

Effective back to April 1 all boys enlisted into reserve units or formations of the Canadian Army will receive the daily standard rate of $1.20 per day on attaining the age of 17½ years, Defence Headquarters announced last night at Ottawa.

HOME FROM OVERSEAS.

William Bartlett, overseas since 1941, has been invalided home and is now spending a month's furlough with his father, E. Bartlett, Monaghan Road. He was a mechanical instructor overseas and received a back injury when he was thrown from a Bren Gun carrier.

NOT LOCAL MAN.

The Lorne Bateman who captained a R.C.A.F. coastal command aircraft that sank a 500-ton U-boat Friday, as reported in CP dispatches is not to be confused with Lorne Bateman, formerly manager, of the Continental Life Assurance Co. here in town, who is not a major in the 1st (A) Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers.

TALKS WITH QUEEN.

Flying Officer Douglas Quirt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Quirt, 425 Sheridan street, who has been in a Canadian Hospital overseas since July 1943 when a bomber in which he was flying, crashed had a talk with Queen Elizabeth recently. Her Majesty was touring the Canadian casualty hospital and she told F. O. Quirt and another officer that she felt more sunshine would help them.

HIT WITH BAT

Douglas Montgomery, 7-year-old boy of Hastings, was struck with a bat accidentally Friday night during a softball game. He was brought to Peterborough to Nicholls Hospital where X-rays are being taken to determine if there are other injuries. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery.

FAILS TO MAKE TURN

An automobile came close to landing in the Jackson Park creek near the corner of Murray and Stewart streets early this morning. The accident was discovered by Constable Gordon Trennum while patrolling his beat and saw the car against the fence along the side of the creek. Skidmarks showed that the vehicle had failed to make the turn after travelling south on Stewart street.

Norwood Flier Dies In Hospital

NORWOOD, June 17.—(ENS).—Flt. Sgt. Ainslie Morrison McNeeley, the first Norwood boy to go overseas, died in Winnipeg Wednesday, while on active service. The airman had been in the hospital since March, but the cause of his death was not stated.

Son of Mrs. Catherine McNeeley and the late Thomas McNeeley, he was born in Dummer in 1916. He was educated at North School and the High School in Norwood and was a carpenter before joining the R.C.A.F. in May 1939. Flt. Sgt. McNeeley went overseas in February 1940 with 110 Squadron and he was stationed in Southern England during the evacuation of Dunkerque.

In the following year, the airman returned to Canada in July and was stationed at No. 5 S.F.T.S. Brantford, Gimli and Brandon. He was married to Jessie Coltart Craig of Winnipeg in August of 1943.

Besides his wife and mother, there survive four brothers, Percy of Dauphin, Rev. Verner McNeeley, Oshawa, Trevor and Dewart of Toronto, and two sisters, Madeline of Toronto and Eva of Belleville.

The funeral service will be held at the United church, Norwood, Monday at 2.30 under R.C.A.F. auspices. Interment will be in Norwood cemetery.

Farmers Need Sunny Weather

"Wanted: Ten days of ideal weather for haying."

That is the hope and expectation of Peterborough farmers, who are becoming slightly alarmed about the present excess of rain.

That boisterous and almost violent storm last night did not leave a wake of gratitude among farmers who had hay cut and standing in the fields. Now they have to get it dried again, and that involves work, with help scarce, and the season piling up its demands.

Over in Emily township the wind reached the velocity of a gale, blew down fences and stripped trees of some of their stoutest limbs.

Thirty-six square feet of the steel roof on a top hip of Gilbert Franks' farm in Emily was ripped off and tossed across a field, according to a report from Stan Darling who remarked that it was not more than two weeks since he issued wind insurance to Mr. Franks.

Mr. Darling also told the Examiner he had heard that a barn near Norwood, owned by W. Buchanan, and occupied by Herb Beavis, was struck by lightning and destroyed with contents including two horses, two pigs, chickens and some implements.

The rain around Port Hope last night was "terrific", Frank C. Paterson told the Examiner. "Far heavier than here; almost like a deluge."

It was Mr. Paterson who suggested that the immediate need of Peterborough farmers is a stretch of June sunshine to help farmers take off the hay crop with the least resistance.

Pastures are a deep green and knee high in grass, and the countryside is sparkling in the bright green of the rain washed trees and fields.

W. E. Lloyd, wire chief with Bell Telephone, said the local system came through the surges of wind and nature's electricity without any disturbance. In fact the wire department "was agreeably surprised" by complete escape from trouble.

A tree in front of Dale's meat shop on Rubidge street was blown down, but it missed telephone wires.

Soldiers Ordered To Salute Officers

The soldier who glances in a store window or takes a look at the sky to avoid saluting a commissioned officer on the street will have to watch himself in future, at least, in this district.

Provost personnel are now on the watch for this practice and offenders are to be reported. This is indicated in district orders recently issued at headquarters, MD 3.

In the orders it was noted that there had been comment on the failure of other ranks to salute officers of other services and countries.

The orders went on to impress on all ranks that the act of saluting, and the act of acknowledging a salute, were the ordinary acts of courtesy paid by one member of His Majesty's Service to another member of the service or a member of His Majesty's Allies.

It adds that failure to salute is an offence punishable under the Army Act and that provost personnel have instructions to check on the practice.

J. F. B. LIVESAY DIES—J. F. B. Livesay, former general manager of The Canadian Press, died at his home "Woodlot," 20 miles west of Toronto. After 20 years as head of The Canadian Press, he retired in 1939, because of ill-health.

School Picnic Is Big Success At Nicholls Oval

A most successful school picnic was held at Nichols Oval on Friday afternoon when the children, teachers and many of the mothers of the Queen Alexandra School met together. In spite of the rain in the morning it turned out to be a lovely afternoon and after a keenly contested sports program the children broke up into their classes and with their teachers and the room mother in charge they all ate together.

Sponsored by the Home and School Asociation under the presidency of Mrs. Charlton McBride, there was a booth with soft drinks in charge of Mrs. Frank Barrett and ice-cream booth in charge of Mrs. O. J. Hayward. Mrs. C. Althouse was in charge of committee which looked after the lunches, and Mrs. J. Curtis had charge of the lemonade, which was made by the Association and served during the lunch period.

The teachers arranged the sports program and were in charge of it. First prize in each event was a War Savings Stamp, while second was two tickets for ice-cream, and third one ticket.

Many Registering For Boys' Camp

Registrations for the Kawartha Boys' Camp at Clear Lake under the directions of the Y's Men's Club are coming in a very satisfactory way and parents thinking of sending their boys to this splendid camp are well advised to make application at once to avoid disappointment. The camp staff is complete under the capable leadership of N. C. Munro who has had nine years experience with the Kingston R. K. Y. Camp, with two years as Camp Director. Mrs. Jess who cooked with such satisfaction to all the hungry campers during the last two years will be back this year. The Y's Men's Club have made extensive repairs and improvements to the camp property especially the roofs and swimming dock. The camp boats have also been overhauled and repaired. Applications may be sent to the Y.M.C.A. Office.

Linen Appeal Is Made In Aid To Russia Fund

A mink coat worth $5,000 is the top prize offered to women in the "Linen for Russia" appeal.

This latest campaign for help to the people of a great member of the United Nations, allied against Germany, has been undertaken in Peterborough by Loblaw's, but it seemed to be escaping attention of the women of the city and district. Accordingly the women's auxiliary of the United Elictrical, Radio and Machine Operators asked the management of the big store for permission to help, and that aid was immediately accepted.

The women of the U.E. have arranged to be at Loblaw's every afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. to receive contributions of linen.

Russian homes have been destroyed and others stripped of everything by the "Hun-dammed Germans" who went through the land like destructive locusts, and left nothing that could be carried away.

Canadian friends of Russia are sponsoring this appeal to the women of Canada by offering forty valuable prizes, including the aforementioned $5,000 mink coat.

Take your towels, blankets, sheets and other articles which you can spare from your home, to Loblaw's where your contributions will be acknowledged by issue of coupons. Their stubbs will be kept for the draw that will be held later.

Club Members Carry On For War Victims

When the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund had only been in operation a short while a small group of people unable to assist in the war effort in a more active capacity, formed a group known as "The Get Together Club" to raise money to assist in the objects the fund operates for, and during the winter months they met regularly every two weeks in a social way, assessing themselves a small fee, all of which was turned into the fund, together with the proceeds of a few other ventures which they sponsored for the same purpose.

In this manner during the course of a little over two years they raised the nice sum of $307.00, and then various circumstances arose which depleted their numbers considerably, and thus caused them to cease their customary meetings for the past season.

A few however of those who still wished to keep up the good work, decided that they would put the usual amount by every second week, and in this manner they had gathered the sum of $11.25 which appears in their names to-day, all of them having taken a part in the club's operations in days gone by, so this might be considered a continuation of that work done so well in former days on behalf of the fund.

An effort of a personal nature to help the good cause along that has continued almost all of the time the fund has been in operation is again brought to mind by another personal gift of $2.00 from the lady who always has given under the acknowledgement name of "E.M.F." which is compatible with the same interest that a few others have given in the cause of the fund seeks to assist.

New Attacks Create More Need

Never were the wiles of the evil one more devilish than the latest type of warfare devised by the enemy to take its toll of innocent civilian life, through the new attacks made on Britain in the past few days in the form of pilotless planes directed by radio, which can only be directed in a general sense, and destroy whatever they come in contact with, no matter whether it be a school full of innocent children or a row of tenement houses full of civilian people of all ages and both sexes.

There is little likelihood of the full story of the damage they have done becoming known for some time for reasons which are quite apparent, but certain it is that they will create new demands for relief from those who suffer because of the new kind of war weapon, and with only $350.00 needed to complete the next donation of £500. the local and district fund could quickly be in a position to give them further help if more of the people hereabouts would assist to put this latest objective over the top.

Twenty-year-old Justin Carter, Crescent street, was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning with having on or about April 20 stolen a bicycle from Donald Ferguson.

At the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., the youth was remanded until Monday without plea or election.

Carter said that he did not intend to ask for bail.

M. R. Castle, Sheridan street, charged with assaulting Mary Gilbert, causing actual bodily harm, pleaded not guilty.

He was represented by W. J. Arthur Fair and was released on bail of $500 when the case was by consent enlarged until Monday, June 26. A condition of the bond was that he must remain away from the complainant.

Nurse Charged With Theft In Lindsay Store

LINDSAY, June 17 — (ENS) — County Court was filled yesterday afternoon to hear the case which Miss Ethel Rogers, a nurse-in-training at the Ross Memorial hospital was charged with stealing a dress from the Canadian Department store on March 14.

Following extensive evidence Judge T. C. German adjourned the hearing until Saturday.

Three witness were examined by the crown, Chief of Police R. H. Lawler, Miss Alwin Martin, head of the ladies' wear department and Mrs. E. R. Martindale, her assistant.

Miss Martin and Mrs. Martindale said Miss Rogers was in the store on the afternoon of March 14. She was waited on by Miss Martin, who said Miss Rogers tried on two or three suits, particularly a mauve suit. She liked the suit but left the store to look around other stores. Shortly afterwards it was discovered that the mauve suit was missing. Both salesladies left the store to try and locate their last customer but without success. On March 25, she said, Miss Rogers, accompanied by Miss H. Ellerton, a school teacher at No. 9, Emily, entered the department and was recognized by the two salesladies. They also told of seeing the missing dress on the nurse, worn under a biege coat.

Chief Lawlor and Constable Simnett later stopped Miss Rogers and Miss Ellerton, took them to the police station where Miss Rogers gave a statement.

Miss Rogers took the stand in her own behalf. She said that she had been in Lindsay since Sept. 1941 when she entered the Collegiate Institute as a student at the age of 29 years in order to secure her matriculation to become a nurse.

Witness said that she saw Miss Ellerton every week, generally on Saturday. On March 11 she decided to get a new suit for spring. She and Miss Ellerton counted their money over in the bedroom at the nurses' residence. On March 14 she was in the C.D.S. from 2:20 to 2:40, did not buy but picked out the mauve suit which she liked.

The accused stated that she again visited the C.D.S. on March 25 and was waited upon by another salesgirl. She again picked up the mauve dress, paid the girl $25 cash. The suit was wrapped up in a brown paper and she left the store and arrived at the hospital shortly before 4 p.m. at which time she was to be on duty.

EVENING ELEGANCE—White with touches of inky black is a combination that is at its brilliant best when used for a floor length evening frock. Stella Andreva, the brilliant lyric soprano star of the opera, is especially addicted to this color scheme for concert clothes. White crepe makes the softly molded dinner dress which is topped with a bolero of cut-out black velvet flowers with sequined centres on black net. There is similar detail at dress hem. A white feathered flowered hat and long gloves that complement short sleeves for important occasions are worn with the costume. —By Alice Alden.

Smart Routines Presented In Colorful Dance Recital

Smart, precise routines, intricate ballet steps and unusual specialty numbers—all with bright snappy costumes—were features of the "June Rose Ballet", with song and dance reviews, by pupils of Marion Perry Laird in the Collegiate Auditorium Friday evening. The program was divided into three sections, with specialty numbers making up the major part of the first and third, and the second in two parts, being the "June Rose Ballet". Highlight of the first section of the program was the final number, a comedy dance by Doreen Hogg who sang and danced to "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me", "Walter, Walter, Lead Me to the Altar", and "Rose O'Day". She caught the spirit of the number, and brought gales of laughter from the audience as she coupled amusing facial expressions and an inane giggle with difficult, though amusing, acrobatics. She was joined by the chorus in the finale, which was a comic dance, done with complete abondon, by pupils dressed in misfit costumes. This strenuous routine combined an Apache dance, a game of leap frog, and a burlesque of a waltz, and was climaxed by the male members of the troop carrying off their partners piggy-back. Several girls were dressed as boys to complete the couples.

Every member was well presented, and it was difficult to pick out outstanding performances. The flash tappers, Doreen Jewell, Kenny Simmons and Marion Redmond, lived up to their name in their number, with a snappy routine, keeping up a fast pace throughout. Several excellent solo items, as well as those featuring a leader, a chorus and dual presentations, were equally well done.

Other numbers in the first section were as follows: Opening Exercises, juniors, led by Helen Zakos; Pistol Packing Mama and Dixie, Ray Turnbull; Soft Shoe Tap, Lois Scrace; Song and Tap, Rosemarie McCall; Rhythm Taps, Marlene Flint and chorus; Snappy Steps, Betty Harrison; Lady with a Tap, Tap, Tap, Helen Zakos; Swanee River, Jack Haslett; Toy Soldier Parade, the babies; Love, Love, Love, Joan Fletcher and Lionel Brown; Old Dutch Mill, Judy Welch and chorus; Syncopated Taps", Doreen Jewell; Military Tap, Betty Dalton.

Steal Show

Mention should be made of the babies' number, the "Toy Soldier Parade". Dressed in natty red uniforms, with high hats topped with white tassels, and carrying red cardboard guns, they marched in single file from the wings, and, after circling the platform, presented a military routine. Their winning smiles and unconsciously natural gestures won the audience, which heartily applauded them as they circled the platform at the conclusion of their number, and made their retreat to the wings in good order.

Hard and soft toe ballet work were shown in the numbers of the "June Rose Ballet" presented as a single number, in two parts. The babies opened the first, and junior sections of the ballet with their dance "Mighty Like a Rose," followed by the "Blue Danube Toe" by Judy Welch, and the "Victory Polka" by the junior chorus Rosemarie McCall and Douglas Laird danced a Dream Ballet, while Maureen Fletcher presented a Toe Ballet remaining on her toe for the complete routine. Helen Zakos, with a Classic Ballet, closed the junior section. All numbers were danced well, and the students showed a thorough knowledge of routines, and reflected careful supervision and teaching. As each number was concluded, the students remained on the stage, making a riot of bright colors for the finale.

Following the same plan as the junior section of the ballet, the seniors, who opened the second part with the Pink Lady Ballet, in graceful pink gowns, remained at the back of the stage, forming a colorful background for the numbers which followed. Joan Fletcher and Lionel Brown in their second number, danced "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland", and were followed by Doreen Jewell and Marion Redmond, in a difficult and intricate soft toe ballet routine, featuring several acrobatic steps. Doreen Hogge and Kenny Simmons, whose Viennese Waltz brought the ballet to a close, brought gasps from the crowded auditorium, as Kenny Simmons swung his partner around in some breath-taking and spectacular spins. The seniors gave polished, smooth performances and their hours of long study and practice were rewarded by generous applause.

Costumes Colorful

The costumes in the ballet were particularly charming and beautiful, giving the platform a spring-like appearance, as if flowers had suddenly blossomed under the footlights. Marion Perry Laird designed all costumes and they were carried through by Mrs. A. Hasett.

A variety of number including Spanish, Mexican, Russian and Scottish dances, as well as a sailor's hornpipe, made up the final part of the program. Of special interest were the two Scottish dances, the Highland Fling and the Sword Dance. Both were done by dancers in Scottish dress, with white blouses and plaid skirts, sox and caps. Jean Findlay led the chorus for the Highland Fling, and Rosemarie McCall led the chorus for the Sword Dance.

Other numbers included the Sailor's Hornpipe," by Helen Zakos, Judy Welch, Betty Dalton, and the chorus; a Spanish dance, Rosemarie McCall; Top Hat Tap, Marion Redmond, Betty Harrison and Doreen Jewell; Toe Tap, Maureen Fletcher and Lionel Brown; a Mexican dance, Betty Harrison and Doreen Jewell; Stair Dance, Doreen Hogge and Kenny Simmons. Concluding number was a Victory Parade, with all classes massed on the stage in a stirring finale, "The Road to Victory."

Mrs. Ralph Peake sang "Say a Prayer for the Boys Over There," and "The Road to Victory," while Miss Gwendolyne Peake sang "Some Day My Prince Will Come." Jack Haslett played an accordion solo, the "Marine Hymn." Pianists were Mrs. E. Norman, Mrs. R. Peake and Lionel Brown.

An idea used often throughout the numbers was the placing of a leader, —on who knew the routine thoroughly—in front of the chorus, so that all could keep in step, and follow it easily, by watching her. A number of pupils sang the popular song for their number, before dancing, adding greatly to the variety of the program.

Bride-Elect Shower Guest

BAILIEBORO, June 17—(ENS)— An enoyable social gathering was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Jewison Thursday afternoon with Miss Myrtle Guyatt as the guest of honor, preceding her marriage in the near future.

Misses Jean Rutherford and Evelyn Gainer sang a duet, Miss Ferne Gainer played a piano solo and Miss Evelyn Thompson read "The Blue Bird of Happiness" to the piano accompaniment. Mrs. Jewison led the guest of honor to a chair in the dining room under an arch of bells from which a shower of confetti fell. A pink and white basket of shower gifts was carried in and were opened by the bride-to-be.

The serving of tea completed the party, Mrs. Jewison being assisted by Mrs. Douglas Fisher, Mrs. John Gainer and Mrs. Armand Talipeau in serving the guests.

Bailieboro Girl Weds at Home

BENSFORT, June 17 (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fisher, Bailieboro, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when their elder daughter Alice Maurine was united in marriage to Daniel Albert Nill, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nill of Cavan. Rev. A. H. McConnachie officiated. Mrs. Laurence Finnie was pianist and George Berry sang "O Promise Me" and "O Perfect Love."

The rooms were prettily decorated with peonies, ferns, locust, iris and wegelia. Mrs. W. McLaren met the guests at the door, and showed them into the living room, assisted by Mrs. A. Matheson, of Kingston.

In the living room the arch was fixed to form a canopy over the bridal couple who stood on three steps. The arch was decorated with peonies, locust and ferns and centered with three large white bells and pink streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of floor-length lace, buttoned in front from the high neck-line to the hem. The bodice was close-fitting with finger-tip sleeves. Her short veil of silk net was caught to her head with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and Sweetheart roses. She was unattended.

At the reception the bride's mother received in navy blue crepe and white accessories with corsage of Sweetheart roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in strawberry embroidered sheer and corsage of orchids.

About forty guests were present and the bride's table, centered with the three-tiered wedding cake was pretty with bowls of flowers and silver holders set with pink and white tapers.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Kingston, Cavan and Millbrook. Girl friends assisting with dinner included: Mrs. Lorne Harris, and Misses Doris Horton, Ina Campbell, Mary Buckham, Allie Berry.

Groom's gift to the bride was a three-strand pearl necklace; to the pianist a purse; and to the soloist a leather billfold.

The couple received many gifts including cheques, cabinet of silver, Kenwood blankets, casseroles, quilts, and silver dishes.

After the wedding dinner the toasts were proposed by Mrs. F. Buckham, Mrs. W. McLaren, Rev. A. H. McConnachie and W. H. Cutmore.

For a trip to Montreal and points east, the bride chose a two-piece navy blue and white jersey dress, and white accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Nill will live on the groom's farm, on the 10th line of Cavan.

Personals and Social

40TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Newman of Norham observed their 40th wedding anniversary this week and were guests of honor at a party, where more than 50 relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Newman Observe 40th Anniversary

WARKWORTH, June 17—(ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Newman, Norham, prominent residents of this community, will be guests of honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Newman tonight when over fifty relatives will be present to extend their congratulations on the occasion of their fortieth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman were married in the presence of one hundred and fifty guests at the home of the bride's parents, Percy township, in June, 1904, by Rev. J. W. Shier who was at that time Methodist minister at Norham. The ceremony took place on the verandah. The bridesmaid was Theresa Bailey, later Mrs. Thomas Frost, now deceased, and the best man was Orloff Newman, brother of the groom.

Mr. Newman is a son of the late William John Newman and Maria Cole and was born at Morganston, November 28, 1875. Other surviving members of a family of five are R. S. Newman, Castleton, and Orloff Newman, Vancouver.

Mrs. Newman, before her marriage was Annie Mitchell, a daughter of the late Samuel Mitchell and Esther Sweet and one of a family of thirteen. She was born in Percy township in September, 1878. Her surviving brothers and sister are: Arthur, Edwin, William, Charles and Robert, Norham; Rev. George, Hardwick Vermont; Samuel J., Winnipeg, and Mrs. James Cooney, Regina, Sask.

For twenty-one years Mr. and Mrs. Newman have lived near Norham, where Mr. Newman has carried on a successful farming business. During the early part of their married life he farmed in Cramahe township and for a time owned a grocery business in Toronto and also was in business in Castleton. They have four sons, Capt. Leroy of Cornwall, Hayden, Everett and William of Norham.

Among the guests were Mrs. Ruth Cryderman of Batavia, N.Y. and Rev. George Mitchell of Hardwick, Vermont, Capt. and Mrs. Leroy Newman, Cornwall.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman have always had good health and both are able to carry on with their various duties. They have always taken an active part in church work and an interest in anything that was in any way a betterment to the community.

During the evening the bride and groom of 1904 will be presented with two chesterfield chairs and an address. A five-tiered wedding cake, centred the table, which was attractively arranged with cut flowers and silver. Later a buffet lunch was served.

Norwood Airman Weds In Picton

NORWOOD, June 17—(ENS)—A wedding of interest took place recently in Pictou, Nova Scotia, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard B. Robertson, when their daughter, Nora Louise Robertson, became the bride of FO. William Lester Bongard, R.C.A.F., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Claude Bongard, of Norwood. Rev. G. M. Lamont officiated. During the signing of the register, Miss Jean Ferguson sang, "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white chiffon, with embroidered finger-tip veil, and carried a bouquet of red roses. Miss Mary L. Thomas, of West Covehead, P.E.I., as bridesmaid, wore a floor-length gown of pale sheer, and carried pink carnations. PO. Harvey Bongard, of Dartmouth, N.S., was his brother's best man.

After a buffet luncheon, the young couple left for a brief trip to Ontario. FO. Bongard is at present stationed in the Eastern Air Command.

Flier Marries Downeyville Girl

A pretty wedding took place in St. Peter's Cathedral recently, with Rev. J. T. Finn officiating, when Eileen Mary Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Collins, of Downeyville, became the bride of LAC. Robert Allan O'Connor, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Connor, of Peterborough Miss Marion Best, A.T.C.M., was at the organ, and Mrs. D. Campanero was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin, with a sweetheart neckline. She wore a finger-tip veil, and her only jewelry was a string of pearls. She carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses, and a pearl rosary, the gift of the groom.

Miss Carmel Collins was her sister's bridesmaid, in a floor-length mauve gown, with a shoulder-length veil, and carrying a bouquet of Talisman roses. Desmond O'Connor, brother of the groom, was best man, and Stuart Harding and Oakley Durkin, brothers-in-law of the bride and groom, were ushers.

At the reception at the home of the bride's parents, in Downeyville, the bride's mother received in a rose crepe dress, with navy hat and a corsage of rosebuds. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in a mauve flowered dress, with black hat and a corsage of sweet peas. For a short wedding trip to Toronto, the bride chose a two-piece dress of blue silk jersey, with matching accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor will live in Peterborough.

E. F. Holland Weds Rita O'Connell

Sacred Heart Church, decorated with pink and white peonies, was the setting for a pretty wedding today, when Rita Patricia O'Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Connell, became the bride of Everest Francis Holland, son of Mrs. E. Holland, Murray street, and the late Thomas Holland. Rev. D. L. Forestell, C.S.B., of Toronto, uncle of the bride, officiated. John Armstrong was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Duchess satin, with net yoke, full skirt with a train, and long leg-o-mutton sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of net fell from a Queen Anne halo of matching satin, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses.

She was attended by Mrs. A. E. Long, her sister, as matron of honor, and Miss Marion McCarthy, as bridesmaid. Mrs. Long wore a two-piece silver-blue corded silk frock, with white accessories, and Miss McCarthy wore a two-piece dress of mauve crepe, with white accessories. Each wore a matching mohair and straw hat, with shoulder-length veil, and carried a nosegay of sweet peas and lily of the valley.

Jack Holland, brother of the groom was best man, and Donald O'Connell, Earl Long and Jerry Holland were ushers.

At the reception, at the Champlain Hotel, the bride's mother received the guests in blue printed triple sheer, with a navy blue hat and navy accessories, and a corsage of rose buds. Also receiving was the groom's mother, in black and white triple sheer, with black hat, black accessories, and a rose bud corsage.

For a trip to Toronto, Windsor and Detroit, the bride chose a two-piece dress of gold, with brown and white accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Holland will live in Peterborough.

Fear Surrounds Non-christians

HAVELOCK, June 17 (ENS) — The Young Ladies Evening Auxiliary, meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Holland, took for their study theme "Signs of the Kingdom."

"One of the prevailing moods of the non-Christian world today is fear, is was said. Fear of each other, fear of evil spirits; of death; of judgement; mumbling, paralyzing fear, that grip like a voice and never relaxes day nor night," was told by Miss Edna Rodgers. Continuing she said, that manifold ministry of the grace of God working through consecrated lives brings strength to the weak, opportunity to the oppressed, joy to the sorrowing and salvation to the sinful. It substitutes faith for fetishes, sonship for servitude, courage for cowardice, love or license. It introduces people of every race and color to a new fellowship, world-wide unbroken, and unbreakable in the midst of war, and merits more consistent and sacrificial support in prayer and money, than it has ever received.

The scripture story was told by Miss Gwen McCorvie. The Auxiliary was invited to take over the Baby Band work of the church, but the decision was left over until September.

Miss V. Locklin took charge of the program as follows: A poem by Miss Nellie Watson "The Ladies Aid". A contest on "Kinds of Material", brought first prize to Miss N. Watson and Mrs. C. Gall the consolation. An apron contest was won by Mrs. McGowan and Mrs. C. Holland as the most attractive, and Mrs. G. Chiles and Miss N. Watson were the most comical.

A third contest dealt with foods and was entitled "Mental Menu's" with Miss Edna Rodgers winning the prize.

Mrs. E. Holland Given Shower

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. E. Holland, nee Rita O'Connel, was entertained at a cup and saucer shower, given by Miss Marion McCarthy, and received many lovely gifts. She was also guest of honor at a personal shower given by Mrs. Earl Lang, when those present included: Mesdames H. Kelsey, H. Roberts, T. Wilson, K. Fitzgerald, F. Allen, D. O'Connell, J. Brown G. Wainwright W. Philips, R. Lillico, A. Trucotte, C. Wainman T. Buckley, C. Buckley, J. O'Connell, E. Lang and Miss M. Mansfield.

The staff of the blueprint departmetn of the C.G.E. gathered at the home of Miss Nancy Williams recently, and presented Mrs. Holland with a lovely quited satin bed spread. Neighbors and friends presented her with an upholstered wine-colored rocking chair.

Mr. Holland was also presented with a wedding gift by the staff of Campbell's Dairy, where he is employed. He received a table and lamp.

WILT-PROOF AND COOL—You perhaps have noticed that new fabric which looks like super curtain voile, or marquisette with a heavy, draping quality. It looks wonderfully cool and imperishable, and it is. Crepes, you know. however thin, have a tendency to stick to a warm back; this porous stuff is as formal looking as crepe, and far cooler. —By Prunella Wood.

June Meeting Cottesloe WMS

COTTESLOE, June 17.—(ENS).— The June meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs Chas. McMillen with 12 present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. McDonald took charge and followed the missionary monthly program, "The Lift Through Fellowship With Christ."

Hastings Girl Weds R. McCracken

HASTINGS, June 17—(ENS)—A charming wedding was solemnized this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beamish of Hastings, when their elder daughter, Wynnifred Lillian, became the bride of Ray Everett, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. H. McCracken of Roseneath. The Rev. J. Davey of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church officiating.

The house was decorated with spring flowers, silver bells and pink and white streamers, and the music played by Miss Doreen Nichol of Roseneath, cousin of the groom. During the signing of the register Miss Nichol played "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and she wore a floor-length gown of white chiffon over white taffeta with smocked neckline, bishop sleeves, full gathered skirt falling from a fitted waistline, and wore as her only ornament a yellow gold locket. Her elbow-length veil was of white net, caught with a bandeau of white gardenia. She carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations.

The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Morrow, Reg. N. of Welland, cousin of the bride. She was frocked in blue sheer over blue taffeta with a shirred high neckline, and tiny self covered buttons extending to the shirred waistline. Her shoulder-length veil of blue net was caught with tiny buds of the same shade. She carried a bouquet of pink Virginian carnations.

The groom was assisted by Bernard McCracken, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held, where the bride's mother received, wearing a two-piece gown of silk jersey, and wore a corsage of sweet peas. The groom's mother also received, wearing a gown of rose crepe, and a corsage of sweet peas.

The buffet luncheon was served to thirty guests. The table was attractive with its lace cloth, three-tiered wedding cake and pink candles in silver holders. Those assisting in the serving were Mrs. Arthur Beamish, Miss Doreen Fleming of Hastings, Miss Pauline Humphries of Peterborough, and Miss Alma Thackeray of Roseneath.

The groom's gift to the bride was a mantel clock, to the bridesmaid and pianist, plastic lockets, to the groomsman a billfold, and to the waitresses, silk handkerchiefs.

For a motor trip to Western Ontario the bride wore a two-piece gown of romance blue sheer, with white accessories.

On their return they will reside on the groom's farm in Alnwick.

Casualty Report Is Held Back

OTTAWA, June 17 — (CP) — Defence Minister Ralston said today in the Commons that security prevented immediate disclosure of the extent of Canadian casualties in the invasion.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (P.C., York-Sunbury) said it was 10 days since the start of the invasion and the Government had made no announcement as to the number of casualties involved.

Col. Ralston said:

"Nothing but security considerations prevents the announcement of casualties, both the number and the names. The names will not be announced publicly until, under the usual arrangement, about 30 days after the casualties occur. As to the numbers, I shall be glad to communicate with our allies and make an announcement as soon as that is found prcticable having regard to security conditions."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 18

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds promise of an outstanding success in a matter out of the ordinary or commonplace character. While it may have aspects connected with the spiritual, mystical or other subtle affiliation with associates, it may also arise as a reward for faithful service, fidelity to obligations or other service well rendered or dutifully performed. Endeavor to merit such emoluments.

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged for an exceptional bit of good fortune, coming as return for services dutifully performed, obligations paid or other worth while attention to superiors or other influential associates. There are peculiar or intriguing circumstances which may make such endeavor worth while.

A child born on this day should be fortunate and enjoy high recognition for its fidelity and good faith to obligations. It may have exceptional creative talents.

For Monday, June 19

Monday's astrological forecast is for a sudden spurt in the direction of a new and probably radical departure in a venture, demanding quick and decisive action, with shrewd and clever grasp of situations while they are under control. There may be perilous angles requiring that propositions or agreements be taken up with alacrity and security, with particular attention to essentials and details.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are advised to take action on a sudden and perhaps unique proposal, in which delay and carelessness may forfeit a lucrative opening. Quick action may be necessary but backed up by reasonable judgment and wariness against loopholes for misconstruction or duplicity. Read contracts cautiously. Also safeguard private and affectional relations from intrigue or deception.

A child born on this day may have diversified talents, with ingenuity and skill, although possessing erratic and possibly subtle qualities, stressing tendencies to careless ways and dangers.

Veteran Railroader Dies At London

LONDON, Ont., June 17 (CP) — John Samuel Allen, well-known Ontario railwayman, died at his home here yesterday.

He started his railway career at Ottawa with the old Canada Atlantic Railway and in 1916 was transferred to the eastern line of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Sudbury as division master mechanic.

He later held that position at Ottawa, Schreiber, Brownville Junction Maine and Montreal, coming to London in 1934. He also worked at Carlton Junction, Chapleau and North Bay.

He is survived by his widow. A sister, Mrs. W. Black, lives at Belleville, Ont., and a brother, F. W. Allen, at Vancouver.

Pilotless Plane Base Bombed For Year

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP) — Military installations bombed by the Allied air forces for nearly a year were the launching platforms for the new weapon—the pilotless plane—used by the Germans against London Thursday night and Friday, the British Information Service said.

For months before D-Day, Allied aerial onslaughts were carried out incessantly against what were described as "mystery installations" in the Pas de Calais area of France.

30 Quilts Finished By Red Cross Group

HASTINGS, June 17 — (ENS)—Mrs. Herbert Oliver entertained the Cobourg Road Red Cross for their June meeting when 15 members were present. There were three quilts quilted during the afternoon this making a total of 30 quilts the group have made since January. Mrs. William Whitred of Hastings donated a quilt top and lining, and Mrs. Foster made and completed three quilts during the past month for their group. Salvage is to be left at Wellman's garage in Hastings during the month.

Letters were read thanking the ladies for their parcels received overseas, from James Cavanagh, Philip Forde, Harry Porter, and Patrick Fitzpatrick. Mrs. Eric Pulfer, Mrs. Gordon Dickey, and Mrs. Bruce Trotter are a committee appointed to arrange the parcels for the boys overseas this month. The bake sale held in the Fleming Block was a success, realizing $23.

Mrs. Cecil Oliver gave the sewing report, stating there had been 12 pairs of pyjamas completed and more were handed out to be ready for the July meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Virgil Oliver.

Two More Escape

CHATHAM, June 17—(CP)—Officials at the prisoner of war camp near here where two Germans escaped Thursday night said a police dragnet has been spread across Western Ontario and all border points in an effort to recapture the men. Officials said the two—Horst Kordass, 23, and Adolf Becker, 21—belong to a group of German seamen at the camp who have refused to work on district farms.

Post-Discharge Problems Are Discussed

BY D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 17 — (CP) — Commons members were told yesterday that the duty of preparing for the return of the service personnel to civilian life was the responsibility of every member and of every political party.

The responsibility was placed on the shoulders of all by Pensions Minister Mackenzie, who said the government was ready to accept any reasonable and constructive changes in the government's re-establishment and rehabilitation programs.

Mr. Mackenzie spoke after second reading was given a bill establishing a Veterans Affairs Department to handle all matters concerning ex-service personnel. The reading ended a three-day debate on the Bill, and paved the way for clause by clause study of the measure.

Toward the close of the debate Defence Minister Ralston said the interest of the Defence Department in members of the forces would not end with their discharge. Steps already were being taken to protect their post-discharge interests.

Col. Ralston said the Defence Department had recently appointed three advisers on discharge affairs. The advisers would form a link in the chain leading from discharge to rehabilitation.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, said the "meshing" of returned men and women into the social and economic life of the country was not going to be an easy task, but it would be made a little easier if all citizens did their part.

"And I say that nothing less than the best for those who serve will be good enough for this government and for the Canadian people to give to rehabilitate these men and women when they come back," he said.

The trend of discussion during the debate veered from generalities when George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley) said he could find no record of J. F. Pouliot (L.-Temiscouata) having served in the last war nor during the present war.

Mr. Cruickshank said he looked up the Temiscouata member's record after Mr. Pouliot referred Thursday night to Flt. Lt. James Sinclair (L.-Vancouver North) as "a penguin."

Mr. Pouliot on Spot

(Mr. Pouliot said Thursday night that during an earlier debate in the Commons he had "been insulted by the penguin of Vancouver.")

Mr. Cruickshank said Flt. Lt. Sinclair had volunteered several times for aircrew in the R.C.A.F. but had been rejected and had accepted a post as administrative officer overseas. He had served in Britain, in the Middle East, in Sicily and Italy.

In 1914, Mr. Pouliot was 24 years old, the ideal age for service as a soldier, said Mr. Cruickshank, a veteran of the last war. In this war Mr. Pouliot had done nothing but discourage farmers' sons and others from joining the services.

"This man who fights so courageously against civil servants and against members of the armed forces doesn't know anything about a slit trench, sleepless nights on the battlefields, or anything about a battlefield," said Mr. Cruickshank.

Whenever Mr. Pouliot spoke he always had his eye on the election battlefront of Temiscouata county.

"I think I am speaking for all members of the House when I condemn the fact that any member should defame a fighting man by calling him a penguin," said Mr. Cruickshank.

He said he had informed Mr. Pouliot by letter that he was going to refer to him in the Commons.

It was unfortunate for Quebec province that Mr. Pouliot appeared to be that province's spokesman in the house. Quebec had made a great contribution in this war and in the last war.

Raps Cartoon

Before the veterans' affairs debate was resumed, Revenue Minister Gibson read a statement in which he criticized a cartoon and editorial in the Toronto Globe and Mail regarding the Dominion government's wartime alcoholic beverage order. He said the editorial, published yesterday, represented the Federal government as being responsible for the fact the monthly ration of spirits authorized in Ontario was 13 ounces and in Quebec 80 ounces.

Col. Gibson added:

"The Federal government has nothing whatever to do with deciding what the ration shall be in each province. Each province is entitled to receive 70 per cent of the quantity of spirits released for sale in the year which ended Oct. 31, 1942; in other words, each province receives exactly the same proportion of the quantity consumed in the base period."

ENVIRONMENT VITAL IN LOVE
How Prospective Mate Acts Under Conditions Expected in Wedlock Must Be Considered

Recently there appeared a cynically amusing cartoon in the papers showing a returning soldier presenting his Eskimo bride to his astonished parents, with the explanation: "Well, she looked all right in Alaska."

We smiled as we thought of a husband trying to fit that incongruous little figure into the stream-lined pattern of sophisticated society, but there was a heartache underneath our mirth because we had seen so many youngsters marry girls and boys who were glamorous against their own background, who were grotesque in the surroundings to which they were transplanted. And we remembered the tragedy it was to both.

Attractive Settings Enhance Romance

There was Mary who married the good-looking boatman at the summer resort. There was Lucy who eloped with the dashing cowboy at the dude ranch. There was Tom, who was honor man at college, who fell for a girl from the wrong side of the tracks. And there were the learned bookmen so beguiled by the picture that the simple country girl picking flowers made that they mistook her ignorance for innocence.

Then, when they got their mates out of their native environments the charm evaporated like mist in the sun. Mary's sea god was just an ordinary chap in ill-fitting, ready-made clothes. Lacking his wide spaces and his horse. Lucy's cowboy was shorn of all his romantic appeal. Brought in contact with smart women Tom's wife was a frump who didn't even know how to comb her hair. And the scholars were bored to death by wives who had never read anything but True Stories.

Most of the domestic misery that salts the world down in tears, is the result of men and women marrying people who have had different upbringings and have different tastes and habits from their own. Irvin Cobb once said that the Civil War was not fought over slavery. The real issue was hot bread versus cold bread.

This is just as true of families as it is of nations. Husbands and wives quarrel more over little things than they do over big things. Husbands' table manners get on their wives' nerves just as much as their philandering does, and husbands will stand for practically any sort of treatment from their wives as long as they don't correct their grammar.

Important Test Of Prospective Mates

Hence, the vital importance of a man and woman testing out before marriage how their prospective mates will fit into their background. Let them take John and Mary to their home towns; let them visit their parents; meet their friends and acquaintances, and if they don't fit into the picture, let them call the wedding off. For love itself does not stand the acid test of lack of congeniality, or of having to "explain" a wife or husband to others.

And I especially urge all service men, who are lonely and homesick and girlsick, to cut out the cartoon I referred to at the beginning of these few lines and to put it, along with their pin-up girls, where it will be constantly before their eyes, as a reminder that the girl who looks all right in Alaska may not look that way if they take her back home.

CWL Donates $1,000 To Pope's Fund

LONDON, Ont., June 17—(CP)—A decision to donate $1,000 to the fund created by Archbishops and Bishops of Canada in response to the appeal for alleviating the suffering of the starving people of Europe issued by Pope Pius XII was made at the closing session of the 24th national convention of the Catholic Women's League here last night.

Officers elected were: President, Miss Ann MacMaster, Vancouver; First Vice-President, Mrs. W. R. Dundin, Montreal; Second Vice-President, Mrs. T. E. Durocher, Windsor, Ont.; Third Vice-President Mrs. G. A. Marceau, Quebec City; Fourth Vice-President, Mrs. Frank O'Neill, Halifax; Fifth Vice-President, Mrs. W. A. Walker, Toronto; Honorary Secretary, Miss Isabel Hutton Ottawa; Honorary Treasurer Mrs. James Freeman, Riverside, Ont.

Maquis Take Town

PORT BOU, Spain, at the French Border, June 17—(AP)—A new Maquis army has opened guerilla action only 150 miles south of the Caen battlefield, reports reaching the French-Spanish frontier said yesterday. Several hundred well-armed guerillas rode into Bressuire in 30 trucks Wednesday, isolated the town's Nazi garrison and spent four hours methodically wrecking five rail lines which cross through the town, as well as dynamiting roads and bridges, it was reported.

IN MEMORIAM

BRISTOW—In loving memory of our son, William Morley Bristow, who was drowned four years ago, June 17, 1940, in the Otonabee River.

No pen can write, no tongue can tell
Our sad and bitter loss,
But God alone has helped so well
To bear our heavy cross.

—Ever remembered by Father, Mother and Family.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Alma Silvester and sons wish to thank their Peterborough friends for expressions of sympathy, especially thanking Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, all the members and choir of Murray Street Baptist Church, Royal Orange Lodge, Black Knights and members of the City and Provincial Police Forces for their kindness during the illness and death of a dear husband and father.

Mrs. Patrick Hynes and family extend their sincere thanks to the attending doctors, priests, and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, employees and C.G.E. and Genelco and to all kind friends and neighbors for many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during their most recent sad bereavement.

The Tea Hour Gossip . . . .

My whole write-up today is going to be about cookies and small cakes. They are so easily made and keep so long, and are enjoyed by both old and young alike. They are so nice to serve with raw fruit as dessert during hot weather, and now that fresh fruit is in, I thought it would be a good time to give you these recipes.

Geneese Cakes

½ cup sugar, ⅓ cup butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup flour, 2 ounces ground almonds, ¼ teaspoon baking powder. Beat sugar and butter together. Add well beaten eggs alternately with the flour and baking powder. Add ground almonds. Bake in shallow tin in moderate oven about 25 minutes. Cut into fancy shapes or fingers. Ice thinly and sprinkle with cocoanut, and put candied cherry on each piece.

Fruit Cookies

1 cup raisins, 1½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup butter, ½ cup lard, 1 egg (beaten), 4 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon baking soda, pinch of salt, nutmeg or mixed spice, flour enough to roll. Seed and chop raisins fine, sprinkle with flour and set aside. Beat together sugar, butter, lard. When creamy add beaten egg, sweet milk, baking soda, salt and enough flour to make a stiff batter, then add raisins and spice. Flour to make a stiff dough. Roll very thin and bake in a quick oven.

Cocoa Novelty Doughnuts

1 egg, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup milk, 2 cups flour, ¼ cup cocoa, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt, dates and walnuts. Mix the egg and sugar, add the milk. Stir flour, cocoa, baking powder, cinnamon and salt together and add to first mixutre. Roll dough ¼" thick and wrap around a date which has been stoned and stuffed with walnut meats. Fry in hot fat until a golden brown.

Almond Paste Fancies

2 cups sugar, ½ pound ground almonds, ½ cup water, yolk of one egg, few drops of almond flavoring, few crystallized cherries. Boil sugar and water until clear, about 5 minutes. Stir in the ground almonds, then the yolk of the egg and allow it to cook, but not curdle. Let cool. Add the flavoring and stir well and allow to cool two or three hours. Pour into fancy shapes. Decorate with cherries.

Cocoanut Macaroons

Beat whites of 4 eggs to a froth and add 1 cup of sifted sugar, ½ pound almonds (pounded fine), 2 teaspoons cocoa and sufficient grated cocoanut to make very stiff. Drop from a teaspoon on to well greased pan to form small balls. Bake in hot oven until a golden brown on top.

Attendance Record Surpassed This Week At Red Cross Clinic

Attendance at the Blood Donors' Clinic this week has surpassed all previous records which have been established since the opening. Donors an Monday numbered 124, the largest group at any single clinic and 109 on Wednesday.

Clinic workers attribute this increase to two reasons. The Invasion has had some effect they feel, because a number of the donors have mentioned the fact after they came. In addition, since the Clinic will be closed in July, factories and other donors have been asked to send people due in July, in the latter part of June, so that the quotas may be kept up.

The 124 donors present Monday were:

MERION, Pa., June 17 — (AP).—A patrolman rapped at the door of Mrs. John Steele's apartment at 4.30 a.m.

"Madam, is your child home?" he asked.

"Of course," she said, "he isn't two years old yet."

But she looked in his crib and her son, Michael, was gone.

"He's down at the station," said the policeman. "We found him wandering around in the rain in his undershirt and diaper."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LEARN BRIDGE FAST

24—Returning a Lead

YOU MAY win the very first trick, to which your partner made the opening lead against the declarer. Or you may win a trick a little later. In either case, you will then face the question of what suit to return, and what card of it. The answer will usually depend upon whether the contract is No Trump or a suit.

If it is No Trump, and you could read your partner's lead as having been from a long suit, you should nearly always return it, since the best chance for you defenders to beat the contract will generally be by getting the little cards of that suit established as trick-takers, or maybe only one such card. Unless your reading of his lead, to show the composition of his suit, indicates to the contrary, your return usually should be your fourth-best to help him count the declarer's holding, if you hold as many as four, and your highest if you hold three or less.

Against a suit contract, if your partner had led a small card of some side suit, you usually should not return it. Usually you can infer that he led from a worthless suit because he did not want to jeopardize non-touching honors at the top of other suits. He therefore probably prefers having those suits led to him.

But what you have heard during the bidding and what you see in the dummy will help you in deciding what to do. You may see in the dummy a long suit which the declarer could set up in a round or two, and possibly a high card in some other suit which may later be an important entry for him to use in bringing in the established cards of the long suit. In such a case, it may be well to lead the suit in which you see that high card of entry, in the hope that it may be knocked out before the other suit gets set up.

Against both No Trump and suit contracts, you may have a sound reason to shift suits when you see a weak holding in the dummy, of perhaps two or three cards. Leading that suit will mean that your partner, with whatever high cards he holds, will get a chance to play after the declarer's high cards. In other words, you will be leading "up to weakness" and possibly "through strength," or at least through whatever strength the declarer has. This is good to do when you know you are leading "up to weakness," but may be very bad if you are merely leading through strength up to possible other strength, as would be the case if you were in the opening leader's position and led a suit in which the dummy is fairly strong.

When either defender has the lead after seeing the dummy, during play of a suit contract, it may become obvious that the declarer will wish to ruff some of his losing cards of a suit in which the dummy has a singleton, doubleton or blank suit. In such a situation, it is often wise to lead a trump, in order to use up one of the dummy's which otherwise could be employed for ruffing.

There are the contrary situations, in which it appears probable that your own side might gain by ruffing. Either you may have a singleton, or your partner may seem likely to be short in some suit which he could trump. In such a case, your judgment will tell you to lead such a suit.

In brief, after you have seen the dummy and the play to a trick or so, your plain ordinary hard thinking will generally guide you best regarding how to try to beat the declarer's contract or limit him to the smallest possible number of tricks.

Women's Group To Fix Flower Bouquets

HAVELOCK, June 17 (ENS) — The June quarterly meeting of the Womens Association was held in the church with a good attendance. Devotional exercises were taken by the East-End group, with Mrs. Herbert Hoard reading the scripture and Mrs. C. Gall leading in prayer. The meditation "Prayer is Power" was read by Mrs. C. Price. A poem "The Ladies Aid" was read by Mrs. E. Williams.

Special prayers for members of the armed forces were offered by the presidents, Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Freeman.

Reports were given by the Secretaries of each group, and the Treasurer reported a balance on hand of $250.58. Arrangements were made for bouquets of flowers to be put in the church every Sunday with the west-end group supplying for July, the centre group for August and the east-end group for September.

Arrangements were made by the group leaders to make a complete list of all elderly ladies over 75 years old and the list to be handed in at the September meeting and kept up to date. A donation of $50.00 was made to the Victor Home Mission in Toronto. Owing to the resignation of the Secretary, Miss Minnie Williams was appointed to fill the vacancy until the end of the year. The next quarterly meeting will be held on September 20, with the centre group in charge of the devotions. A pot-luck supper was served.

WHERE COUNTER ATTACKS SPAWN AS ALLIES ADVANCE—As the Allied invasion moves inland to become the battle of Normandy and beachheads grow in depth as new thousands are landed on a well-cleared coast (indicated by shaded area on map) the constant threat of violent counter attack by the enemy becomes a closer and louder sound. Shown here are the two counter-attack hubs of the Nazis, according to reports. In the west where the Allied thrust from landing zones has resulted in the capture of Bayeux and in a drive to the south where Caen is reported tottering (indicated by arrows from the invasion symbol), the Germans are reported using Rennes as a depot for troops and supplies. And as the Allies threaten to cut off the Cherbourg peninsula, after penetrating communication lines with Paris at several points, preparations for counter-attacks are reported being rushed both at Rennes and at Paris, which, as arrows indicate, are expected to carry on the battle for the Seine valley and adjacent territory. Arrows from Rennes point to the area which the Nazis are said to defend from that centre. Bombs show where heavy air attacks are being made by Allied fliers on the French coast.

Sunday School Convention At Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, June 17—(ENS)—"We must get back to the building of Christian homes, and there is no hope of bettering world conditions until we do," declared Rev. W. P. Fletcher, D.D. of Bowmanville, in an address on "The Home As An Agency of Christian Education" at the Sunday School Convention of Cavan and South Monaghan townships held in Bailieboro United Church this week.

"We have lost our sense of God", declared Rev. Fletcher "and for more than a generation the drift of life has been away from things human and spiritual to things material and scientific."

He maintained that an attitude toward God was engrained in the life of a child by the atmosphere of the home in the early years before he starts to Sunday School and that a wrong home attitude would defeat any Sunday School teaching.

Afternoon Session

"Stress the Home" was the theme for the 1944 convention, and it was made clear that the job of the Sunday School was to cooperate with the home.

Mrs. W. F. Bannister gave two interesting short skits demonstrating a visit first to the home of a boy who likes Sunday School and then the home of one who dislikes Sunday School which showed the advantage of home background. Rev. A. E. Chevis led an instructive discussion on the necessity of co-operation and friendly relationship between parents and Sunday School teachers.

"To make the liquor traffic responsible for all crimes and accidents that could be traced directly to alcoholic beverages" was the firm conviction of suppertime discussion led by Mr. J. Burns, of how to meet the present day problem of liquor traffic. The teaching of religion in schools was also discussed at length and it was firmly agreed that it should be taught by ministers of the gospel.

J. Burns President

The installation of officers for 1944 was conducted by Rev. A. E. Chevis as follows: Hon. president, Fred Fallis; past president, Reginald Sutton; president, Joseph Burns; vice president, Ray Finlay; secretary treasurer, Mrs. Richard Matchett; children's dept., Mrs. Fred Barnard; Young Peoples Dept., Oakley Carley; Boys' Dept., Gerald Anderson; Girls' Dept., Miss Gladys Coyte; Missionary Dept., Mrs. Norman Thompson; Leadership Training, Miss Estella Hetherington; Adult Dept., Richard Earle; Home Dept., Mrs. T. Graham; Temperance Dept. Rev. H. Malcolm and Richard Matchett.

Farmers Need Wider Markets Following War

Widening of postwar markets, lowering of producer costs and the support of research to discover new uses for agricultural products were among the methods advocated by Dr. W. M. Drummond, economic expert and agricultural advisor to John Bracken, for maintaining a decent structure of price levels for Canadian farming after the war, in an address delivered before the Kiwanis Club Friday.

Mr. Drummond directed his remarks to a large group of young farmers and a few farmerettes who were the guests of the club at the weekly luncheon. The title of his talk was "The Future of Canadian Agriculture," and he emphasized that a comprehensive review of the many problems involved could not be undertaken within the limits of a speech.

"Everybody engaged in practical agriculture," Dr. Drummond declared, "is concerned with the future, but many are not nearly as concerned as they should be. Two of the foremost goals to be aimed at are getting agriculture in an economic condition where the average farmer can enjoy the amenities of life; and secondly seeing that the farm population gets the share of the national income to which it is entitled."

"It is not a question of justice, but a matter of hard-boiled business that the latent market for manufactured goods represented by the farming element of the country be developed. And how latent this market is, even in prosperous war days, may be indicated by figures that show today still only eight per cent of Canadian farms have running water or central heating, and nearly as high a number are without electric services."

Some Improvement

The second goal, the speaker avowed, was part and parcel of the first and had not been emphasized nearly enough. This was true despite the continued reiteration of the non-farming part of the population that farming is the base of the country's economy, "uttered so frequently, and particularly before elections," the speaker said, "that no one took it too seriously."

"Of course," Dr. Drummond said, "the situation is very much better than it was several years ago. Relief has been brought through unlimited demand for farm products, the erasing of the problem of surplus, and higher prices. But how long and to what extent may we count on things remaining this way?"

A glance at the way it was being done now afforded an idea of the solution, the speaker said. More jobs had been created, all were receiving higher wages, and as a consequence purchasing power had risen to new high levels. This was one way of maintaining the desired price level where the farmer was concerned, Dr. Drummond pointed out; but, he said, "I know it is a terrific problem. You cannot separate general economic policy and agricultural policy."

The first and biggest thing, therefore, was keeping up employment, but there were many other roads too, he said. In spite of more attention being paid to improved nutrition, this was a field the surface of whose principles was still only being grazed. "According to the best nutritional experts," Dr. Drummond declared, "a considerable part of the population is still not getting even enough quantity of food, let alone quality."

The research part of the job of insuring the profitability of farming operations was full of complications but full of promise too, and evidence supported the idea of new uses for farm products. "Up to now the demand for farm products has always been thought of as a demand for food; but the discoveries of our enemies, without which they would not be as formidable opponents as they are, surely refute this outmoded state of opinion."

Reviews Markets

A large portion of Dr. Drummond's talk was devoted to a consideration of export markets, the importance of which he summarized with the remark that Canadians would be "sunk" if they had to rely on native markets alone. Even before the war, he said, the products of thirty million acres had to go abroad to be absorbed. "We must try to arrange things internationally," he made it clear, "so that the world price is satisfactory to the Canadian farmer."

"There are deficiency areas abroad with markets for somebody to get; to what extent will it be us?" he asked. "Here again, if we are to get anywhere, we must have the support of more research and the results must be spread generally through the medium of education. And costs must be lowered too."

Maintenance of agricultural farm income might mean also, the speaker pointed out, such things as attempting to cut sales taxes; attempting to systematize Canada's transport facilities in a determined effort to get costs down; reduction of tariffs; and the preventing of farm suppliers restricting their output in order to raise their prices.

Another factor that would require consideration, Dr. Drummond said, was the problem raised by technological efficiency, which had been speeded up by the war, but was still being practised by only a fraction of the farmers. It meant extra products, he said, but it also meant the need for further expansion of markets; and eventually it might entail looking forward to a continuous rural de-population trend. "In that case," he said, "we must prepare to make it feasible for those who have to get out of farming to find suitable places in other industries."

Gordon K. Fraser, Progressive-Conservative M.P., introduced Mr. Drummond to the Kiwanis Club and the many young farmers present; while John Troke moved the vote of thanks. Those present at the luncheon included the district governor and lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis.

He received a bullet wound in the upper lip and nose. Enlisting in 1940, Cpl. Sutherland went overseas in July, 1941, and he was formerly employed in the shipping department of the Quaker Oats. He has three children and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sutherland, McGill Street.

Egg Shipments Show Decrease

TORONTO, June 17—There has been little change to the egg market during the current week. While arrivals have shown some slight decrease, volume of receipts has been great enough to meet all requirements. Offerings to the Special Products Board have not been so heavy, but are still in sufficient volume to meet present needs. Local consumer demand has been very good, but out-of-town movement was quite light. The seasonal change in quality is apparent in the increased quantities of under grades reaching the city. Spot price for grade C eased a half cent closing at 26 cents.

The butter market has held firm. The present rate of production satisfactorily meets all demands. While most sales of first grade were made at 33 cents, some dealers report there is still the odd sale going through at 33¼ cents. Quality maintains its usual high standard.

There are still a few odd lots of white cheese being sold, with prices ranging from 20¾ cents to 21 cents.

French Hold Two-thirds Elba Island

8th Army Captures Town Of Assisi In Central Italy

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press War Correspondent

ROME, June 19—(AP)—French colonial battalions captured Portoferraio and now hold the "greater part of the Island of Elba," Allied Headquarters announced today, while on the Italian Peninsula mud-spattered Allied troops made gains on both flanks and in the centre of their line, taking Assisi, birthplace of St. Francis.

Beating down determined German resistance on Elba, the French have rounded up several hundred prisoners, including several high officers, a communique said.

A field dispatch said the French had seized more than two-thirds of Elba.

Before taking Portoferraio, the capital on the north coast, the French captured Napoleon's villa the invading forces brought artillery against the Germans bitterly contesting control of Portio Longone on the east coast.

Resistance Grows

Allied 5th and British 8th Army troops in Italy are meeting increasing resistance as they drive the Germans back toward the Pisa-Rimini line, but more villages have been taken and strong pressure is being exerted against the stubborn German garrison at the central sector road hub of Perugia, 85 miles north of Rome and about 72 miles southeast of Florence.

Eighth Army troops captured Assisi, 12 miles southeast of Perugia, and Deruta, south of the bitterly contested road junction town. A communique said heavy fighting also has taken place at Citta Della Pieve, 22 miles southwest of Perugia. In the Adriatic sector, Allied troops are approaching the Tronto River.

Referring to fighting along the west coast, the communique said, "west of highway 2 5th Army troops have driven the enemy from important defensive positions and into the coast sector have taken Campagnatico and are now some miles north of Grosseto."

The weather also hampered Allied air operations from Mediterranean and Italian bases yesterday, but fighters of the 1st Tactical Air Force made a sweep over enemy communications in Southern France, destroying six locomotives while Spitfires hit objectives in Elba.

British Class Robot Planes As Nuisances

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, June 19.—(CP).—There's a Wellsian atmosphere in living in Southern England since Hitler decided to bring Britain's little people back into the front line by putting to use pilotless planes—or more correctly winged bombs—which Britons have known for some time hed been holding up his sleeve.

It's a weird feeling like getting a glimpse of some world of fantasy, to know these so-called buzz bombs, bumble bombs or comet planes are shooting through English skies day and night without regard for military objectives and likely to strike anywhere.

Generally, Britons seem to feel that if Hitler is laughing at what he believes is British terror, the last laugh definitely will be with Britain because it is generally agreed he is wasting his time if this weapon is supposed to win the war for him. Buzz bombs are nothing like as bad as even the picket blitz on London early this year.

If there is any advantage in using a crewless, bomb-carrying plane it is purely a mental one. The uncanniness of a crewless bomber seems a bit upsetting to people who expected to get bombed once the second front opened and who developed a mental and physical defence against regular bombers to a high degree.

The people have been assured mastery of the new weapon is coming soon but week-end papers suggested that the best method would be to push the Normandy invasion so far back, old England would be out of range of continental buzz-bomb bases.

Air commentators suggested it was quite conceibable these winged bombs could be built to greater size, increasing the range, but any increase would bring with it difficulties. Any increase in the range would have to be made by providing more space for fuel which would reduce the bombload, unless the whole thing was increased in ratio. If this happened, a bigger launching base would be needed and the bigger the base, the more vulnerable it would beoome to attack.

So the sugestion is that if Canada and the United States are worried over the German pilotless planes, they can forget about it and settle down to let Britain work out a quick solution.

Meantime, "too little and too late" is the verdict of British experts. Used by thousands months ago, they might seriously have interferred with invasion preparations. On the scale they are appearing now, they are only a nuisance.

The German-controlled Paris radio quoted a Berlin announcement as saying that in addition to London, targets hit by the rocket bombs included Plymouth, Southampton, Portsmouth, Weymouth, the Isle of Wight, Brighton, Littlehampton, Hastings, Folkestone, Dover, Margate and Gravesend.

Russian Paper Slaps Japanese

MOSCOW, June 19.—(AP).—The Soviet publication "War and the Working Class" said to-day that in the days when Hitler's forces were driving into Russia the Japanese "included Soviet Far Eastern Siberia and even Middle Asia into their 'sphere,' and these delirious plans of the Japanese imperialists found their gloryless end with the defeat of the German army at Stalingrad."

In a blunt discussion entitled "Japan and the occupied countries of Eastern Asia," the writer, Klementi Popov, said that Japan repeatedly has occupied territories on the Asiatic continent, but always has been forced to retreat.

"In the present war," he wrote, "Japan is in the camp of the Hitlerite coalition which is doomed to inevitable defeat.

3-Way Task Engages Allied Fliers

Robot Bases Hard Hit By 700 Bombers More Missiles Arrive

By GLADWIN HILL
Associated Press War Correspondent

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 19.—(AP).—U.S. heavy bombers 500 to 700 strong hammered Hitler's rocket-bomb launching area at Pas de Calais to-day as more of the pilotless explosives hurtled over England and other big Allied planes struck heavily at German air bases in southwestern France.

Fighter-bombers, attacking at the rate of one a minute, drove home a three-ply assault in direct support of the invasion forces. One wave pounded trapped German forces on northern Cherbourg Peninsula. Another battered communication routes to the southeast over which the Nazis were trying to reinforce their armored divisions in the Till-Caen sector. The third stream bombed the area north of Paris, disrupting enemy reinforcement lines.

Using Horses.

The American heavy bombers slashed at rocket installations after a night assault by the R.A.F., in which one plane was lost, and a raid in the same area Sunday by 250 big U.S. bombers.

Other formations hit airfield targets including Bordeaux-Merignac, Cazaux, west of Boreaux, and Corne Ecluse near the coast west of Cognac.

A rare stretch of bad June weather still was hampering air operations.

Fighter-bombers blasted to pieces one concentration of several hundred Germans. One fighter group saw what looked like a big procession of citizens out for a ride in horse shays, but when the pilots "buzzed" the cavalcade for a closer look German soldiers dived for cover. The ammunition-loaded "shays" were sent up in a string of firecracker explosions while horses scampered across the fields.

The Germans apparently are making increased use of horse-drawn vehicles indicating perhaps a shortage of motor vehicles or necessity of using horses to go over or around battered roads.

More than 1,300 American heavy bombers hammered oil refineries and storage plants in the Hamburg area and three enemy airdromes in northwest Germany yesterday, while 250 other heavy bombers pounded the Pas de Calais area.

The Germans hurled more winged bombs at southern England today, carrying their attack with these new weapons into its fifth day.

The western air war now has developed into a three-sided battle, with Allied air units engaging in a cross-channel duel with German rocket bombs, maintaining ceaseless support of the invasion troops in Normandy and mounting strategic attacks on the Reich itself.

Although the Germans threw up a flak barrage described as one of the heaviest yet encountered, not a single enemy fighter rose to challenge the mighty aerial fleet which struck into Germany yesterday. About 500 fighters accompanied the heavy bombers, which made an attack aimed at shutting off the lifeblood of Germany's motorized divisions.

Only two German aircraft were

Secret Weapons Jet Propelled

LONDON, June 19 (CP-Reuters)—German pilotless planes attacking Britain are jet propelled, it was stated officially here today.

Authorities said also that the plane—or pilotless bomb—is launched from a ramp and has a range of about 150 miles. Flight speed is between 300 and 350 miles an hour and the missile has an explosive power about equivalent to a 500 pound German bomb.

Since the end of 1943 tens of thousands of tons of bombs have been dropped on the robot planes launching bases.

Photographs show extensive damage has been caused to them and this resulted in dislocation of the widespread German effort to assail Britain.

An air ministry statement said "other offensive measures to frustrate the enemy's plans for attacks on British cities from across the Channel" have been taken.

REPORTED MISSING — Wing Cmdr. Lloyd V. Chadburn, D.S.O. and Bar, D.F.C., of Aurora, and who visited Peterborough the latter part of April at the beginning of the Victory Loan, is now reported missing. He led the first assault of Canadian fighter planes in the invasion of Normandy, June 6.

Chinese Lose Lungling On Burma Road

CHUNGKING, June 19—(AP).—The Chinese High Command announced tonight the withdrawal of Chinese troops from the Burma Road town of Lungling.

The Chinese recaptured Lungling on June 10, and hailed it as the greatest success of their first major counteroffensive of the war.

While admitting the loss of the town 20 miles west of the Salween River, the Chinese continued to press their offensive toward Burma and announced that other forces reached the outskirts of Watien, 20 miles north of Tengchung. Tengchung is 40 miles northwest of Lungwing.

Japanese troops have captured three important Chinese strongholds in their Hunan Province offensive aimed at clearing the Canton-Hankow railway, and 400 miles to the north in Honan Province have made gains along the Peiping-Hankow rail line.

The Chinese High Command said Chinese defenders in the by-passed Hunan capital of Changsha faced the prospect of seeing their last route of retreat cut.

Conquest of both rail lines would give the Japanese a complete north-south line of rail communications,

Reds Advance Steadily Over Finland

Port Of Viipuri Outer Defences Now Under Siege

MOSCOW, June 19—(AP).—Soviet field dispatches declared today that the Red Army had smashed forward to the threshold of Viipuri, key city in Southern Finland, after breaking the Mannerheim Line and capturing Koivisto Fortress at the mouth of Viipuri Bay.

Farther inland on the Karelina Isthmus the Russians were reported to have driven 2½ miles past the Mannerheim Line in the Murila sector.

While the Red Army's left flank had made the most progress along the Gulf of Finland, dispatches said the right wing on the opposite side of the isthmus now was advancing along Lake Ladoga, capturing numerous points.

Position critical.

STOCKHOLM, June 19—(AP).—Swedish newspaper dispatches from Helsinki to-day described the position of the Finnish Army as "critical" as a result of the latest Russian advances up the Karelian Isthmus.

Viipuri was acknowleded to be directly menaced by onrushing Red Army troops whose weight of men and materials was said to be "crushing," the dispatches reported.

Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad forces which launched the offensive 9 days ago appeared to have broken the back of the Finnish army after piercing the enemy's three lines in the defence of Karelia and prospects for an early complete victory over Finland seemed bright.

The Russians' quick success was attributed largely to tremendous artillery barrages which pulverised Finnish positions. Front dispatches disclosed that the Katiusha, the Red Army's secret gun, was used for the first time in Finland in the present drive.

The Red Army reached the Mannerheim Line on Saturday, three days after breaking the Raivola-Yoki Line, and breached the old Mannerheim forts yesterday in a single swift rush.

A Pravda dispatch said Soviet Army men were "electrified" by their first view of the Mannerheim pillboxes which they had blown up in the Soviet-Finnish War of 1939-40.

Ominous Lull Settles On Canadian Sector

BY WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE, June 19—(CP-Cable)—The last week has been quiet on the Canadian sector of the Normandy front but the lull is ominous. It has seemed unnatural to assault troops who in their successful landing fought their way up beaches and kept fighting for several days and nights with little sleep.

The Canadians have made use of the lull to rest up and get ready for the next phase but all the while they have had one ear cocked for an outburst that might be the signal for another of those jabbing counter-attacks by which the Germans tried to break a hole into the bridgehead positions.

A lull in the battle, of course, doesn't mean a complete stillness. By day, the roar of our fighter-bombers has been constant. The second-front air cover is as great as ever provided any army.

Artillery Active

Then there have been artillery exchanges and mortar fire and Canadian and German patrols have worked their way through the tall grasses and crept along the hedges at night on reconnaissance.

But generally it's meant a lay-up for the infantrymen who fought mgnificently after marching quickly in from the beaches and digging in.

In forward areas, the lull has produced a picture of soldiers, stripped to the waist, sunning themselves in the green fields into which they have cut their life-saving slit trenches. As long as there is no shell or mortar fire close to them, they doze, but the whistle and explosion of one or two enemy projectiles sends them underground.

Because the war on the Canadian front has been more or less static, with only nibbling movements here and there, fewer German prisoners are seen lately. Sniping also has practically disappeared.

The Canadians have had more time to examine the hulks of German tanks thrown against them last week and decided they are 45-ton Panthers rather than 60-ton Tigers. The Panthers are worthy opponents for any tanks and it is remarkable to see some that have been knocked out.

Evidence of the success of the

Assam Cleared Of Japanese

KANDY, Ceylon, June 19—(CP)—The last Japanese have been thrown out of Assam, in northeastern India, and operations are proceeding satisfactorily to drive the rest off the Kohima-Imphal road in Manipur, it was announced today.

Large-scale withdrawals of Japanese south and east toward Ukhrul, 24 miles northeast of Imphal, were observed and the congested columns were strafed by the R.A.F., Allied Headquarters said.

The Monsoon was slowing Allied operations, however, and rubber boats were employed to maintain some positions and evacuate casualties Allied troops compressed further the Japanese defensive arcs at Mogaung and Myitkyina in Northern Burma.

Chinese troops reached the north bank of the Mogaung River opposite the town of Mogaung, while Chindits were holding a village bordering it on the east.

In the Myitkyina area, up the railway to the northeast, a Chinese Unit tunnelled to the rear of an enemy unit and destroyed it. Local gains were made on all four sides of the beleaguered base.

For the first time the Chinese were using flamethrowers and bazookas in the attack at Myitkyina.

The southeast Asia communique said 20 miles of the Imphal-Kohima road had been cleared of the enemy.

40,000 Nazis Bottled Up On Cherbourg Peninsula Americans Widen Corridor

3rd Largest Port In France Isolated; British Enter Tilly Sur Seulles Germans Still Hold Southern Part Of Town

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN NORMANDY, June 19—(AP)—The American forces were eight miles from Cherbourg tonight.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 19—(CP).—A German attempt to burst out of a trap bottling up perhaps 25,000 to 40,000 Nazis south of Cherbourg has been crushed by American forces, headquarters announced today, while toward the eastern flank of the 116-mile Normandy front British forces battled into the northern end of shell-torn Tilly, the Germans still are holding in the southern part of the town between Bayeux and Caen.

The German thrust in the Cherbourg peninsula was a heavy local attack near St. Jacques de Nehou, about 12 miles inland from the west coast and it was thrown back with heavy losses.

Headquarters said the Americans, laying siege to Cherbourg after thrusting a seven-mile corridor across the peninsula, were building up strength for "the next step."

Heavy Barrage.

German guns laid a heavier shell barrage on American-held Carentan, stronghold near the eastern base of Cherbourg peninsula.

Other Americans on the northeastern end of the line choking off Cherbourg fought toward the port from the Montebourg area, 14 miles to the southeast.

(Berlin radio said U.S. forces had made a "slight advance in the direction of Valognes," 10 miles southeast of Cherbourg, indicating the German stronghold of Montebourg possibly is being by-passed.)

Local advances were scored on other sectors of the beachhead, headquarters said, as Gen. Montgomery, the Allied ground commander, built up his forces for a typical "Monty" punch backed up by thousands of big guns.

East of Tilly, too, British forces have made limited gains in minor attacks, and have beaten off German counter-attacks in the woods there.

Make Small Gains.

There have been small gains by British and Canadian 3rd Division troops in the area around Caen, while a small advance has also been made south-east of Bayeux.

The spearhead of the American drive to capture this big port, developed by Napoleon, was the U.S. 9th Division. It was this division that broke through German defences to take Bizerte, Tunisia, 13 months ago.

United States forces that severed the peninsula were busy widening their break-through path to the Atlantic coast, which even last night was seven miles wide. They were driving the Germans down toward La Haye du Puits, big road junction seven miles south of St. Sauveur le Vicomte, into what appeared to be another trap, for one American trans-peninsular spearhead has been within four miles of La Haye for several days.

If this spearhead takes the town of La Haye, the Germans in that area will be in another pocket—between St. Lo D'Ourville and the Atlantic coast.

A third American column struck south to within six miles of St. Lo, important rail and highway junction in the Vire river valley, 42 air miles south of Cherbourg.

One officer returning to Britain said it was quieter behind the lines on the beachhead than in Southern England, where the Germans sent over hundreds of rocket bombs, causing casualties and damage, particularly among the civilian population.

Give Pay Boost On U.S. Lines Across Canada

OTTAWA, June 19—(CP)—The National War Labor Board announced today approval of application for wage increases by Canadian employees of United States railways operating in Canada.

Application for the increases was made by a number of Railway Unions. The case does not affect the general application of Canadian railway workers for increases to level Canadian and United States Railway wages.

The Unions, which represent certain Canadian as well as United States employees of a group of railroads, sought the increases in applications filed with the Board Feb. 11 on the grounds that the Canadian wage levels should be brought closer to the United States schedules because the workers preformed identical services.

The Unions were: Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers; Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; Order of Railway Telegraphers; Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen of America; Federated Shop Trades, and International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers.

Railways involved were: New York Central System; Pere Marquette Railway Company; Wabash Railroad; Great Northern Railway; Vancouver, Victoria and Eastern Railway and Navigation Company;

U.S. Holds Half Saipan Island

PEARL HARBOR, June 19.—(AP).—American soldiers and marines, fighting their way through canefields halfway across Saipan Island in the Marianas after repelling Japanese assaults by tanks and by landing craft, drove down toward the island's principal harbor and naval base at Magicienne Bay today.

Slightly more than 100 miles southward, American warships bombarded Guam heavily for the first time in the war. Admiral Nimitz, in announcing that this former American base had been shelled last Thursday, gave no indication as to whether an invasion was in prospect.

Fifteen hundred miles to the south, just below the equator, medium bombers and escorting fighters temporarily neutralized Japan's last remaining effective airbase in New Guinea. They destroyed 50 enemy planes at Sorong and sank five enemy merchantmen and half a dozen smaller vessels.

Flood Ravages Alberta

Waters Isolate Three Towns, Food Scarce

EDMONTON, June 19—(CP)—The worst flood in 35 years struck Belvedere, Manola and Rossington, about 65 miles northwest of Edmonton during the week-end following heavy rains in Alberta's foothills that sent swollen rivers over banks in several districts.

Loss of livestock, wash-out of railway roadbeds and highways, and temporary evacuation from some low-lying areas were reported while residents of Cadomon, Luscar and Mountain Park, about 165 miles west of Edmonton, were short of food supplies.

Trucks took food to Coalspur, 30 miles east of Cadomin, during the week-end and latest reports from the towns of the coal branch district was that supplies were sufficient to last through today.

Main line Canadian National Railways trains were re-routed via Calgary Canadian Pacific Railway lines to Vancouver due to washouts between Edmonton and Edson.

Railway roadbeds also were washed out in the Belvedere, Manola and Rossington areas. Amount of livestock losses in the district was not immediately determined.

At Athabasca, 100 miles north of Edmonton, the drinking water supply was cut off late Saturday due to the rapid rise of the Athbasca River.

Only 42 Cardinals Left

College Complement Lowest On Record

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

VATICAN CITY, June 19—(AP)—The Allied occupation of Rome finds the College of Cardinals reduced to 42 members—the lowest number in 144 years.

The normal complement of the college theoretically is 70 although it is practice always to have some vacancies.

There are no prospects for an immediate increase as Pope Pius XII has decided not to create new cardinals while the war lasts in Europe, persons familiar with the Vatican say. There have been reports that the Pontiff secretly named some cardinals under a process known as "in petto" but these reports are denied authoritatively.

There were 62 cardinals at the conclave at which the present pope was elected in 1939. His elevation to the papacy reduced the number to 61. Two cardinals died before the war started and 17 have died since.

Of the surviving 42 cardinals, one is a Canadian, Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec.

Twenty-five are Italian, four are French, two Germans and one each American, Argentine, Spanish, Hungarian, Irish, Austrian, Polish, Portuguese, Belgian and Syrian.

Nazi Arrogance Shaken By Invasion

BY CHARLES FOLTZ

MADRID, June 19 — (AP) — The news of the Allied invasion of Normandy turned the tables in Berlin. Nazi arrogance changed to fear and nervousness, while Belgian, Dutch Russian and other oppressed and unwilling victims of slave labor smiled at last; their eyes sparkled and they gave the Nazis some of their own insolence.

Here is a first hand report of a German business man of how Berlin took the news and the record of his trip south through France, en route to Spain. He described himself as "not very Nazi, not very anti-Nazi, until the invasion led to an awakening."

He might be better described as one of a mass of Germans who made Hitler's rise possible. His name and identity, for obvious reasons, cannot be disclosed.

Here is the story in his words:

"We slept soundly from Monday night to Tuesday morning. It was a marvellous sleep of hours without interruption. I arose at 6:30 a.m. feeling wonderful, but at 7 o'clock a friend telephoned that the invasion had begun at Le Havre. I cannot say what I thought, for I didn't think, it seemed as if somebody had hit me on the head with a blackjack.

Foreigners smiled

"I immediately left home to hear some of the news, but the streets were still deserted. About an hour later the streets were alive. People spoke only about the invasion. Nervousness walked the streets, like a living thing—nobody knew what to believe.

"In my office I listened to the BBC to hear whether the invasion was really a fact, or whether this was only another Goebbels' trick to see what our reaction would be. It was true! And against the very strongest part of the gigantic Atlantic Wall.

"Nobody worked that morning, until the police sent Hitler youth out with orders that everybody must stop speaking about invasion. These youths rushed up to groups in the streets, waving their arms and ordering them roughly to go to work and cease idle talk.

"When I left the office and was again in the street, I recognized immediately what men were Germans and who were foreigners. All foreign workmen had smiles on their lips; their eyes sparkled and their cheeks flushed.

"Once a group of Belgian or Dutch workmen pushed a German soldier off the sidewalk. The soldier was so astonished he seemed paralyzed. He left. The foreigners passed.

Sabotage in Factories.

"Through Wednesday and Thursday tension continued and friends of mine told me of sabotage of all kinds done in their factories, and that Russian Ukrainian workmen who refused to work had been arrested, but did not seem to care any more.

"I arrived in Paris Saturday. At the North Station SS German Army military police and uniformed Frenchmen patrolled the railway station.

"I approached a German officer, asking the way to Austerlitz station. He began to tell me, but suddenly said: "Wait a bit and I will send you there in an automobile, because otherwise the French will give false directions or perhaps you may even vanish."

"A soldier he got to drive me to Austerlitz confirmed what the officer had said. He declared that within the last three days 36 Germans had been reported to the German military police as having disappeared in Paris.

On the train I sat in a compartment with a number of Frenchmen. When I offered a cigaret to a Frenchman who was rolling one he replied in accented German: 'I don't like Germans'—tobacco.'

"I changed trains with a number of others at Avignon under heavy German guard. I was extremely nervous like other Germans. Twenty Frenchmen on that train were arrested by German police at Narbonne where an armored railway car was put at the head of the train and two other squads of SS police reinforced the passenger car guards.

"The railway line was patrolled by many German railway troops and I can tell you I was happy when we reached the Spanish frontier Sunday night.

"German frontier officers warned me not to speak, but I do not think I will go back very soon.'

Bonomi Cabinet Goes To Work

ROME, June 19—(AP)—The Allied governments, after delaying a week, have approved the cabinet formed by Premier Ivanoe Bonomi at the request of Prince Humbert, and it now has begun to function as Italy's new government, it was announced today.

The Allies insisted that the new government assume all responsibilities undertaken by the former government headed by Marshal Pietro Badoglio regarding the fulfillment of the terms of the Italian armistice, and make no change in the monarchial institution.

Along the Adriatic, Allied forces followed up the occupation of Termano with the capture of Bellante, only 14 miles southeast of Ascoli and eight miles south of the Tronto river.

French troops operating on the American right flank seized Roccalbegna, 22 miles northwest of Lake Bolsena, and approached Radicofani.

Allied officers believed Elba will be occupied before sundown to-day.

Deruta and several other localities near Perugia were taken in heavy fighting, the war buleltin said. It added that further substantial progress was made by French units on the island of Elba off the Italian west coast.

Enemy communications in southern France and shipping off the Yugoslav coast were bombed, but poor weather cut the number of sorties made by the Mediterranean Allied Air Force to about 300.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ALEX. WOODS.

APSLEY, June 19—(ENS).—There passed away at her home in Chandos near Loon Lake on Saturday, June 17, Gertrude Woods, wife of Alex. Woods, mother of Mrs. Geo. Trotter, Mrs. D. McDonald, Messrs. Ronald and Donald Woods. The funeral was held Monday from St. George's Anglican Church, Apsley.

MRS. FRED BOWMAN

BEWDLEY, June 19.—(ENS). — Mrs. Fred Bowman, Plainville, who was taken to Cobourg Hospital last Thursday, died Sunday morning in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, following a short illness. She was in her 37th year.

Mrs. Bowman was the youngest daughter of John McKinlay and the late Mrs. McKinlay of Plainville. A member of Plainville United church she was active in all phases of church work and took a particular interest in the W.M.S. She was assistant leader of the Mission Band and soloist in the choir.

She leaves to mourn her passing, her husband, one son, Arnold aged 7 years, four sisters Mrs. Joseph Harris, Gore's Landing; Mrs. Garnet Isaac of Harwood; Mrs. Kenneth Cruse, Campbellcroft; and Mrs. William Gordon, Bewdley. There are three brothers, Thomas, Bert and Clark McKinlay of Plainville and her father, John McKinlay of Plainville.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 p.m.

Churchill Talk Is Optimistic

LONDON, June 19—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, in a speech delivered at the Mexican Embassy four days ago and permitted to be published only today, said the months of this summer may "bring full success to the cause of freedom."

He said the invasion of Normandy was a great tactical surprise to the Germans who did not know it was coming until they saw the ships and "it may be that events will occur in the next few months which will show us whether we are soon to be released of the course which has been laid upon us by the Germans."

The invasion was launched "in full accord" with the Russians and the decisions reached at Teheran, he added, "and although the execution of the plans adopted there is far from being complete, it is being steadily unrolled, and the months of this summer may be the victories of this Allied campaign bring full success to the cause of freedom."

Touching on political aspects of the war, the prime minister said efforts were being made "to achieve permanent co-operation and to build up an organization which after this war will strengthen the bands between all our nations and will succeed in preserving peace."

"We look forward to the future in which the rights of small nations will be upheld and protected and in which the strong will use their power under the law for the protection of the weak."

Whether the Germans are defeated "this year or next, the British and American peoples will never falter or withdraw their hands from the task which they have undertaken," he declared. "Together with our Allies we will go on to the end, and the end will be the more terrible for our foes the longer their struggle continues and the longer this war is protracted."

Referring to the inconvenience caused the diplomatic corps by restrictions on communications to preserve secrecy Churchill said, "the lives of a million men may be engaged now on both sides" of the present struggle in France.

sighted all day yesterday by United States 9th Air Force fighter pilots who made more than 1,000 individual flights. They attacked hundreds of moving targets on the Cherbourg Peninsula and military objectives in the Pas de Calais area, and made sweeps into Central France near Paris, Amiens and Arras.

Strafe Troops

Many formations of medium, light and fighter-bombers laid down a withering fire on enemy forces being thrown back by American troops smashing across the Cherbourg Peninsula.

Some American medium bombers heavily attacked the railyards at Rennes yesterday. Others joined in bombing ammunition dumps at Fort d'Andaine south of Villers-Bocage and other targets close behind the enemy's lines.

In two missions Saturday, the Americans struck a dozen landing fields behind the Normandy battle zone, in addition to heaping new destruction on the Pas de Calais area, which also was hit by R.A.F. fighter-bombers.

R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers battered enemy installations in Northern France and laid mines in enemy waters Saturday night, while Mosquitoes struck targets in Berlin and Western Germany and also roamed behind the Normandy battle front. These operations cost one plane.

The latest tabulation on Saturday's combat scores showed 37 German planes downed over France. This represented about 10 per cent of the total air forces the enemy risked during the day and night. The list also showed 44 Allied losses—around one per cent of the sorties flown.

Besiege Cherbourg

But in six days of incessant bombardment with the new weapon, the Germans had failed to halt the dispatch of a single ship to the beachhead.

A Shabby Outfit

On the beachhead side the German air force virtually had disappeared, which might be an indication that Marshal Rommel was conserving his forces for an all-out attack.

German troops in the Cherbourg area are not of the highest quality, and they have been using many horse-drawn guns, many of which have been knocked out by Allied strafing planes.

The Germans have a strong perimeter defence around Cherbourg and undoubtedly Hitler's orders will be to hold on to the last. There is no chance for the German garrison to escape, since the Allies control all sea and air routes.

The German-held Channel Islands, which have many heavy guns, may give the Allied western flank a good deal of trouble, but so far British and American battleships have been able to deal with any coastal defences encountered. For example, the troublesome German battery at Houlgate, east of Ouistreham and the mouth of the Orne river, was believed silenced by the Royal Naval Battleship Ramillies. It was one of the few German batteries left that could rake the invasion beaches.

While the Germans were expected to attempt the destruction of the port of Cherbourg, they are unlikely to prevent its use by the Allies. The naval docks, especially, are hewn out of solid rock and there is little the Germans can do against these.

Biding His Time

It was disclosed today that on the eastern end of the beachhead Gen. Montgomery has under his command the British 7th armored division, famed as the "Juba," of "Desert Rat" division.

"Monty" apparently was biding his time, as always, to launch an all-out blow to beat a way out of the beachhead and into the open country of France.

When the time comes, it is more than likely that the 'Desert Rats," who Montgomery insisted be brought to England, will be playing a major role in the assault.

There was no E-boat or U-boat activity reported, and the great invasion armadas sent an unending stream of supplies to the beachhead without interruption.

American troops have forged a seven-mile band of steel across the Cherbourg peninsula after isolating the strategic port of Cherbourg itself with its 25,000 to 30,000 Nazi defenders, whose fate now appears sealed.

This new victory apparently assured the ultimate possession of Cherbourg, France's third most important port as a base of operations from which the Allies might enlarge and solidify the continental toe-hold which their military leaders already have declared secure against any attacks the Germans may bring aginst it.

Neither to-day's communique No. 27 nor that of last night made specific mention of action on the Canadian front where 3rd Division troops were last officially reported holding German armor tightly engaged on the eastern flank of the jagged invasion front.

In a dispatch last night Ross Munro, chief Canadian Press war correspondent in the field, reported British columns in this area were maintaining strong patrols on the German defence perimeter around embattled Caen, aided by Canadian patrols which also were in action night and day.

Isolation of the Cherburg peninsula was accomplished early yesterday by United States forces, headed by the battle-tried 9th Division.

They burst through the neck of the peninsula near Barneville Sur Mer while the Nazi 77th Division sought determinedly to break out—and was cut to pieces by assault forces.

Thus today the Allies held an ever-firmer bridgehead in France.

Allies Hold Back

Further, the strategically vital Cherbourg peninsula was one-third clear, an almost certain prospect for its complete occupation. This would give the Allies necessary freedom of manoeurve, and build-up of supply, for a full-scale drive inland.

And even yet the Allies had not shown their real strength. Their accomplishments thus far had been achieved with no real sea base, but had been fed from a beach by an almost incredible cross-channel shuttle of every available craft.

A seven-hour battle developed after the 9th Division reached the sea at Barneville-Sur-Mer. The Nazi 77th Division attacked in waves and ran into the heaviest concentration of mortar and artillery fire laid down since D-Day, 13 days ago. Its shattered remnants finally retreated to the north, harassed by Allied fighters and fighter-bombers.

The Americans enlarged their corridor to the Atlantic coast. Today it appeared doubtful that Cherbourg could remain long in German hands.

Elsewhere there were few major changes in the situation along the beachhead front yesterday. In the centre of the front, Allied troops were within six miles of St. Lo, vital road junction. On the eastern flank Canadians and British forces still were locked in battle with Nazi armor.

Scots On Strike

ABERDEEN, Scotland, June 19—(CP)—Aberdeen dock workers stood by and watched the army do their jobs yesterday, with no settlement of a five-day-old strike in prospect. Demanding an increase in coal-unloading gangs from four to six men, 350 workers left their jobs. Coal merchants protested that adoption of the proposal would raise retail coal prices above the government-controlled maximum.

Pte. Frank James On Missing List

Word was received this morning by Mrs. Kathleen James, 122 Hurley street that her husband, Pte. Frank James, is reported missing in action overseas.

This is another of a series of blows suffered by Mrs. James during the past 12 months. Her mother Mrs. F. Peters died about a month ago, a brother Victor was killed in the battle for Ortona in December, a brother Frank has been invalided home from Italy, and a third brother, James, who was injured in Italy in April, is now back in action.

Pte. James enlisted with the R.C.O.C. and was serving with a Tank detachment. He enlisted three years ago and has been overseas almost two years. Before joining the Army, he worked in the C.G.E. The 34-year-old soldier has three children, Bobby, 6 years, David 3 years, and Carol, 1½ years, whom he has never seen.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank James, 77 Park Hill road, Pte. James has a brother, George stationed at Camp Borden.

Conserve Soil Bracken Plea

ALLISTON, Ont., June 19.—(CP). —Farmers must study and practice methods of soil conservation and soil management to ensure that nothing contained in Canada's "finest inheritance — the land—is lost to future generations," John Bracken national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said yesterday.

He was addressing the annual picnic of Simcoe county's Federation of Agriculture on agricultural problems.

"The responsibility rests with you to produce food for this and other nations," he said. "To produce your best crops, you must have suitable crop and soil management methods."

He urged farmers to organize and said that until agriculture does "other sections of our economy will have an advantage over it."

"But when the farmers speak with a united voice no government in Canada could dare not to listen."

He said Canadians face three challenges: Winning the war; making an enduring peace and building a world more acceptable to the common man.

Russell Love, president of the Alberta Farmers' Co-operative, in a brief address, urged wider extension of the co-operative movement in Canada.

Accord Reached

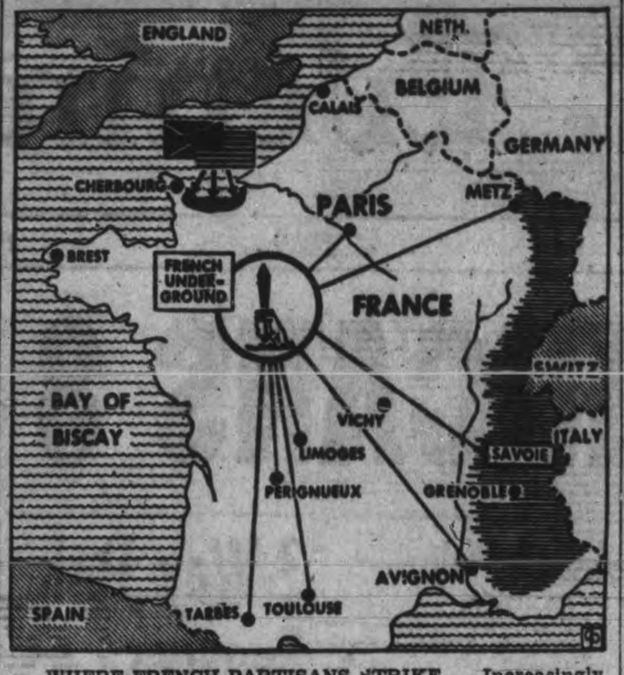
BARI, Italy, June 19—(AP)—Marshal Tito and the Yugoslav government-in-Cairo announced yesterday an accord had been reached to help the peoples of Yugoslavia liberate their country as speedily as possible. The accord was reached at conferences in Yugoslavia attended by Dr. Ivan Subasic, charged by King Peter to form a new cabinet under the government-in-Cairo; Marshal Tito, guerilla chieftain and head of the National Liberation committee, and other parties.



WHERE FRENCH PARTISANS STRIKE — Increasingly important activities of the French underground are revealed daily and this map gives a general idea of how widely scattered are their areas of action. The city of Tarbes, for instance, is in the hands of Partisans, while Toulouse, Limoges and Grenoble are partially under Partisan control. Along the border, from Metz to Avignon (shaded area) saboteurs and military groups have built a hostile and active network. The hill people of the Savoie region blast rail lines and block Nazi traffic on highways; the entire Paris region is alive with saboteurs whose activities are reported figuring in invasion preparations.

Alcohol Deaths Now Total 13

SAINT JOHN, N.B., June 19 — (CP)—With 13 dead after drinking methyl alcohol as a beverage, police scoured this city today in search of 25 gallons of the poison still unaccounted for.

Sixteen are in hospital for medical treatment and some are in a critical conditions. Two iron lungs are being used for those more seriously affected by the alcohol.

Warnings were broadcast to the public during the weekend and hospital authorities reported that 38 people applied for voluntary treatment on Saturday alone. However, many of those who had taken the poison seemed to doubt it would have such a disastrous effect and as a result the police patrol wagon and ambulances were busy rushing cases to hospital after they had collapsed.

Drew Refutes Statement On Liquor Setup

TORONTO, June 19—(CP)— Premier Drew of Ontario, in a statement last night, said Revenue Minister Gibson has made "grossly misleading statements" regarding restrictions on the sale of liquor and asked the federal government to "immediately step out of a field of regulation in which it has no right to interfere."

"By Mr. Gibson's own admission, Quebec is receiving a larger total of spirits than Ontario as a result of the regulations imposed by the Dominion government. There can be no possible justification for such a situation," Mr. Drew said.

(Last Friday, Col. Gibson, in a statement read in the Commons, criticised a cartoon and editorial in the Toronto Globe and Mail regarding the Dominion government's wartime alcoholic beverage order.

(He said the editorial, published Friday, represented the federal government as being responsible for the fact the monthly ration of spirits authorized in Ontario was 13 ounces and in Quebec 80 ounces. He said the cartoon, published June 13, suggested the same idea.

(Col. Gibson said the "federal government has nothing whatever to do with deciding what the ration shall be in each province.")

"Mr. Gibson says there has never been any suggestion that the restriction placed on the consumption of spirits was attributable to a shortage of supply," said Mr. Drew.

The Premier said Col. Gibson should refer to a speech of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's on Dec. 16, 1942, in which Mr. King said that on Nov. 1, 1942, the entire distilling capacity of Canada had been converted to the manufacture of industrial alcohol required for war industries and essential civilian needs.

"The truth is that the distilling capacity of Canada is not now and never was entirely diverted to the manufacture of industrial alcohol," said Mr. Drew.

July Beer Coupon Can Be Used Now

TORONTO, June 19. — Victor T. Goggin, chief comcissioner of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, announced last night that July beer ration coupons one, two, three and four will be valid from the opening of business in beer sales outlets in the Province to-day. Each coupon is good for six pints of beer. No change was announced in the ration. Mr. Goggin said that the policy of accepting coupons for the following month before the current month ends has helped to evert lineups and congestion at beer warehouses early in the month. Unused June ration coupons, one, two, three and four, are still valid.

Opens Barracks

OTTAWA, June 19—(CP)—Ottawa's newest Canadian Women's Army Corps quarters, the Varsity oval barracks at Somerset and King Edward avenues, were formally declared open Saturday by Princess Alice, who was accompanied by Defence Minister Ralston and ranking officers of the three services during her tour.

Kill 8,000 Nazis

LONDON, June 19—(CP)—A Yugoslav Partisan communique reported last night that from May 25 to June 10 Marshal Tito's forces killed 8,000 Germans and Quislings in Western Bosnia, had killed 1,500 in eastern Bosnia in the last six days, in recent operations in Banija. In a three weeks period the Partisans destroyed 21 German tanks, 19 trains, 150 trucks and other equipment.

Cobourg Plans Post War Project

COBOURG, June 19 — (ENS) — Cobourg's newly-acquired Arlington lots, which in time will be transformed into a beautiful entrance to Victoria Park, are being ploughed up and levelled off. The lots were sold for taxes last year and were purchased by a syndicate of local citizens who held them until the year expired and as the original owners had not redeemed them by the end of the period, they became the property of the syndicate, who in turn will offer them to the town for the same amount as the purchase price. The lots were once the site of the Arlington Hotel, a fine building which flourished years ago in Cobourg, and are situated on King street, north of the park.

The Parks Commission had not the funds to spend much money on the lots as yet but it is expected that their transformation into a beautiful park entrance will be a post-war project of considerable extent. It is planned to have two roads run through the lots and fan out when the Queen street section of the park is reached. This will make use of the McGill street entrance off King unnecessary, removing a dangerous intersection when traffic is heavy. Ploughing and grading will likely be the extent of any alterations this year.

Medical Services Saving Lives Of 99 Percent Of Wounded Men

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 19 — (CP). — Beachhead surgery and medical aid are saving the lives of more than 99 out of every 100 men wounded in France.

A senior United States medical officer, just back from Normandy, said:

"Less than one per cent. of the wounded reaching medical installations die subsequently. In the last war the figure was 11 per cent."

In the 10 days since the second front opened, medical services have reached such a peak of efficiency that men wounded in France in the morning are back in a general hospital in Britain by about nine o'clock that night.

The invasion medical service surpassed that available in the North African landings or in the First Great War.

Extensive use was made of a new anaesthetic, sodium pentathal, which is administered intravenously through an operation which is quicker acting and more pleasant than ether. This anaesthetic, however, is unfeasible where abdominal relaxation is required.

Evacuation hospitals with nurses were set up within five miles of fighting lines four days after D-Day and were doing major surgery within two hours.

There was extensive use of penicillin and sulfa drugs and many transfusions of plasma and whole blood which were delivered by both ship and air.

Robot Airplane Just A Skyrocket

LONDON, June 19. — The new German weapon was disclosed last night to be an astoundingly simple affair—a death-dealing, overgrown steel model of a child's Fourth-of-July rocket, equipped with wings and loaded with a ton of explosives.

These robot projectiles, fired off tracks in the Pas-de-Calais area of France 20 miles across the Channel from England, are not radio-controlled. A compass in the nose keeps the weapon on a rough course, but it may fall miles from where it is aimed.

The Germans themselves say it cannot be used on the Normandy front for fear of hitting German troops.

Nurses At Service

COBOURG, June 19—(ENS)—Nurses of the General Hospital, Ontario Hospital and private duty nurses, attended St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church in a body Sunday night for the vesper service. Thirty-five nurses comprised the group. Rev. Father W. Begley recited the Rosary, Rev. Father G. Maher said Benediction and Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelly delivered a sermon on the value of humanity of the nursing profession.

Dr. R. G. Stewart Heard At Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD, June 18 (ENS) —At the anniversary services on Sunday St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church the guest speaker was Dr. R. G. Stewart of St. John's Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Capacity congregations were present at the morning and evening services.

Taking his text from the 22nd chapter of St. Luke's Gospel, he stressed the fact that the days of ease are over, that we must drive out the enemy, that the cloak of comfort must be replaced by the sword of conflict in the spiritual as well as the temporal world.

In the evening a musical recital preceeded the church service comprising favorite hymns and songs. The organist, Mrs. T. C. McNeice was assisted by Messrs. E. F. Clark and T. C. McNeice.

Excursions To Normandy

Winston Churchill has visited Normandy; General de Gaulle has visited Normandy; His Majesty the King has visited Normandy; in fact, the trip to Normandy is taking on the aspect of a holiday excursion for the great ones of the earth, and the Germans can't do anything about it. We shall not be surprised to read some time this week that Marshal Stalin and President Roosevelt have spent a few days in Normandy, enjoying the excellent sea-bathing.

It would be impossible to estimate the tonic effect which these visits will have on the spirits of the French people; de Gaulle is a man of their own race, and acknowledged by great numbers of Frenchmen as their leader; Churchill is the man who made a magnificent and unprecedented offer to them in 1940—the offer of national union; the prestige of the King needs no explanation. After four bitter years of seeing no visitors except their hated conquerors they are now in contact once again with the leaders of the Allies.

There has been an element of danger in these visits, of course. The Normandy coast which we have captured is not so large that any man can feel perfectly safe on it. Mr. Churchill has no appreciation of danger, and insisted upon visiting the scene of action; we may assume that the King was similarly insistent, for it would not normally be suggested that he go to such a small and dangerous battleground. The British leaders—the one of the Government and the other the symbol of the great Empire and Commonwealth—were anxious to see for themselves what was happening on the first bit of French soil to be reclaimed by the forces of democracy, and they overbore the inevitable objections to their journeys.

For France this is the first hint of a new dawn. They have tasted the worst that defeat and humiliation can bring; anything which follows in the way of fighting will be a step toward freedom and self-respect. Not merely in the Normandy area, but to the farthest corners of France, the news will travel that the King, Churchill and de Gaulle have trodden the soil of France, and have been welcomed by the little band of French people who live in freedom, even though they are in a battle area. French pride, so sorely bruised, will quickly heal under such balm.

37 American Reasons

Our friends in the United States are great people for 'surveys' and questionnaires, and sometimes they turn up some interesting and amusing information. For instance, a magazine called American Press, which circulates among the smaller newspapers—mostly weeklies—of the U.S.A. conducted a poll among its subscribers to find out what their opinion was of 'Big Business'. Apparently the poll showed a strong approval of 'Big Business', although none of the people questioned could have had a financial connection with it. In all 37 reasons for approving of 'Big Business' were given, and we reprint ten of them:

"Hitler would be 'World Fuehrer' if it weren't for industry's amazing job.

"The capitalistic system is much better than modified socialism.

"Big business knows it must be worthy of confidence or it will lose its leadership.

"Businesses get big because of fair dealing, honest products, and a long-view perspective of public demands.

"If it weren't for big business there wouldn't be any America.

"It will be American capital and big business—not academic theorists—who will bring America back to peacetime living.

"Big business keeps prices down where its products can be enjoyed by more people.

"Big business is simply an aggregation of the capital of numerous and widely scattered stockholders.

"We are fighting this war to save free enterprise.

"We must get back to the day when a poor man with initiative will have the hope and chance of becoming an outstanding leader".

Some of these points are arguable, but we do not propose to argue them here. And we particularly like one of the reasons given for approving of Big Business: "If we have to be exploited by any group we prefer big business—they do it with more finesse". There speaks a true philosopher.

Big Business has its good points and its bad ones. We think that during the past 25 years Big Business has reformed itself pretty thoroughly and has devoted a large part of its big profits to causes which directly benefit the people who supplied those profits. Big Business is the patron of scholarship nowadays, and it supports foundations which carry on valuable work in science and the fine arts. We have yet to hear of a Leftist political group which proposed to spend a penny on these matters.

Limbs Of Satan

Hull, in Quebec, has declared that women may not wear shorts within its notoriously refined and moral precincts; Ottawa, just across the river, seems inclined to follow its example. As a result there has been a certain amount of facetious correspondence in the Ottawa press. Writing to the Editor of the Citizen an enquirer puts a particularly embarrassing construction on the ban:

"Is this anti-limbs movement in agreement with producers of musicals, who state that most girls are handicapped with ugly limbs? Or, do we believe them to be demoralizingly beautiful when viewed? And yet, the Scottish poet, James Thomson, speaking of a girl's limbs, said:

"Loveliness needs not the foreign aid of ornament,
"But is, when unadorned, adorned the most.

"The question, then, is do we wish to keep the limbs hidden because of their ugliness, or, because we consider them as being too daringly lovely?"

This writer uses the word "Limb" throughout his letter, not from any exaggerated sense of delicacy, but because the term seems to be the only fitting one for what the city fathers obviously look upon as 'limbs of Satan'.

Another writer to the same paper has lapsed into verse, so deeply is he moved by the matter in debate. This is a sample of his muse:

"The Scotties they come down the street
Behind the skirl of pipers
The naked knees all eyes do greet
And silent are the gripers,
They're knarled, they're knobby, horrid, bare,
And some are awfu' hairy,
There's nane o' them that can compare
Wi' knees o' Hieland Mary,
Yet they are famed throughout all lands
And free from lawfu' seize.
We show them proudly off with bands
Yet hide the dimpled knees".

His argument is simple and effective: why should the young women of Ottawa be denied a privilege which is freely granted to Scotchmen and Boy Scouts?

We read the other day of a judge in an American town who wore a woman's skirt to his office, in order to point a lesson to women who insisted on wearing slacks. Skirts, he maintained, were cooler and more comfortable in every way than trousers, and women who were lucky enough to be able to wear them should take advantage of their good fortune. If this clear-eyed justice had tried his object-lesson in Ottawa, he would probably have ended up in his own jail. They are very conventional—not to say hide-bound—in Ottawa and mistrust things which have long been commonplace elsewhere.

Names And Numbers

We print a letter today from a reader who points out that many of Peterborough's streets are inadequately marked; we have heard the complaint made on several occasions that the numbering of many of our streets is illogical and gives trouble to people who are trying to find a house or a building which they have not visited before.

Every now and then a city finds that its marking and numbering has grown faulty, and the job has to be done afresh. It is not particularly expensive, and it does not take a great deal of time, and it brings rewards far out of proportion to the effort involved. It is very annoying for people who have built a new house to be forced to tell their friends: "It's number 456, and you'll find it at the end of the street next to 789; the street isn't marked, but ask at a drug store in the south end, and they will tell you how to get there".

A revision of the marking and numbering of our streets is overdue, and when the city takes in its new area we should see that the job is done, and thoroughly done.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

BRITISH farmers are adopting the agriculture slogan: "Down corn, Up Horn!" and they began it several months before the invasion because they recognized that the fertility of their soil must be saved, and where it has been depleted, must be built up again. In the days of Captain Barclay, of Ury, and Amos Cruickshank, of Sittyton, Aberdeenshire was called "The Land of Corn and Horn," because of its increased crops of grain and its production of fine beef, surpassing even the "Roast Beef of Old England." Corn is the name applied to all small grains in Britain, and our corn to them is maize. They have had three years of heavy cropping in England and Scotland because, in the exigencies of war, food in the form of grain, potatoes and such crops, yielded a quicker and more abundant supply of rations than the production of meat. The result was that livestock was cut down and increased crops from the soil were encouraged by a liberal use of chemical fertilizers. This was an emergency effort, necessary because famine is always a serious threat to an Island country.

The farmers adopted these methods of producing food, knowing the final result, but realizing the necessity. Now they are thorough awake to the demand for a change back to a real maintenance of soil fertility. Chemical applications of vital plant food will stimulate growth and production of crops for a time, but those who have farmed the land for a number of successive crops know that the texture of the soil, and its general physical condition, have much to do with its fitness for cropping. They know that conditions for grain production consists of more than the addition of extra amounts of nitrogen, phosphates and potash. An excess of chemical plant food is likely to change the physical condition of the soil to a less favorable condition for farming results.

The necessity for humus and fibre in soil is an urgent one. The value of resting land by means of a grass crop is well known in Britain. It is urged by some that you can farm with chemical fertilizers alone, but Arthur Street rather settled that matter by asking: "If you have two farms to 'let,' one fertilized for years by chemicals, and the other by liberal applications of barnyard manure, for which will you get the most and best offers?" Every farmer knew which he would prefer, and the man who would have to pay the rent is a good judge.

NOT only the British farmers, but the Ministry of Agriculture is now alive to the necessity for more cattle and fewer acres cropped. There is a campaign on to increase the livestock in Britain by raising more calves and farmers are urged to grow more calves to maturity and to select the very best to be retained for breeding purposes. I am anxious to hear what the cattle conditions are found to be when the invasion forces investigate them in Jersey and Guernsey. A statement was made over the radio that these forces had made a landing on the Channel Islands but no particulars have come through that I have heard. It will be very interesting to learn what has happened to these Island breeds of dairy cattle and it is to be hoped a fair number of Island bred stock can be preserved.

A SUBSIDY has been paid recently on Hill cattle in Scotland to turn some of the waste land and deer forests into the production of beef, and this has been granted for another year. The amount paid is £3 per head and it is now to be paid on breeding cows and heifers of Eire origin, the plan being to encourage the importation from Southern Ireland of useful breeding stock. For many years the Government in this part of Ireland has encouraged the importation of Scotch beef bulls and, in many cases, the Department of Agriculture has made purchases on its own account. The result is that many quite good cows and heifers of beef breeds have been produced in Eire.

FARMER gatherings at the Ontario Agricultural College seem to be quite well attended this year and much interest is shown by the visitors. This is a good sign as it always pays to get out to see what others are doing with land and livestock. The Shorthorn field day brought a splendid crowd. "Uppermill Royal" was on hand and people looked at a 4,000 guinea bull. It is interesting to know that just 68 years ago a 4,000 guinea bull came to Ontario when Bow Park imported the 4th Duke of Clarence. The Hon. George Brown, publisher of the Toronto Globe, was then directing many of the operations at Bow Park as his brothers-in-law, of the Nelson Publishing Co. of Edinburgh, were large stock holders. The Hon. George Brown was an authority on Bates Shorthorn pedigrees and much interested in getting good cattle onto Ontario farms. The late Alfred Gifford, of Meaford, told me many years ago that he had once called upon Mr. Brown, in the Globe Office, Toronto to inquire about the Shorthorn herd at Bow Park, near Brantford, and was greatly surprised to find this busy editor and politician knew every animal at the farm, could give their pedigrees and a general description of each animal.

CAMBRIDGE University and the Scottish Society for Research in Plant Breeding have both made considerable progress in the production of disease resistant varieties of potatoes. To get a potato resistant to all the diseases it is now heir to would save not only a great loss in food but would save the labour in spraying, haulm burning and much of the loss in storing. Apart from disease, however, the eelworm is causing a very serious loss in the potato crop, and when the war is over it is predicted that in many districts no land will be permitted to grow a crop of potatoes more frequently than once in four years.

We need, in Ontario, some better varieties of potatoes. When you get potatoes from some of the other provinces they are of a much better flavour and because of that palatability are in strong demand. There is no potato that I know of, quite up to the "Golden Wonder" of Scotland. It is, unfortunately, a shy cropper but I have wondered how it might do in this country. More sunshine might help its production. To anyone who has eaten "Golden Wonders" it would seem to be worth trying.

Returned From Imprisonment

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

LONDON.—"Men," said the Stoic philosopher, 1900 years ago, "Are disturbed not by things, but by the view they take of things."

The general attitude of the returned prisoners of war emphasizes this truth. It is easy to conceive the conditions in which these men with impaired health might have returned, nerve-racked, bored by montony, abnormal. But the sturdy view they took has brought them back, thank God, even as old Epictetus said, "undisturbed," having borne a long ordeal with valiant philosophy.

I had the opportunity this afternoon of a talk with Capt. Lionel Massey, eldest son of the High Commissioner for Canada and Mrs. Vincent Massey, and found in him another admirable example of this gallant company who did not "weigh too nicely the perils of war."

Being taken prisoner in April, 1941, when lying wounded in an Athens hospital was the beginning of an odyssey of pain entailing more than fifteen operations on a wounded leg in the different camps to which he was successively moved in Salonica, Dieburg, Westphalia and Bavaria.

Though not yet free from the necessity for surgical treatment, Capt. Massey was too delighted to be once more at home to wish to dwell on his experience of three years of prison life. The subject to which he kept returning was the heartfelt gratitude of every prisoner for the gifts of the Canadian Red Cross. He said that this organization had an uncanny, almost miraculous, flair for discovering just what prisoners wanted most and then seeing that they got it.

Packed in containers to ensure that no parcel ever arrived in a damaged condition were the longed-for tin cooking utensils, just the right phonograph records, games, sports equipment, from all of which the whole camp benefited. If anything were needed to encourage Canadian Red Cross workers to carry on their work for prisoners of war with unflagging energy, they might have found it in Capt. Massey's earnest appreciative words, expressing the feeling of every prisoners.

Of course the great resource for the wounded prisoners was reading, and the libraries were adequately supplied. It was a time, Capt. Massey said, when one read all those books one had long meant to read some day, but never had time to tackle, such as the tomes of Gibson's "Decline and Falls of the Roman Empire," and Tolstoy's tremendously popular "War and Peace," sometimes easier to get hold of in a P. of W. camp than it is in London, where the supply is rationed.

Our Canadian prisoners of war will soon be arriving in Canada. Like the Canadians whose homes are temporarily in England, they too will show that stone walls don't necessarily make a prison, and prove, with the French writer who embroidered the Stoic theme, that:

"Notre humeur met le prix a tout ce qui vient de la fortune." They are a gallant lot, the prisoners of war, and England has given them a great welcome.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MARKING STREETS

Sir,—Everyone agrees that Peterborough is one of Ontario's liveliest cities but its streets everyone will also agree the worst marked.

We have recently moved to the north end and find it very difficult to direct friends to our home when there isn't a sign of any kind within three blocks.

Of course we can always say, "Drive to the last city light or just past the Normal School, etc."

People from out of town always ask "Why aren't your streets marked?"

All those in favour say aye.

B. G. HOMESTEAD.

ENJOYS CARNIVALS

Sir,—Would like to know why the City Hall or those who run it are so against a carnival coming here once or twice in a season. They claim during a war the money is needed for its paramount needs. My opinion is that greed for money is the real cause. The Peterborough clubs like to put on their own carnival and get all the money for themselves and what do they offer? A few hot dog stands, wheels of chance, in fact it's a laugh to even call it a carnival. A travelling show has lot of rides, side shows etc., in short, if you care to spend some money you can have a good time and see something for it. Most everyone agrees war workers need fun and relaxation now and then.

I've often heard Toronto called Hog Town. But I see they have a Rodeos, Carnivals and a Circus or two every summer. The good city of Peterborough runs a good chance of claiming the Hog Town title through the few who do anything and everything they can to keep real fun and entertainment out of our city and use the war as an excuse for their own greed for money. Strikes me I've heard something about the greed of Germany and look at them now.—Yours,

A CARNIVAL AND CIRCUS FAN.

Milkweed Goes to War

The lowly milkweed, long the bane of a gardener's life, is about to join the ranks of materials used for war purposes. Scientists know milkweed is a source of rubber, but not a practical one because the yield is so low. Now the floss of milkweed, in place of kapok, is being stuffed into life-jackets and flying suits. Kapok is almost entirely controlled by the Japanese and the government is asking for a million pounds of milkweed floss in its stead.

Plans are being laid in 21 states for a late summer collection of floss. In Michigan a collection has been so successful that the drive is to be expanded nationwide. In Minnesota, one of the 21 milkweed states, city school children probably will join with rural and small town 4-H members to gather the floss.

When the milkweed pods burst into silky white floss this summer children will have a chance to add another item to their list of war achievements: waste paper salvage, scrap metal salvage, Junior Red Cross Work and crop harvesting.—Minneapolis Star Journal.

Rules For Firemen

No lady rescued at a St. Louis fire can ask the fireman to lunch—at least without permission of the fireman's commanding officer.

The 1944 edition of the Fire Department Manual reads that a fireman is not permitted to "contract for lunch when at a fire without permission of his officer."

The fireman is forbidden to listen in on other people's telephone conversations when he's at the station not only because of rules but because of the "impropriety," the book says.

After a rough fire, the fireman can't climb into a station house bed with his shoes on. He can't be a pixie, either, and "maliciously" shoot a stream of water at anybody. He can't use a station-house bathtub or shower for any other purpose than that for which it is designed. For instance, he can't wash out a bucket or a cuspidor in the tub.

And he can't smoke on his way to a fire or coming back.—United Press.

Sensitive Yankee

"Mental cruelty" as a cause of divorce keeps adding curiosities to the case-book. A Boston dispatch reveals a peculiarly sensitive Yankee. He got a divorce for cruelty because, as he testified, his wife kept the house "too clean." It is a commonplace remark, whether born of envy or produced as a consolation, that the palaces of plutocrats are like museums and not like homes. The complaining Bay Stater's house is apparently modest enough, but to him it was "like a show place, and I couldn't enjoy it."

Is he retired or jobless? If so, he may have wearied of the music of the vacuum cleaner and the whole program of house-cleaning. But, unless he is bedridden or hopelessly lame, why didn't he go outdoors and hear the music of the birds and the buses instead of the cleaner's song? Why didn't he study "points" and go to market to buy domestic supplies? Less than a hundred years ago an adopted son of Massachusetts, Dan'l Webster, like other gentlemen of the time, went to market in his buff cassimere waistcoat, blue coat with brass buttons and black trousers. A servant carrying a basket followed. The godlike Dan'l chaffed and chaffered with the storekeepers.

But perhaps this husband, where wife had the prime quality of a wife in Napoleon's estimation, that of a good housekeeper, is too devoted a follower of Dr. Johnson. The Great Bear, in spite of his infatuation for his Tetty, was ferocious against a married woman who "lives for no other Purpose but to preserve the Neatness of her House and Gardens." His habits and housekeeping were terrible. This outraged husband may be too faithful a disciple.

SOAP AND KISSES

A correspondent back from a German internment camp says he got a kiss from a Fraulein for a bar of soap. There's nothing surprising in that. Plenty of fellows here have been getting kisses all along merely for soft soap.—Toronto Star.

FIGHTING WORD

In one New York household, the word "mare" may not be mentioned, because to do so would inevitably precipitate a marital rumpus and reopen old wounds. The wife, a participant in a recent radio quiz program, sailed along beautifully through a series of questions requiring her to fill one-word blanks in well-known quotations, until she came to the last—and big-money—poser, which was: "Shoot if you must this old gray—."—New York Herald-Tribune.

GUARANTEED HOUSES

House builders are banding themselves together to end jerry-building after the war.

Already 50 per cent of the private builders who will put up 85 per cent of Britain's brick houses have agreed to accept certain standards and to permit inspectors to examine their work. If their buildings are sound they will receive a certificate which will carry with it a guarantee to the purchaser of the house that if anything goes wrong within two years the builder will put it right.—London Daily Mail.

A Bible Message

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth..... And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.....

And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day. (Gen. 1: 26, 28, 31.)

There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling: one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all.

But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ..... And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ. (Eph. 4: 4-7, 11-13.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A country doctor on his rounds narrowly escaped running over a Home Guard writhing in apparent agony in the middle of the road. Stopping his car he got out, bent over the man, and asked: "What's the matter? Where's the pain?"

"There isn't any pain," the man replied. "This road is supposed to be a deep river, and I can only swim on my back."

A man who had been a chemist's assistant in peace time received a citation for bravery which read that he volunteered to rescue and did rescue a wounded marine officer during the Solomons campaign, in the face of "heavy Jap machine-gun fire and with complete disregard for his own safety."

When questioned about this, the man replied: "I don't think I really volunteered, though I may have coughed a little."

Soldiers Enjoy Lively Picnic At Nassau Camp

After two hours of indecision, Sunday, the program committee of the Uptown Recreation Centre braved the weatherman's displeasure and headed for the Scout camping grounds at Nassau, where they and 75 Sunday afternoon hostesses entertained 100 soldiers from the Training Centre at a lively picnic.

For a few hours the men forgot the business of soldiering and relived moments from the past when they had attended other picnics. Potato, bag and shoe races, vied in popularity with eating contests as far as the participants were concerned.

The contest causing the most enjoyment was a custard pie eating contest won by Pte. John Swaine. Each contestant was handed half of a luscious custard pie, without eating utensils, and the man finishing first was given the prize. Some of the contestants were covered from forehead to chin and from ear to ear with filling, but all agreed it was worth the mess. Pte. Swaine appeared to be something of an expert on eating because he also won another eating contest.

Some unsuspecting soldiers entered another eating contest and were handed onion sandwiches, the aim being to get finished first. In with the onion however, some cotton wool had been stuffed to delay proceedings. In one of the soft drink races, the mouths of the bottles had been lightly touched with castor oil, as an added spur to the participants.

Everything moved at a fast pace under the chairmanship of Chester Mowry. Everyone cooperated for all the races and the variety offered gave all a chance to follow something which interested them.

Donated Money

The funds for the picnic were donated by the Canadian General Electric Company and arrangements were left with the program committee of the Recreation Centre under the general chairmanship of Albert Hope. Mr. Mowry, chairman of the program committee, Hurrell Dodds, chairman of the sports committee, Miss Marie Kearns, secretary, Capt. V. Graham and Mrs. E. Norman of the Uptown Recreation Centre, E. Irwin, Auxiliary Services officer, and Fred Revoy, in charge of transportation, combined to make this initial picnic a success. It is hoped to have one a month during the rest of the summer, so that the boys will be able to spend their Sunday afternoons in a cooler spot. Everything, including transportation has been donated.

Early in the afternoon, messages of welcome were given to the guests by His Worship Mayor James Hamilton, Alderman Max Swanston, J. E. Girven of the C.G.E., Mrs. W. Downer, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion and Ian McRae, Works Manager, was also present.

Campfire Service

As a concluding feature of the program, a sing song was held around a campfire in a ravine. Skipper George Groombridge of the Scouts, spoke of the symbolism of the fire he was about to light, comparing it to a way of life. Led by Capt. Velma Graham, in charge of the Uptown Centre, boys and girls lined the edge of the gorge and sang favorite old hymns including "Sweet Hour of Prayer," "The Old Rugged Cross," "What a Friend we Have in Jesus" and "Abide With Me." Putting aside their rollicking antics, the crowd absorbed a part of the solemn atmosphere, a benediction on a perfect outing.

The soldier guests were unanimous in their expressions of appreciation of the entertainment. Pte. Edward Abbott expressed the thoughts of many of his comrades when he said that it was one of the best picnics he had ever attended. He found it an inspiration and recreational and hopes to attend another. Pte. C. O. Coulson said it was the best picnic he had attended since he was 12 years old and Pte. C. A. Irvine declared it was the best one he'd ever been at. A Winnipeg soldier, Pte. A. E. Legary, enjoyed the treat and appreciated the work that those in charge had done and Pte. W. Hoxon of Alberta commented on the splendid organization which had been carried out.

Contests and races were won by the following:

3 Bingo games, boys and girls—1 Pte. W. A. Taylor, 2 Pte. A. Walsh, 3 Pte. H. R. Simmons, 4 Pte. A. Sedor, 5 Miss Isobel Weaver. 1 Pte T. H. Sullivan, Pte. T. Burns, Miss June Patterson, Miss Eleanor Kinsboro, Pte. J. Barnard. 1 Pte. J. Massey, Pte. C. Joseph, Pte. W. Evans, Pte. E. C. Clark, Pte. H. Thompson.

Cigarette contest, boys—1 Pte. L. Thomas.

Three-legged race, boys and girls—1 Pte. C. Preston, Miss Eleanor Craig, 2 Pte. A. Hunt, Miss June Kerr.

Eating contest, boys—1 Pte. John Swaine.

Wheelbarrow race, boys and girls—1 Pte. H. Walton, 2 Pte. J. Kenny, 3 Pte. C. Joseph.

U.S. NAVY HITS AT JAP INNER DEFENCES.—With less than 1,500 miles between the point of attack and Tokyo, American sky fighters inflicted heavy losses against the Nips' sea and air power when they ripped into the heart of Japan's inner defence ring of Pacific islands to sink 29 Jap ships and down or destroy 141 Jap planes. Powerful American task forces blasted shore installations in southern Mariana Islands, with the entire Allied operation including attacks on Guam, Saipan and Tinian Islands and Roto Island. The landing of U.S. forces on Saipan is the latest action.

Nelles Describes Canadian Action

OTTAWA, June 19—(CP)—Vice-Admiral Percy W. Nelles, chief of the Canadian Naval Mission overseas, back from the invasion coast of Normandy, said on his arrival at nearby Rockcliffe Airport that while the invasion had gone according to plan, he was "surprised that the Hun didn't stiffen sooner."

"The organization I saw on the beachhead was almost perfect, with everything going with precision," he said.

He added that Canadian servicemen he saw in action all had "their tails up."

Admiral Nelles will make a full report on the invasion to Navy Minister Macdonald. He did not know how long he would remain in Canada.

"A NATIONAL ELECTRICAL SERVICE" means

A trained PERSONNEL imbued with the SPIRIT of service—supported by the FACILITIES and the ORGANIZATION to deliver electrical goods—WHERE required—WHEN required.

Defence Communications Fast...

The feeling of "it must not happen here" motivated the order from Canada's Defence Authorities which called for the manufacture and construction of a vast system of coastal defence communications. And so we went to work. Radio, telephone, telegraph, teletype—almost every known form of communication—entered into this stupendous undertaking. And it is understandable that in the time permitted we could not possibly manufacture all the thousands of items needed. So the hands of our distributing organization reached out—located suppliers and set in motion many sub-contractors across Canada. The necessary materials were supplied on time—our radio engineers, linemen and skilled installers went right into the field—and Canada's defence communications system came into being. We believe that only a truly "national electrical service" could have achieved such a result—in the precious time permitted.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

MONDAY, June 26th (or one week from to-night) is the date set for the first round of our club's handicap singles. In a day or two the draw will be posted in the club house and the members are asked to look up the card and see who they play and be ready to play at 7 p.m. next Monday night.

Dominion Day, as we understand, will be celebrated in Peterborough on Monday, July 3rd. With this in view the special tournament committee, R. F. Downey, chairman, has gone ahead with arrangements for a big day on that date. They have decided on a four game tournament for men's rinks and the first 32 entries will constitute the draw. Full particulars are posted on the notice board, but in the meantime get up a rink and send your entry to E. L. Sackville, secretary of committee.

They had 14 mixed rinks out on Saturday night and it appears to us that this week-end tourney gets larger each week. And when you consider that only on Friday night the attendance was 22 rinks, it certainly argues well for mixed tournaments.

With the entry list closed we have not an entry in the singles competition for the provincial play-offs. We believe that this is the first time that this has ever happened in our club. Maybe there are good reasons for the boys not making a bid for this honor. It's a long way to drive to Hamilton and gas is very scarce.

We have two entries in the rinks, George Coleman and George Gimblett; two entries in the doubles, R. F. Downey and H. Freeman, W. Jeffries and H. Coleman. It is most likely that the games committee will shortly announce a date on which these play-offs will take place

AL BUNNY DUNLOP—Toronto strongman who will partner the Palermo Panther, John Katan, in Tuesday night's team match with Frankie Sexton and Toar Morgan in the Brock St. Arena. Dunlop, stormy petrel of the mat game who has caused mob scenes all over the circuit by his unruly conduct declares that the scrapping of the tag rule for Tuesday's show suits Katan and himself right down to the ground. That's the way I like it," Dunlop says. "Cut out the technicalities, put us all in the ring together and let the best team win. John and I will eat them up in that kind of going". However Dunlop had better beware the wrong-way Corrigan complex he showed in last week's bout when he got into one of those four-way traffic jams and almost put his own partner out of action by twisting Katan's leg by mistake. A mistake like that tomorrow night might be fatal.

Aircraft Girls Beat Brintons

Behind steady pitching by Marg. Selkirk Aircraft polished off the Brintons 15 to 6 in a Girls' Softball League game played before a big crowd at the Ashburnham Bowl Saturday evening.

The Wilson-coached swing skirters scored in all but one inning to defeat the intermediate champs and while they did not build up an especially big frame this steady scoring ran the total count up. They made seventeen hits off the offerings of Bernice Stinson and Doris Walker who divided the pitching chore for Brintons, and in addition to this lusty hitting the winners were helped by costly Brinton errors and slow fielding. Audrey Patterson led the attack with four hits out of six times up.

Marg. Selkirk held the losers to nine hits and four of those were bunched in the last inning for four runs, but by that time Aircraft had the game well in hand and the pressure was off. Previous to that frame the Brintons had been held to five blows, and six of them had been retired by the strikeout route.

Aircraft took the lead with two runs in the first and the losers came back with one in the second. However Brintons failed to get another run until the first of the sixth and by that time the winners had piled up nine counters and had the game well in hand.

Brintons fought to the last ditch, however, and got a lot of satisfaction out of scoring a four-run rally in the ninth to close the gap. A triple by M. Walling, leftfielder for the losers, was the spark that fired off that belated explosion.

Shepperton Attracts Galaxy Of Race Fans

HAMILTON, June 19.—Although entries for the rich $3,000 added Hamilton Handicap, feature race on the opening day's program of the Hamilton Jockey Club next Saturday, do not close until midnight Tuesday, June 20, the following thoroughbreds have already been nominated for this important turf event: Shepperton, McMark, Maracay, Sabulus, Mr. Infinity, Muchy, Jacless and Florizan Sam.

Latest reports from Hamilton reveal that Shepperton on Saturday morning over the H.J.C. racing strip, reeled off three-quarters in 1:16, in preparation for his engagement in the Hamilton feature on Saturday afternoon.

Track Superintendent Bert Faulkner advises that, since the Schelke champion has checked into the Hamilton track, there has been a steady stream of race fans every morning and afternoon to the track to look over the chestnut son of Sun Craig-Chatwater.

Unheralded Texan Wins 50th Race

NEW YORK, June 19.— Charley Parker, the young sprinter eyed now by the United States as well as by his native Texas, gave some fleeting glimpses of himself during the first phase of the 56th annual National A.A.U. championship track and field meet at Randalls Island Saturday and raaised a question. Is he really the great sprinter every one says he is or does he need more development?

The 17 year old youth from San Antonio, running unattached, but a student at Thomas Jefferson High there, won the 100-metre junior final, thereby stretching his winning streak to 50, and also was first in both of his trial heats, but he didn't threaten any records.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

One of the best battles of the season should be staged at Riverside Park tonight when St. Peter's and Plazas will clash in a City League game that will have an important bearing on the standing. Both teams need the game and they will have their strongest lineup in action for this clash. Last time out the Plazas managed to turn back the Saints 7 to 4 after a well-played engagement but the Saints who have two games to play this week and have to grab off one of the to stall off the spurt that is being made by the Soldiers and the menace of the U.E.W. with their new pitcher are hopeful of starting off their heavy schedule with a win over the second-placers. Gene Reynolds their one-man pitching staff has had a long rest and should be ready to face the Plazas tonight while the Saints will have their strongest lineup of the summer supporting the right-hander. Either Dave Wilson or Frank Stokoe will get the tossing assignment for the Plazas. The game will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp and should draw a nice crowd. The Centre will be back in action tomorrow night, with the Union team as their opposition on that occasion.

In the Girls' League the Brintons who have run into heavy weather in their last two starts and were beaten Friday night by Johnson Motors and on Saturday by the Aircraft team will make an effort tonight to get back into their winning ways. They are billed to meet one of the season's new teams, the Quakers and the contest should provide some good ball. The Quaker outfit is improving with every appearance and they are hopeful of taking a fall out of the intermediate champs on this occasion. Gertrude Masters will be on the hilltop for the Porridge team while Bernice Stinson or Phyllis Corrigan will do the gunning for Brintons. Tomorrow night two more of the league's new teams, the Westclox Seconds and the Lock Works will provide the Girls' League battle at the Bowl and it should be an even affair for the teams look well-matched. A. McIvor will likely be the Baby Bens' pitcher with Beryl Lee the probable starter for the Lock Works crew.

We Liked Them

George Campbell, Oshawa sports scribe has the following pertinent comment on Amercian ball players getting into Ontario "amateur" clubs: "Up in the Niagara Peninsula, the baseball fans are finally getting to the point where they can recognize the members of the various teams without the aid of a code book or program....Regardless of all the squabbling as to whether or not it was right to allow them to use U.S. imports, the fact remains, they still have Senior baseball in the Niagara district and after all, that's something. Kingston Ponies might still be playing and the Central Ontario League might still be operating if the O.B.A. had been just as lenient a few years back....when both Peterborough and Kingston were ready to use U.S. imports and Oshawa GM-Men didn't object. As it was, the league folded....maybe it would have folded eventually anyway....but the fact remains that if the game is to be kept alive, then it must be played so that oldtime fans and boosters will retain their interest and youngsters coming up will have their interest aroused. After all, if the "big leagues" had to stick to "homebrew" material for their teams—there wouldn't be any baseball."

* * * * * *

All of which will cause Peterborough fans to recall that this city's experience with American ball players was always satisfactory. The first import from south of the border, in fact, is with us yet in the person of Al Heckman, now a Canadian citizen. The Easton, Pa., boy whose blazing fastball and effective curve made him a sensation in the Central Ontario League for years came to Peterborough in 1922 and has lived here ever since. After Heckman came Charlie Serth, a Rochester left-handed pitcher, who never succeeded in showing as much stuff here as he did on his native heath and who eventually got the Petes into trouble with the baseball authorities. Next arrived a pair of Italian-American infielders from Boston College in the person of Shortstop Charlie Ansaldo and First baseman Leo Comolli who played a lot of good ball during their sojourn here. In later Central Ontario League years Peterborough had the assistance of other American players, notably Sig Konopka, a fast fielder and a reliable switchhitter, who came here from Detroit, Bob Doll, a hard-hitting third baseman from the Middle West and Lefty McNally, a capable southpaw pitcher from down Massachusetts way. All of those boys made their contribution of colorful baseball and were prime favorites with the fans.

Orchids For Cronin

Labelled to finish deep in the second division—even lower than the equally amazing Detroit Tigers—the Boston Red Sox are the current sensation of the hottest race the American League has seen in years, says Doug Vaughan in the Windsor Star. Never one to pull his punches in the oratorical league, the boss of the Red Sox, square-chined Joe Cronin, was strangely silent throughout the spring training season about the chances of his team. As a matter of fact the "experts" did not bother to ask him a great number of questions. They just noted the fact that the Boston club had lost virtually all of its first string players and tabbed them to finish in seventh or eighth place. Today, noting the lofty perch on which the Red Sox are teetering, the "experts" are beginning to ask how come. This time they would be well advised to consult Mr. Cronin, for he's the man who has been largely responsible. Forced to pick almost anyone who would fill a uniform as he saw his stars go marching off into the armed services, Cronin has done an exceptionally fine job with a bunch of misfits who were too old for the army and youngsters who are still too young. We doubt that even a Cronin will be able to keep them up there throughout the long campaign but he certainly deserves more than a passing nod of recognition for what he has already accomplished.

There was plenty of baseball in the big show over the week-end with double-headers popping up all over the place. In the National loop the feature was the twin bill between the leading St. Louis Cards and the second-place Pittsburg Pirates which ended in a draw, the Cards defeating Rip Sewell and the Corsairs 12 to 2 in the first game with Mort Cooper getting the win and losing the second 3 to 1 on a swell bit of pitching by Fritz Ostermeuller who allowed the National League champs only three hits. The Phillies and Brooklyn split and the battle was featured by the fact that for the first time in his life Pitcher Al Gerheauser managed to win a game over the Bums. In the American League Boston Red Sox improved their position by breaking even with Washington while the St. Louis Browns were dropping two to the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians were being walloped twice by the Chicago White Sox. The Yanks ran into a double defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Athletics and any resemblance between this year's edition of the New York club and great teams of the past must be considered as entirely coincidental.

* * * * * *

Sporting Chili Con Carne: To keep the record straight the date on which the Toronot Tip-Tops will play here for the Kinsmen fund will be Friday July 14....St. John's eliminated Murray Street from the Church League bantam playoffs Saturday and will now meet Knox in the final series....Old Luke Hamlin pitched a picture game for the A's yesterday, holding the Yanks to four hits and shutting them out....Rudy York whose home run production this season has been far below the peak exploded one in the last inning of a game with St. Louis yesterday with a teammate on the paths and it won the decision for the Tigers 7 to 5.... Incidentally Hal Newhouser became the first American League pitcher to win ten games when he took the other end of a double-header, 6 to 3, allowing the Brownies only six scattered hits.

Trinity Trims Mark Street 8-7

The adage "Anything can happen in baseball" was forcebly proven on Friday evening when Trinity Juveniles came from behind to score a thrilling victory over the Mark Street club by a score of 8 to 7. The losers gained an early lead but J. Hinton clouted a home run for Trinity in the fifth bringing in three runs, and tying up the ball game.

Mark St. scored again, and the count was 7 to 6 for them when Trinity came up for their last inning. Two men were put out but Trinity managed to load the bases. J. Green came up to batt and after taking a count of "two and two" drove a solid double into right field. Two runs came in on the play making the score 8 to 7. In the lst of the same inning Mark street failed to score and the side was retired with the tying run stranded on second.

Atchison, pitched a steady game for Mark street while Hinton on the Trinity mound played a spectacular game, striking out twelve men.

L. Monkman and J. Green did some strong batting and fielding for the winners.

This was a "sudden-death" elimination game so that the Trinity club is now in the semi-finals.

Orioles Grab Top Position Defeat Leafs

By The Associated Press

Baltimore Orioles took possession of first place in the International League by taking both games of a double header from the Toronto Maple Leafs, 20-6 and 4-3.

The 20 runs scored by the Orioles in the first game ties this year's record set by Rochester June 15, when the Red-Birds defeated Jersey City 20-10.

For the third time this season, Blas Monaco hit a home run with the bases full. Howie Moss raised his total to eight when he homered in each game. Three Toronto pitchers gave up 17 walks in the first game, four to Monaco. The Oriole second sacker also scored four times in the opener. A two run rally in the final inning climaxed by Monaco's single, gave the flock the second game.

Montreal climbed into the first division by downing the Jersey City Giants, 11-2 and 2-0. Tom Sunkel and Wayne Collins, the winning pitchers, held the Li'l Giants to seven hits in both games. Collins needed help from John Travis in the sixth of the final to preserve his shutout. The double defeat dropped the Jerseys into the second division.

Rochester won two games from the lowly Syracuse Chiefs, 8-6 and 7-0. Kemp Wicker won his sixth straight against one deeat, blanking the Chiefs with three hits in the nightcap.

Newark won a doubleheader from Buffalo 9-7 and 11-1 to knock the Bisons out of first place. Jerry Crosby hit a single, double, triple and homer, batting in four runs in the two games.

Hal Newhouser First Southpaw To Win 10 Games

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hal Newhouser, one of the Detroit Tigers, is finally fulfilling the promise he gave five years ago of becoming the finest lethander in the American League.

The 23-year-old southpaw became the first pitcher in the league to win 10 games, yesterday, helping the Tigers take both games of a double header from the league-leading St. Louis Browns, 7-3 and 7-5.

He joins Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds as the only 10 game winners in the majors.

In pitching his seventh complete game of the year, Hal gave up six hits and fanned five. A home run by Rudy York with one on in the ninth gave the Tigers a clean of the two games.

The New York Giants took both ends of a twin bill from the Boston Braves, 9-2 and 7-1, to climb into third place in the National League standing, a half game ahead of the Reds.

The Philadelphia Athletics downed the New York Yankees twice 4-0 and 8-6 to drop the world champions into sixth place. Luke Hamlin blanked the Yankees with four hits in the opener, with Frank Hayes hitting his eighth homer to tie Roy Cullenbine for the league lead. A six-run first inning enabled the A's to win the second.

White Sox Win 2

The Chicago White Sox took two close games from the Cleveland Indians, 3-2 in 10 innings, and 6-5. A home run by Wally Moses in the 10th won the opener for relief pitcher Gordon Maltzberger. Moses' triple and Leroy Schalk's single in the ninth gave the White Sox the second game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies divided their two games, the Dodgers winning the first 7-3 and the Phillies taking the second 6-2.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates split a double header. Mort Cooper won his sixth game in the opener, 12-2, and Fritz Ostermueller tamed the Cards 3-1 with three hits in the nightcap.

After losing the opener to Boston 9-6, Washington took the nightcap 1-0, behind the four hit pitching of Early Wynn.

The Reds defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 in the first game of a double header before 40,222 fans, the largest crowd at Wrigley Field. Harry Gunbert, making his first start for the Reds, was the winner. The second game ended in tie called after 13 innings on account of darkness. Bill Nicholson hit two homers for the Cubs.

REYES OF GIANTS KICKS UP DUST AT THIRD—Reyes of Giants kicks up dust at third where he arrived safely on Mancuso's single to centre in the third frame. The play was Olmo to Bordagaray who dropped the ball. Dodgers played Giants at Polo Grounds.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 19.— (CP). — There's nothing like a wrestling crowd to get into the spirit of the occasion and take its sport seriously remarks Al Parsley of the Montreal Herald. And that's an understatement, if anything because when the word rabid was first coined it's a safe bet it was applied to a wrestling fan.

The funny thing about wrestling is that the girls seem to get even more of a bang out of it all than the men. The usually demure and gentle creatures become blood-ravening, wild- eyed cannibals at a heave-and-grunt session, and scream hoarsely for murderous mayhem.

They seem to appreciate the "hero-villain" plots brain-fathered by the promoters, where the cynical male is apt to scoff and labor under the silly delusion that perhaps it's all a show.

One reason why rasslin' grips the imagination so is its perfect sense of timing. There's always something new and interesting for the customers, like having the referee battered around by the contestants. Chances are if they let the baseball players wallop the umpires, your ball park crowds would be as rabid and google-eyed as the wresting followers.

The Hamilton star is hitting a clean .400 clip in the Niagara District Baseball League...The Old Timers' Baseball Association in Toronto isn't going to let the youngsters lose interest in the game. They have taken non-sponsored minor teams under their wing, supply bats and other equipment for them.

Nature Club Holds Successful Outing

The Peterborough Nature Club held one of the best outings in its history on Saturday afternoon when the members met in a woods in the vicinity of Nassau. Led by the president, V. R. Henry the club was divided into three grouups under Dr. A. J. Madill, E. L. McKone and H. H. Graham.

The group led by Dr. Madill studied plants and during the afternoon identified 85; that led by Mr. McKone studied birds and ferns and reported 40 different kinds of birds either seen or heard and 13 ferns identified. Mr. Graham's group studied trees and shubs and reported 26 varieties.

After supper a very interesting round table discussion was held led by the three group leaders.

By The Canadian Press

The Red Cross golf tournament at New Rochelle, N.Y., concluded yesterday with a clean-cut victory for Byron Nelson, former open champion of Toledo, O., who rounded out the 72-hole contest with 275 or 13 under par. Four strokes back was Sgt. Vic Ghezzi of Atlantic City, Mike Turnesa of White Plains was third with 284 and Gene Sarazen of Darien, Conn., ended in fourth place after registering Sunday's best 16 holes with a 68 to give him a 285 total. Since January, 1940, Nelson has finished in the money in 52 straight tournaments, compared with Ben Hogan's record of 56 prize-winning accomplishments in succession.

Sports Spice

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, June 19—(AP)—Minor chords—or some of the dizzy doings that actually have taken place in minor league baseball this season:

Never Too Late

At Rochester, N.Y., recently the Red Wings had runners on first and third with one out against Syracuse. . . . When the next batsman flied out, the guy on third galloped home easily and the throw to the plate was cut off because there was no chance to catch him. But the man on first wandered too far and was caught, apparently ending the inning. . . . Rochester already had started infield warmups when Dutch Mele raced in from right field and started a mysterious series of confabs. . . . Infielder Chico Rodriguez was called from the bench and tried to get the ball from a couple of Rochester players, who wouldn't give it up. Finally Mele secured another ball from the plate umpire and tossed it to Rodriquez who stepped on third base. . . . Only then did Ump Roy Van Graflan break his dignified silence to bellow. "Yer out.". . . . It seems that only Mele and Van Graflan had seen the runner leave third before the catch and the ump couldn't say anything until a play had been made.

Fair Catch

In Richmond, Va. a Roanoke player casually caught a pitch as it came up to the plate and casually handed the ball to the catcher. . . . The umpire called it a ball and Manager Ben Chapman, possibly incensed at such treatment of his flinger's "swift" one, protested that the batter should have been called out for interference. . . . The argument still rages and the result may put ex-Yankee Chapman, who at last report was leading his club in both pitching and hitting, in line for the Piedmont League "protest" title. . . . Right now Eddie Popowski, Roanoke manager who learned the acts with the oHuseof David, is given the championship by acclaim.

County Councillors Choose Committee To Investigate Park

Discussion of that much-debated topic, a park for Peterborough County, was the main business on the agenda of the County Council Saturday morning in its concluding sitting of the June Session. Diverse opinions expressed by different members, exhibiting various views as to the value and effects of a national or provincial park, were eventually halted past the noon hour by the selection of a committee of seven appointed for the purpose of gathering all the information available relative to the establishment of a park and reporting back to the council at the November session.

Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl of Smith originated the motion which resulted in the setting up a committee headed by the Warden and including N. Lean, P. Mather, J. Gifford, Pearson, R. Curtin and C. Flynn.

Reeve Mather was the first to express his views when discussion of the matter was initiated. He said that in general he was in favor of a park, but would not state a preference as to kind or boundaries, since he was not well enough acquainted with the facts. He thought however, it was reasonable to suppose that an area variously placed at from one-fifth to one-sixth of the total county area was perhaps too much and that some parts might well be "hacked off."

Mr. Mather put special emphasis upon the growing scarcity of lake frontage and the fact that the continued purchasing of lake frontage property by American and other tourists during the past 25 years had left little for public access. The preservation of some property of this type would be one benefit afforded by a park. He felt it possible that establishment of a park would benefit both farmers and the citizens of Peterborough, as it would mean more buying of food and goods; and that development of a park and of an airport after the war might fit in with and complement each other, the airport helping to make the park a success and the park the airport in the same manner. "The increase of tourists," Mr. Mather said, "might also serve to improve the condition of our railroads," and bring new life to such parts of the system as the Port Hope line.

Reject Boundaries

Reeve Lean of Burleigh-Anstruther expressed opposition to the boundaries as at present drawn, saying they were unfair to families living in the area and that occupied land should not be taken into the park. "There are 35 families in the proposed area," he said, "and the park would be plenty large enough leaving out all occupied land. I cannot and will not support a park that force these people in." He added that as many as two-thirds of citizens of the northern muncipalities would be opposed to the plan "if allowed to vote on it themselves."

Replying to Mr. Lean, Reeve Gifford of Ennismore stated that the Council had the right to formulate its own plan and advance its own proposition relative to a park. "There is no reason why we should accept boundaries that have been suggested by others, though we are glad to get the opinions of others and all the information they have to offer." The idea of a national park, he said, should not be summarily dismissed, for if such parks were to be sponsored by the Dominion government after the war, the cost would fall equally on citizens of all provinces, no matter where a park might be set up. A park was worthy of a good deal of serious consideration, Mr. Gifford said.

Sentiments akin to Mr. Lean's were expressed by Reeve Curtin of Galway-Cavendish, who said that he would never vote for a park if it means putting certain people in." Reeve Mather replied that there was no question of using force on individuals, of applying any undemocratic methods. "That is why I say we must study the matter at length," he said. Reeve Rork Ferguson added that the proposed boundaries had never been authorized by any elected body and that it would be the duty of a duly delegated committee to take that matter up. He also spoke against throwing open of he Crown game reserve, which had served as fire protection for the County's reforestation area.

Fees Harmful

Reeve Scriver of Lakefield thought it likely that the various fees charged for going into a park for fishing, hunting and camping would mean that a lot of people would not be able to derive pleasure from the park; and Reeve Lean said that as far as many Canadian tourists were concerned, it would simply mean driving them back further where they could fish free.

Opposition to the opening of the games reserve was general among the members of the council. "Now after eight years our people are getting educated in the benefits of this reserve," said Warden Anderson; and Reeve Martin of Dummer asserted that to open it would simply be going back eight years. I am strictly opposed to scrapping the reserve," he said. Saying he was of the same opinion, Reeve McIlmoyl then advanced his motion for a fact-finding committee, and with little more discussion the motion was brought to a vote and carried.

Locks Needed

An unexpected expense to be incurred by the County this year was reported on by Reeve Gifford, chairman of the Property Committee who said that 8 new jail locks would have to be purchased. These locks would cost in the neighborhood of $1,000 he stated. The reports of the Finance and Agricultural Committees, embodying recommendations for raising the salary of Miss Mabel Moore, court reporter, to $1,000 a year as of July 1, 1944, and granting $25 to the District Women's Institute, were adopted. A motion thanking Judge Smoke and the church women for their services in helping to make the county school-children's visit a success, was passed by the Council; the report of the Suburban Area Road Commission was heard; and Reeve M. H. Johnston, as chairman of a committee appointed to consider the Warden's address at the opening of the Session, replied and expressed members' agreement with the various suggestions contained in Mr. Anderson's address. Council also endorsed legislation set up by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, whereby agricultural committees may be organized within a county; and moved that such a committee, consisting of 13 County members, one representative from the city and one for the Agricultural Department, be set up in Peterborough County.

POST-WAR PLANS for Her Begin at Home

YOUR wife is just as much concerned about post-war planning as anyone, but she thinks in terms of her home and family now.

She wants security, but she must rely on you alone to guard against the hazards that threaten it.

What assurance has she that the family will have money to buy the necessities of life if you are taken from them? Life insurance provides a means by which you can guarantee to them a continuing income.

To provide this security in any other way is quite impossible for most husbands. To do it through systematic and regular life insurance premiums is both practical and sure.

Why DO CANADIANS Like THE BANK OF MONTREAL?

It is not by chance that the Bank has a million satisfied depositors, besides thousands of other friends who use its services in various ways. There are substantial reasons, chief of which, we believe, are as follows:

First, Confidence. Canadians of every occupation—farmers, labourers, mechanics, office workers, home workers, business managers and clerks, corporation executives, professional men and women—believe in the Bank, because of its history and traditions, its strength and its known service to the nation.

Second, Experience. These Canadians know, by personal experience in dealings with the Bank, they can rely on it—come good times or bad, peace or war—for the kind of banking service they need.

Third, Modern Methods. Due to our modern methods, a spirit of helpfulness, and the practical efficiency of our staff, customers find it pleasant to transact business at the Bank, whether it be at the Head Office, one of our large city branches, or the smallest branch in the smallest town.

If you are not a customer of the Bank, you are invited to become one.

CHECK BERRY SALES.

Officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board at the farmers' market on Saturday warned people selling strawberries that the ceiling is 40 cents a box. Some were offering the berries at 42 cents a box, but changed the price when they were so advised. No charges were laid.

ATTEND DECORATION CEREMONY

A delegation representing Canadian Legion Branch 67 from Lindsay attended the Decoration Day ceremonies in the city Sunday afternoon. Peterborough was officially represented by Mayor Hamilton, accompanied by Alderman A. Sands, W. Ovens and M. Swanston.

GETS SEVEN POUNDER.

Frank Whitehouse hooked a seven pound pickerel using live bait from a boat in Rice Lake, over the week-end and other members of the family group spending the week-end at Clarence Neal's cottage, near Hiawatha, caught several pickerel, smaller in size.

AIRMEN GRADUATE.

Peterborough and district airmen graduating over the week-end at several camps in Canada were Sgt. R. I. Elliott, 489 Sherbrooke street, as a navigator at No. 1 A.O.S Malton; Sgt. R. J. White of Kinmount, as an air bomber at No. 4 A.O.S. London and Sgt. R. Neville of Lindsay, as an air bomber at the same school at London.

County Rate Is Set At 11.121 Mills

A mill rate of 11.121, by which $140,922.78 will be raised, has been set in the estimates of the county of Peterborough, according to the report of the County Council's Finance Committee, Reeve James Humphries chairman, received by the council at its concluding sitting of the June session Saturday.

Estimated disbursements total $223,712.76, receipts $80,810.28, and the surplus as of last Dec. 31, $1,979.70. The breakdown of the mill rate works out as follows:

County and suburban area roads, $28,944.02—2.8 mills; bridge funds, $5,519.34—.5 mill; Provincial highway debentures, $7,988.11—.724 mill; educational purposes, $44,237.20 — 2.276 mills; patriotic grants, $13,988.68—1.176 mills; hospital grants, $5,519.34—.5 mill; general purposes, $34,716.09—3.145 mills.

Capture 2 Huns

DETROIT, June 19—(AP)—Police today arrested two German prisoners of war who had escaped from a camp near Chatham, Ont.

Officers saw the men, Adolph Becker and Horst Kordass, both 22, in a doorway on Detroit's east side and questioning confirmed their suspicions as to the pair's identity.

The fugitives were turned over to federal authorities.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

June 19, 1940—German troops crossed the Loire river in France and occupied Brest, St. Nazaire and Cherbourg as Petain cabinet named plenipotentiaries to receive Axis armistice terms. Interior Minister Pomaret repudiated General de Gaulle who was rallying French resistance from Britain.

Police Solved Tire Thefts

With the arrest in Lakefield Sunday of Ralph Rodine, 24, Lakefield and Kirkland Lake, and James Hutchinson, 16, Rubidge street, police believe they have cleared up recent cases of car and tire stealing.

Rodine and Hutchinson, arrested by Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Constable Leo Murphy who were accompanied by Chief Garnet Samis of Lakefield, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to stealing a car belonging to Ivan Lillico and also to stealing five tires, tubes and wheels from an automobile owned by W. M. German.

All the tires in both cases have been recovered.

In giving evidence in the charge against the two of stealing Lillico's automobile Detective Sergt. Meagher said that the accused had admitted taking the car and driving it down to a gravel pit off Highway 7 where the wheels were stripped off it. They said they had hidden three of the tires in one place and two in another and the tires were recovered by the police.

In regard to the charge of stealing five tires from the car of W. M. German Detective Sergt. Meagher said that the two prisoners had told him that they had seen the car off on a side road in North Monaghan, found the tires that had been taken off it and sold them. The stolen tires had been secured by the police.

At the request of the Crown the two were remanded until next Monday for sentence the delay being caused by a desire to obtain the previous record of the accused.

2 Taken To Hospital Following Collision

Two persons were taken to Nicholls Hospital, Sunday, following a collision between two automobiles at Zion Corners, Otonabee.

O.S. Raymond Stewart, R.C.N. V.R., R.R. 3, Keene, who is taking a course at St. Hyacinthe was drivingg a car south from Peterborough and at the Zion intersection his machine came into collision with another car driven east by Mrs. Ernest Hubbell, R.R. 11, Peterborough.

The latter vehicle was spun around by the impact and two passengers, Douglas Hubbel, 7, and Leona Succee, 22, received injuries that necessitated their removal to hospital. The boy sustained a bad cut on the lip and the girl was suffering from shock and bruises.

Legion Members Observe Decoration Day

Peterborough's fifth wartime Decoration Day services, to which the regimental band of the 2nd (R) Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers, and the Girls' Band of the local corps added color and a stirring patriotic note, took place Sunday afternoon with parades to the Protestant and Catholic cemeteries and the marking of the graves of departed comrades with symbolic white crosses.

The threatening weather of the morning gave way to semi-clearing skies and the ceremony came off without rain interfering with the parade. Yet the cool weather was quite a contrast with the cloudless heavens and the boiling heat of Decoration Day last year.

The parade to Little Lake cemetery was led by George Gimblett, president of Canadian Legion Branch No. 52; and Robert Hotrum, 1st vice-president of the local branch marched in the van of legionnaires parading to St. Peter's cemetery, accompanied by the Girls' Band. Rev. Capt. Father Grant, Catholic padre at the Training Centre, was speaker at St. Peter's ceremony.

Rev. W. A. Filer, minister of All Saints Church and president of the Ministerial Association, gave the memorial address at Little Lake cemetery; and several numbers were played by the Rangers' band. In all, some 200 Legionnaires marched in the parade.

President Gimblett said this morning that if by any chance the marking of any graves had been overlooked, the families should notify him and the omission would be promptly remedied.

Swimming Pool To Open July 1

Hurrell Dodds, chairman of the Lions Club swimming pool committee requests that all Lions be on hand at the pool on Tuesday evening to hold a work "bee" in order that work on the project may be speeded up and the pool ready for an official opening on July 1.

Bad weather and a shortage of manpower has held up work to date but the energetic chairman states the pool will open as scheduled, and already the Lions donning bathing suits and shoes have hauled the guard rails into place in the centre of the river, where they are anchored. On Tuesday it is expected that enough members will be there to complete the removal of all stones from the bottom of the pool, and to make alterations to the bank north of the steps in preparation for several loads of fine sand which will be dumped in for the very small children who would sooner play half in and half out of the water.

Tommy Doughty, chairman of the playground section has still to complete the building of two sand boxes and his committee already has the holes dug, and the steel swing frames in position. The swings will not be slung until the project is opened. It is also planned to have some chutes.

Jim Burns, supervision chairman, must hire a life-guard and a female assistant before that date, in order that proper protection may be given youngsters using the pool. It is proposed to use the dressing rooms now in existence under the bridge near the softball diamond.

The most work remains to be done on the pool, and the Lions are advised that any volunteers from outside the club who wish to assist will be made welcome.

Playful Fellows

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., June 19—(AP)—Mayor Clyde Tingley yesterday reported vandals killed a deer and attempted to turn loose two African lions at the City Zoo and angrily asserted "a load of buckshot" would greet the vandals on their next appearance. Prowlers Thursday night freed 70 pheasants, four buffaloes and a number of deer at the city recreation grounds.

FLIER MISSING—Flying Officer Leo O'Grady, son of Mrs. Michael O'Grady, Cobourg, is missing after air operations, it has been reported. His wife is living in Toronto.

Theft Suspect Given Remand

Felix LaRose, 33, of 747 Brown street, entered pleas of guilty in police court this morning to three charges of shop-lifting in Peterborough stores on Saturday.

The accused pleaded guilty to stealing dish towels from Woolworth's, a dress and towels from the Metropolitan and a dress from Zeller's.

D. J. Fitzgerald, manager of the last-named store said that on a complaint from a forelady that a dress had been stolen from a rack in the store he had followed the accused and a woman who was with him, out of the store, south on George street and west on Charlotte street where Constable Leo Murphy arrested the man.

"I never was in any trouble before," LaRose told the court. "We will find out about that," Magistrate replied.

The accused was remanded on all three charges until tomorrow when evidence will be heard in the other two cases.

18-Year-Old Boy Goes To Reformatory

Donald Ellis, 18, was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to nine months definite and three months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory on a charge of breaking and entering the dwelling-house of Frank Bissonette, Douro and stealing a hat, shirt, pair of trousers, braces, a camera and a pen and pencil set to which he had previously pleaded guilty.

Provincial Constable Price Morris, in giving evidence said that when he arrested Ellis he was wearing the stolen clothing and that he had admitted going into the Bissonette home and stealing the articles.

The boy said that he had found the place open, seen the articles and stolen them.

Ellis also pleading guilty to two charges of stealing bicycles and on one count of stealing a wheel valued at more than $25 was sentenced to five months definite and one month indeterminate in the Reformatory and on the other, involving a wheel valued at under $25 was given a definite sentence of four months and an indeterminate period of two months.

All three sentences are to run concurrently.

In giving evidence Detective Sergt. Meagher said that the boy had admitted giving one of the stolen wheels to his girl friend.

It was stated that the boy had recently been given suspended sentence on a break and entering charge in Quebec. The Salvation Army had intervened in his behalf and he was sent back to Peterborough.

"He got here on a Sunday," commented Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., "and these offences began the next day."

Justin Carter, 20, Crescent street who pleaded not guilty to stealing a bicycle was remanded until tomorrow for trial.

Control Group Gives $155 In Six Months

Loyalty and helpfulness to a good cause belong to the realm of the finer things of life, and in times such as exist at the moment, to exercise such virtues on behalf of an effort that operates as a genuine assist to the war effort, it displays a patriotism that is defintely commendable.

This year's record on behalf of the sufferers from enemy air raids over Britain through the local and district fund operating on their behalf, show that few can compare either for steadiness of purpose or per capita assistance than that accomplished by the Industrial Control Dept. of the C.G.E. Co. Ltd. whose work for the past six months in this connection has been of quite an outstanding character.

During this period they have made six gifts to the fund, all of them gathered together through the medium of a collection box taken around each Saturday by Philip Weir, whose leadership in this matter has had splendid support from P. Killingbeck the foreman, and all the members of this group.

Their latest gift of $26.79 is credited on their behalf this day, and gives them a total credit of $155.24 for the past six months, and while this in itself could well be considered a notable achievement, at that it represents only about half of what they have done on behalf of this one war effort for their total givings to this cause now stand at the fine sum of $310.21.

C.G.E. Grand Total Is $7,079.46

Any gift that comes from a group within the circle of the C.G.E. or Genelco employees, naturally helps to swell the total on towards the suggestive of $10,000 that might eventually be given by them collectively, and it can be readily seen that this one department is playing a considerable part towards that end their latest gift bringing the total that has come from these two industrial plants, up to the impressive figure of $7,079.46, which of course means that they have wholly contributed over three of the regular donations of $500 which the fund usually sends over to London.

Cups of Tea Give Help.

It is a generally known fact that Britons are very fond of their cup of tea, so they would readily appreciate what it means to have such a favorite beverage be a means of raising money to help those afflicted through air raids over their country.

Not so long ago, tea was a scarce commodity in most homes in this land, at the time of its greatest shortage the maximum allowance per person being only half what the people in England themselves were allowed. Now that this scarcity to a large extent has disappeared, it would almost seem an act of thankfulness that it should be used to assist people who are in need, and when one considers that the $2.50 listed to-day comes from the sale of cups of tea, it surely fits into such a picture.

Any group that can gang-up for a good purpose is sure to receive general approval, and this appears to be fully the case in the contribution for $2.45 which is acknowledged as coming from "An Aylmer Street gang per G.N.C."

The funeral of the late Felix Lynch Shaughnessy took place recently from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Shaughnessy 12 St. James street, to the Sacred Heart church, where Mass was sung by Rev. Father Marrocco. Rev. J. J. O'Brien, Rev K. Corkery, and Rev. Dr. Grant, who officiated at the grave, were also present in the sanctuary. Besides his parents, he is survived by four sisters, Margaret, Mary, Joyce and Mrs. Thomas Foley and one brother Peter.

The pallbearers were six first cousins, Billy Brennan, London, Ont., and Joseph Ryan Edward Ryan and William, John and James Shaughnessy.

KILLED OVERSEAS—Pte. John Bolster of Cobourg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bolster, has been killed in action. He was formerly assistant manager of Zeller's store in Peterborough.

3 Bancroft Boys Killed Overseas

BANCROFT, June 19 — (ENS). — Three casualties have been reported in the Bancroft district over the week-end, two of whom were killed in the invasion and one in Italy. This adds to the already high total amassed from this section during the year.

Pte. Walter John Dupuis of Monteagle township, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dupuis, Graphite, was killed on D-Day, June 6, according to word received by his parents. He has been overseas two years, and was formerly a farmer. A brother, Wilmer, is stationed at Petawawa.

Pte. John Carroll of Steenburg was killed in action in Italy on May 28, while serving with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He too for a farmer before enlisting, and he is the son of James Carroll of St. Ola. Pte. Carroll's wife and two children reside at Steenburg, 21 miles from Bancroft. This soldier had been overseas two years, and has a brother, Pte. Allen Carroll, overseas, and a brother Howard in the Navy. A memorial service was held Sunday.

The second invasion casualty, Pte. William Kennedy, of Craigmont, died in action June 6, the opening day of the new campaign to drive the Germans out of France. He married an English girl in April, 1943, having gone overseas in 1941. Surviving besides his wife are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kennedy, and two brothers, also in the forces, Cecil with the Postal Corps overseas, and Gordon in the R.C.N. V.R.

Airmail Is Used For Cigarettes

Cigarettes, which are regarded next to letters as the most direct contribution to the well-being and happiness of the Armed Forces, can now be delivered to servicemen in Italy with the speed of the airmail, by a new system which has been developed by the Post Office Department and which goes into operation for the first time today.

For the present, the accelerated method of getting "smokes" to the men at or near the battle fronts is limited to the Mediterranean area; but it is anticipated that a similar plan will go into operation for the United Kingdom at an early date.

A simple description of the new system is that addressed labels, representing cigarettes purchased in Canada, are flown by Air Mail to a Mediterranean depot, where they will be drawn against a huge consignment reserve of cigarettes already built up by bulk shipment. Under the new arrangement, the possibility of loss to the individual by enemy action at sea is eliminated, and delivery time of orders will be appreciably speeded up.

Undertaker Dies

TORONTO, June 19 (CP)—Jay R. Chapin, 76, funeral director at Windsor, Ont., for 20 years until his retirement 16 years ago, died Saturday at his home here. He was born at Brashton, Ont., where he first conducted a business.

105 Years Service Given Sunday School

Three people who have served in George Street Sunday School for more than 35 years, were honored Sunday at the annual Sunday School Flower service. Mrs. Percy Hetherington and Alex Stewart are teachers and Robert Beach is a member of the orchestra. All of them received a bouquet of roses.

In addition to the presentation, a Baptismal service was a feature of the event. Four children were baptized including: Pamela Margaret Jarvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jarvis; Kaye Dunbar Beasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beasley; Clifford Elsworth Calvert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Calvert, and Marilyn Elizabeth Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Willis.

About 300 members of the Sunday School were present for the service, at which Rev. A. H. McConnachie supplied for Rev. H. L. Roberts. He spoke on "Light of the World," saying that a lighthouse is a sign of danger, but its function is pointing the way to safety He said that in the same way, Christ was the beacon warning of sin and showing the way to salvation.

Miss Jean Delahaye sang a solo and two girls choruses were presented. An organ and piano duet was played by Mrs. C. Renaud and Miss Lenore Skitch and a violin solo was played by George Gatfield. The Sunday School orchestra also performed. A lighthouse which was built of red bricks, marking the perfect attendance of classes, was capped, with Miss V. Robinson's class holding the record.

Other Flower Services

Three other churches, Knox United, Trinity United and St. James' United, also had Flower services. At Knox church, about 175 Sunday School children marched down the aisle singing and carrying small bouquets. At the front stood a large green cardboard maple and as the procession passed by, the children gave their flowers to the three superintendents to be placed on the emblem. Two large baskets of peonies were placed on either side of the maple leaf, in memory of the late J. F. Morrison, former elder of the church, and soldier members of the congregation. Five canaries were also placed in the church. The superintendents taking part were: Mrs. Ada Huffman of the Junior department; Mrs. Irvin Oesch of the Intermediate department, Miss Helen Ward of the Primary, and Gordon Morrison, general Sunday School superintendent.

Rev. A. E. Baker of Toronto, was guest speaker for both services. He told three stories for the children emphasizing the moral, "Go and Do."

At Trinity Church, Sunday School pupils, led by the beginners formed a procession and marched to the front of the church carrying small bouquets of flowers which were placed on lattice work. Baskets of peonies were placed at the front of the church, with one of delphiniums in the centre.

Dr. Walter Brown of Victoria University, Toronto, was guest speaker. His address to the children included three stories about Moses, Amos and David. He stressed the virtues that God likes, including honesty, courage and unselfishness.

The beautiful floral decorations at St. James Church for their Flower Sunday, were some of the nicest in years, it was said. A Central cross of flowers stood in front of the pulpit and on either side of the cross were two large flower "Vs", symbolizing victory. About 400 Sunday School students were in attendance and heard Rev. F. Craik, explain that "Life Can Be Beautiful." Mrs. James Goldie sang a solo "God's Garden."

The committee in charge of all flower arrangements was made up of: Mrs. Walter Miller, Leslie McLaren and Miss Elva Sollitt.

WOUNDED — Capt. Harry G. Marsh, son of Mrs. J. Marsh, 507 Homewood Avenue, was wounded June 6, in France, according to word received over the week-end.

Capt. H. Marsh Is Wounded

One of Peterborough's most popular athletes Capt. Harry G. Marsh, has been reported wounded in France on the opening day of the invasion. The telegram stated that further details about his injuries were not available at the present time.

Capt. Marsh is the son of Mrs. Jennie Marsh, 507 Homewood Ave., and he was well known for his prowess in rugby and basketball. He has been serving overseas since September of 1942, and he and Lieut. Jack Couper, now reported missing, were members of the same unit.

French Town Jampacked With German Armor Is Discovered By Wing Commander Waddell

By GREGORY CLARK
Special to The Examiner.

A CANADIAN AIRFIELD IN ENGLAND, June 19. — Wing Commander Arthur Waddell of Peterborough, who was an engineer but turned to law, and was articled to the General Electric law branch in Toronto at the time of his enlistment in the R.C.A.F., had a share in a fascinating venture. It demonstrates as the boys on this reconnaissance wing point out, the particular genius of Air Marshal Cunningham in his younger days dubbed Maori, which was corrupted latterly into Mary, though the marshal weighs almost as much as a blockbuster, Mary being the English equivalent of the American term of affredon "Butch."

Well off to the southeast of where we are fighting in Normandy, is the town of Mezidon. It is not really a town, it is one of those main rail junctions where the main lines from Rouen and Paris and from Le Man's direct south, all converge for the coastal railway approach to Cherbourg. So, by a series of bombings not too heavy and as accidental and casual as could be this side of Mezidon, our railway experts piled up a rather tremendous jab of box cars in Mezidon, that townless, almost uninhabited railway centre. Then 75 Mitchells were loaded up and our tactical Recce wing was called into play.

Wing Cmdr. Waddell, who is in charge of operations here, personally took the assignment. With Flt.-Lt. J. R. Manzer of Sault Ste. Marie for his companion in the accompanying Mustang, the wing commander went over in the cool of the evening and took a good long look at Mezidon. Up came hail storms of flak, which indicated the Germans were anxious enough about their concentration to bring a lot of guns to protect it. But through the flak the two dove, took pictures and made visual confirmation that Mezidon was jampacked with traffic and hundreds upon hundreds of railway trucks and engines were tucked in there. Over his wireless Waddell sent the expected message at the expected time and up into the air climbed the 75 Mitchells.

This morning Mezidon looks like some place in Northern Ontario that had been stricken by a forest fire.

JUDGING by the lunar transits reigning on this day there may be disconcerting and difficult circumstances, which may be converted to available and profitable resources by a system of progressive tactics, ingenuity, perseverance and possibly with the support and sympathetic insight of those near and dear. There may be tricky or scheming factors to combat with determination and courage, in which much depends upon an optimistic vision as well as a dependable state of health and emotions. Work for such security.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which there may be a variety of difficulties and setbacks to contend with. There may be obstacles limitations and depressions, these largely from deplete health or erratic emotional conditions. In this seek the support of friends home ties or other responsive sources rather than business or other cooperation. Adhere to the line of duty and obligation, be wary of suspicious characters, maintain persistent and shrewd efforts, and there may be fair progress, but use some ingenuity.

A child born on this day may have fair abilities, be fairly ambitious, probably artistic, although with erratic or peculiar bents, making it easily victimized.

GREEK INDUSTRY

Steel working and hardening in an advanced stage was common 3,000 years ago in Greece.

Why Do We Export Goods?

Because Canada is one of the least self-sufficient countries in the world, her prosperity and her very existence depend on making the most of her own specialized resources and on trading them as advantageously as possible for her other requirements.

Report of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations, 1940.

● There is the answer in a nutshell—as worded by Canada's leading economists.

It was true in the old days of the fur trade. It is just as true to-day, when our exportable surplus includes many raw and manufactured products.

With our export trade the largest in our history, more people have jobs than ever before and our national income has reached a new peak.

Our post-war task is to maintain for constructive purposes the export trade which war has carried to such high levels.

The Dominion Bank, one of the Chartered Banks of Canada, will continue to give its full assistance to the furtherance of Canada's export trade.
